Chicago wanted 2,000,000 people; she wanted them badly, and it was a mean trick of the census men to give her only 1,698,575. Ever since the count was first announced from Washington the people of the city have been trying to figure out how the enumerators missed that other 400,000. While it is impossible to find a Chicagoan who will agree with the enumerators it is still a sad fact that Chicago will have to worry along without the lost ones for another ten years. But it is a safe bet that it will not happen again.

ROAD BUILDING Throughout the States

Recent Legislation Under Which Good Public Highways Are Being Constructed

SURELY, but perhaps slowly, the good roads movement in this country is producing results. Another century may come and go before all portions of the United States are linked together by a system of good highways equal to those to be found in Europe, some of which were built as long ago as the time of the Roman empire.

But no country is showing such rapid progress in the construction of good country roads as is ours at the present time. One-half or more of the states of the union are dealing with the subject in a systematic manner, and with wonderful results. Progressive road laws have been passed, and hundreds of miles of good highways have been built under the influence of the new conditions of administration, finance and construction.

The general trend of legislation in the states that have given the subject special consideration is as follows: More rigid provision for carrying out the old systems without radical change in the systems themselves; more liberal tax levies; substitution of money tax instead of labor; local assessment, according to benefits, for the construction of new roads; construction by townships, counties and districts, with power to issue bonds; state highway commissions; provisions for working convicts; regulations compelling and encouraging the use of wide tires; state aid to road building; construction of state roads.

TYPE OF ROAD IN NEW JERSEY BEFORE IMPROVEMENT.

New Jersey was the first state to take any radical step toward the improvement of her public highways. Her state-aid law was passed in 1891. It provided that on petition of the owners of two-thirds of the lands bordering any public road, not less than a mile in length, asking that the road be improved and agreeing to pay ten per cent. of the cost, the county officials should improve the road, one-third of the expenses to be borne by the state, if the road is brought to the standard fixed by the state commissioner of public roads, and the balance (66 2-3 per cent.) by the county. The state's expenditure for such improvements in any one year are limited to $150,000, while the county is limited to one-fourth of one per cent. of its assessed valuation. At this rate the law makes possible the expenditure of $450,000 a year, and at $3,000 per mile this builds 150 miles of road. Ten miles of road were built in 1892, 25 miles in 1893, 60 miles in 1894, and since 1895 the applications for new roads have been far in excess of the limit prescribed by law.

Massachusetts, like New Jersey, also has adopted a system of road improvement which, it is believed, will result in a few years in securing to that state highways that will be second in excellence to none in the United States and equal to some of the best in the old world. The state has a permanent highway commission, consisting of three persons. Each year this commission is allowed to spend $600,000 for building and maintaining roads, which are called state roads. The law provides that not more than ten miles of road can be built in any one county in a year and that within six years after the construction of any state road the county in which the road is situated must pay to the state one-fourth of the money expended. Nearly 300 miles of excellent roads have been built in Massachusetts under this new system, the average cost per mile of which was about $9,000.

Connecticut has made rapid progress in building highways during the last five years. It now has a highway commission, which was provided in 1895-96 with $450,000, and in 1897-98 with $400,000 for road improvement. In 1895-96 the state paid one-third the expense of constructing the roads, the town one-third, and the county the remainder, but in 1897-98 the state increased its part of the expense to one-half, the other half being borne by the towns. The amount of work accomplished is shown by the fact that in the two years last named the entire state appropriation was applied for by the towns, and this was done without any county assistance.

The legislature of New York passed a bill last year which provides that the state's share in the improvement of highways shall be 50 per cent. of the cost, the county's share 35 per cent., and the town's share the remainder. The boards of supervisors are given the right to decide what roads, if any, are to be improved, thus making the matter of road improvement entirely optional. No new offices were created, the state engineer being placed in charge of all road work. The law seems to give satisfaction; several miles of new roads have been built, and work is still in progress, under its provisions.

The legislature and people of California have not been idle in the work for good roads nor blind to the needs of the state in this respect. Up to a few years ago some of the convicts had been supported in comparative idleness at the expense of the state, while others had been utilized in direct competition with free labor. In 1895 the legislature decided, at the suggestion of Gen. Roy Stone, to utilize convict labor in preparing road materials; a bill was passed providing for a highway commission and for the construction of a rock-crushing plant on one of the state prison grounds. Since that time the convicts have been turning out upward of 100,000 tons of crushed trap rock annually. Much of this material has been given to the counties as the state's contribution toward the improvement of the leading thoroughfares.

North Carolina, Delaware, Iowa, New Jersey, Tennessee, and other states also have laws providing for the use of convict labor in improving the highways. North Carolina has made greater progress and has built more miles of roads under this system than any other state. Thus, one might, if space permitted, go through the whole list of states and find evidences of great progress in road improvement. Gov. Mount, of Indiana, for instance, says that his commonwealth is provided with 58,000 miles of graded, graveled and piked highways, over 8,000 miles of which are comparable with the best roads of France. The public is now more thoroughly aroused to the importance of the movement for better roads than ever before, and more roads and better roads were built in the United States in 1899 than in any previous year in its history.

TYPE OF ROAD IN NEW JERSEY AFTER IMPROVEMENT.

The agitation which has become so universal will surely result in a well-defined public sentiment that will soon overcome all obstacles. With the new century, the good-roads movement is likely to receive valuable aid from the owners of horseless vehicles, already not uncommon on our roads.

STRUCK BY A TEAM.

Employe of Street Department Hurt While at Work on East Front Street Yesterday.

Mansfield Robinson, an employe of the city street gang, met with a serious accident while at work on East Front street yesterday afternoon. Repairs are being made upon that street and the steam roller is being used. Robinson was working near the curb unmindful of the constant passing of teams, thinking he was far enough over to avoid being run into.

The noise of the roller frightened a horse attached to a wagon belonging to F. C. Jennings, of Rockview avenue, and jumping toward the curb, struck Robinson. The man was knocked down and the wheels passed over him. He was assisted to his feet and taken to Dr. Clawson's office, where his injuries were found to be a deep gash in the head, which required several stitches to close it, and a badly bruised back. He was taken to his home later where he is now confined to his bed.

To avoid similar accidents the street has since been entirely closed to travel between Watchung avenue and Washington street.

Banner Raising Tonight.

The Republican banner raising will take place this evening at 8 o'clock. Beginning at 7 o'clock, LaVere's band will play for an hour from the band stand on North avenue in front of the Hotel Kensington. The banner is to be swung over North avenue at that point. There will be speaking although the committee in charge has not yet announced who the orator of the occasion will be. After the speaking which will be from the band stand the band will continue its concert for another hour.

Surveying Trolley Line Again.

H. C. VanEmburgh is now making a survey of West Front street for the benefit of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. The railroad company is going to relay its tracks on Front street, between Park avenue and Grant avenue. At present the tracks are way off grade, above at some points and below at others. The company wants its new tracks at grade and so the survey is being made.

Don't Like Him No How.

Mrs. Annie Fisher, whose husband, Wm. Fisher, has deserted her, called at The Press office this morning and said she wanted it understood that she invoked the law to help her find her husband in order that he could be made to help support their four children. As for Fisher himself, his wife said she does not care to live with him again.

Principal of a Public School.

Fred Gaskill, of New Market, has been appointed principal of a public school in the city of Philipsburgh, N. J. Gaskill graduated from the Plainfield High School in 1896, and last June completed a four years course at Rutgers College. In his new position he has supervision over eleven teachers.

Two Ribs Broken.

Jack Mullen, of North avenue, a plumber by trade, has two broken ribs. It is said that he engaged in a dispute with another plumber or two and was knocked down and kicked. That happened Tuesday night. At any rate, he has two broken ribs which were set by Dr. Rolland Tomlinson.

Still Use Left Side.

Some of the drivers of heavy loads still persist in using the left side of Somerset street. If the practice is continued there will be some arrests and a test case will be made.

HIGH WINDS PREVAIL.

Much Damage Done to the Peach Orchards of Hunterdon County.

The tail of the great hurricane, which wrought such destruction in Texas and the west, swept over this section yesterday. There was no rain but a gale that threatened to blow over everything in its path. Great clouds of dust swept over the country, filling the houses and blinding the people who tried to face it.

There were trees all through this vicinity that suffered from the storm but no very serious damage was done. Up in the peach country of Hunterdon county, the high winds caused much loss by bringing to the ground hundreds of baskets of peaches. The fruit on the apple trees was also shaken down.

A stack of oats, belonging to James E. Martine, of Watchung avenue, had the top of it blown off by the gale yesterday afternoon and the straw scattered over the neighboring field.

The sheet iron top to the chimney on the Codington building, Park avenue, was blown off and fell to the sidewalk, narrowly missing some of the passersby.

Three big trees near Wilson's stone crusher were blown over. Hundreds of limbs to trees all over the city were ripped off and torn by the wind.

The high winds of yesterday did thousands of dollars' worth of damage to apples and peaches in the Hunterdon county fruit section. The farmers report that fully one-half of the apple crop was blown from the trees. Thousands of baskets of peaches were also blown off, but the fruit can be marketed, and the loss will not be so serious.

The continued drought has done considerable damage. Many farmers are out of water and are compelled to cart it for miles.

Reported to be in Hurricane.

A report was circulated about the city yesterday that George Craig, formerly of this city, but now of Texas, was killed in that State. Inquiries were made concerning the matter through Assessor E. M. French, of the borough, who has a brother with Mr. Craig and his brother, and it was learned that the three men are located about five hundred miles from Galveston and were not likely to be affected by the cyclone. There was a George Craig killed, but it is not believed to be the one referred to owing to the reasons given. Mr. French hopes to hear from his brother very soon concerning the disaster.

Wooden Wedding.

About thirty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roeder gathered at their home on West Fourth street last evening in honor of the wooden anniversary of their wedding Mr. and Mrs. Roeder proved themselves to be an excellent host and hostess and entertained their guests in an enjoyable manner. The feature of the evening was phonograph selections under the direction of Mr. Roeder. There were other amusements, however, and the time passed all too quickly. After refreshments were served the guests left for home, wishing their entertainers many happy returns of the day.

Dog Jumped Out of the Window.

What seemed to be an attempt at suicide took place at the corner of Front street and Park avenue this morning. A large bird dog looked out of the window of the third story over J. J. Kenney's store. The animal gave several barks and then to the astonishment of all who saw it, deliberately jumped out. He struck the sidewalk with a dull thud and his feet doubled in under him. From appearances, however, the animal was not injured, for after giving several more barks he got up and scampered away.

Drank Naptha.

The two-year-old daughter of Christopher Maden, of 616 West Third street, went on a tour of examination yesterday afternoon. The child found a bottle of naptha in the closet and sampled it. The little one began to feel very badly forthwith. Dr. Rolland Tomlinson was summoned and used the stomach pump with success. The little girl will live. She is the daughter of the colored ash-carter who is commonly known as Christopher Columbus.

ATTACKED BY VICIOUS DOG.

J. Emmons Henry the Victim of a Surly Cur at Neshanic Yesterday Afternoon.

J. Emmons Henry, of Watchung avenue, was attacked and severely bitten by a large dog at Neshanic yesterday. He was ascending the front steps of a residence at that place when the animal rushed out from under the porch and sprang at him, striking him in the chest. Mr. Henry managed to get away when the brute renewed the attack and bit him severely in the right leg. With a a well delivered kick Mr. Henry freed himself again. The dog was about to return for the third time when the owner appeared and called him off.

The bite was a severe one and after having it attended to by a Neshanic physician Mr. Henry came to this city and had the wound cauterized by Dr. Boone. As the dog was not mad no serious results are feared.

BANNER APPEARED WITHOUT SPEECHES.

Plans of the Local Republicans for Formal Opening of Campaign Somewhat Muddled.

NO CLARION CALL HEARD.

PLENTY OF RED FIRE AND LOTS OF BAND MUSIC.

But Not a Word Heard in Favor of the Candidates Whose Faces Appear on the Banner, Which Was Given by Mr. Fowler.

The Republican banner made its first official appearance last evening. It was flung to the breeze on North avenue in front of the Hotel Kensington. A huge crowd listened to the band concert and patiently awaited the speech-making. While the political fervor of the audience was not at fever heat, the crowd was willing to hear the Republican cause championed. But they didn't. Although the crowd and part of the city committee awaited the speaker, no one came and those who hungered for oratory had to go home unsatisfied.

There was a hitch somewhere last evening, but opinions differ as to just where it was. There was evidently a misunderstanding about whose duty it was to secure a speaker for the occasion. The result was that nobody obtained a speaker. So the opening of the Republican campaign in Plainfield was not a wildly enthusiastic success.

The banner, the gift of Congressman Fowler to the city committee, first appeared to view last Monday when the makers put it in position without interviewing the desires of the Republican organization. It was subsequently hauled in and swung out again last evening and began its official existence. The banner is large and well made and the likenesses of the candidates can be identified. The President looks a trifle stern, perhaps, and Governor Roosevelt might blush at the sight of himself but then the pictures are really good ones for banner illustrations.

The banner was put in position at 7 o'clock and was saluted by a concert by LaVere's band, which occupied the band stand in front of the Hotel Kensington. The band played for an hour and the crowd began to assemble rapidly. At 8 o'clock there was a pause and a few Roman candles were shot off from the balcony of the hotel. The shower of sparks made things lively for the band and spectators below. Red fire was burned through the crowd. Freeholder W. A. Westphal took charge of the pyrotechnic display.

Meanwhile a little conference was held in the corridor of the Kensington. Councilman J. F. Buckle, chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the banner raising, and William Newcorn, secretary of the city committee, were there with a few other prominent officials. They wanted a speaker, but there was none available.

The arrival of the U. S. Grant Club, to the number of thirty, caused a momentary diversion. They marched over and somebody shouted that the speaker had arrived. One of the boroughites suggested three cheers for McKinley and Roosevelt. The crowd gave them in a good humored way. An attempt was made to persuade Senator Charles A. Reed to speak to the multitude, but he declined. He was then hoisted to the shoulders of some of the more enthusiastic and was placed on the band stand. He thanked his bearers, said good evening to the crowd and jumped down.

When it was evident that there was no speaker forthcoming, Councilman Buckle stepped to the front of the band stand and announced that there would be no speaking, but that the concert would continue until 9 o'clock.

Councilman Buckle attempted to secure Congressman Fowler as the speaker, but the Congressman had a date at Jersey City. Roger F. Murray was then appointed a committee on speakers and the other members of the committee went their way confident that a speaker would be on hand. Mr. Murray didn't understand it that way. He tried to secure the Congressman and failing, understood that his duty ended there. Naturally there was no speaker.

DEAF AND DUMB LOVERS

A CHECK SERVED AS BALM FOR THE INJURED GIRL.

Court Habitues Deprived of Hearing Breach of Promise Suit in Sign Language.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 14.—A breach of promise suit in which the principals are deaf and dumb, was the first case on the list of cases to be called at court Wednesday. In anticipation of a very interesting proceeding, a large audience assembled. They were disappointed, however, as the case, for the third time, was marked off. It will not be tried at all now, the parties at suit having settled the case out of court.

Miss Hannah Adam, of Metuchen, is the young lady in the suit and George H. Rigg, of Burlington, is the young man. They met each other at the New Jersey State School for Deaf and Dumb at Trenton, and after that young Rigg called upon the girl at Metuchen. On one occasion she visited Miss Kate Kimbler, a mutual friend, at Mt. Holly, and Rigg also called upon her there. She says that he promised to marry her and then refused to carry out his promise.

The details of this interesting love case were to have been interpreted from the sign language to the English language by Prof. John P. Walker, the superintendent of the State School for Deaf and Dumb.

When this case was up last April, the defendant had it put off until this term on account of the absence of material witnesses. When the case was called Wednesday John S. Voorhees, one of the counsel for plaintiff, announced that the case had been settled. A short time before this Mr. Voorhees and Edward Watts, of Burlington, held a conference, and Mr. Watts agreed to settle by handing a check to Mr. Voorhees. The amount of the check was not stated. This action will deprive the community of learning how deaf and dumb people conduct their courtships.

WORK OF THE W. C. T. U.

Interesting Reports Made for the Committees at the Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

The members of the W. C. T. U. continued their annual meeting yesterday afternoon with an increased attendance. The session was taken up with the reading of the reports from the various departments. Mrs. DeForest reported for the flower committee. Mrs. Winter reported for the committee on Sunday-school work. The committee on soldier and sailor work, through the chairman, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, reported concerning the barrels of literature, etc., sent to soldiers and sailors in various parts of the country.

One of the interesting features of the session was the experience hour, when each one gave a dollar and told how it was earned. In this way over $20 was realized for the work of the union. After this experience hour, the members enjoyed an address by Mrs. Bourne, State president of the W. C. T. U., who related considerable about her trip to the World's convention held in Edinburgh a short time ago. She told of many things concerning the convention which were very helpful to all who heard the address.

A pleasing diversion of the session was the instrumental music, violin and piano, a number of selections being given. The balance of the meeting was devoted to routine business of more or less importance.

BOROUGH MARSHAL ARRESTED.

Young Woman at Roselle Makes a Charge, Which the Officer Denies.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 14—Emma Harris, aged eighteen, whose home is on Third avenue, Roselle, with her mother, is dangerously ill at the Elizabeth General Hospital, where she was taken Tuesday. She charges Marshal John Crist, of the borough of Roselle, with being responsible for her illness.

Marshal Crist was arrested Tuesday night on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Hall, and was brought to Elizabeth, where he gave bonds to face the charges made by the girl. Marshal Christ is very popular in Roselle, having held the office of borough marshal ever since the formation of the borough. He has a wife and several children. He denies the charges made by the Harris girl, and claims that it is a conspiracy of his enemies to cause him trouble.

RELAYING TROLLEY TRACK.

Rails and Ties Intended to be Used on Springfield Line are Being Brought to This City.

Work has already commenced toward the relaying of new trolley rails and ties on the Front street line, between Park avenue and Grant avenue. William Hand & Son, carters and truckmen, of East Second street, have the contract to bring the rails and ties to Plainfield and distribute them along Front street, where they will be used. These rails and ties were intended for the trolley line that was to have been built from Westfield to Springfield, but the matter has been held up for a time and the company has decided to use them to make the change in this city.

The ties were stored in one place on the proposed Springfield route, but the rails were distributed along the route as they would be needed. Wm. Hand & Son are collecting the rails and ties and bringing them to Plainfield. The work was started this morning.

STRONG FOOTBALL TEAM

ALIS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION WILL HAVE AN ELEVEN.

Several Changes in the Line-up as Compared With the Team of Last Year.

Plainfield is to be represented on the gridiron this fall by one strong team at least. The Alis Athletic Association is preparing to put an eleven on the field this year which which will be stronger than any team which has played under the Alis colors. A meeting of the team was held at the home of the captain, Roy T. Phillips, of Madison avenue, last evening, when a preliminary lineup was fixed and preparation made for the first active practice next week.

There will be several changes in the lineup this season although most of the old Alis team will be on hand. George Proctor Smith will be back at his old place at centre. Garfield Pike is a new candidate for right guard, while Walter L. Long will play left guard as usual. Barrick, a Cranford man, is to be tried at right tackle. James Taylor is slated again for left tackle. Roy Badford and Homer Smith will be at their old places on the ends of the line.

Behind the line there will be one important change this season. Both Morris Dumont and Charles Woolston have played quarter in the past. Now Huston, of Cranford, is a candidate for the place and will be given a trial. He is fast and light and has had experience in that line. Charles S. Woolston and Harry Cuming will be the half backs with Roy T. Phillips in his old place at full.

There are a number of other candidates for position on the line and behind it but the lineup is likely to be as stated. There will be several regular substitutes who will accompany the team to all games and who will probably be given a chance during some of them to show their capabilities. The change in the quarter back will require considerable practice as the old quartette had played together so long that they understood each other's every move. The team will meet some of the best teams of the metropolitan district and some exciting games are promised to be seen on the local gridiron.

Great Sale of Ribbons.

The special attention Saturday at Crosby & Hills store is a sale of ribbons—10,560 yards is the quantity offered, all French novelties. They range in width from two to ten inches and the price is less than half the cost of importation. Every conceivable color and color combination can be found in the lot. Prominent among them are a lot of sample pieces of two toned effects that promise to be the most fashionable ribbon novelty for the coming spring.

Blue Stone Flagging.

Persons intending laying blue stone flagging, curbing, or having stone work done of any description, will consult their pocketbook by calling at Bartle's yard, 306 Park avenue. Mr. Bartle advertises in today's Press a list of prices that are certainly low. Mr. Bartle has recently opened a new quarry at Watchung and in order to introduce himself to Plainfield people he has cut prices on all kinds of stone work, for a time.

No Rag Pickers' License.

Joseph Fernicola was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning on the charge of following the trade of a rag picker in town without first obtaining a licence according to the city ordinance. Roundsman Mattox found him on East Front street yesterday afternoon plying his trade. Sentence was suspended.

FIRE IN THE WEST END.

SMALL BLAZE, BUT FIRE ALARM WAS A ROUSING ONE.

Three Times the Alarm was Given, and Borough Thought "Double Six" was Coming.

Half the population of Plainfield thought the city was in imminent danger of destruction by fire last evening when three alarms were sent in from box 83, corner of West Front street and Grant avenue. The first alarm did not work properly as far as the whistle was concerned, but the second and third ones came in rousing shape. The fire proved to be a comparatively small one in a vacant house, 227 Grant avenue, owned by the Home Building and Loan Association.

The fire department was first notified by telephone that there was a merry blaze in an empty house on Grant avenue. Before the apparatus hardly had time to leave the building the first alarm came in from box 83. The gongs in the houses sounded all right, but the whistle balked.

Somebody evidently thought that the first alarm didn't work, for a second alarm was promptly sent in. The key to the box was obtained from R. J. Neal, of West Front street. It is not known who sent in the alarm. Either some one was experimenting or else deliberately pulled a third alarm, for it came in, and the continual blowing of the whistle effectively aroused the city.

All the reserve force of the department went out on the second and third alarms and the North Plainfield firemen began to get ready in case the "double-six" should call for their aid. A mighty crowd assembled at the scene of the fire.

Mrs. Deantha Mitchell moved out of the premises two days ago and the house was empty when the fire started. The alarm was sent in at 10:20, and it was evident that the flames had been at work for nearly three hours before. The fire started in the cellar and spread all over the house before it was discovered. Its cause is unknown. Chief Doane is inclined to the theory of spontaneous combustion as he does not believe that any incendiary would start a fire where this one originated. Both front and back doors were found unlocked when the firemen arrived.

The conflagration was under control in ten minutes but it required half an hour to run down all odds and ends of fire and put them out. The damage to the house will amount to over $100, which is covered by insurance.

DENNIS CARNEY TAKES A WIFE.

Miss Agnes Harkins the Bride—Ceremony in St. Mary's Church.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Harkins and Dennis Carney, Jr., both of this city, took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Mary's church. Rev. Father Smyth officiated. A reception followed at the home of the groom's parents, Justice and Mrs. Dennis Carney, Cottage place, where the couple will reside for the present. A number of useful and handsome presents were received by the bride and groom and they commence married life with bright prospects for the future.

FOR USE IN GALVESTON.

A Wagon Load of Supplies Collected in This City—$40 in Cash Contributed.

The request of Mayor George W. Rockfellow that the people of Plainfield give something for the relief of the sufferers in Galveston met with a generous response and clothing, food and other articles, enough to fill an express wagon, were left at The Daily Press office and other places, and was this morning collected and sent to New York to be forwarded at once to Galveston by the relief trains of the New York World.

Cash subscriptions to the amount of nearly $40 was received by Mayor Rockfellow through various agencies and will be sent to the New York World. The other donations will amount to nearly $400 in value. They include a miscellaneous collection of articles of wearing apparel and canned goods.

Five gallons of Reynolds' disinfectant was contributed through The Daily Press by T. S. Armstrong, the druggist.

FOR THE POLITICIANS.

UNION COUNTY REPUBLICAN OUTING COMES OFF TOMORROW.

To be Held at Gibson's Grove, Near Rahway, and Many Prominent Men Will be There.

There will be a great rallying of the Republican forces of Union county at Gibson's Grove, near Rahway, tomorrow afternoon, for the county committe clam bake. While the chief object of the gathering is to wake up the lethargic ones in the Republican ranks and stir them to renewed activity, the occasion promises to be a famous one. The tickets have been disposed of without trouble and all the big men of the county, including U. S. Senator John Kean, Congressman Fowler and Governor Voorhees, have declared their intention of attending the bake.

It is some time since the Republican politicians of Union county have taken their outing so near home. For the past few years, they have gone to the shore for their day's pleasure. The clam bake will differ, probably, from past events, in that the bake is not to begin until 5 o'clock. If there is plenty to eat, as there undoubtedly will be, the guests will linger well along into the night before returning.

Plainfield will be largely represented at the Republican gathering. Some of the local workers and Saturday afternoon a decidedly inconvenient time for them to get away from business cares and so some familiar faces may be missed. They will be few in comparison, however, to the big delegation which is planning to go. The time set for the bake will make it particularly convenient for the men employed in the various local shops. A hundred men from the Pond Tool Works are planning to attend in a body. They wanted special cars to the scene of the bake, but the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company could not furnish them. Every available car belonging to that company will be put into service tomorrow afternoon and then the regular traffic will hardly be accommodated.

Gibson's Grove is close to the line of the trolley, and while it is possible to reach the place by going to Rahway by rail, there is a walk from the Rahway station which the trolley reduces. The result will be that most of the Republicans will take the trolley and the usual Saturday afternoon crowd will be greatly augmented in consequence.

Residential Changes.

Through the real estate agency of Armstrong Mulford, of North avenue, Alfred Fawcett, of North Plainfield, has rented W. L. Saunders' house, 95 Mercer avenue, and will take possession October 1st. G. Stuart Simons, of New York, has rented W. J. R. Thiers' fine residence on Watchung avenue, and will take possession October 1st. Mr. Thiers and family will leave soon for the south, where they will remain for two years.

Before Cadi Twice.

Harry Davis was up before City Judge Runyon yesterday morning. Harry Davis was up before City Judge Runyon this morning. The charge was the same, drunkenness. Patrolman Myers found him again last night and locked him up. The Judge thought twice in two days was too many times to appear in court. So he gave Davis forty days in jail in default of a fine of $10.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club, of North Plainfield, was held last evening, when the organization for the coming year's work was completed. Smith, Harry Williams, Max Honeyman, Charles Dupee, Abram King, M. Menzenbach, D. Henlich. Press committee, H. H Webb, William McLaughlin.

The question of holding a mass-meeting for the purpose of opening the campaign in the borough was discussed, and the matter was left to the committee on meetings to arrange. After the above business was transacted the meeting adjourned and the members marched in a body to this city and took part in the Republican demonstration on North avenue.

THE WYCKOFF MURDER.

Detectives Said to Have Damaging Evidence Against Fleming Brothers

Robert Fleming, of Bernardsville, brother of Richard Fleming, arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of Simeon Wyckoff, has been lodged in the Somerville jail on a charge of taking groceries from a Basking Ridge store without paying for them. It is said that this charge would not be pushed except that the authorities are desirous of having Robert Fleming for a witness in the Wyckoff case when it comes before the Grand Jury.

Detective George Totten, of Somerville, has unearthed some damaging evidence against both Richard and Robert Fleming in connection with the Wyckoff case, and it is likely that both will be indicted by the Grand Jury. It will be remembered that Robert Fleming, when in company with Thomas Garrity found Wyckoff's body and instructed Garrity to give the alarm.

Garrity adheres to his sworn statement that Robert Fleming remarked when they came in sight of Wyckoff's remains, "There lies Sim Wyckoff yet," showing previous knowledge of Wyckoff's whereabouts.

PLAINFIELD'S CHANCE FOR MILITIA COMPANY

Colonel Gillmore Says That the First Requisite is a Captain With Military Experience.

CONFERENCE THIS EVENING.

FINAL DECISION MUST BE MADE WITHOUT DELAY.

If Experienced Man Can be Secured for Captain Then the Company Will Probably be Located in This City.

Plainfield's chance for a militia company has come. It now rests entirely with those who have promoted the proposed company as to whether or not the company will be located here. Mayor George W. Rockfellow went to Sea Girt yesterday and was the guest of Lieutenant-Colonel Gillmore, of Governor Voorhees' staff. There is one company to be established somewhere and it rests with Lieut.-Col. Gillmore to say where. It was in reference to this that the Mayor interviewed him.

Lieut.-Col. Gillmore said that Plainfield should have a chance for the company. If Plainfield did not want it or could not answer the requirements, the company will go to Montclair Montclair has the advantage of an armory.

What is particularly required is a captain of ability and experience. Gillmore said that he could not think of starting a company with a man at the head who had had absolutely no experience in military affairs. He must be a man of standing and good reputation in the community. If the Plainfield company had such a man, he was willing to start the company there.

The question of the location of the company is one which has to be decided very soon so Lieut.-Col. Gillmore requested the Mayor to notify him this evening. The Mayor will hold a conference this evening with those interested in the formation of the company and if the conditions can be complied with, the Mayor will telegraph Gillmore to that effect at once.

Not Use to Trolley Cars.

Henry Rogers, the well-known Watchung farmer, had an exciting experience yesterday afternoon, with a horse which he was leading behind a road wagon. The animal became frightened at a trolley car at the corner of Fourth street and Park avenue and leaping forward, demolished a rear wheel. It then broke away from Mr. Rogers and dashing upon the sidewalk ran to Fifth street. Two children who were on the sidewalk had a narrow escape from being run over. The horse was caught by one of Woodhull & Martin's drivers.

FOREST FIRE COVERS MILES.

Scores of Buildings Burned In Massachusetts—Cattle Stampede.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 14.—Acres and acres of what was beautiful woodland early in the week are now a stretch of blackened, smoky ground, over which dense and nauseating smoke hangs in clouds. The brush fires sprang into activity with a gale and have simply devastated a great section of Plymouth county, sweeping away scores of frame buildings, stampeded cattle and horses, killed off immense numbers of feathered creatures and imperiled the lives of very many people. The probable losses are very heavy, far exceeding in the aggregate $150,000 in this county alone.

The fire, which has spread out fully ten miles east and west, is still sweeping on slowly, but surely, although the wind now is not such an active factor in the spread of ruin as it was at first. A shift of wind into the southwest now bids fair to do wonders and help out the hundreds of tired out fire fighters who had actually to fight for their homes.

What Will Become of Galveston? Prominent Men Consider Disaster but a Temporary Halt—Will the Railroads Rebuild?

GALVESTON, Sept. 14.—Galveston is beginning slowly to recover from the stunning blow of last week, and though the city appears to be pitilessly desolated the authorities and the commercial and industrial interests are setting their forces to work, and a start has at least been made toward the resumption of business on a moderate scale.

The presence of the troops has had a beneficial effect upon the criminal classes, and the apprehension of a brief but desperate reign of anarchy now no longer exists. The liquor saloons have at least temporarily gone out of business, and every strong limbed man who has not his own humble abode to look after is being pressed into service, so that, first of all, the water service may be resumed, the gutters flushed and the streets lighted.

The further the ruins are dug into the greater becomes the increase in the list of those who perished as their houses tumbled about their heads. On the lower beach a searching party found a score of corpses within a small area, going to show that the bulwark of debris that lies straight across the island conceals many more bodies than have been accounted for.

Volunteer gangs continue their work of hurried burial of the corpses they find on the shores of Galveston island and at the many neighboring points where fatalities attended the storm. It will probably be many days yet, however, before all the floating bodies have found nameless graves.

Along the beach they are constantly being washed up. Whether these are those who were swept out into the gulf and drowned or are simply the return ashore of some of those cast into the sea to guard against a terrible pestilence there is no means of knowing. In any event in a trip across the bay seven bodies were counted tossing in the waves with a score of horses and cattle, the stench from which was unbearable.

In various parts of the city the smell of decomposed flesh is still apparent. Wherever such instances are found the authorities are freely disinfecting. A babe lashed to a mattress was picked up under a residence in the very heart of the city and was burned.

The city still presents the appearance of widespread wreck and ruin. Little has been done to clear the streets of the terrible tangle of wires and the masses of wreck, mortar, slate, stone and glass that bestrew them. Many of the sidewalks are impassable. Some of them are littered with debris. Others are so thickly covered with slime that walking on them is out of the question. As a general rule substantial frame buildings withstood better the blasts of the gale than those of brick. In other instances, however, small wooden structures, cisterns and whole sides of houses have been plumped down in streets or back yards squares away from where they originally stood.

Here and there business men have already put men to work to repair the damage done, but in the main the commercial interests seem to be uncertain about following the lead of those who apparently show faith in the rapid rehabilitation of the island city. The appearance of the newspapers yesterday after a suspension of several days is having a good effect, and both The News and The Tribune are urging prompt succoring of the suffering and then equal promptness in reconstruction. It is difficult to say yet what the ultimate effect of the disaster is to be on the city. Many people have left, and some may never return. The experience of others still here was so frightful that not all will remain if they can conveniently find occupation in other cities.

The bulk of the population, however, is temporarily panic stricken, and there are hosts of those who helped to make Galveston great who look upon the catastrophe as involving only a temporary halt in the advancement of the city.

What is most bothering business men at present is what attitude the railroads, and especially the Southern Pacific, are to assume with respect to reconstruction. The decision of the transportation lines will do more than anything else to restore confidence. Big ships, new arrivals, ride at anchor in front of the city. They had just reached the port and found the dock and pier damage so widespread that no accommodation could be given to them. They found sheds torn away, freight cars overturned and planking ripped off.

Tons of Food For Texans.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A telegram has been received at the treasury from the collector of customs at Mobile saying that the cutter Winona had sailed for Galveston with 25 tons of provisions and that the Algonquin and Onondaga would be loaded as soon as they arrived.

Fortune Came Just In Time.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Just after a city marshal had served Miss Georgiana Edith Simonson, a dressmaker of this city, with dispossess proceedings an attorney who had been seeking her for several days called on her and notified her that she had fallen heir to $25,000. The money was bequeathed to Miss Simonson by Frank Stevens, an American who died a few months ago in St. Petersburg. He left it in appreciation of her former kindness to his wife, who was the victim of a runaway accident in this city and who died a few months before Mr. Stevens.

Knight In Morgan's Place.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Erastus C. Knight, former comptroller of Buffalo and an active Republican with a splendid reputation in his own city, has been unanimously selected by the Republican state committee to fill the place on the Republican state ticket caused by the death of Comptroller William J. Morgan. Mr. Morgan died on the day he was nominated by the Republican convention at Saratoga.

Chinamen Aid Flood Sufferers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Chinese colony of this city is collecting supplies to send to Galveston. The principal item to be sent will be tea. It is said that this is the first time that any set of Chinamen in this country have joined together for the relief of sufferers from a great catastrophe.

DEFENDING STRIKE.

Mitchell Says "Tyrannical Conditions" Demand It.

WILL SHORTEN FUEL OF COUNTRY.

Business In Mining Regions Will Soon Be at a Standstill—Families Laying In Supplies—Collieries Will Pay Men This Week.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—In order to place before the public the conditions existing in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania President John Mitchell and Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson of the United Mine Workers of America have issued to the public a statement giving in detail the causes that have led up to the strike.

After the statement had been given out for publication President Mitchell said:

"At this time I do not believe anything will transpire between now and Monday that will keep the men from going out. All information coming to my office predicates that the struggle practically is now on. I have been receiving messages from the anthracite region which indicate clearly that the indorsement of the strike and the issuance of the order has met with the approval of the miners. There are a few details to be arranged, but the men are prepared for fight. I have not received information to show that the operators have receded from their position."

The statement is as follows:

"The members of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, realizing that the material welfare of a large number of the American people will be injuriously affected by a prolonged suspension of work in the coalfields of Pennsylvania, knowing the irresistible power of a concentrated public opinion and having a profound respect for the opinions of their fellow men, have decided to make a general statement for the information of the public. No one can have a greater appreciation of the farreaching effect of a strike of the anthracite coal miners. The coal miners and their families, the coal companies and coal carrying railways are but a small portion of the vast multitude whose interests are so directly and indirectly connected with the coal trade that a conflict of such magnitude will affect their welfare.

"The domestic fuel supply of the west, the great manufacturing industries of the east, the wholesale and retail business establishments, the great ocean, lake, canal and railroad transportation interests, laboring men and capitalists will all be affected by such a gigantic struggle. That the world may know that we have done all that honorable men can do to avoid the conflict we herewith submit a few facts for careful consideration.

"The average wages of the anthracite miner for many years has been less than $250 annually. During that period of time the cost of many of the necessaries of life has been increased over 20 per cent. An increase in the cost of living without a corresponding increase of wages is equivalent to a reduction in wages.

"The laws of the state of Pennsylvania make 2,400 pounds a ton of anthracite coal, yet anthracite coal miners are compelled to mine from 2,700 to 4,000 pounds for a ton and in addition to that are docked exorbitant amounts, often reaching 12 per cent of their daily earnings, for any impurities which may be sent out with their coal. Where they are paid by the car instead of being required to furnish a well rounded heap on the car at the breakers, as was originally agreed to, they have gradually been compelled to increase the amount of coal in each car by building the same perpendicularly from 6 to 18 inches above the edge. They are compelled to purchase the powder used in mining from their employers, paying $2.75 per keg for a grade of powder that can be purchased elsewhere for $1.50 per keg which wholesales for about $1 per keg. They are required by many of the companies to deal in "pluck me" stores or leave their employment. They must pay to the company $1 per month for a doctor, whether they need him or not, and have no voice in saying who the doctor shall be. The smallness of their earnings, together with the great cost of living, has compelled them to take their children from school before they have reached the age prescribed by law and place them at work in the breakers in order to keep the family from starvation.

"Having exhausted all other means of adjustment we have reached the point where we must either advise the miners of the anthracite region to continue working under these unjust and tyrannical conditions or counsel a strike. We have chosen the latter, and having done so we invite a thorough, impartial and public investigation of the conditions existing in the anthracite coalfields. We believe that the great American heart throbs in sympathy for the downtrodden and oppressed, whether in this or any other land. We know the great power of the public press in molding public sentiment.

"With an abiding faith in the justice of our cause and a consciousness of the knowledge that whosoever else may vilify and abuse us the Great Jehovah knows and understands the rectitude of our purpose we appeal to the American people and to the American press as the greatest arbiters on earth to assist us and sustain us in our hour of trial.

"JOHN MITCHELL, President.
"W. B. WILSON, Secretary-treasurer."

The strike will seriously affect business in the mining region, and merchants are preparing to protect themselves. Many families have ordered flour to last for several months, but the orders cannot be filled, as merchants refuse to deliver more than a few dollars' worth of goods on credit to people whose sole dependence is the mines. Most of the collieries will pay their men this week, and miners who will be idle on account of the strike say they will lay in an extra supply of provisions and groceries, paying for all they get in cash.

Mine Owner Yields to Strikers.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 14.—William Morgan, owner of an independent colliery at Audenried which employs about 20 men, has agreed to yield to the demands of the mine workers, and the men will not go out on strike. On the Hazleton division of the Lehigh Valley railroad there are 72 coal crews of six men to the crew, making a total of 432, and the strike will throw nearly all of this number out of employment. Fully 500 Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill railroaders will be idle if the collieries of the Cross Creek Coal company are closed down.

ELECTION TROUBLES.

Opposing Parties In Cuba Make Many Accusations.

HAVANA, Sept. 14.—There has been considerable talk among the Conservative and Fusionist leaders about not going to the polls in the election for delegates to the forthcoming constitutional convention. They now say they have decided to vote. The reason originally given against such a course was the threats of violence alleged to have been made by the revolutionary element in several towns of Havana province—threats likely to coerce their constituents into remaining at home on election day.

The Conservatives now claim that the National party has secured an unfair advantage from the fact that the principal members of the government belong in its ranks and from the further fact that the election law, though excellent in itself, is unfairly administered by the Nationalists. Among other things the Conservatives assert that many names on the lists of voters from the municipality of Havana have been deliberately changed. They point out that these lists, which are handled by the various registration boards for duplication, are being falsified and that when on election day the lists are handed to the voting boards the names mutilated will be found to be those of members of the Conservative party. As the municipality is controlled entirely by the Nationalists, the Conservatives insist that this mutilation for the purpose of preventing the legal identification of voters will be practiced to a great extent. They also declare that the civil government is privy to the falsification, though the military government is not aware of it, and they demand an investigation under the direction of Governor General Wood and the protection of their rights.

The mayors of Marianao, Santiago de las Vegas and San Jose de los Lagas, where the Fusionists were recently mobbed, still continue in office, and the Conservatives publicly denounce the civil officials who were sent there to inquire into the cause of the riots as guilty of whitewashing the ringleaders.

Governor General Wood returned to Havana last evening from the Isle of Pines, having been absent since Sunday. He reports that he found the island politically quiet. He was much impressed with the large undeveloped mineral resources of the district.

Five new cases of yellow fever have been reported, 78 being now under supervision.

Trouble With Milk Companies.

HOBART, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The Borden Condensed Milk company is having trouble with the local branch of the Five States Milk union at Delhi over the schedule of prices for the ensuing six months. The union demands an average price of $1.50 per hundred pounds for the next six months. The Borden company offers to pay $1.41 2-3 per hundred pounds. On contract day only 20 of the 190 farmers who have been taking milk to the Delhi condensing plant signed the contract. The rest signed the union agreement not to sign the Borden contract. The farmers seem to have the key to the situation, as the Bordens cannot run so large a plant profitably with the milk furnished by a few small producers. Similar action has been taken by the union at other places where the Borden company has condenseries. At Hamden the farmers refused to sign the contract, and at Brewsters 180 of the farmers declined to accept the price offered. The union managers declare that they can place all the milk they have elsewhere at the price demanded.

Senator Mackey Returns to Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Sept. 14.—Senator William F. Mackey, who was placed in nomination for lieutenant governor by the Democratic convention, has returned from Saratoga and was given a generous reception by members of his party and a number of Republicans. Mr. Mackey was escorted to the Genesee House by an impromptu procession. Several speeches were made. Mr. Mackey said in part: "I am indeed proud of the manner in which Erie county supported me, not only in the preliminary campaign, but in the past as well. We did not achieve the height of our ambition because the wisdom of the convention believed that the best thing for the party in this state was to nominate John B. Stanchfield of Elmira. While it was disappointing to us we feel and I feel greatly honored by being selected for second place, for it is a most high and honorable office. It has been filled by men greater than I and greater than I can ever hope to be."

The President's Little Joke.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 14.—The special train bearing President William McKinley and party from Somerset, the scene of the wedding, arrived in the Union station over the Pennsylvania railroad and after a few minutes' stop proceeded westward. The president was the picture of health. The crowd cheered wildly, while the president bowed and waved his hat from the rear platform. During the stop at Johnstown some one in the crowd called out, "Major, what are you going to do with us the next four years?" The president smiled and replied, "It is more important just now to know what you are going to do with me the next four years." "We are going to stand by you," was the rejoinder, and the crowd shouted its approval of this last remark

Ice Trust Hearing.

ALBANY, Sept. 14.—Deputy Attorney General Coyne has left for Saratoga, where, before the third appellate division, he will appear for the state in the arguments on the ice trust and the Major C. H. Smith cases. The legal title of the ice trust case is, "In the matter of the petition of the attorney general for an order decreeing Robert A. Scott, Charles W. Morse and others to appear before a referee for examination pursuant to chapter 690 of the laws of 1899."

Historic Tavern Burned.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Sept 14.—The old Ford tavern at Van Deusenville, built in 1775 and owned and occupied by H. L. Wilcox, has been burned The building was filled with valuable furniture, which also was destroyed. The fire was discovered by railroad men, who kicked in the doors and saved the family. The loss is estimated at $7,500 The insurance is $3,500. It is thought a defective chimney caused the fire.

BRITISH FIGHT ALL DAY.

General French's Men Engage Boers—Hutton to the Rescue.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Lord Roberts reports from Machadodorp, under date of Sept. 12, that General French was heavily engaged that day with the Boers in the hills west of Barberton. The British commander in chief added that General Hutton had gone to General French's support.

A dispatch from Pretoria says:

"Lord Roberts has proclaimed martial law over the entire Transvaal republic, now known as the Vaal River Colony.

"The testimony of medical men here generally is to the effect that the statements by Mr. Burdett-Coutts regarding the condition of the hospitals were greatly exaggerated. At Bloemfontein and Kroonstadt there was some extra suffering when the pressure became great, owing to the lack of skilled orderlies, but there was nothing to warrant Mr. Burdett-Coutts' statements.

"General Roberts showed that in January he ordered the cutting of the transport. He had to march a large army quickly through to get to the railway to Bloemfontein. His policy was justified. There was difficulty in coping with the sick and wounded on the march. For the first 16 days the Bloemfontein supply trains that arrived were insufficient for the daily requirements. Then they began slowly to accumulate at a reserve until they had 45 days' stock, when they moved forward."

National Industrial Commission.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—W. H. Sayward of the National Association of Builders of Boston appeared before the industrial commission and described the system of trade arbitration in vogue among the building trades in his city. Mr. Sayward said that the principle of trade arbitration had been tried in Boston and found satisfactory so far as it went. Arbitration, however, could not always avert a strike, and in that case there always was the widespread trouble that was involved in a sympathetic strike of the allied building trades unions. To obviate this the employers and employees had specialized the arbitration so that any question involving a possible strike was submitted to a committee composed only of the workmen and employers directly interested in that line. The masons, bricklayers, carpenters and painters all had arbitration committees consisting of five representatives of the workmen in that particular trade and five employers in the same trade. These ten chose an umpire from the outside and settled their differences without involving the allied building trades.

Mr. Root Undergoes an Operation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Secretary of War Root is confined to his summer residence at Southampton, L. I., as the result of an operation for the removal of a carbuncle and will not be able to leave his room for ten days or two weeks. The operation was performed last Sunday, and the physicians have ordered that Mr. Root remain perfectly quiet for at least ten days. The secretary had been troubled with a peculiar growth on the chest for some time, but paid no attention to it, as he did not consider it anything serious. Thursday last Mr. Root went to Washington with his wife. He returned to Southampton the next day. His chest began to pain him, and the members of the family suggested that he call a physician, but to this Mr. Root objected. Mrs. Root finally persuaded her husband to call a physician, which was done, and the physician declared the swelling a carbuncle and advised an immediate operation.

Rubber Tree Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—On the recommendation of the war department the agricultural department is preparing an order setting apart as forest reserves the island of Rombolin, which is north of the island of Panay; also the island of Pauitaui, which is one of the extreme group of the Jolo islands. Officers of the army who have been investigating the islands have found that these are the richest lands in the world for rubber trees, and it is the intention of the Washington authorities to have the trees preserved and cared for, especially as some fears lately have been expressed that the rubber supply might become exhausted.

American Racers Abroad.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The Americans made a much better showing at Vincennes in the bicycle finals, amateur and professional, for the exposition Grand Prix than on the previous visit, Cooper gaining second place in the professional and Lake third in the amateur. Taillander and Sanz, Frenchmen, secured first and second places in the amateur contests, where the prizes were works of art worth respectively 1,000, 600 and 300 francs. The distance in this race was 2,000 meters, and the time 2 minutes 52 seconds.

Shortage Discovered After Death.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The report of the examination of the books of the late Robert H. THE CRISIS AVERTED

Diplomatic Side of Russia's Proposal Forges to Front.

CHAFFEE'S RECALL NOT YET ISSUED.

Can Li Hung Chang Redeem His Pledge of Protection to Missionaries?—He Cannot Reach Peking Inside of a Week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The crisis that was near at hand over the evacuation proposal of the Russian government has been averted for a time at least, and the diplomatic side of the matter has become again the object of attention. The order to General Chaffee to leave at once, which was expected in some quarters, has not yet been issued. Instead earnest efforts are making to arrange the preliminaries for the negotiations which are expected finally to settle the Chinese troubles. Li Hung Chang's latest message has removed perhaps the last obstacle to the speedy beginning of these negotiations, and the only doubt that now exists is as to his ability to redeem his pledge to protect American interests and stop the outrages upon the missionaries and native converts.

If he can do this and thus manifest the existence of a de facto government, there is no reason to doubt that negotiations will be immediately in order. The notice that Russian troops will not evacuate Peking until some arrangements have been made for the installation of a government to take charge of affairs is directly in line with the aim the state department has been pursuing in the exchanges with Li Hung Chang, and if this Russian decision is adhered to it certainly will facilitate the ultimate withdrawal of all of the foreign forces in the opinion of the officials here. An inference from the Russian statement is that Li's coming to Peking will be forwarded by Russia in the hope of making the desired arrangement for the establishment of a Chinese government there.

As Li cannot reach the capital from Shanghai inside of a week it may be that there will be no developments in the international situation within that period of time.

Our government has not been advised even yet that all of the answers to the Russian note have been returned. It is said that all of the powers have been heard from on the subject, but the disposition is to regard their communications not as answers, but rather as argumentative statements, which leave the main issue still open for discussion. This point, however, becomes of diminished importance in view of the announced purpose of the Russian government to modify the terms of its original proposition in the manner indicated.

The state department has been notified that the German Fleet society's news bureau cables from Shanghai that it has received the following telegram from the Russian government:

"The Russian government makes the following ultimatum: The emperor of China shall resume the government himself and shall have Prince Tuan, the Boxer leader, arrested and punished and shall exclude the empress from any influence upon the government.

"Li Hung Chang has declared that all these demands are unacceptable except the first and has abandoned his proposed departure for the north."

Li Hung Chang and the Missionaries.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The French consul at Shanghai telegraphs that at his request Earl Li Hung Chang wired the governor of the province of Shansi to take measures to protect the Belgian missionaries, who were in great trouble. The governor replied that measures had been taken and a detachment of cavalry dispatched for their defense. Earl Li, the consul says, informed him that he had given urgent orders for the protection of the missionaries at Cheng-ting-fu, southwest of Poo-ting-fu, and Hin-hin, in the province of Chi-li.

"Champion of the Negro Race."

RICHMOND, Sept. 14.—Miss Lillian Clayton Jewett created a sensation at the meeting of the National Baptist association here and insisted on speaking despite the refusal of the ministers and delegates to indorse her. Just as the morning session was being brought to a close Miss Jewett, who occupied a seat in the gallery, arose and began to address the meeting. Her remarks were prefaced by the words, "Ladies and gentlemen," and she went on to say that she was the friend and champion of the negro race, although the convention had refused to accord her the privilege of the floor to deliver her address.

Fleet of Vessels Blown Ashore.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 14.—The Texas hurricane has reached here and is now raging with full fury. It has swept the coast, wrecking many fishing places. Numerous schooners have been driven ashore near St. John's, and the telegraph wires in remote localities are down. It is not known how much damage has been done at distant points, but it is believed the storm must have worked havoc among the fishing vessels on the Grand Banks, as the wind has blown from every quarter of the compass within the last 24 hours.

SWEDESBORO, N. J., Sept. 14.—Mrs. John Toole, aged 65, was burned to death at her home near here. The house was discovered to be on fire, and the aged husband and wife attempted to escape. Mrs. Toole became bewildered and, becoming separated from her husband, perished in the flames. Mr. Toole was severely burned. The house was destroyed.

James Pierpont Morgan was named by the governor as chairman of such committee and authorized to receive subscriptions.

The Congressional Situation.

Congressman Fowler is home from Maine full of enthusiasm for the success of the ticket that means much to his political career. Mr. Fowler has been stumping in Maine. Yesterday he appeared at the National headquarters in New York and is quoted as saying: "Now for New Jersey! Vermont and Maine have set the pace and done their duty, and our State must now go and do likewise." Of course, the Congressman proposes to help New Jersey do what he believes is its duty, and from now until election day he will devote his energy and ability in promoting the Republican ticket. He intends to make an aggressive and thorough canvass of the Eighth district, as he realizes that this year his re-election will be contested with more vigor by the Democrats than at any time since he defeated John T. Dunn.

There are at least two candidates in the field for the Democratic nomination for Congress, and both say that if they are nominated they will put up the hardest kind of a fight against Mr. Fowler. Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, who has taken an active interest in Democratic politics in Union county during the last two years, is desirous of the Congressional nomination, and he will undoubtedly have considerable support in the convention that will nominate. Mr. Park is a New York lawyer, but is very much interested in New Jersey affairs. He is a member of the Cranford Board of Education.

The other active aspirant for the honor is Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge, whose boom was started at the time the New Jersey delegation was on its way to Kansas City. That Mr. Wilde is earnestly desirous of the nomination is evidenced by the fact that he has permitted his picture to be printed in Newark and New York papers and is referred to as one "who will in all probability be nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Eighth Congressional district." In a short biography accompanying the picture the following is said of him:

Mr. Wilde is an ardent supporter of the Kansas City platform and an earnest advocate of those Democratic principles that are at war with a latitudinarian interpretation of the constitution. Mr. Wilde has supported every Democratic ticket for President since 1868. He will not attend the convention, but if nominated will make a strong, aggressive campaign. He is a speaker of ability and in 1896 stumped New York and New Jersey for Bryan. He lives in a handsome residence at Wildwood terrace, Glen Ridge.

From a Democratic standpoint it is regarded as an auspicious circumstance that there are men in the district who are willing and anxious to lead the Congressional battle for votes in the district, as available candidates have not been plenty for the last few years.

With a nominal majority of 3,000 to 4,000 in his favor, however, makes Congressman Fowler feel that his nomination by the Republicans is almost equivalent to an election.

Are the people of Porto Rico aliens, subjects or citizens of the United States? Here is a complicated question that has got to be settled, but the solving process is evidently going to cause some trouble in view of the position which the present administration has taken.

In this respect a strange anomaly was shown the other day when in the United States Court there appeared a young Porto Rican who expressed a desire to become naturalized so that he might become a voter of the United States. That right is denied to but one nation of people—the Chinese. In taking the first step towards naturalization the applicant must forswear allegiance to the foreign government. Now the question arises, What is the status of the Portoriqueno? His native land belongs to the United States. Consequently, in taking the first step towards naturalization a serious snag is struck in the fulfillment of the primary qualification, that of forswearing allegiance to the government under which he has been living. Certainly he cannot forswear allegiance to the United States in order to become a citizen of this very country, and yet if he does not do this what power will it be that he is to declare his intention of abjuring?

Strictly speaking, the man born in Porto Rico can not be deprived of the constitutional right of becoming an American citizen if he complies with the laws of this country, but being a Porto Rican under the present condition of affairs how is he to comply with the first requirement of the naturalization process. Here is a problem that must be solved. It is too deep for our lay mind, and we must leave it to the able judiciary of the country.

Democratic Platform.

If the full text of the platform adopted at the Democratic State convention in Trenton Wednesday was printed in The Daily Press it would fill nearly two columns of space and make a volume of matter that but few would read. Condensed in comprehensive form the principal points of the platform are as follows:

We charge the Republican party with having done more in the last four years to destroy the influence of the Declaration of Independence in the world than has been done in a century by the combined monarchies of Europe.

We demand that the nation proclaim its purpose of establishing a stable government in Manila and at the earliest moment declare that when such government is worthy of recognition that independence shall be granted them which they heroically won from Spain.

We declare for a strict enforcement of all existing laws and the enactment of more stringent legislation to control the activity of monopolies and similar unlawful combinations.

We declare that the pledges made by this Government to Cuba should be faithfully kept.

We declare for the construction of the Nicaraguan Canal and we demand that when so built it shall be controlled and defended by the United States.

We favor the creation of a Department of Labor by Congress.

We approve of the method of arbitration for the settlement of all disputes of labor.

We favor the election of United States Senators directly by the people.

Edward Radel, the New Brunswick trolley promoter, is now entered the list of men who are considered available for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Third district against Congressman Howell. Radel is of the class known as "a hale fellow well met." If he is nominated and is as successful in gathering votes as he is in securing valuable concessions for trolley franchises there would be no doubt but what he would set in Congress. We are informed that Mr. Radel is not averse to the honor and if he is elected to make the fight against Congressman Howell he will get out and hustle for victory with the indefatigable energy for which he is well-known in the business world.

Everything points to the fact that Mayor Seymour, of Newark, is going to be a formidable candidate for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination next year. On Wednesday the Mayor was one of the distinguished Democrats of the State who neglected the State convention to attend the outing of the Robert Davis Association, and while there his Gubernatorial boom was promoted considerably. It is to be presumed that the Mayor will have the unanimous support of the Essex delegates for the nomination, and if he can gather in those from Hudson he is cock sure of being the candidate of his party for the high office.

Camden's population is reported as 75,935, a gain of nearly 20,000 since 1895. This gives the Philadelphia suburb precedence over Trenton, with its 73,307.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Naming of Childs of Somerset as a Democratic Elector takes him out of the field for Congress in the Third district. Mr. Childs would have made a strong run against Representative Howell, and might have made a winning finish. His choice for Elector may afford speculation as to a Governorship possibility—if "Ed" Young retires.—New York Press.

Buchanan, Mich., May 22.
Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:
Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.
Yours respectfully, FANNIE WILLIAMS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 14.—The members of the Literary Society enjoyed a pleasant drive to Feltville by stage yesterday afternoon. On their way home the party stopped at McVey's in Plainfield and partook of a collation. They arrived home about 9 o'clock.

The new reservoir for the Watchung Water Company was completed Wednesday. It has a capacity of 300,000 gallons and gives a pressure equal to that of the Plainfield company, on account of its high situation. The company's men began the work yesterday of placing a hydrant at North and Jefferson avenues.

Previous to her departure from the borough, Miss Bessie Milligan gave a pleasant farewell party to a large number of her little friends last evening. Singing and playing games helped to pass the time quickly and the evening's enjoyment was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church held a sociable at the residence of Mrs. George Giles last evening. There were a large number present and a good time was had by all.

Two teams from the Foresters and W. G. Holton Council will play a game of ball on the Lincoln avenue grounds tomorrow.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 14th—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lienan entertained a number of friends at their home in a very pleasant manner last evening. It was purely a social affair and the time was passed quietly.

Summons have been issued by Justice Storms in the contract case of D. M. Osborne & Company against Howard Giles. They are returnable Sept. 20th.

A recruiting officer for the United States Navy was in town yesterday, but so far as could be learned his efforts to secure applications were useless.

A new guest arrived at the Hotel Nelson yesterday. It's a girl and Landlord Casterline is receiving congratulations.

Miss Frances Davis left yesterday for the State Normal School at Trenton, where she has entered for the fall term.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blatz, of Plainfield, were the guests of friends in town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 14.—Mrs. Bourne, State president of the W. C. T. U., addressed an enthusiastic meeting of temperance workers in the parlors of the Baptist church last evening. Mrs. Bourne proved to be a very entertaining talker and kept her audience interested in her subject during the entire evening. Mrs. Bourne's visit to Scotch Plains may lead the local branch of the W. C. T. U., which was in existence several years ago, being reorganized and taking its place in the ranks of the W. C. T. U. again.

Many and bitter are the complaints heard against Plainfield on account of the condition of the sidewalk along East Front street in front of the Wiley place. The walk has been neglected for years and at present is nothing but a winding and treacherous footpath. Stones and roots are sticking up and pedestrians generally take to the road at the point rather that run the risk of breaking a limb by being thrown by the pitfalls that are open for them. Wake up, Plainfield.

Sometime ago some one evidently took the road in front of J. K. VanNess' property on Front street for the city dumping grounds. A load of rubbish, tins, etc, was dumped in the gutter and is still there.

The trolley company gave a free dance and band concert at their new pleasure grounds, which was recently opened up along the line of the trolley between the village and Westfield, last night.

St. Mary's R. C. church, of Stony Hill has improved very much in looks by a number of improvements, including a neat and attractive coat of paint.

C. A. Smith & Company, of Fanwood, are having a track laid from the Central Railroad across to their lumber and coal yard on South avenue.

A number of Republicans from the village attended the banner raising in Plainfield last evening.

The Epworth Literary Society met and enjoyed a pleasant reading in their rooms last evening.

The Town Committee meets in the township rooms this evening.

WESTFIELD

Westfield, Sept. 14.—Westfield is to have a Bryan and Stephenson Club and the time between now and the November election will be warm and exciting. A committee consisting of E. J. Whitehead, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., Irving I. Ross, Charles E. Burtis, David J. Burke, John M. C. Marsh and F. W. Pennington have completed arrangements for a meeting to be held at French's hall on Monday evening when the Democratic organization will be perfected. A large banner will be swung across Broad street and headquarters will be opened.

The pollution of the river at Cranford was stopped for a couple of months, but the river is now in a bad condition again, as the factories upstream evidently have resumed the practice of throwing refuse in the stream.

It now looks as if the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company has lost hope of getting the line to Springfield through in the near future, as the rails laid along the route are being carted away.

The C. & C. Electric Company at Garwood is increasing its working force, and running the works nights to keep up with business.

Central avenue is not in a condition for bicycle riding, as it is being repaired by the County Road Board.

—It will surprise you to experience the benefit obtained by using the dainty and famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Next Door," with the famous Royer Brothers, will be seen at Music Hall tonight. The piece, contrary to the usual farce comedies, contains an interesting plot, which runs through the entire three acts, which abounds in novelties of the most startling order. The first act shows a hotel office at Atlantic City, and more funny situations, up-to-date business, trick and mechanical effects, are introduced in this one act than is usually seen in an entire production. The finality shows a full-sized trolley car through which the clever Royers perform a series of acrobatic feats that are simply marvelous. The car is blown to atoms. The second act a beautiful scene, representing the beach of Atlantic City, with wonderful revolving scene, and marvelous bath houses. Some very clever specialties are introduced in this act. The third and last act contains a number of mechanical, acrobatic and pantominic tricks that are positively new. In this act, a novelty, a trick mule, is shown, the most comical and ingenious animal that has ever been seen; he is a whole circus. To dive from the stage to the window of the second story house would seem an impossibility, but it is accomplished in this act by four people. It is within bounds to say that no large spectacular and acrobatic play ever shown here, will give the satisfaction that "Next Door" does. You wonder how much can be done in so little time. To sum up the entire production, "Next Door" is a great big success—company, wardrobe, and scenery excellent, and deserves mammoth business.

TO RECLAIM MEADOW LAND.

Senator Kean Makes a Contract for Immense Improvement on Newark Bay Shores.

Senator Kean has contracted with the New England Exploration Company for the earth excavated for the great subway in New York city, and will have it transported to Elizabeth and used for filling in the salt meadow land of the Kean estate, lying along the Newark bay beyond the Singer Works.

The Kean tract comprises hundreds of acres of the so-called Elizabeth and Newark meadows, and the project is the first practical outcome of the much talked about reclammation of the meadows. It is a gigantic and important improvement, and the meadows will be transformed into solid ground for factory sites.

Senator Kean has contracted with Louis Quien to do the work of filling in, grading, etc., and the work will begin immediately.

JONES IS ACTING GOVERNOR.

Speaker of the House Takes Charge in Absence of Foster M. Voorhees.

Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of New Jersey, has gone on a vacation trip to the Thousand Islands, and Benjamin Jones, Speaker of the House, is now Acting Governor.

Mr. Jones has an office at No. 160 Market street, Newark, and he was astonished yesterday when informed that for the time being he was the Chief Magistrate of the State. William Johnson, who was President of the Senate, and who would have taken charge in Governor Voorhees' absence, is now First Assistant Postmaster-General of the United States, and the Governor's mantle has accordingly fallen on Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones is the youngest Governor New Jersey has ever had. He is but a few months over thirty.

FIVE MORE HOLLAND BOATS.

Submarine Craft To Be Built at Nixon's Shipyard.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, September 14.—Lewis Nixon has orders at his shipyard for five Holland submarine torpedo boats similar to the one previously constructed at the shipyard and now owned by the United States Government. The new vessels, however, will be sixty feet long, which is a little larger than the original Holland boat.

Four of the new torpedo boats are to be constructed for the government and one is to be for the Holland company. The keel of this vessel has been laid, but work on the others has been commenced.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The first freak bet in Bergen county on the result of the Presidential election became known yesterday. Lambert Snydert, a manufacturer of acetylene gas machines, living at Rochelle Park, agreed that if William Jennings Bryan is defeated he will roll a keg of beer around Arcola block, and John Becker, his neighbor, is to do the same thing if President McKinley is not re-elected. The circumference of the Arcola block is about five miles.

One of the most interesting documents ever put out by the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, at New Brunswick, is bulletin No. 144, which will be distributed in a few days. It is entitled "Live Covers for Country Homes," being descriptions of the many different beautiful vines which may be trained to cover porches, verandas and the sides of buildings. The article is elaborate, finely illustrated and accurate in its detailed information, having been written by Byron D. Halsted, the botanist. The illustrations show many buildings, especially those connected with Rutgers College, clad in these live and lovely vestures, including the chapel, with English ivy; the experiment station building, with Japanese ivy; a grapevine arbor at the kitchen door of the college law building, and many other vineclad cottages, piazzas and nooks. Among the live covers mentioned are English ivy, American ivy, Japanese ivy, a wistarias, trumpet creeper, honeysuckles, climbing roses, pipe vines, moonseed, matrimony vine, the bitter sweet, the hop, the Maderia vine, the cobaea and several others. The bulletin treats of the planting, care, diseases and characteristics of these vines. Copies may be obtained gratis by addressing the New Jersey Experiment Station, in New Brunswick.

Aged Man Sues Two Nephews.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Sept. 14.—George VanHise, seventy-three years old, of this city, brought suit Wednesday in the Court of Chancery to secure possession of $5,000, which he says his two nephews, James Ward and Alfred VanHise, obtained from him last spring when he was suffering from nervous prostration. VanHise accumulated considerable money as a raftsman on the Delaware River during the last fifty years. While ill, he says, his nephews induced him to turn over his cash savings to them. He has now recovered. The Chancellor issued a temporary order restraining the nephews from disposing of any of the money.

"Annie Rooney" Killed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, September 14.—Mrs. Anna Bradley, alias "Annie Rooney," a well-known character about this city, was killed yesterday afternoon by an eastbound coal train, while she was attempting to cross the tracks in Avenue E. yards. She had just been released from the County Jail, where she has been many times before for intoxication. She leaves two daughters and a son, and a husband from whom she has been separated for years.

TAILOR MADE GOWNS.

They Are Varied by Many Different Accessories.

Tailor made costumes are usually so constructed that different vests, revers, etc., may be worn with them. The vest or chemisette matches the revers in color, and for traveling and similar hard service the gown is kept very simple. To give it a more elegant aspect for other occasions revers of white moire or bengaline are added, or instead of white a delicate tint is chosen which contrasts with the color of the costume while harmonizing with it.

The revived passion for fine needlework, such as used to render dainty our grandmothers' wardrobes, has brought into vogue many accessories of nainsook, organdie, net and muslin. These materials are the foundation, but are enriched with valenciennes edges and insertions, tucks, hemstitching, drawn work and embroidery until the original simplicity of the goods is quite overlooked. Small turnover collars, to be worn on a stock, are a favorite bit of fancy work, as this class of decoration is all done by hand.

The cut shows a princess gown of pink flowered silk. It is made in the redingote style, the skirt opening over a front of plaited white mousseline de soie trimmed with three ruches. There is a full guimpe of white mousseline de soie, around which is draped a mousseline fichu bordered with a ruffle which continues down the front in coquilles. The sleeves are of elbow length and have large cuffs ornamented with a jeweled button. A deep frill of mousseline finishes the sleeves. The black hat is trimmed with pink roses, embroidered white mousseline de soie, a bow of black velvet and a jeweled buckle.

MILLINERY NOTES.

An Economical Method of Securing Variety In Hats.

It is considered proper to have a separate hat for each out of door costume, but as the majority of women cannot afford to indulge in so much millinery the two or three hats which they do buy should be chosen with a view to general adaptability to the wardrobe already selected. Black hats and white ones are fortunately usually favored by fashion, or black and white are employed together, and these will go with any color. A hat all black or all white may be brought into harmony with the gown by the addition of a cluster of flowers, a bow or a chou of the tint of the rest of the costume. This ornament may be pinned in place, which allows it to be easily changed. One hat may thus be varied extensively if there are several different bunches of flowers or bows to choose from, and novelty is secured at a comparatively small expense. A drapery of lace with a jeweled pin or buckle will transform a plain hat into one suitable for an afternoon reception.

The bodice illustrated is of blue taffeta. It forms a bolero, gathered in front under a chou from which fall two ends. There is a draped guimpe of white mousseline de soie, passing under the guipure border of the bolero, and below the bolero is a blouse of the blue taffeta. The sleeves of taffeta are tight and plain as far as the middle of the forearm, where they are continued by a puff of mousseline de soie gathered into a band at the wrist.

"We are sowing the seeds of enlightenment and progress," the Briton explained.

I protested that this was a mere figure of speech, meaning nothing.

"Well, to be explicit, we are planting natives," said the Briton, fondly caressing the machine gun at his side.

It was all very horrible, to be sure, but obviously quite necessary.—Detroit Journal.

It is a fact which admits of no argument that a school teacher's task is a severe one indeed, and it requires a perfect system and steady nerves to be able to conduct a class-room in a proper manner. That Ripans Tabules help to keep the system in perfect order and strengthen the nerves is testified to by a prominent school teacher in Philadelphia, who says: "I have been teaching the Ninth Grade in the George M. Wharton School for the past eight years, and it is a hard matter to comprehend what a task I have every season when I get in a new set of pupils from the lower sections. You see it requires great patience and assiduity to discipline and educate boys, and the task is a very arduous one. Especially is this the case during the examinations when the work is very exacting and the drain on the system extensive. From leaning over my books and marking up papers for five or six hours at a time I get a headache and my entire system gets shattered, but a Ripans Tabule always straightens me up, and next morning I am ready for the task over again, feeling as fresh as ever from the effects of the magic Tabule taken on the previous night. It is certainly a wonderful remedy for nervousness and invigorating a wasted system, and in this I voice the sentiments of all the teachers in my section, every one of whom has used them with equally beneficial results."

EDWARD HANLAN and Other Men of Sculls and Oars

RECENT regatta events served to bring out to public notice the remarkable career of the former world's champion sculler, Edward Hanlan, the most graceful oarsman that ever pulled an oar. Columbia university sought honors with her 'varsity crews coached by the great Hanlan, but it was not in the cards that the "Wizard of the Sculls," as Hanlan is called, should develop a stroke for his charges that would beat the style used by the great rowers of Pennsylvaina.

Hanlan has passed out of the lives of a majority of the young people who

this year took an interest in rowing. It was in April of this year that Hanlan identified himself with the interscholastic crew that rowed out of the Union boat club in Boston and once more stepped before the sport loving public. Then followed his engagement as coach of the Columbia university crew and the defeat of his oarsmen. To sniff the air of water sport, so to speak, once more, was to put a new spring in the arms of the sculling marvel. He even went so far as to declare that he was as good as olden days in a sprint over the water in a light shell, and issued a challenge to his old rival, Gaudaur.

Professionalism has crept into rowing to such an extent that the sport will never regain its old-time brilliancy except insofar as the contestants are collegians and the strict amateur standing is maintained. What the annual boat race of Cantab and Oxenians is to Great Britain is the fixture contest between Yale and Harvard. Besides that the Poughkeepsie intercollegiate contests have forged to the front until they attract almost as much attention as the Thames river event between the blue and the crimson. People are becoming educated to the realization that of all the amateur sport fostered by universities, that of rowing is the most exciting and the least self supporting. A 'varsity always loses the profits of the football season on the water with its crews. There is no way to bring in a sufficient revenue for the crews, and the coach must be remunerated from other funds in the treasury. But there is no more reason why Former Champoin Hanlan should not train college crews for the amateur championship than there would be for Pat O'Dea to coach the eights of Wisconsin.

Notwithstanding the brief appearance of the old rowers at recurring seasons as coaches, the sands of the see of time show plainly that these veterans are gradually being forgotten. But the sculler who loves to tan his arms and shoulders while he hardens his muscles, will not ignore the career of Hanlan. He is worthy of a character study for anybody, is this wonderful oarsman. Forty-five years ago the 14th of July, Ned was born in

EDWARD HANLAN TEN EYCK.

Canada, of Irish parents. The solemn-faced keepers of the records in the little Canadian town where he first saw the light, declare, with great precision and a well-concealed sense of humor that they are not positive whether Hanlan first learned to row or to walk. But at any rate Ned was a veritable water rat when a mere boy.

In 1872, about the time that many of us city youngsters were asking our parents to row us out in the little tortuous lagoons of the parks as our weekly diversion, Hanlan tried his first real contest, pulling bow oar in a three-pair race. In the boat with Ned at the time were Berry and Duncan. The Hanlan crew beat the crack crew of which Pat Gray was stroke. Hanlan subsequently won two single scull races and made his debut as a rower. From that time until four years ago Hanlan rowed in over 200 races, and of these contests but four were lost by him by out-and-out rowing. In every other case in which Ned failed to finish first accident was the reason that was truthfully assigned. Hanlan, like a true sportsman, essayed to contest against Beach in Australia, and was beaten. But the winner of that race was in such a physical condition after the contest that he knew he "had been to a boat race," as the sculler's say. However Australia yielded honors to Hanlan as did almost every prominent rowing locality in the United States. The antipodes, too, England and Africa, pitted their pet scullers against the Canadian, and the man who practiced rowing in the cool waters of "Our Lady of the Snows" startled the critics with his victories.

Hanlan looks prosperous now, and he must have a good fortune. Nearly 100 of his races have been for championships, and these, together with his matches and numerous exhibitions must have netter him over a quarter of a million dollars. Where is the oarsman to-day who could earn $2,500 a season plying his oars?

It was 1876, before Hanlan ventured out of his own country to row, and he was victorious at Philadelphia. He cut down the record for the three-mile course to 21 minutes 9 seconds. Two years later Hanlan won the championship of America by beating Evan Morris over the course that was used near Pittsburgh. That same season he won from Charles Courtney. Then Hanlan went to England and showed his superiority over the crack professionals Hawden and Eliott. The sturdy Canadian gave an exhibition of his skillful sculling and set a record of 33 minutes, 56¼ seconds for the five-mile course. The record which he displaced was 35 minutes 10 seconds.

It was but a step for the great sculler to walk into the best houses with the proud title of world's champion and cup holder. This he accomplished in 1880. Laycock the Australian holder of the Sportsman's cup was next defeated. In 1883 Hanlan broke the world's record for four miles, making the new mark of 27 minutes 57½ seconds. It was in 1884 that Hanlan rowed Beach for the world's championship and was defeated because of the interference of a steamer with the match. Subsequently in the same season Beach won fairly and squarely. More records went by the board thereafter, however, for Hanlan had a style of rowing that Father Time could not wholly handicap.

It will be recalled that in 1887 Lake Calumet, near Pullman, Ill., was quite a rowing place, and that it was on the murky waters of that lake that Gaudaur won from Hanlan the championship of America. In the return match Hanlan won. When Hanlan went to Australia again Beach won the laurels and turned the championship over to a man named Kemp, who was a very successful oarsman. An admiring friend has furnished me with an exhaustive record of all of Hanlan's races, but a repetition of his noteworthy performances would add little to the well-known reputation of the veteran oarsman.

Since the day that B. H. Howell, the American double winner of the diamond sculls, fainted while rowing in the final heat of that race with G. M. Hemmerde, of Oxford, the oarsmen of his country have come to the conclusion that there is a fatality connected with that race which will keep the trophy in the possession of the Britishers. Dr. McDowell, the Chicago man who made two unsuccessful attempts to capture the event, found the spiles at Fawley Court. He will not try again for the English classic. Howell fell out of his boat and was in imminent danger of drowning. But the cold revived him and his life was saved. Howell is a son of a sugar merchant in New York, and attended Oxford when he captured the "blue ribband" rowing event of the world in 1898 and 1899. It is said that he will not try next year.

Whatever may be the popularity of Edward Hanlan or the discussion over Howell's accident, there is no question that Edward Hanlan Ten Eyck—winner of the diamond sculls in 1897—is the most noted oarsman in the world to-day. Coming of a rowing family, his father a veteran of the sculls and easy conqueror of Rumehr in the Paris singles at the recent national regatta, the Wachussett boat club man is likely to extend his popularity to France this year. England does not favor Ten Eyck, because it is feared that he is a professional.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 16—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle,

Topic.—The broad way; the narrow way.—Math. vii, 13, 14.

Christ here uses the familiar illustration of a way to describe life. He points out that there are two ways, one of which we must follow, and then describes these ways by contrasts. He speaks of the gates (the entrances to the way), the ways themselves, the ends of the ways and the number who travel them. In this order let us study these solemn words of the Master.

1. The wide gate and the strait gate. The gate or entrance to the broad way is wide. It is easy to go through, because in entering it we follow our natural inclinations, and it is easier to do this than to go against them. The gate or entrance to the narrow way is strait or straitened or pressed together, so that it is difficult of entrance. Christ Himself is the door to the Christian life, and we find Christ through repentance and faith. All recognize the fact that the human heart naturally inclines toward sin and from Christ rather than from sin to Christ; hence the wide and strait gates.

2. The broad way and the narrow way. The way of sin and the world is not only more easily entered than the Christian way, but it is easier to follow. It is broad; the other is narrow. A broad way is easier traveled than a narrow way, particularly the narrow ways of the east. It is hard to live a Christian life even after we enter the strait gate. We still go against our natural inclinations. It is easy to travel on the broad way because we are going with the stream. In the world we go with the current; in Christ we go against it. The one is therefore easier to travel than the other.

3. The broad way leads to destruction, the narrow way to life. The end of the one is hell, eternal separation of the soul from God. The end of the other is heaven, the eternal life of the soul with God. The end of the ways should determine which one we should travel. A wise and prudent man looks at the end of a road to determine whether or not he will enter it. What though the entrance be easy and pleasant if the end is death? Hell is robbed of none of its sorrows because we reach it by an easy road. On the other hand, what though the entrance to a road be difficult and the road itself hard of travel if the end pays, if the end is eternal life? The joys of heaven will be all the sweeter because they have been difficult of attainment and because they have caused us toil and labor, self denial and sacrifice.

4. Many go in at the wide gate and travel the broad way. Few find the straight gate and enter it. If this is true, it is no reason why we should enter the broad way or travel upon it. To know that millions are poor does not alleviate the sufferings that sometimes come as a result of poverty. To know that millions were dying of hunger or thirst would not lessen our sufferings if we were in the same condition. The numbers of the lost will not detract from the sorrows of the lost. Let us follow the voice of wisdom and enter and travel upon the road that leads to eternal life.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Make this meeting evangelistic in character, giving associate members or others present an opportunity to enter the straight gate to the narrow way, which leads to life.

BIBLE READINGS.

Deut. xxx, 15-20; Ps. i, 1-6; xxxvii, 5; xxxiv, 1; Prov. iv, 25-27; xiv, 12; Isa. xxxv, 8-10; Math. vii, 24-27; Luke xiii, 24; John xiv, 1-7.

Lecturing From the Pulpit.

Preaching has not lost its hold on the people, but a good deal of lecturing and not a little reading of essays and papers in the pulpit under the name of preaching has failed to draw and hold the interest of the general public. The "all round minister" who knows what his people are thinking about all week and who goes to his pulpit to tell them how to think their thinking according to his thinking is apt to prove a weariness to flesh, mind and spirit. The fact that they have been thinking of secular things all the week and putting these thoughts into the great conflicts of the day is the reason why they want a change on Sunday. They do not want to leave religion out of their daily lives, but they do want to get some religion to put into their daily lives, and they come to church for it, but get too often a warmed over mess of their everyday experiences.—Universalist Leader.

A Prayer.

We thank Thee, Lord, for the glory of the late days and the excellent face of Thy sun. We thank Thee for good news received. We thank Thee for the pleasures we have enjoyed and for those we have been able to confer. And now, when the clouds gather and the rain impends over our forest and our house, permit us not to be cast down. Let us not lose the savor of past mercies and past pleasures; but, like the voice of a bird singing in the rain, let grateful memory survive in the hour of darkness. If there be in front of us any painful duty, strengthen us with the grace of courage; if any act of mercy, teach us tenderness and patience.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Things Worth Doing.

If life is spent in a mad scamper after things of no real value or even after valuable things we can grasp but superficially, it is as much wasted as if thought were dulled or opportunities neglected. The hungry mind should not injure itself by gorging what it cannot digest. Wisdom lies in clearly discriminating the things worth doing, the objects worth pursuing, from those which, though perhaps good for others, may not be good for us.—Christian Register.

MONGOOSE IS BARRED.

Why Uncle Sam Has Passed a Law to Keep This Creature Out of His Wide Domains.

It is not often that the United States congress passes a law declaring that an animal is a dangerous nuisance, and forbidding all good citizens from bringing it into the country, and directing all officers at ports to keep it out, in company with the Chinese and emigrants who are likely to become a burden on the people. This has just been done to a little animal that has missed a great chance to be a welcome visitor in every land under the sun by behaving badly wherever it leaves home.

The animal that has made such a bad reputation for itself that it has been barred by Uncle Sam, is the mongoose. It is a native of India where it was very useful in killing rats along the wharves of the great seaports and in the storehouses of grain. When it had finished the rats it went into the swamps and jungles after snakes. Possibly because there are always plenty of rats and snakes in India, Mr. Mongoose confined himself strictly to a rat and snake diet, and was thought much of. Other people heard of him, and wanted him to come and make him home with them. In the island of Jamaica the rats were unusually troublesome since they every year ate half a million dollars worth of sugar cane in the fields and in the sugar houses. The planters sent to India and got five pairs of the mongoose and turned them loose. They were pretty little creatures, something like weasels in size and shape and habits.

In less than no time they had cleaned out the rats in Jamaica and brought up big families that had to be fed. When the snakes were gone, too, the families had grown still larger and were just as hungry as ever. Then they got to killing little pigs and chickens, lambs, puppies, kittens, birds, frogs, turtles, land crabs and eating every sort of eggs.

These furnished only the first course of Mr. Mongoose's generous dinner. For dessert he ate bananas, pineapples, sweet corn, cocoanuts or any fruit or vegetable that happened to be in season. The people of Jamaica would now give a good deal for some animal that is warranted to eat the mongoose, or the would gladly trade off all there are on the island for the rats they used to have.

That is the reason Uncle Sam has tried to build a law as tight and high as a wire chicken fence all around the coast to keep Mr. Mongoose out.—Little Chronicle.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 16, "The Broad Way; the Narrow Way"—Text, Math. vii, 13, 14.

"Enter ye in at the strait gate."

Room enough for all to get in without crowding. No one falls to pass through because he is crowded out. It is wide enough for safety, for comfort, for convenience of all good things, but has no waste space. It is a well paved and protected highway, free from holes, quagmires, deep sand and rolling stones. It gives no chance for wide wandering and no danger of missing the route. That is why it is narrow, so one need not spend time hunting for the track. It is a clear trail, to be lost only by carelessness.

The bridle path from the Crawford House to the top of Mount Washington was little used for some years after the cog railway was built on the Fabyan side of the mountain and because in places obscured by brush and obliterated by storm and frost. It was difficult to find at its beginning and when it emerged from the woods and crossed the bare mountain plateau could often be traced only by the marks on the granite ledges, where feet of horses and men had worn the lichens away and left the stone a lighter hue. In many places it skirted sheer precipices, where to lose one's footing meant danger if not death. No fences protected its sides, no ropes gave hand hold in steep places. It was broad enough for the most liberal minded, broad as the whole mountain backbone, broad as all out of doors, oftentimes wide as the seas of billowy mist which filled all valleys and leveled all hilltops.

But it was not a safe way to take without a guide, especially when storms threatened. In the hotels hung a notice offering $1,000 reward for the recovery of the body of a young man who on a September morning started alone to make the ascent. Where or how he found a resting place no one knows to this day. Where he wandered and missed the threadlike trail in the sudden fall of fog banks has never been marked. But it is certain he did not perish because of lack of space, but because of too much room for wandering.

"There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death."

Everything Needful.

Many localities have no appliances for cultivation of social life but the saloons. Churches have rooms, but they are too sacred for use except once a week, and so the young people drift. The Y. M. C. A. in some places supplies a felt want and in its classes for study and in the trades as well as in rooms with games and gymnastic apparatus provides the needed appliances for healthy growth of social life. There is scarcely a place so small or poor that cannot do something to hold its young people. Find a room, even if it is a barn. Have some athletic equipment, even if it be only a broomstick. Enroll a class, if it be but of two members. Have a leader and do systematic work. All that is necessary you can do if you have the will. Study something useful and interesting. Some years since two boys began to study German together without a teacher. They talked a queer mixture of pigeon German, but kept at it and picked up some knowledge of the language. After years brought the chance for foreign travel and better study. When a professor was needed in one of our leading universities and the name of one of these boys was considered for the place, he was preferred above all other candidates because of his acquaintance with German. Other men are selected because of superior physical training or mental equipment of various kinds.

Neglect nothing. Let the league stir up the church until every village has all needed facilities for cultivating the full Christian manhood and womanhood. Make the wheel go.

Opportunity.

It seems as if this world was specially devised to develop the spirit of sympathetic helpfulness. The powers of nature are held to orderly working in such a way that human life is benefited by their operation. Seasons come and go; seedtime and harvest make an orderly succession. Yet there is always the liability to accident. Danger is an element never long absent. Disease, want and distress come to the good as well as the vicious. No calculation can insure freedom from reverses and suffering. No one is removed from need of help and sympathy of his fellows. It is just such a world as is best suited to develop helpfulness in men, good fellowship and fraternity as well as manly confidence, fortitude, generosity and love. If you fail to become truly manly and womanly, it is not because the opportunity has been lacking. Are you helping Jesus to redeem this world? Are you helpful to His needy ones? This is your chance. Do now the things you will wish you had done when you stand in His presence at the final reckoning.

The Ever Present Guide.

The long, long days would be dreary
And the restless nights so sad
Were it not for the thought of comfort sweet
That makes my spirit glad.

And this is the thought most precious,
That a loving, unseen Friend
Is tirelessly watching over me
And will watch till life shall end.

So close, oh, so close beside me
Does this veiled Presence stand!
It seems at times I can surely feel
The pressure of His hand.

And the days when I am weakest
Are the days He draws most near
And whispers low to my weary heart
His tenderest words of cheer.

Some day, some day I shall see Him
In all His forms of love;
I shall see Him, and know Him, face to face,

—Amy Parkinson.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The Cranford Golf club course is being lengthened to a total playing length of 3369 yards. The 4th hole will be 565 yards.

The weekly competitions for the president's cup and the green committee challenge trophy will be held on the links of the Park Golf Club tomorrow afternoon. The match between the Bachelors and Benedicts of the club last Saturday was such a success that it is likely that they will meet again.

The following members have recently been elected to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club: Active members—Edward A. Stevenson, John A. Tompkins, Vincent C. Tompkins, John McCarthy, Charles A. Brooks and Francis W. Frost. Non-resident—Porter Steele and Miss Betty H. Steele, of Brooklyn; Edward C. North, Wm. C. Farber and Mrs. Wm. L. Mercer, of New York, and Mrs. John M. Uhler, of Fanwood. Associate—Mrs. E. C. North, Mrs. John McCarthy, Miss Uhler, Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, Miss Mary H. Miller and Raymond V. V. Miller. Junior—Charles C. Perkins, VanWyck Brooks, Kenneth Bulkley and Miss Edith Mellick.

The team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will make a strong effort to win the match in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament against the East Orange Golf Club on the latter's links tomorrow afternoon. While the East Orange team has now dropped back to third place in the league, it can still be looked on as an important factor in the contest. The Hillside Club will therefore send its strongest team to East Orange Saturday and will make a strong bid for the match. The Hillside Club will probably be composed of Willard Wadsworth, Frank Reinhart, Frank Talmage, W. L. Glenny, J. Whitney Baker and Morris Dumont.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Arion baseball team will play its last game this season with the Pond team tomorrow on the Clinton avenue ground. Both teams are evenly matched, and an exciting game is promised all those who attend.

—Peaches, Bartlett pears, tomatoes, muskmelons, vegetables at Smith Bros'. grocery tomorrow.

—The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. L. W. Randolph.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

Annual Meeting of the Association Elects Lawrence L. Tweedy as President.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held at the High School this morning. The election of directors was held and resulted in the election of the following: Townsend Mason, Fred R. Mason, David H. Pond, Lawrence L. Tweedy and Hervey K. Doane. Principal I. W. Travell appointed A. B. Meredith as faculty director of the association and Charles Burdette Morse, '95, as alumni director.

The Board of Directors held a meeting at recess and elected the following officers: President, Lawrence L. Tweedy; vice-president, Townsend Mason; secretary and treasurer, Hervey K. Doane. C. Ames Brooks was choson manager of the track team and was instructed to consider the advisability of holding a closed field meet this fall. A vote of thanks was extended to A. L. Force, editor and proprietor of The Daily Press, for the renewal of the offer of the Daily Press medal for the all-round championship.

There was a discussion of football affairs. W. Holly Titus was chosen manager of the football team and Harold Davis was elected temporary captain. He will hold office until the team is organized and elects its own captain.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

A Prohibition mass-meeting will be held in the Lyceum Theatre in Elizabeth on Thursday evening, October 18th. John G. Woolley, the Presidential candidate, will speak at 7:30 sharp, and will be followed by Hon. Oliver Stewart, National chairman, and Samuel Dickie.

Former Congressman John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth, is going to stump the State for Bryan. He returned last evening from Michigan, where he has been getting rid of his rheumatism at a health resort. He says the National committee wanted him to stump Ohio, but he would prefer to talk in Jersey.

The annual convention of the Republican State League of Clubs of New Jersey was held yesterday at Columbia Hall, Jersey City. Delegates from every county in the State were in attendance. Edward W. Woolley, chairman of the Republican county committee of Hudson county, delivered an address of welcome.

The purpose of the convention was to elect officers and devise plans for the thorough organization of the Republican party in the State.

The resolution praised President McKinley's administration and denounced the Democratic platform as appealing to the prejudices of the people by the cry of imperialism. President Frank Meyer, of Newark, and Secretary Theodore Eanis, of Jersey City, were re-elected.

Before the convention adjourned Senator Issac M. Hamilton, of Illinois, delivered an address. He ridiculed Bryan's speeches by saying they were like the river Platte—1,600 miles long and 12 inches deep. He said the country was never in a more prosperous condition, and predicted disaster should Bryan be elected.

After spending some time at the headquarters of the New Jersey Republican State committee in Newark yesterday morning, Franklin Murphy did a good day's work at the headquarters of the National Republican committee in New York city, and wound up the day, and a fair share of the night, by presiding at the meeting of the State Republican League in Jersey City. Mr. Murphy said that although he had been home from Europe only a few days—hardly long enough to give the political situation in New Jersey careful investigation—he thought it safe to say that the State would be in line with the great Republican States when the National, Congress and Legislative returns came in. The chairmen of the twenty-one county committees in the State are now engaged in making a canvass of their districts, and their reports will be due at the State committee headquarters in a short time, when it will be possible for Mr. Murphy to make a comprehensive statement of the situation.

A HOSPITABLE CAT.

He Shares His Dainty Meals with the Half-Starved Fence Haunters of the Neighborhood.

A cat owned in Brooklyn has been trained to enjoy being lifted up by his tail. As a reward for this exercise, before he really began to delight in the sensation, he used to demand and receive food on a plate in the back yard. At first no one could understand why he refused to eat in the house, but eventually it was noted that as soon as he got the meal a number of homeless cats appeared in the yard, though not one had been in sight when the plate was filled.

Dewey (all cats are named Dewey now) was watched, and it was learned that no sooner was he by himself with his food than his loud "meow" called in the visitors. They were all of the thin, half-starved class of back fence haunters so common in cities, and Dewey seemed to get as much pleasure out of feeding them as they did out of the dinner.

It was not long before the further discovery was made that through appeals to various members of the family Dewey would get enough to satisfy himself before he insisted on the back porch feeding. Then his owner found that he would pick his guests. Some of the most disreputable cats of the section were welcome; others equally disreputable and equally hungry were ruthlessly driven away.

Dewey has other peculiarities. He likes to lie on a clean counterpane, and the more elaborate it is the better he is satisfied. He is also fond of all starched goods, and will invariably hunt out a lawn skirt to make his bed on, if one is incautiously left around. But his friendship for plebeian cats is getting him into disrepute, and there is pretty persistent talk about sending him to the country, where he will have to keep better company.—N. Y. Herald.

Winter Homes of Birds.

Swallows migrate to Central America and the southern part of Mexico. They like it pretty warm. Along about March they begin to appear in the southern states, but they seldom get far north until the latter part of April. The robins don't care for such a warm climate, and very few of them get as far south as Mexico.

Game Laws.

Copies of the game laws, revised to date, can be secured free of cost at The Daily Press office.

GUS SALTZMAN ABROAD.

INVESTIGATING AUTOMOBILE FIRE EXTINGUISHERS IN PARIS.

Expected to Arrive in This Country October 9th—Writes That American Firemen Lead.

Augustus Saltzman, who has been in Paris for some time past as the representative of the fire interests of this country, will sale for home September 30th, and is expected to arrive October 9th. His errand abroad was a very important one, as he was sent to the Paris Exposition to examine and investigate the automobile fire extinguishers which are quite generally used abroad. The leading firemen of this country are quite anxious to known how these machines work, and Mr. Saltzman was selected to investigate and report to them at the National Convention of Fire Chiefs to be held in October at Charleston, South Carolina.

Mr. Saltzman has made a very thorough investigation of the subject assigned him and he will present a full and complete report before the convention. While at the exposition he had an excellent opportunity of learning about the various departments and their work. There is now an American company of firemen abroad with apparatus, and Mr. Saltzman states that they distance all foreigners in appearance and work. Several times they have given exhibitions of going out and the time consumed has been about ten and twelve seconds, while other companies have taken thirty and forty seconds.

The American apparatus, Mr. Saltzman says, has caused great astonishment and won admiration from all who have seen it. The foreigners seem to realize that they are not in it with the American fire laddies. Mr. Saltzman's report will have important bearing on the future of the automobile fire extinguishers in this country, and his report will be of great interest to all firemen in this country. He is an old time fireman and a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association. He is well known all over this country in fire circles. His judgment in fire matters is considered to be the best. It it not generally known, but it was through the influence of prominent firemen and many leading men of the country that Mr. Saltzman was induced to accept the important position. The movement was originally started among the local exempt firemen.

READY TO START.

Work of Relaying Tracks on Front Street will be Rushed Through With at Once.

Work will be started tomorrow night relaying the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway Company on West Front street, between Park and Grant avenues. The material for the new tracks has now nearly all been transported here and all will be ready for beginning work on time. Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh has surveyed the line and given the proper grades so that the tracks, when relaid, will be at the proper level. A large force of men will be put to work and it is expected that the line will be completed in a short time.

The rails will be the sixty-foot girder rails, similar to those used on the Plainfield-Elizabeth line, and they will keep in condition much longer than the old style which were used when that line was first built.

THIERS WON AGAIN.

Defeated H. D. Hibbard for Green Committee Challenge Trophy 4 up and 2 to go.

This week's match for the green committee challenge trophy was played on the links of the Park Golf Club Wednesday afternoon instead of today. W. J. R. Thiers, holder of the trophy, defeated H. D. Hibbard, challenger, four up and two to go. Hibbard put up a strong fight, but Thiers outclassed him. This is Thiers' ninth win and, although he expects to go south and give up the trophy, it may be that none of his opponents will be able to roll up enough wins to take the lead. The next challenger is W. de la R. Anderson and then comes Morgan T. Townsend.

Camp Meeting at Dewey Park.

Park services will be held at Dewey Park beginning tomorrow morning and continuing every evening. They will be under the auspices of the Africal Methodist Episcopal Zion Conference. Rev. C. A. Jackson, formerly pastor of the Filmore Baptist church, is to be in charge. These "park services" will really be what are commonly known as "camp meetings."

—Special prices for fine peaches and Bartlett pears will prevail at Neuman Brothers this afternoon.

TROUBLES OF "TURKEY."

Messenger Boy Calls on City Judge to Protect Him From West End Colored Lads.

James Harding, commonly known as "Turkey" among his associates in the messenger service of the Western Union Telegraph Company, went to City Judge Runyon this morning with a thrilling tale of how he was set upon and beaten by a crowd of colored boys. The boys were produced in court. They were Frank Brown, Oscar Green, Walter Kline, Clarence Coles and Raymond Coles.

According to "Turkey's" story they attacked him twice on Plainfield avenue and one of the lads drew a knife on him, while the others pummelled him with their fists. The colored lads all proved to be considerably smaller than Harding.

The Judge informally investigated the charge and the only one who had apparently done any fighting was Oscar Green He and Harding had had a little bout, while the rest simply watched the scrap for a moment. The Judge advised them to steer clear of each other in the future and dismissed the lads.

NOW THE OTHER SIDE.

REV. W. H M'LEAN ANSWERS CHARGES MADE AGAINST HIM.

He Says That They Were Made by a Minister Who is Jealous of His Efforts.

Rev. W. H. McLean, who was called to be pastor of the Fillmore Baptist church, was seen by a Press reporter yesterday and asked about the serious charges that had been made against his standing in the conference at Newark a few days ago.

"Many of the charges were untrue and built upon a foundation of prejudice," said Rev. Mr. McLean. "When I came to Plainfield I expressly told the people of Fillmore church that I did not live with my wife, we having separated for reasons best known to ourselves. Now, as a matter of fact, there are other ministers in that conference who do not live with their wives, and yet I do not hear anything about their being disciplined because of the fact. Yes, and there are ministers in that conference who had to leave their native States for worse offenses than that of not living with their wives. Why are not they expelled from the conference?"

As for the resolution that it was alleged had been passed concerning Rev. Mr. McLean's case, the latter said that he had looked up the matter and he found that it was not a resolution passed by the conference, but simply a statement made by one minister who does not like him. He says the conference simply gave permission to the minister to publish what he thought about the case, but not to attribute it to the whole conference.

"I understand," continued Rev. Mr. McLean, "that my wife was induced to go before the conference by this minister who is so opposed to me, he even going so far as to pay her car fare to Newark. Mrs. McLean must have been bribed or she would not have done so. I would also like to know if the ministers' conference is a tribune at which family affairs are to be settled. I hope the author of the statements against men will read the Bible a little closer. Let him read Matthew 18:15 17 and 7:1 5. In one of these verses he will find: 'Thou hypocrite, why beholdest thou the mote which is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is thine own eye.'"

AT THE G. O. P. OUTING.

Large Crowd of Plainfield Republicans Attend Their Political Affair This Afternoon.

A large crowd of Republicans left this city early this afternoon bound for the clam bake of the Republican county executive committee, at Gibson's Grove, near Rahway. Three special cars, running direct to Picton left here at 2 o'clock. They were crowded. Three more left fifteen minutes later. They were equally as well filled. Crabs and chowder will be ready at 3 o'clock and the bake itself will open at 5. There will be lots of speaking.

In the evening, many of the Republicans who attended the clam bake will return to Westfield to attend a banner raising there.

Mountain Avenue Improved.

Mountain avenue is now in good condition in the borough where the new layer of fine stone has been well packed in. The improvements beyond the borough line are practically completed and give a fine thoroughfare from North Plainfield through to Scotch Plains and the Springfield road without necessitating a trip up to Front street.

COLER LIKES ROADS OF UNION COUNTY.

How Comptroller of Greater New York Appears in Private Life at The Netherwood.

LEAVES WORK BEHIND.

VERY FEW FOLLOW HIM OUT TO HIS PRESENT STOPPING PLACE.

He is Popular at the Hotel But Courts Quiet Life There—Drives and Plays Golf—Is Also Fond of Whist.

When the great Democratic leaders of the Empire state battled in their party convention at Saratoga early in the week, the guests at the Hotel Netherwood felt that they had a personal interest in the contest. Right in their midst was Comptroller Bird S. Coler, of New York, the man whom Senator David B. Hill and his forces were supporting for the Gubernatorial nomination. During his two weeks' stay in the hotel Mr. Coler had made many friends who were deeply interested in the fierce contest which raged in another State. When the news of the nomination of the other candidate came Mr. Coler took it more calmly than did his fellow guests.

In actions and appearance the Comptroller of Greater New York is far from being like the typical politician. In fact, it is one of Mr. Coler's sayings that he is not a politician at all. He is tall, well built and dignified but unobtrusive and without the slightest suggestion of bigotry and self conceit. His hair and moustache are dark and his chin clean shaven. He is quiet in his manner but pleasant and a merry twinkle to his eyes tells of his keen sense of humor.

From the very first Mr. Coler has shown a decided disinclination for notoriety. He has frankly said that he came to the Netherwood to get away from the crowd of politicians and newspapermen who haunted his presence as long as he remained in New York. A few of his confidental friends have called on him at the hotel and the telegraph and telephone have occasionally been utilized to bring him in close touch with his political allies, but he has, for the most part, managed to live a quiet life.

Mr. Coler brought a fine horse with him to Netherwood, while his little son's pony was also brought along. Mr. Coler is particularly fond of driving and he and his wife have taken advantage of the fine roads in this section to spend many a pleasant afternoon behind his good horse. The good roads and the excellent train service to New York were the chief inducements which caused him to come to The Netherwood.

F. A. Barnaby, of Plainfield avenue, has known Mr. Coler for some time and the two have exchanged a number of visits since the Comptroller came to the big hotel on the hill. Mr. Coler has also been Mr. Barnaby's guest at the links of the Hillside Club, for like many others, the well known Democrat is quite fond of the royal and ancient game.

During the evenings at the hotel the little coterie of whist players have found a strong ally in the Comptroller. He is very fond of whist and of euchre as well and has taken part in the progressive euchre parties on several occasions.

JEFFRIES IS COMING.

CHAMPION PUGILIST TO BE SEEN IN MUSIC HALL.

Manager Edwards Has Booked "The Man From the West," in Which He is the Star.

The warm weather has had demoralizing effect on many dramatic companies thus far in season, and many organizations which started out or began operations in month of August in suburban or "one night stands" cities and towns, have collapsed or withdrawn their claims for patronage. Such has been the experience of three companies booked by Manager Maze Edwards for appearance in Music Hall the coming week. Cancellation of dates for changes of route are always to be expected. Time is given a manager to look around and secure an attraction to fill the cancelled dates, but in the case of a "bust up," or sudden notice within a day or two of the supposed appearance of a company, that they cannot or will not be able to fill the time contracted for, the local manager has no opportunity to secure a suitable attraction or advertise it properly. The attractions Manager Edwards had booked for presentation the coming week, were engaged since last May, and were highly recommended. They all began work under favorable auspices, but "fell by the wayside," leaving the several local managers to find out what had become of them as best they could.

Nothing of real worth presenting itself for the consideration of Manager Edwards, he has concluded to keep house closed the coming week unless something unexpectedly comes up, and open with a sterling attraction Monday, the 24th inst., which date he will present "Way-Down-East" once more, with all the fine cast, beautiful scenery and effects, which marked its great success last season at the Academy of Music, New York. No play produced in the great metropolis has had greater success than this famous play and it undoubtedly will receive hearty welcome at the hands of our amusement seekers.

Following this most excellent play Manager Edwards expects to present the famous champion, James J. Jeffries, in a dramatic work entitled "The Man From the West," said to be a meritorious drama well calculated to show the talent and abilities of Mr. Jeffries, who is really a man of some education. His manager, Wm. A. Brady, has engaged a splendid supporting company for the piece, and the performance will be under Mr. Brady's personal supervision.

On Thursday and Friday of the week Palmer Cox's famous "Brownies" will disport themselves in the two-act cantanta, entitled "The Brownies in Fairyland." All the characters will be presented by girls and boys of Plainfield, and the performances will be under the immediate direction of Malcolm Douglass, who composed the music, and Miss Edith Pond, who arranges the tableaux, dances, etc.

Some pleasing attractions will be seen during the following month, notice of which will be duly chronicled.

STATION IMPROVEMENTS.

New Flights of Stairs to Platform Will be Greatly Appreciated by Patrons.

A portion of the improvements to the station facilities of the Jersey Central Railroad, which are attracting much favorable comment from the commuters and those who have frequent occasion to use the trains, are the flights of steps which are being used to connect the station platform direct with Watchung avenue. One flight goes up to the platform from the south side of track, between the railroad embankment and the lumber yard. The other is north of the track at the head of East Third street.

Concrete beds have been laid and stone slabs for the steps are being placed on top of the concrete. When finished the stairs will be convenient and of a permanent nature. They will be particularly convenient for residents of the First and Second wards who will not be compelled to go around the corner on North avenue to reach the station.

Feiring Back Again.

George Feiring will return to his duties as driver of No. 3 hose wagon of the Plainfield fire department Monday. He has fully recovered from his recent injuries and returned Thursday evening after a short sojourn at Atlantic City.

Connecticut Residence Lost.

W. B. Wadsworth, of West Eighth street, has just received word that a handsome residence owned by him at Washington, Conn., was totally destroyed by fire Thursday night. The loss will probably reach $8,000.

WILL PLAINFIELD HAVE COAL FAMINE?

It is Said That There is Less Than 5,000 Tons Available For Immediate Use.

THE DEALERS ARE WORRIED.

NO LARGE ORDERS WILL BE FILLED FOR THE PRESENT.

Delivery will be Made in Small Lots So That the Present Supply May be Furnished to as Many Customers as Possible.

Will the proposed strike of the mine workers in the anthracite coal regions affect Plainfield and cause a famine in coal here? That is a question which is of deep importance to the local dealers. It is also going to intimately interest such Plainfield householders as have hitherto neglected to put in their winter supply of coal. According to the estimate of a man, largely interested in the coal business, there is less than 5,000 tons of the various sizes of anthracite coal stored in the local yards at present, while two of the principal dealers of the city have orders on their books now calling for over 5,000 tons to be delivered before the close of October.

The situation in Plainfield, as in the other cities and towns through the east, will largely depend on the happenings in the coal regions. If the supply of coal is suddenly stopped it will not take long to exhaust the present supply of coal. If, however, as the dealers hope, they get a chance to re-stock their yards Plainfield can, with economy, be supplied for some time. It will be those who buy their coal in small quantities who will be the first to suffer from lack of fuel.

With this prospect of trouble ahead the coal dealers are getting their heads together with a view of meeting the situation unitedly. No regular meeting of the Retail Coal Merchant's Association has been held, but there were informal conferences of little groups yesterday, and today the dealers are still in communication with each other.

The different dealers have adopted various methods to husband their present stock of coal and divide it as evenly as possible. Boice, Runyon & Company have the largest coal yard in the city and have a fair supply of coal on hand. They will not deliver all of large orders at present but send a few tons to carry their patrons over the present difficulty. DeWitt C. Ivins & Company have orders from their regular patrons which would more than empty their bins. They are expecting additional shipments. They have been refusing outside trade and are looking only after the interests of their regular patrons. E. H. Holmes is filling in full only such orders as were promised and will then sell only in small lots. McDonough Brothers have refused to sell over two tons of any one kind of coal to a customer.

All the local dealers are making it a point to look after the interests of their own customers. Many of the wise residents had their winter supply of coal laid in during the summer and are now ready to laugh at the situation. Those who delayed, however, will find themselves unable to secure their full order. None of the dealers care to sell, at present, more than a few tons to each purchaser.

All last night the coal trains rumbled through Plainfield in a continuous string. The officials of the Jersey Central Railroad are straining every nerve to get as much coal out of the coal regions as possible. The transportation department of the Central was taxed to its uttermost to carry the black diamonds to the seaboard. The same situation existed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

If there was no trouble at the mines, the mere striking of the mine workers would but slightly affect the situation here as there is a large quantity of coal above ground and ready to go into the breakers. Rioting and violence would stop the shipment of coal, however, and cut off the supply for this section.

The Jersey Central Railrad has a large storage plant at Hampton Junction, where many thousands of tons of coal are now heaped. The Lehigh Valley has a similar storage plant at South Plainfield. The railroads will be able to draw on these and may, in case of a general famine, allow some of the coal to go to the neighboring cities.

All of the local dealers have orders with the various coal companies for coal which has not yet been delivered. They hope to receive it soon and thus relieve the present strained condition here. There is no prospect of an ad-

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plain Belders Can Witness.

The strongest attractions at the lowest prices is the trade mark of the F. F. Proctor continuous theatres in New York city. This surely is the case by glancing at the programmes that are now being put forth at these popular places of amusement. That the amusement public appreciates such a policy is readily seen by the remarkable attendance which the Proctor houses are now enjoying. Maurice Barrymore, Robert Hilliard, Amelia Somerville, Joseph Hart and Carrie DeMar, Patrice, Bert Coote and Sig. Ouille are a few of the star attractions now playing the Proctor circuit. At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre the features are: Joseph Hart and Carrie DeMar in their latest farce, "A Close Call"; Harry Watson and his comedy company in the laugable skit, "The Two Flats"; and Press Eldridge, a favorite burnt cork comedian. At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre the headliners include: Robert Hilliard and his company in "The Littlest Girl"; Gertrude Haynes and her "Choir Celestial," and Charley Case, who tells about his father.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way.

F. H. Andrews, of Central avenue, returned from a business trip to Chicago.

James Traynor, of Orchard place, is greatly improved from an attack of scarlet fever.

Isaac Brown, of Watchung avenue, who suffered a paralytic stroke recently, is decidedly better.

Dr. and Mrs. VanHorn, of West Fifth street, have returned from a pleasure trip to Niagara Falls.

Miss Anna Ryan, of East Third street, has returned to St. Elizabeth's Academy, Convent Station, to resume her studies.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, of Liberty street, returns today from Richmond, Va., where he attended a convention of Baptists, and delivered an address.

Miss Overbaugh, of Baltimore, who has come to Plainfield to pursue a course of studies, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gray, of Elmwood place.

Archie Derby has resigned his position at the Pond Tool Works, and accepted a more lucrative one at the Hibbard Ely Safe Company plant, which is now in course of construction. He is now assisting in the erection of the machinery.

Raymond Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Elmwood place, celebrated the sixth anniversary of his birthday last Thursday afternoon, by entertaining a number of his young friends about the neighborhood. The time was passed playing games and having a good time in general. Before the young people went home refreshments were served.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

South Somerville's Mystery.

A large frame building, 32x80 feet, which is being erected near the South Somerville station, has been a matter of considerable mystery to residents of that section. It has recently leaked out that the structure is to be used as a smelting plant, and will ultimately be extended so that it covers a large tract of land. The building is now enclosed and it is expected that machinery will soon be placed in it.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

To Save Fish in the Delaware.

Trenton, September 15.—Fish and Game Protector Riley, of Newark, is conducting a still hunt for evidence to stop the pollution of the waters of the Delaware with dye waters and vitriol. As the Delaware river separates Jersey from Pennsylvania, both States have equal jurisdiction, and to prosecute persons for the polution of its waters both States officials must act. Consequently Mr. Riley has spent much time in consulation with the Pennsylvania fish and game authorities, and it is now highly probable that something will be done.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Comment by Dun's Review on the Business of the Week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The tropical storm that devastated the gulf coast, almost wiping out the city of Galveston and doing damage in other parts of the country, caused reduction in the volume of business at the south, and railroads in the gulf region have probably not shown their maximum losses of earnings as yet, but even after such a catastrophe a recuperative power is shown.

The working force has increased this week, for operations are resuming at steel mills, and the Michigan Peninsular car plant and the Deer Harvester works have started up after seven weeks' idleness with 3,000 hands each. From many quarters of the west and southeast a better distribution of merchandise is reported in jobbing and retail circles.

Cotton closed last week at the highest price in ten years, and a large short interest was awaiting reaction. Instead there came news of the disaster in Texas and sensational reports that 1,000,000 bales had been destroyed. At the New York exchange trading was far in excess of all previous records, and prices rose by bounds. Subsequently there were less exaggerated reports from the south, but the market failed to respond, and middling uplands advanced to 11 cents, with a New Orleans expert promising a crop under 9,750,000 bales and predicting a world's visible supply in September, 1901, 250,000 bales less than the present. The rise in raw material caused sharp advances in cotton goods.

More orders are being received at iron mills, and prices are steady. In structural and finished material there is much more business, and activity is becoming almost universal in the iron region.

Failures for the week were 195 in the United States against 149 last year and 30 in Canada against 32 last year.

Demand For American Locomotives.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—An order has been received by the Baldwin Locomotive works for 22 heavy freight locomotives for use on the government railroads of New Zealand. Another order on which work has just been begun is for six locomotives for the Rio Tinto Mining company of Spain. This is a British corporation, which is engaged in mining ore. During the past two weeks the firm has shipped to Belgium six locomotives for the Belgian State railway. Six more are ready to be shipped. The first American made locomotives to be used in Ireland were shipped about two weeks ago. They are two engines of the English type, which are intended for use on the Borden and South Coast railway. The Kansas City Southern railroad, formerly known as the Kansas City and Gulf railroad, has recently ordered ten compound freight locomotives, work on which will begin at once.

Girl Saves Fifty Lives.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 15.—A quick witted mountain girl saved the lives of 50 people and valuable railroad property as well. While the Rio Grande passenger train was making up lost time between Aspen and Glenwood over the Narrow Gauge road, Nora O'Neill, who lives on the hillside near this city, heard the train whistle and rushed out to see the cars go by. The first sight that met her eyes was a huge bowlder on the track a few rods away from her house, together with other evidences of a landslide. The girl tried in vain to move the bowlder, and then dashing into the house she saturated a piece of wood with kerosene and set it on fire. She reached the track just ahead of the train and the engineer downed the brakes, but not before the locomotive struck the rock and tore away a portion of the pilot.

Roosevelt Talks In Rain.

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 15.—Governor Roosevelt made several speeches en route to Fargo. At Wilmot he spoke from the rear platform of his private car. When the train arrived at Sisseton, rain was falling. A stand was erected near the track, and a crowd with umbrellas had assembled to listen to the speakers. The governor attempted to talk, but his sympathy for his hearers who were bravely standing in the downpour caused him to desist. He entered a carriage and was driven to the Opera House, whither the crowd followed him, and there he spoke a few minutes to the drenched audience. On his return to the train Governor Roosevelt, observing a group of 50 or more Indians standing on the street, jumped out of the carriage, shook hands with them and distributed a handful of McKinley buttons among the crowd.

America Wins Race of the Nations.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The Grand Race of the Nations, one of the leading events of the cycling carnival at Vincennes, was won by America. Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Austria, Belgium, France and Holland also competed, each country being represented by three men. Cooper, McFarland and Banker constituted the American team. In the preliminary heat America defeated Belgium by 8 points to 13, and in the semifinal heat America won from Italy by the same score.

LI OFF FOR PEKING.

Clothed With Full Authority to Make Settlement.

LOOTING CONTINUES IN CAPITAL.

Brutal Outrages Committed In Tungchau—General Chaffee Asked to Investigate—Many Boxers Between Peking and Tien-tsin.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—Li Hung Chang has started for Peking. The municipal council has given him permission to sail. He will travel with a retinue of 125 persons and will take the steamer Anping for the north.

In an interview Li Hung Chang informed a reporter that he was going to Tien-tsin and would go to Peking if circumstances demanded it and added that Prince Ching and himself had full authority from the dowager empress and emperor to negotiate a settlement with the powers, explaining that there were no other commissioners for China.

The audience lasted an hour, the correspondent being the interviewed rather than the interviewer. Li asked many questions about the fighting at Tien-tsin, the relief of Peking, the number of troops of each power in China, their disposition and fighting qualities, how the foreigners approved of the fighting qualities of the Chinese, how Peking was defended, what bodies of Chinese fought best and expressed regret at the privations of the women and children in Peking.

The expedition under General Dorward against the Boxers threatening the Tientsin region reached Tu-Liu on the Grand canal without opposition, and the city was occupied without a shot being fired. Three columns converged there after a two days' march and found that the place had already surrendered to one officer and eight Bengal lancers. General Dorward ordered the town burned after it had been thoroughly looted.

The villages en route made peace offerings and in most cases were undisturbed. Apparently the Boxers have disbanded in that region, and the whole country is quiet.

Dispatches from Peking state that looting continues, both authorized and unauthorized. Few houses are guarded except those occupied by foreigners, the palaces and those in the sacred city. Almost every house is destitute of furniture. General Chaffee says he could not have believed that any city would ever be given over so completely to looters, and he earnestly desires the co-operation of any nation to prevent this.

On the other hand, the missionaries complain because the sacred city has not been looted. They urge that the royal family and other highly placed Chinese personages who were behind all the trouble should be made to suffer more than those who blindly followed them.

General Fukushima, the Japanese commander, informed General Chaffee that brutal outrages were being committed in Tungchau. He told the American commander that he had positive information that many women had thrown themselves into wells or committed suicide in other ways after having been outraged and that there were several authentic cases of coolies who had been killed under peculiarly atrocious conditions. He requested General Chaffee to investigatte and then to co-operate with him to check these barbarities as far as possible. General Chaffee ordered Major Muir to proceed immediately to Tungchau and to report.

At a council of generals the Russian general Linevitch said he had received information that two forces of Boxers, one numbering 10,000 and the other 4,000, were marching from the south to endeavor to cut the communications of the allies between Peking and Tien-tsin. It was finally decided that the line was sufficiently guarded, as the allies would certainly receive definite tidings of the approach of the Boxers in time to mobilize at any given point. The council merely issued orders for increased vigilance on the part of the outposts.

Corbett Denies Wife's Allegations.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 15.—A newspaper correspondent on boarding the Cunard line steamer Campania, from New York, handed to James J. Corbett, the pugilist, a number of dispatches relating to the charges made against him in New York. He read them and said: "It is ridiculous to say that my fights with Sharkey and McCoy were fakes." Corbett and Marguerite Cornille, the actress, were booked as "Mr. and Mrs. Martin." Her mother was with her, and Corbett occupied a separate stateroom.

Killed Eight, Committed Suicide.

CASERTA, Italy, Sept. 15.—Caetano Longo, on returning from the United States to Pastona, a small town in this district, killed his wife in a fit of jealousy and then two men whom he believed to have had improper relations with her. Having committed the triple crime, he ran amuck, killing five others and wounding two fatally. Then he went to the local cemetery and committed suicide. The tragedy has created a great sensation throughout the surrounding country.

Sailor Killed on Railroad.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 15.—A sailor killed on the railroad at Mill Creek has not yet been identified. He wore a cap stamped "U. S. S. Iowa." He was about 24 years old, with smooth face, light complexion, brown hair, and on his arm in tattoo were the initials, "E. R. A." His head was almost severed from the body, which was horribly mangled from several trains passing over it.

Philadelphia's Relief Fund.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—Drexel & Co., treasurers of the Texas relief fund, have reported contributions increasing the total subscriptions thus far to $20,725. An additional sum of $10,000 was wired to Governor Sayers by the citizens' permanent relief committee, making $25,000 that has been sent by that body.

Howard's Jury Impaneled.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 15.—The jury in the case of James Howard, charged with being a principal in the Goebel assassination, has been completed. The jury stands ten Democrats, one Republican and one anti-Goebel Democrat. Ten of the jurors are farmers.

Suicide of a Farmer.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Jesse Hapgood, aged 73, a farmer living near South Rutland, committed suicide by hanging himself in a sugar shanty near his home yesterday. Ill health had left him with an unbalanced mind.

CANDIDATES DEBATE

Stanchfield and Woodruff Talk to Thousands.

ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING TO BOTH.

Up State New Yorkers Have Various Issues Laid Before Them In Different Lights—Socialist Labor Gubernatorial Nominee Talks.

LYONS, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Yesterday was politicians' day at the Wayne county fair, and the state political campaign was opened here in the presence of 10,000 people from the territory between Syracuse and Rochester by Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, John B. Stanchfield, Democratic candidate for governor, and C. H. Corrigan, the Socialist Labor gubernatorial candidate. The distinguished guests were met at the railroad and escorted to the Hotel Baltzel by the Twenty-seventh regiment band and Blakely Rifles. The town was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Mr. Stanchfield was greeted by prominent local and county Democrats, while Senator John Raines, Judge Charles T. Saxton, Supreme Justice James W. Dunwell, Assemblyman Griffith, ex-Assemblyman Marvin I. Greenwood, Deputy Treasurer Barnet H. Davis, State Committeeman Thomas Robinson and other Republican luminaries greeted the lieutenant governor. The speakers received an ovation on the grounds.

Candidate Stanchfield spoke first. He referred to manuscript for much of his data and confined himself exclusively to the trusts. Mr. Woodruff spoke extemporaneously, taking notes from Mr. Stanchfield's speech, replying to them when his turn came. He was a trifle hoarse, but was heard perfectly.

Mr. Corrigan came unescorted, having, as he admitted, no following in this locality. He made a speech which was well received.

Mr. Stanchfield said in part:

"'Whenever the people have a feeling, they commonly are in the right. They sometimes mistake the physician'—is the philosophy of Burke. All over the Empire State, in the city and the village and upon the farm, there is a feeling among the people that the enormous combinations and copartnerships of capital and corporations that have taken place within the last year or two are productive of injurious results to the country at large. The retail merchant suffers because of the uncertainty of the market and the indifference with which his orders for merchandise are treated; the consumer winces under the increased prices that he pays, both for the necessities and the comforts of life; the producer worries until the protecting and kindly arm of some trust has taken him in over an outlet and a market for his product. Trusts have their defenders. Those people who participate in them and share their profits like them.

"Governor Roosevelt, in his western addresses, grows facetious over the attitude of the Democratic party in relation to trusts. He singles out individuals for his shafts of ridicule and asks with what temper the Democratic party can assail the trusts. In emphatic speech he says: 'Beyond a question the great industrial combinations which we group in popular parlance under the name of trusts have produced great and serious evils.' He suggests no remedy, he promises no redress. If the individual who buys stocks in some trust for the purposes of profit and gain commits a mistake or a crime, what shall be said of the multimillionaire who stands in the background with his identity concealed, whose money made the existence of the trust possible, and offers it in the community to whomsoever will buy? It is a statutory crime to sell one's vote, likewise to buy one. Is the seller lower in the social scale than the buyer, or in the hereafter will they not stand upon a plane of equality? We assert that the trusts in the short period of their existence under the Republican administration have accomplished throughout the length and breadth of the land two results; first, they have increased the prices of everything the vast majority of people wish to buy, and, secondly, they have decreased the prices of everything the vast majority of the people wish to sell."

Lieutenant Governor Woodruff replied in part:

"Out of all the numerous issues that divide the Republican and Democratic parties in this campaign Mr. Stanchfield found it possible to touch on only one subject—that of the trusts. He is absolutely silent on the subject of the currency. He has also fought shy of the subject of expansion, which Mr. Bryan has declared to be the paramount issue of this campaign.

"The Republican party in both its national and state platforms has declared itself to be unalterably opposed to all unlawful combinations of capital in restraint of trade. The man who prepared the Republican state platform is, I am happy to state, here today—Senator John Raines—and I call him to bear witness to my statements. What happened in the Democratic state convention which recently met in Saratoga when a young professor from the classic shades of Cornell arose in his seat and asked that a resolution be read and adopted simply denouncing but a single trust—the ice trust. The convention went into a panic and immediately adjourned for 24 hours. The Democratic candidate was not in that convention. I have faith to believe that if he had been he would have insisted that the resolution of Professor Duncan C. Lee be read.

"My opponent in this discussion has ignored the paramount issue as Bryan declared in the issue of imperialism. Probably the best argument I could find in denouncing the flag hauling down policy of the Democratic party would be to quote from a patriotic speech made by Candidate Stanchfield only a short time since. In this speech he outrepublicaned Republicans on the attitude they have assumed on the so called question of imperialism in this campaign. This speech of Mr. Stanchfield's was quoted in many of the New York papers, and it appears, I understand, in today's issue of one of your local papers, the Lyons Republican."

Loubet's Decision.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—It is announced that President Loubet's decision as arbitrator in the boundary dispute between Colombia and Costa Rica has been communicated to the governments of those two republics, but the announcement does not set forth which side M. Loubet favored.

ADMIRAL SICARD DEAD.

Our Navy Loses One of Its Ablest Sea Fighters.

ROME, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Rear Admiral Montgomery Sicard is dead of apoplexy at his summer home at Westernville, a mansion erected by William Floyd, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, whose granddaughter the admiral married.

During the Spanish-American war Admiral Sicard was at the head of the board of strategy. When the war broke out, he was in command of the north Atlantic squadron.

The admiral was one of the best sailors in the navy. He had lived on blue water ever since he was 15 years old, and that is as long ago as 1851.

In 1860 he was a lieutenant, and when the war broke out he served with the western gulf blockading squadron. He helped to bombard Forts Jackson and St. Philip and the Chalmette batteries and aided in the destruction of rebel flotilla and transports April 24, 1862. He was also with the fleet that passed the Vicksburg batteries and engaged with the ram Arkansas.

In 1864, while a lieutenant commander, he took part in two attacks on Fort Fisher and was engaged in the naval and land assault on the same fort in January, 1865, and later assisted in the bombardment of Fort Anderson.

After the close of the war he was assigned to duty at the Naval academy. August, 1881, he became a captain. His rank of commodore came July 10, 1894, and April, 1896, he became a rear admiral.

BRYAN SPEAKS IN OHIO.

Democratic Candidate Opens State Campaign With Two Speeches.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 15.—The Ohio Democrats opened their campaign here with meetings at Goodale park and in the Goodale auditorium. William J. Bryan made speeches at both meetings, and there was a large attendance of Democratic leaders from all parts of the state. Previous to the former meeting Mr. Bryan was tendered a reception at the Great Southern hotel, and he was escorted to the park by a number of state marching clubs, including the Duckworth club of Cincinnati.

Colonel James Kilbourn, a prominent manufacturer, presided at the meeting and introduced the candidate. He said that Mr. Bryan had been nominated without the aid and against the wishes of the would be bosses of the party.

Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour and a quarter, and he appeared in good condition, despite his loss of sleep. His audience numbered many thousand people, and they gave close attention as well as frequent cheers. The speech was a general review of the political situation, and it was evidently intended to set the pace for the campaign in Ohio. He began with a reference to local conditions, touching upon the stand taken in behalf of the Democracy by Mayor Jones of Toledo, and then launched into national affairs regardless of local coloring, declaring that he believed the Democratic ticket entitled to the electoral vote of Ohio.

Frank Allee and others of the union Republicans who have power to remove and substitute names on their state ticket. The regulars' committee announced their decision and called for a meeting of the entire state central committee. To the state committee they presented a ticket which was unanimously accepted by the regulars and will be accepted at a special meeting of the state committee of the Addicks faction next Tuesday.

THOUSANDS QUIT WORK.

Eighteen Mines of the Lackawanna Railroad Tied Up by Strikers.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 15.—Operations in the 18 mines owned by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company, employing 10,000 mine workers, are almost at a standstill, there being a few men gathered around the mine opening, but none of them going to work.

Besides these collieries those of the Ontario and Western Railroad company, embracing the Pine Brook, Briggs and West Ridge mines, employing 1,800, and the Mount Pleasant colliery, with 600 employees, are shut down, the men deciding to quit after they had assembled for work.

The Delaware and Hudson company mines are working, but with a small force.

The statement given out by President Olyphant of this company was discounted somewhat by the action of the local unions of his employees in deciding to obey almost to a man the order to strike, clean up their places and leave the mines in proper condition.

The individual operations, embracing more than 30 mines and breakers, are likewise doing little, and the condition existing throughout the region is very near to a complete shutdown.

The miners and their leaders say they are not disturbed as yet over the means of support for the strikers. During the last week the workers have received their August pay, some for the full month and others only to the 20th, and as the month was one of the best for a long time their pay was correspondingly high, especially among the Lackawanna company's men. They have now two or three weeks' pay due, which they will secure early in October, and the general feeling is that the miners and their laborers are better provided for financially than the public has been led to believe.

All of these facts have warranted the statement that the strike is on nearly 48 hours in advance of the time set for it to begin. The closing down of every mine and breaker in the Lackawanna region, extending from Pittston on the south to Forest City on the north, is the question of but a few hours.

These workings give employment to nearly 55,000 men and boys, more than one-third of the entire number of employees in the anthracite coalfields of Pennsylvania.

W. A. Wright Shot.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—William A. Wright of Philadelphia was shot at Norma, near Vineland, N. J. Abraham Galdlume, son of a Norma carriage manufacturer, is under arrest for the shooting, and there is considerable mystery about the case. From what can be learned Galdlume took Wright into the woods outside the village, and as they were walking along Galdlume stepped behind Wright and fired five shots into his back. After being shot and after Galdlume had run away Wright crawled to a road and lay beside it until he was found by a man who came along in a wagon. The above story of the shooting was obtained from the wounded man by Justice Miller in the absence of a coroner. Physicians think Wright is fatally hurt.

Newark Nuns Safe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Rev. J. F. McCarthy of Newark, N. J., assistant pastor of St. Patrick's cathedral, has received a special dispatch from Galveston by way of Houston to the effect that all of the 24 Newark nuns at the Catholic Convent of the Sacred Heart at that place had been saved from the general destruction of life and property by the terrible cyclone of last Saturday. Father McCarthy at once dispatched a special message to the homes of the nuns' relatives with this information.

New York Hotel Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A well dressed man who, with a comely girl, registered at the St. Charles hotel, Brooklyn borough, as "G. M. Bartlett and wife, New York," was found dead in his room, a revolver in his hand and a wound in his mouth. The girl was missing. So also was a roll of money that the man had when he took the room. The man destroyed several of the things that might lead to his identification, but not all of them.

Yale's Oldest Graduate.

BABYLON, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Many congratulations poured in upon Benjamin D. Silliman, Brooklyn's venerable lawyer and old time Republican leader, on the occasion of his ninety-fifth birthday, which he celebrated yesterday at his beautiful estate near this place, where he has spent the heated term. The following dispatch, perhaps, impressed him as much as any: "Yale sends congratulatory telegram to Benjamin Silliman, Brooklyn, oldest living graduate."

PLANS FOR FUTURE.

Galveston Will Probably Be Rebuilt.

RAILROADS TO ERECT JOINT BRIDGE.

Leading Citizens Say Lone Star Metropolis Is Bound to Regain Former Standing—A Temporary Wharf Projected.

GALVESTON, Sept. 15.—Mail service between here and Houston has now been fully restored, and two mails each day will be dispatched.

Several signs point to the belief of transportation companies and others in the future of Galveston as an important commercial city.

G. W. Boscheke, assistant engineer of the Southern Pacific railroad, has received orders by wire from New York to prepare plans at once for a double track steel bridge across Galveston bay ten feet higher than the old one and to proceed with all the force possible. Engineers are making a survey preparatory to the resumption of work.

J. W. Maywell, general superintendent, and J. W. Allen, general freight agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, have arrived here to confer with General Manager Polk of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe and Manager Hill of the Galveston, Houston and Henderson railway with the object of combining efforts on the reconstruction of one bridge for all railways entering Galveston for the time being.

J. C. Stewart, the grain elevator builder, says that the damage to Galveston grain elevators was not over 2 per cent. The wheat will be loaded into vessels.

Mr. Bailey said he would put a large force of men at work clearing up wharfs, and the company will be ready for business within eight days.

Congressman R. B. Hawley speaks of the city's prospects as follows:

"We must rebuild our city on different lines and in a manner that will resist the gales. The port is all right. The fullest depth of water remains. The jetties, with slight repair, are intact, and because of these conditions the restoration will be more rapid than may be thought."

One of the best known residents of Galveston, Mr. E. Taylor, a cotton buyer, known to the trade in all parts of the country, was asked for an opinion as to the future of Galveston.

"I think," he said, "that what we have done here during the four days which have passed since the storm has been wonderful. It will take us two weeks before we can ascertain the actual commercial loss. But we are going to straighten out everything. We are going to stay here and work it out.

"We shall have a temporary wharf in 30 days, and with that we can resume business and handle the traffic through Galveston. I think that within 30 or 40 days business will be carried on here in no less volume than before.

"With our temporary wharf we shall put from 1,000 to 2,000 men at work loading vessels while we are waiting for the railroads to restore bridges and terminals o nthe island. We shall bring business by barges from Virginia Point and load in midstream. In this way we shall not only resume our commercial relations, but we shall be able to put the labor of the city at work."

Among foreign steamers grounded by the storm on Pelican flats north of the city the Norwegian steamer Gyller and the British steamer Norma got off and are berthed alongside the wharf. The British steamer Benedict is expected to be floated without difficulty.

The British steamer Hilarious and the Kendall Castle, which were carried farther onto the flats, will have to be dredged out.

The Norma, which was carried through the railway bridges into the west bay, and the British steamer Taunton, which was carried in a northern direction 27 miles up the bay and stranded near Cedar point, will in all probability remain as evidence of the frightful velocity of the wind which prevailed last Saturday night.

The steamer Alamo is still grounded on the northern edge of the channel, opposite Twenty-fourth street, and it is expected she will be floated without much difficulty after she is lightered of her cargo, which will be done as soon as barges are obtained.

The British steamer Woodleigh, for Havre, and the Spanish steamer Ramon de Larrinaga, for Newcastle-on-Tyne, have sailed.

The local board of health, through Dr. H. A. West, its secretary, has made a demand that the work of clearing up the dwelling houses be turned over to physicians. This work, in common with the other branches of cleaning the city, has been under the direction of Adjutant General Scurry, and he has proved himself so capable that the relief committee declined to make any division of responsibility, and the doctors were told that they could not have the work.

Notwithstanding the fact that the number of boats carrying passengers between Texas City and Galveston has been largely increased, it has been impossible at times to leave the city after the early morning hours, and hundreds of men, women and children, all anxious to depart, have suffered great inconvenience and hardship and have been compelled to sleep upon the beach at Texas City waiting for the later trips. There is but one steamboat plying across Galveston bay which is able to carry passengers in any number, and even this boat is able to make the trip only with extreme caution on account of the shallowness of the bay. Yesterday morning somebody lacked something of being cautious in the extreme, and the Lawrence, after jamming her nose into the mud, remained aground all day. Her passengers were taken off in small boats, but all day long the Lawrence remained hard and fast aground. This compelled all those who were unable to come on the first trip of the Lawrence to trust themselves to sailboats, and by noon a dozen of them heavily loaded started from Galveston for Texas City, where the fleet was scattered over Galveston bay by a distance of anywhere between one mile and three miles. The wind died away utterly. There was not a puff of air. The boats could neither go on to Texas City nor return to Galveston, and all through the afternoon they lay motionless upon the glassy water. None of them had more than a meager supply of water and no food, as the trip ordinarily does not require above an hour. The supply of water was soon exhausted, the sun beat down with a merciless severity, and in a short time babies and young children became ill, and in many cases their mothers were also prostrated.

Still An other Aspirant.

Since the editorial anent the Congressional situation in the Eighth district was written, which was printed in these columns yesterday, another factor has appeared on the Democratic side. He is E. A. S. Man, of Bayonne, who is very anxious that he should be named as the candidate to make the fight against Congressman Fowler.

Mr. Man is a lawyer practicing in New York and is one of the active and prominent Democrats of Bayonne, a city that rolls up a large Democratic majority at every election. Mr. Man has the support of the other leading Democrats of Bayonne and they are appealing to the influential Democrats in the Eighth district to give him their support.

From a political standpoint Bayonne is entitled to the nomination this year if she cares to have it. In the first place she gives a Democratic majority as regularly as the election comes around. And in the second place that section of the Eighth district has not had a candidate for Congress in several years. In the past eight years Union county has had the nomination twice and Essex county twice, so that, taking the view that "the good things should be passed around," it is Bayonne's turn now.

The selection of a Bayonne candidate, however, depends upon the position that Union county takes in the matter. F. W. Park, of Cranford, has announced that he is a candidate for the nomination, but he qualified himself to the writer in Trenton Wednesday by saying that if Bayonne had a good name to present he would withdraw in favor of whoever that may be. If Mr. Park should take this action in the convention then there would be no doubt of the nomination of Mr. Man, providing he has the unanimous support of the Bayonne delegates.

Senator Kean as a Speaker.

Not more than two years ago Senator Kean was regarded as one of the men in New Jersey public life to whom it was utterly impossible to look for a speech. Mr. Kean was looked upon as one who said nothing, but did a lot of thinking. Since his elevation to the exalted post of membership in the highest legislative body in the United States, and the consequent close association with the able and dignified public spokesmen of the country, the junior Senator from this State seems to have found his tongue and is now fitted to make a neat little talk whenever occasion requires it.

One of these opportunities arose last evening in the Republican mass-meeting held in Elizabeth, which was calculated to mark the opening of the G. O. P. campaign in Union county. Senator Kean was called upon for a speech and he responded with a grace and vigor that surprised those friends of the Sage of Urinso who had not previously heard him talk in public. While he scarcely reached a point that would put him in the class of oratorical satellites that surround him in Washington life, nevertheless he expounded Republican logic "by the book" and made a favorable impression. After scoring the Democrats and their principles, Senator Kean drew a cheery picture of the Republican situation and ended by saying: "I hope to see New Jersey roll up for McKinley and Roosevelt in a similar magnificent tribute to that given in 1896 to McKinley and Hobart."

For many years Senator Kean has been noted for his "heart to heart" talks with those who might serve the interests with which he is identified, but now we see him in a broader and more popular field of political work.

The grave question that follows a strike of the Pennsylvania miners is what will be done to lessen the results of a coal famine just at the approach of cold weather. The railroad companies operating the mines are said to have large quantities of coal in storage, but with the closing down of the sources of supply for an indefinite period this supply will rapidly melt away under the demand that comes at this season of the year. The natural consequence will be that prices will go up, and the poor people, who have to buy their fuel in small quantities from time to time through the winter, will pay exorbitant prices for it. So it will be that the poverty-stricken miners will not be the only sufferers from their desperate efforts to force the stern and unbending coal operators to treat them in a fair manner.

The Passaic News says that Passaic is content to be bracketed just underneath Atlantic City as one of the two most marvelous examples of urban growth in the United States. Passaic's increase in ten years has been 14,749, or 113.21 per cent. Atlantic City has grown to the extent of 14,783, or 113.24 per cent. Atlantic City is just 3 100 ahead of us in the rate of increase.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A peculiar case of mistaken identity came to light at Elizabethport Thursday afternoon last. Transfer Agent Dickenson, who is located on the Jersey Central Railroad at the transfer station between Elizabeth and the Port, in what is known as Avenue E Yards, has been over-run with bed bugs and other creeping animals, too numerous to mention. He informed his chief of the trouble and Thursday afternoon two men from New York, who make a business of going about the country exterminating all kinds of bugs, appeared at the transfer station. They immediately went to work and in the course of a few hours cleaned the place of bugs. Unfortunately, the two men had the appearance of tramps and as they carried large satchels, an almost sure sign of a suspicious character, they were halted on their way through the yards to the railroad station on their way home. A policeman who stopped the men asked them what they had in the satchels. The men, evidently desiring to have a little fun with the "knight of the club," replied that they were filled with money which they had been collecting. This was enough. Mr. Policeman said he wanted them to accompany him. Inquiries were made and the officer learned that no one had been collecting money at the transfer office, and this made the case worse than ever in the eye of the defender of the law. The men protested against being arrested, but to no avail. They were marched to the county jail, where they were locked up and held until some one from the transfer office appeared at the jail and explained the case. They were then released. The men departed swearing that never again would they attempt to deceive a policeman.

WILL PLAINFIELD HAVE COAL FAMINE?

vance in the price of coal, however. The local dealers will dispose of what they have at regular prices and after that is gone hard coal will not be obtainable at any price.

The factories burn chiefly soft coal, which is not to be affected by the strike. The great demand for it will, however, probably cause an increase in the price. The pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company burns hard coal and will be compelled to change when its present supply is exhausted. The electric light station already uses soft coal, as the huge column of black smoke which rolls from its stack testifies.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Royal is the most economical of all the leavening agents.

Greater in leavening strength, a spoonful raises more dough, or goes further.

Working uniformly and perfectly, it makes the bread and cake always light and beautiful, and there is never a waste of good flour, sugar, butter and eggs.

Finer food; saving of money; saving of the health of the family; the last is the greatest economy of all.

Some baking powder makers claim their powders are cheaper. They can be cheaper only if made from cheaper materials. "Cheaper" means inferior materials always. To cheapen the cost of an article of food at the expense of its healthfulness, as is done in alum baking powders, is a crime.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 15—The forthcoming coal troubles in Pennsylvania are apt to be felt seriously by W. H. Cole, the local dealer. He placed orders some time ago for his winter supply, and as yet he has only received about three gondolas. Mr. Cole has orders from a great many customers who are getting anxious about their winter supply. The coal ordered should have been received a number of days ago, but for some reason it has been delayed. It comes direct from the mines, and this leads Mr. Cole to believe he may have some trouble in getting his full supply. If he does not it will completely tie him up for the present or while the strike is on, as other dealers have no more than they want to supply their customers.

The residents of the borough living on the line of the trolley are deeply regretful that the Council did not compell the company to sprinkle the main street during the spring, summer and early fall. They are now suffering from the dust which is something frightful. One resident remarked yesterday that it is hard enough to get good trolley service, aside from any other concessions.

Last Thursday evening the many friends of Herbert Bruch and bride, who have just returned from their wedding trip, gave them a serenade. The bride and groom received their friends cordially and served them with refreshments. A long life and a happy one was wished them by every one present.

The new heating and ventilating apparatus, being installed in the Whittier Public School, was tested yesterday and found to be satisfactory. There is yet a little work to be done before the job is completed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Manning, of Trenton, have leased their property there, and on September 25th they will take up their residence with Mr. and Mrs. John Runyon, in Washington avenue.

The members of Holy Innocents' P. E. church and Sunday-school are spending this afternoon at Dewey Park enjoying their annual picnic. An unusually large crowd is in attendance.

"Cider Abe" Smalley has started the erection of a handsome cottage at West Dunellen, which will be placed on the site of the old one which was burned down a year ago.

Joshua D. Loizeaux is about ready to start the work of erecting two handsome new houses on Front street. The bricks for the foundations arrived yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, September 15—The contracts for the erection of a new house for George L. Harris have been given out. David A. Mills, of Plainfield, has the carpenter work, and William Winges, of this place, has secured the mason work. The cellar has been excavated and the work of laying the foundation will be started the first of the week. The residence will cost about $2,000.

Percy Vail, of Orange, and his aunt, Mrs. Nelson Runyon, owners of the large property now occupied by Mr. Smith, near the pond, are now having the property repaired and put in first-class shape. It is one of the most attractive properties in the place.

Several Republicans from the village will attend the party clambake held this afternoon at Gibson's Grove, near Picton.

Rev. Mr. Davison, of Drew Seminary, will occupy the pulpit in the Methodist church tomorrow.

The Township Committee met in the town rooms last night and transacted routine business.

Horace Hand, of Plainfield, was a visitor among friends in town last evening.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. FARMERS WILL NOT SELL

PLUCKAMIN PEOPLE ASK TO HIGH A PRICE FOR LAND.

James Brown, Jr., Promoter of an Aristocratic Settlement, Threatens to Retaliate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 15.—Since James Brown, Jr., built Kenilworth Inn at Pluckamin and spent about one hundred thousand dollars at that place, he has been endeavoring to induce wealthy New Yorkers to settle in that vicinity. Several have settled nearby, built palatial homes, and laid out beautiful and extensive grounds, but the growth of Pluckamin as a high-toned resort seems to have been checked by the owners of several farms.

The owners of farms adjoining Mr. Brown's place refuse to part with their holdings. They have been offered as high as $100 an acre for their farms, but they refuse to sell at any price. Before Mr. Brown's advent $40 an acre would have been considered a good price for farm land in that vicinity, and no doubt the owners would have jumped at an offer of $40 an acre. The success of Kenilworth Inn, the proximity of several handsome estates, and the prospect of macadamized road and a trolley from Somerville to Pluckamin, makes the owners loath to leave such a prosperous and aristocratic neighborhood.

Mr. Brown is thoroughly mad, however, because his efforts to build up an aristocratic and wealthy community are being blocked by the stubborn farmers, and he threatens to turn the place into a manufacturing town, put up a lot of shanties and fill them with foreigners. And Mr. Brown is likely to put his threat into execution if the farmers of Pluckamin continue to block his scheme of building up an aristocratic settlement.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

South Plainfield, Sept. 15—Mrs. Schaffer and Mrs. Furrey, of Brooklyn, have returned home after a pleasant visit at Laine's Hotel, so also have the Misses Eugenia and Veronica Sands, also of Brooklyn, nieces of Mrs. E. A. Laine.

McDonough's store was broken into last night. The party entered through a window, breaking the catch on the sash. They took an axe with them with which they pried the money drawer loose. They took about 25 cents in pennies and one pair of shoes. They were frightened away as they took nothing else.

Word has been received by the relatives of David Blackford, who was at Galveston, that he is safe and uninjured.

Miss Orelia Brown, of New York, is boarding at Laine's Hotel.

A Shocking Calamity

RIDING HABITS.

They Are Scant and Short, by Fashion's Wise Decree.

The old fashion of long, flowing, picturesque riding habits has entirely gone out, and it is a fortunate thing in view of the safety of the rider. The modern riding skirt is dangerous enough with its bunches and elastics to impede movement in case of accident. Habits are now made as short and slant as possible, just covering the feet when the equestrienne is seated on the horse. The tight bodice is sometimes replaced by the close riding coat having a skirt, but the effect in motion is bad, as the basque flaps and waves with the action of the horse.

Plain buttoned gloves replace the picturesque gauntlet, and the hat is a derby or square topped silk beaver. For the country a soft felt hat is often used, as the toilet for out of town riding is much less conventional than that for the city parks.

The cut given today shows a gown of straw colored mousseline de soie. The finely plaited skirt is made over a lower skirt of straw taffeta. The bodice of plaited mousseline has a wide collar of guipure which extends in a stole to the foot of the skirt and is closed by a latticework of black velvet ribbon terminating in a chou. The sleeves of plaited mousseline end just below the elbow in a guipure cuff and are continued by a puff of tulle gathered into a band at the wrist. The draped belt is of black mousseline de soie.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

LAMP SHADES.

Some Novel Ideas With Regard to Them.

An ingenious housekeeper has hit upon a novel method of catching the innumerable insects which are attracted by the lamp upon warm evenings. The lamp shade is coated outside with vaseline, and the insects flying against it are caught therein and are thus prevented from continuing to fly about. It would appear that the shade requires frequent washing and revaselining during the evening, as its aspect when covered with the bodies of mosquitoes and moths cannot be pleasing.

White or pink is now used solely for candle and lamp shades for evening entertainments, as, however attractive other colors are in themselves, they give the light a tinge unbecoming to the complexion. White reflections clear the skin; pink ones give it warmth; hence the choice has been narrowed to these two.

Today's cut shows a gown of biscuit colored cloth. The rather long skirt closes in front under a stitched bias band which is adorned with small buttons and follows the edge of the skirt all around. At the hips are short lines of stitching. The bolero bodice is edged with a stitched bias band and closes with small buttons. It is plaited obliquely across the bust and ornamented with lines of stitching, and the triple collar is also stitched. The plastron and collar are of plaited taffeta. The sleeves are plaited at the top.

MRS. ROCHEFORT: I was speaking of Ripans Tabules the other day when our maid, who was in the room, said: "I know what those are and I have been after taking them myself and they have done me lots of good." Then she went on to tell us that she used to have "a horrid burning feeling" in her stomach after eating and some pain, and altogether felt so uncomfortable most of the time that it made it hard for her to do her work. She had heard us speaking of Ripans Tabules some time before and saying how good they were for indigestion and things like that, so she thought she would try them. She had been taking them for a month with so much benefit that now she tells other people about them every chance she gets for she thinks they are "just splendid," and she never has any more of those horrid feelings any more and feels so glad she has found something to help her.

NEW GOWNS for Autumn Days at Lenox

An Innovation in English Bathing Customs That Has Proven Popular

BATHING has not been as popular a pastime at Newport this year as in some of the past seasons, but one can easily imagine how flat it would be if the men were to be denied the privilege of the beach when the ladies were there. It would be but a very short time before the beach would be deserted by both sexes if they could not take their morning dips at the same time. This has been the reason that bathing has never acquired the popularity in England that it has in both France and America. In England custom has previously decreed that the ladies must bathe alone and England's beaches have never proven a strong attraction until this summer when former restrictions were at least partially removed.

During the present season mixed bathing was permitted at a number of English seaside resorts, and they sprang into immediate favor, but I notice that English society writers are decrying the practice unless some restraint is placed upon the bathers in regard to the costumes worn. One writer in commenting upon the subject says of the practice:

"As so often happens in England, however, we are adopting continental customs without the details that have always redeemed the circumstances in their place of origin. The Continental and American mixed bathing has invariably been accompanied by the most stringent regulations for the wear of full and decent dresses, "peignoirs" from shoulder to knee, by the men who mix with the ladies in the water. I hear that no such regulations are enforced in some towns here; but if mixed bathing is to continue in England, the same regulations must be equally as strictly enforced as they are abroad. The great advantage of mixed bathing is the opportunity that it affords for women learning to swim. Small boys have so many chances of learning this delightful and useful art that it is only the unenterprising of their sex who fail to acquire the power; but the chances of girls are much less numerous, and it is a great addition to them to have the possibility of being taught by father, brother or husband in the seaside holiday period. Considering that the power to swim makes bathing healthful exercise instead of cold-catching and silly floundering about, and that it may some time save one's own life, or enable one to save that of others, it is worth while to make a serious effort to acquire the art. Serge of a light make is the best bathing-dress material, all things considered, for mixed bathing. Red serge is very pretty in the sea, and can be decorated with a deep collar of white linen, or red-and-white striped thin flannel bordered with thick lace or edged with braid. Black serge is nice enough at first—it is more popular than anything else with Frenchwomen—but it soon looks rusty, from the sea-water; and navy blue is a perfect material from the point of view of utility, but less smart than the red combined with white."

TWO CHARMING FETE GOWNS FOR LENOX.

SOFT CLOTH GOWN IN ECRU.

But it is almost a waste of time to talk of bathing at this time when fashion's capital will so soon be moved from the seashore to the mountains or country, and I imagine that my readers will be much more interested in the new gowns that are going to Lenox than in English bathing customs. Of all these gowns that are being made for the Lenox season none are more charming than those destined to be worn at the fall fetes of which Lenox has such a variety each year. Descriptions of a few of these will give the best idea possible of what this class of fall gowns will be like, though every new one shows a striking novelty of some sort.

In all the fall styles there will be seen much on the princess order. One of the charming new gowns made in this way is of foulard in shrimp pink with a large floral design. The skirt is opened a little at one side with six cluny lace flounces, and an effective applique of cluny insertion down the front and following the curves of the skirt at one side extending around the hem. It has elbow sleeves trimmed with the lace, with a finish of shrimp pink velvet rosettes.

Another is an effective gown of sky blue taffeta. Of this the skirt is tucked all around flaring from the knees where there is a deep insertion of guipure with a beading and black velvet ribbon at each side, and rosettes to finish at the left side. The same finish at the hem, with another just above. The bodice is finely tucked, and has a deep pointed collar of guipure lace. This is threaded through with baby ribbon and fastened in front with rosettes. A short jacket with large open sleeves of a brocaded satin in sky blue and cream.

One that was strikingly novel was a smart soft cloth gown in ecru trimmed with black velvet ribbon. The bodice is very unique with a high collar and yoke studded here and there with small gold buttons. A strapped piece of the cloth, trimmed in diamond shape with black velvet, finishes the yoke and extending forms a short jacket effect. A V vest of lace, and wide belt of blue and white striped taffeta. The skirt is box plaited at the sides, plain in front, with a slightly full back. Just above the knees is the trimming of black velvet in diamond shape, and just above the hem the same trimming is used.

Sugar Versus Starvation.

Experiments by Prof. Mosso in the University of Genoa have shown that sugar administered after a period of starvation, or a long fast, restores vitality more rapidly than bread does. The temperature of the body quickly increases with the administration of sugar.

CHEMISTRY OF THE EARTH.

Reactions That Have Taken Place in This Globe of Ours During the Passing Centuries.

Under the heading, "Phases of the Earth's Development," Prof. Edward Renouf, of the Johns Hopkins university, draws in Popular Science Monthly a picture of the various chemical "reactions" which we have reason to believe must have taken place on an enormous scale upon the earth at a certain period of its history. He says:

"At that period, when the temperature was as high as that easily obtained in the electric furnace, this molten surface must have consisted of binary compounds, such as the hydrids, borides, silicides and carbides, and probably contained also some refractory elements, metals and nonmetals, in the free state. The atmosphere contained free hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen, gaseous binary compounds, like the oxides of carbon, metals in the gaseous form, and many nonmetallic elements like sulphur and chlorine. In the atmospheric region farthest removed from the molten surface violent chemical reactions occurred between the heated elements, forming compounds which were again dissipated into their elements by the heat given off in the act of formation or radiated from the glowing surface below. The magnitude and violence of some of these reactions almost baffle the imagination. Let the reader drop a piece of calcium carbide as large as a small marble into a little water in a cup; there is a rapid action; a gas—acetylene—is given off, which burns with a smoky flame if a lighted match is held over the cup. So much heat is generated in the reaction that the cup becomes hot. Nearly four per cent. of the earth's outer crust is calcium; all this was at this period of the earth's history in the form of carbide. Imagine all the vast limestone mountain ranges of the present day as carbide, and try to realize the effect when water fell upon any considerable area. The heat generated would be so enormous that in a moment the acetylene would ignite and burn, forming oxides of carbon and water vapor, which would in turn decompose, throwing jets of glowing hydrogen and oxygen vast distances into the atmosphere, there to cool and reunite to water. Similar phenomena would attend the decomposition of the hydrids and silicides, since the substances formed are combustible gases, or liquids or solids easily volatilized. This is no wild fantasy, but a conservative statement of what must have occurred at a certain period of the earth's history."

HIS WHISTLE CHARMED BEES.

Insects Settled Down on a Farmer and His Oxen, and He Took Them Home.

Henry Fitch, a young farmer living at Mountain End, invited death for himself and his two oxen the other day by whistling, says the St. Louis Republic. Young Fitch is a whistler of much ability. He has whistled at every farmhouse and every gathering in the neighborhood, and when he is whistling nobody cares to listen to a piano, violin, flute, guitar or banjo.

The other day Fitch was plowing in the field—plowing and whistling. Two sleek, sleepy oxen were drawing the plow, and neither they nor Fitch paid any attention to anything but the plowing and whistling. Presently a swarm of thousands of honey bees hovered over them. There was no use to run—still less to fight them, and Fitch kept on whistling and plowing while the bees settled softly upon him and the oxen. They seemed friendly enough as long as Fitch whistled, and Fitch admits that he was willing to whistle as long as they remained friendly and seemed inclined to listen.

Fitch continued to plow along. His patch led toward his home, where he could see his mother in the yard. He caught the tails of the oxen and held them so the beasts might not anger the bees by switching them. For the distance of half a mile he held those two ox tails and whistled. His mother looked up and saw him. He and his oxen looked like they might be covered with a soft brown fur. Fitch stopped whistling just long enough to say "bees" and then continued his team without the bees realizing that he had dropped a note.

Mrs. Fitch acted at once. She knew something of bees and realized that unless she got them hived in short order they would probably sting her son to death. For she argued that he could not keep on whistling forever. So she got a huge tin pan and began beating it vigorously. The bees stirred uneasily at this interruption of their concert, but they did not sting, and after a few moments every one of them rose in the air and started toward the tin pan. Mrs. Fitch led the way to an empty hive which had luckily been prepared for another swarm, and by dint of much beating and coaxing got all the bees into it.

Fitch stopped whistling, sat down flat on the ground and mopped his face. The sleek, lazy oxen switched their tails vigorously to make up for lost time.

It Tells the Truth.

A woman's mirror will tell her what none of her friends will.—Chicago Daily News.

A UNIQUE SHOE INDUSTRY.

Rise of the Jewish Scrap and "Seconds" Buyer in New York City.

The "ghetto," the home of a mixed mass of humanity, presents a remarkable and unique phase of New York shoe selling, says the New York Tribune. Petty shoemakers visit the numerous city shoe factories daily and buy up scraps and "seconds" of all kinds of leather, which they take to their homes, and, after being inspected and assorted by the entire family, it is finally made into pieced backs and wedge heels in black, tan patent leather and numerous odd combinations, every inch of leather being utilized. A steady worker turns out at least 24 pairs of these shoes, working from seven a. m. until late into the night. In the meantime the thrifty wife puts the finished product into a clothes basket and, taking a stool, stations herself at the prominent corner of Hester and Essex streets, right in the heart of the "ghetto." Here activity reigns, thousands upon thousands of wage earners swarm through the streets; the venders loudly cry their wares to attract the attention of bargain seekers.

After a day of bantering and talking the woman has disposed of her shoes and goes home with an empty basket and a pocketful of small change. After many weeks of this routine the economical shoemaker has saved enough to realize an ambition and he buys a push cart—a two-wheeled affair much like the familiar fruitman's cart—and with shoes bought at fire sales he pushes boldly into some crowded thoroughfare and lines up against the curb. A tempting price loudly proclaimed serves to dispose of the stock as often as he can replenish the same. Under these circumstances the meager capital has increased sufficiently to enable him to open a small shoe store in Hester street and to employ an assistant. He searches wholesale shoe houses for odds and ends, damaged and mismated shoes, and picks up numerous lots for a fraction of their value.

He has now assumed the dignity of a merchant and has gained the confidence of his countrymen. Encouraged by his success and confident of his ability, he buys in larger lots and begins to supply other push-cart dealers. The demand eventually assumes greater proportions; he attends auction sales, which are very frequent in New York, and realizes profit from every venture. In the course of a few years his environments become too small, he disposes of his push cart and rents a basement in Bayard street, among the East side shoe jobbers.

FIRST USED IN THE STATES.

Armored Trains Were Employed Originally During the Civil War in This Country.

As with a great many other utilitarian devices, the Americans were the first to construct an actual armor plated train. During the civil war in the states a mob destroyed the bridges on the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railway, and in order to prevent a recurrence of the disorders and to protect the line generally, the government hit upon the expedient of converting a long, flat baggage car into a small movable battery. The car was built up and covered in with thick sheet iron, in which were pierced a number of loopholes for musketry. Port holes were arranged at the center and at each end, and a cannon on a traversing turntable was mounted for duty at each or either of the port holes. The projectiles used were of a somewhat extraordinary character, being nothing more or less than disks cut from boiler plates.

Perhaps the most effective use of the armored trains, up to recent years, says the Chicago Chronicle, was made by the French during the siege of Paris. In these trains both engines and carriages were bullet proof, and contained a number of loopholes. Each train carrying four small cannon which could be readily and expeditiously maneuvered from the train, was capable of holding 500 men. Considerable use was made of these trains in bringing in provisions to the beleaguered Frenchmen, and they were turned to account by the communists afterward against the government troops until their position was outflanked by heavy naval guns.

In the year 1882 an armored train which was only partially protected by boiler plates and sandbags, was used against the Egyptian rebels under Arabi Pasha. A similar contrivance was also employed at Kassasin previous to the British advance on Tel-el-Kebir. One operating in Chili during the civil war, and a sandbag protected, or "armed" train, equipped with a field gun, was utilized with advantage in the Soudan quite recently. In Cuba a locomotive and truck, protected with three-eighths-inch boiler plates, was sent in advance to pilot and protect from the rebels the trains between Colon and Santa Clara.

The South African armored trains now being employed by the authorities consist of nothing more or less than ordinary cars covered with from half to three-quarters of an inch of common steel, the locomotives being similarly protected, and a car placed in front with a gun in advance. These trains are, of course, of little or no use if the line falls into the hands of the enemy—a few dynamite cartridges or the removal of a rail or two (as was painfully demonstrated in the recent disaster to the Mafeking train) would render them a source more of danger than service.

The German emperor has an idea that "war cars" can be constructed on a plan which he has devised, which will enable them to traverse at will over a battlefield or territory which does not present impossible geographical difficulties. He proposes that each car shall be complete in itself and in size about that of a Pullman. The sides are to be constructed to fall just above the level of the ground, in order to protect the wheels. These plated sides will consist of steel of great resisting force, and will be pierced with a requisite number of port or loop holes for quick firing and machine guns and rifles. In order that a possible enemy may not be able to get on top of the car, it is to be made with sharp bayonet spikes protruding from the sides and roof. The whole idea seems very chimerical, but as the world-famed Krupp is responsible and has now an experimental car in progress, it would scarcely be safe to say that there is nothing in the idea.

CHINA'S GREATEST ACTOR.

The Sir Henry Irving of the Mongols Has a Great Reputation.

The brighest light upon the stage in China is in many respects a duplicate of Sir Henry Irving. The drama is highly esteemed by the Celestials, and those who "strut and fret upon the stage" are regarded as next in rank to the mandarins, says a London exchange.

In a severely plain and simple place of amusement in Peking, devoid of ornamentation of any kind, a recent arrival from the flowery kingdom had the pleasure of seeing Fon Chong Mai, the Sir Henry Irving of China, act the leading part in a play entitled "Ching-Won-Bohow." The plot of this play contains nothing new to an Englishman familiar with Shakespeare. There is scarcely an incident or proverb in the piece which does not recall the work of the great poet. Fon Chong Mai is a popular man and a great actor. For over 300 years his family has been identified with the actors' art, and when he acts he is often attired in a costume which an ancestor wore two centuries ago on the stage. He is a man of the keenest perception, highly educated in Chinese arts and sciences, and should he by any misfortune be obliged to quit the stage he could earn his living in almost any business or profession. His memory is prodigious, and he possesses a repertory which includes all the great religious plays of the Mandarin dialect, some of them filling scores of volumes.

Like his great English contemporary, he is a

GOLF

The Westfield High School football team is practising every evening for the first game of the season, to be played with a team from the Pingry School, of Elizabeth, on September 29.

The members of the Alis A. A. eleven will be out for practice this afternoon. They hope to open the season in two weeks and will practice steadily toward that end. Edward J. Kline, manager of the team, is booking games with some of the strongest teams in the metropolitan district and promises some good contests on the local gridiron this fall. The Alis boys have arranged with the High School team so that both teams will play on Martine Common.

The candidates for the Plainfield High School eleven turned out yesterday afternoon on Martine Common for their first practice. There was almost enough material to form two elevens, but the major time of practice was devoted to passing the ball, falling on it and going through the preliminary work. Harold Davis, temporary captain, was in charge. As soon as the team gets ready to settle down to hard work, A. B. Meredith, of the faculty, will coach them.

Mrs. William Fisher, the Mother, Says She Cannot Care for Them.

Mrs. William Fisher, whose husband has deserted her, took her two boys, aged 5 and 8 years respectively, and girl aged 7 years, to the City Industrial Home on Thursday and left them there. This is against the rules of the Home, but they were left in such a way that nothing for the present could be done. Thursday night Mrs. Dunham, colored, went to the home and secured the girl, taking her to her home. The boys are still at the Home and are giving those in charge much trouble. They are inclined to be very michievous and it is hard to get along with them. Mayor Rockfellow and City Judge Runyon have been considering the case and will decide very soon what is to be done with the boys.

Mrs. Fisher, it appears, was advised to leave the children there as she said she could not support them herself. The question is a difficult one to settle, but if the mother cannot support them they may have to go on the city for support.

He was a Well-Known Resident of Dunellen—Born and Educated in Germany.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 15—Alfred Cotrelly, aged 32 years, died at his home in this place, after an illness of two weeks with a complication of appendicitis and peritonitis. From the beginning of the illness Mr. Cotrelly's condition was serious. Dr. Brakeley was in attendance during the greater part of the illness, but toward the last Drs. Hedges, of Plainfield, were called in consultation, and a German physician, of New York, a friend of the family, was also consulted. The complications were such, however, that recovery was impossible, although everything possible was done to effect a cure.

Mr. Cotrelly was born in Berlin and educated there. During the early part of his life he traveled considerably, and finally settled near New York a few years ago. He spoke a number of languages, and was often sought as an interpreter. For some time he was employed by the Wells, Fargo Express Company. Afterward he was engaged by C. B. Richardson, 61 Broadway, New York, agent for foreign express matter. Since coming to this country he attended for a short time a military academy at Richmond, Va. Before coming to Dunellen about a year ago he lived at New Rochelle. He was a member of a Masonic lodge at that place, and the members will have charge of the funeral services.

A wife and young daughter and a step-father survive him. At present the arrangements for the funeral services have not been completed. The mains will be probably be interred at New Rochelle.

Hurt by Fall From a Wheel.

Dave Doyle, of East Third street, an employe of the Pond Tool Works, was returning home from work on his wheel last evening, and at the corner of Third and New streets he lost control of his wheel and was upset. He was badly bruised about the head and body. He was soon found by some friends who assisted him to his home, where good treatment will permit him to return to work soon. The only damage to his wheel was a broken pedal.

The Adirondack Mission.

Rev. R. G. McCarty, Presbyterian missionary of the Presbytery of St. Lawrence, New York, who is in charge of the interesting work among the lumbermen and miners of the Adirondacks, known as the "Adirondack Mission," will speak in Warren chapel Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. He will tell something of his work. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all.

Fewer at the Concert.

The weekly open-air concert of LaVere's band was given last evening on North avenue in front of the Hotel Kensington. The concert was of the usual excellence and Al Sweet gave a very satisfactory cornet solo. The crowd was not as large as it has been at some of the previous concerts but was enough to crowd the sidewalks for a block and partially fill the street.

Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches.

For destruction and complete riddance of Cock Roaches, Beetles, Wood and Water Bugs, Bed Bugs, Ants, Rats, Mice, etc., "Rough on Rats," though poisonous, if used with care is most effective. In fact it is the only thing that will permanently annihilate Bed Bugs and Cock Roaches. As an exterminator of Rats and Mice, "Rough on Rats" is the old reliable that never fails nor disappoints. They "don't die in the house." Is sold all around the world. Is used by all civilized nations of the earth. Is the most extensively advertised, the best know and has the largest sale of any article of its kind on the face of the globe. It gives satisfaction every time. Beware of imitations. I employ no peddlers. Have a suspicion of any dealer offering substitutes said to be as good. 15c. and 25c.

Miss Mair Arrived Home.

Miss Rachel Mair, who for the past four years, has been doing missionery work in Liberia, surprised her friends last evening by returning to her home in this city. She reached Plainfield about 6 o'clock. Although it was known that she was coming home, the exact time was not known, and there was no one at the North Avenue station to meet her. She went at once to the home of her mother on Leland avenue, where she received a warm and hearty welcome. There was a renewal of the home-ties and a rejoicing to know that once more members of the family are united. Miss Mair will probably remain in this country, and no doubt she will be given a cordial welcome by her host of friends in this city, and be heard at various meetings very soon.

ant, David Armstrong, all of whom served in the Spanish War. The first parade will probably be with the Frelinghuysen Lancers, of Newark. The uniforms are of the Rough Rider style. The drill nights are Thursday and Saturday, in the barracks. The business meeting of the organization will be held every Monday night. The officers are: President, Frank L. Reed; vice-president, J. Willard Winston; secretary, John High. The command is in reality the successor of the old Vail Battery, of 1876, which kept up an organization for many years, coming into active life during election times up to four years ago. The Fowler Battery has the gun used by them through all the campaigns.

MISS ACKERMAN ENGAGED.

Betrothal of a Well-Known Society Girl to Arthur Murphy Announced Today.

The third important engagement to interest Plainfield society circles this summer is announced. It is that of Miss Lydia Platt Ackerman, youngest daughter of Mrs. James Hervey Ackerman, of West Seventh street, to Arthur Murphy, second son of Rev. and Mrs. T. Logan Murphy, formerly of this city. The announcement is not a great surprise as the young people have been quite intimate for several months.

Miss Ackerman made her debut in Plainfield society last winter and was present at the prominent social functions of the year. She is a sister of Ernest R. Ackerman, of West Eighth street, Marion S. Ackerman, of Crescent avenue, and Mrs. Robert Rushmore, of West Eighth street.

Mr. Murphy is the son of the former rector of Holy Cross church, and has spent much of his life in this city where he is well-known. He is now employed in a New York bank. He and his brother, Clarence L. Murphy, have taken more or less part in society's happenings during the past winter.

Park Avenue Hotel Opened.

The Park Avenue Hotel opened today under favorable auspices. All the improvements are about completed and everything is practically in readiness for the fall and winter. At present there are sixteen guests at the hotel. The house is booked for October and November, and the first of the fall arrivals will come today. Manager John Bailey is busily engaged in looking after the various details about the place and he says that the prospects for the coming season are very bright. A number of those now stopping at this house are waiting for their own residences to be prepared for occupancy during the winter.

Afraid of Her Husband.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, Sept. 15. — Justice Storms received a complaint yesterday from Mrs. Maggie Brennan against her husband, Martin Brennan, of Dunellen, in which she charges that he threatened to kill her with an axe on Labor Day. For some reason the complaint was delayed and the matter has been in statu quo since September 3d. Mrs. Brennan asks the court to take some action whereby she can feel safe. Mr. Brennan, it is alleged, made the threat while in an angry mood. The case will be given a hearing this afternoon before Justice Storms.

To Drain the Pond.

John Otto, the New Market miller, has given the usual required notice to the Game and Fish Commissioners that he desires to drain the pond on Octobor 15th, and there is no doubt but what the request will be granted. The purpose for letting the water out is that Mr. Wilson, the ice dealer, desires to make some repairs to his ice houses, and he wants to erect one new house in place of an old one which he will tear down. It is absolutely necessary to give the above notification so that the commission can make provisions for retaining the fish in the pond though the use of screens.

Said He Lived in Plainfield.

The Trenton police picked up a fifteen year old lad in that city Thursday who was trying to dispose of a wheel. He said his name was Alexander Boyd and that he lived in Plainfield. The Trenton authorities communicated with his father who lives on East Sixth street, near Berckman street, yesterday and he went to Trenton. He took the receipt for the wheel to show that it had not been stolen and brought the lad and his wheel home. The lad was trying to work his way to Philadelphia.

Car Windows Broken.

As the New York express, which leaves Plainfield at 7:55 o'clock, was rounding the curve between Elizabeth and Elizabethport, Wednesday morning, another train passed and a projection from the westbound train broke several windows in one of the cars of the express. John Palmley, of Somerville, who sat by one of the broken windows, had his face and ear badly cut. Conductor Samuel Johnson was in charge of the express.

PARK GOLFERS WON FROM MORRISTOWN.

Ten Men Team Played on Links of Park Golf Club Saturday Afternoon.

THE SCORE WAS 18 TO 15.

EWING, OF MORRISTOWN, MADE REMARKABLE SCORE OF 85.

He Defeated Anderson, of Park Club—Some Very Good Scores Were Made by Local Players for President's Cup.

The Morristown Field Club sent a ten men team to Plainfield Saturday afternoon for a return match with the Park Golf Club on the latter's links. The Morristown team had won the first match which was played on their links early in the summer. The match of Saturday resulted in a victory for the Park Golf Club by a score of 18 to 15.

The Park Club had its best players arrayed against the visitors, and everyone of the local cracks showed up in good form. The long period of drought had fairly burned up the turf and the course was extremely fast. Some of the greens were almost bare and an easy putt sent the ball clear across them. The Park Club players adjusted themselves to the new condition and did some great work, the quartette of scratch men all playing under 90. Thiers was best with an 87, which showed him 6 up at the finish. G. W. Faber found a hard proposition in Snow, and ended one up. Serrell was down at the end of the first round, but halved the match.

W. de la R. Anderson started off against Ewing, a sixteen-year-old lad, who was playing for the first time in a team match. Anderson played a good game, but he could not be expected to take the pace the visitor did. Ewing forgot to make a single mistake, and Anderson managed to win only one hole in the first round and that was by doing the eighth in 3, 1 better than Bogey. Ewing made a 4. Anderson had a 50, while his opponent made a 42, 2 worse than Bogey. In the second round Anderson halved three holes with a 47 to Ewing's 43, but the Morristown player kept right on in his fine form and finished 13 up. Ewing's score was easily the best of the day, and a sufficient excuse for the 13 rolled up against the Plainfielder.

The score of the match was as follows:

PARK GOLF CLUB.		MORRISTOWN FIELD CLUB.
W. J. R. Thiers	6	Smith	0
M. T. Townsend	5	Max Behr	0
Gustavus W. Faber	1	Snow	0
Wm. M. McCutchen	5	Duyckinck	0
Edgar I. Serrell	0	Thomas	0
J. H. Simpson	1	Chadwell	0
H. D. Hibbard	0	Woodward	1
W. de la R. Anderson	0	George Ewing	13

The medal scores made in the team match were allowed to count in the weekly competition for the president's cup, which was held as usual. There were also a dozen others, outside of the match who registered for the competition, but all the scores were not turned in. Of the eleven cards turned in, seven of them showed gross scores below 100, which is the best showing that has been made this season.

The first honors were divided between Townsend Bushmore and Frank Rogers, with 84 net, both of whom may expect a prompt visitation from the handicapping committee. W. J. R. Thiers, with no handicap, was third with 87, while Morgan T. Townsend, Edgar I. Serrell and G. W. Faber, all scratch, made 89 each.

The scores were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Townsend Bushmord	99	18	84
Frank Rogers	114	30	84
W. J. R. Thiers	87	0	87
Edgar I. Serrell	89	0	89
Morgan T. Townsend	89	0	89
Gustavus W. Faber	89	0	89
J. H. Simpson	94	4	90
Herbert S. Rogers	111	20	91
William A. Townsend	163	10	93
W. de la R. Anderson	97	4	93
H. D. Hibbard	102	8	94

The day's play made little difference in the standing for the president's cup save to advance Thiers a point. Bushmore and Rogers are practically new comers in the competition.

The standing for the cup is as follows:

Wm. R. Faber	8½
Edgar I. Serrell	8
Morgan T. Townsend	7½
Allan B. Laing	7½
George T. Rogers	6
Meredith Dryden	6
R. St. J. McCutchen	5 5-6
Charles A. Reed	5½
W. J. R. Thiers	5
Gustavus W. Faber	4½
W. de la R. Anderson	4
H. D. Hibbard	3
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Werth	3
Herbert S. Rogers	3
J. H. Simpson	3

Scattering—Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W. Faber, Donald A. McGee, Wm. M. McCutchen, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford, Townsend Bushmore, Charles Dupee and Frank Rogers.

The match for the green committee challenge trophy was played last Wednesday afternoon so as not to conflict with the team match with Morristown. On that occasion, W. J. R. Thiers defeated H. D. Hibbard, four up and two to play. W. de la R. Anderson is the next challenger, and after him comes Morgan T. Townsend.

The standing for the trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	9
Morgan T. Townsend	4
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	1

Any uncertainty there might have been concerning the showing of the team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club in their match against the East Orange Golf Club on the latter's links Saturday afternoon, was speedily dispelled. The crack golfers from this city demonstrated the superiority and won the match in the tournament of the East Jersey Golf Association by a score of 33 to 2. The game was an important one in the league and the defeat of the Hillside team would have sadly injured that club's chances of finishing first in the league.

Glenney was the only one of the Hillside team who did not come in in ahead of his opponent. He struck some hard luck and the steady playing of Griffin, East Orange's best man, kept the Plainfielder down.

Talmage did the best of any of the Hillside men, coming in with his opponent eleven down. Reinhart was in good form and had a lively match with Rossiter. Dumont, who acted as captain for the Hillside team, beat his man by five. It was good, steady playing throughout, which won the match for the Hillside team. Although unacquainted with the course, a nine-hole one, they found it to their liking and everyone made good scores.

The score of the match was as follows:

HILLSIDE.		EAST ORANGE.
Glenney	0	Griffin	2
Reinhart	4	Rossiter	0

Broke Into Shop in Bold Manner.

Three young men, unknown, broke into the repair shop at G. H. Kenyon's bicycle store yesterday afternoon about 11:30 o'clock. They were detected by Sexton Kennedy of the First M. E. church, who happened to be in the rear of the church. One of the young men put his arm through a broken window and unfastened the catch on the rear door, after which the three walked into the place. Mr. Kennedy saw them enter and they were frightened away before they had an opportunity to get away with anything. Mr. Kenyon was notified and after an investigation he failed to find anything missing.

BRISK IN CITY COURT.

PLENTY OF BUSINESS FOR THE CITY JUDGE TODAY.

Many Small Offenders Caught in the Dragnet of the Police During Yesterday.

Business was brisk in the city court this morning and it took City Judge Runyon nearly an hour to dispose of the unusually large batch of offenders collected Saturday and Sunday.

The oft told tale of a friend and too much whiskey was Barney Tracy's excuse for being drunk on Park avenue Saturday night. Patrolman Myers arrested him. He was fined $2.

James Bowser and Robert Sells, both colored boys, were interrupted Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Vanderweg while shooting "crap." They were on the wall bordering Green brook in the rear of the Babcock building. The Judge explained that there was no ordinance in this city which makes it an offense to gamble, unless a regular gambling house is run. He therefore dismissed the case.

Mary Hensey was drunk yesterday afternoon and Patrolman Vanderweg found her in the midst of a hot argument with her employer, Wm. Ross, proprieter of the Delmonico Oyster and Chop House. Ross, she says, promised to marry her several months ago and since then has not paid her any salary. She wanted to get married at once or wanted her money instead. She admitted her guilt to the Judge and was fined $3, which was paid by Ross.

Mary Ford and Belle Broadnacks, two young colored women, were arraigned on the charge of fighting at the corner of North and Watchung avenues last night. Patrolman Wenzenreid made the arrest. They pleaded guilty and were fined $4 each.

Wm. Slede was haled before the Judge on complaint of his wife and son-in-law. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and threatening his wife's life. He claimed he was the victim of a plot. After hearing the evidence the Judge sentenced Slede to sixty days in jail, but suspended sentence during good behavior. The Sledes live at the corner of Richmond and East Second streets.

SHIRT CAUGHT FIRE.

Was Thrown Out of Window Before Fire Department Had Time to Reach House.

An alarm from box 41 summoned the fire department to the home of Frank Runyon, express messenger, on West Second street, Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. A shirt hung behind the door to the room of one of the boarders. As the occupant of the room sat there the wearing apparel blazed up without any apparent cause. Somebody shouted "fire" and an alarm was sent in. Meanwhile the blazing shirt was thrown out of the window. There was no other damage. A flying spark from a match may have been the cause of the blaze.

FIGHTING FOR AN ESTATE.

One of the Claimants is Archbishop Logue, of Ireland.

Hearing in the contest over the $200,000 estate left by Michael Durning, an undertaker of Elizabeth, to his childless wife began yesterday at Elizabeth before Surrogate Parrot.

There are eighteen claimants, the most prominent one being Archbishop Logue, of Armagh, Ireland. Five other claimants are from County Donegal, Ireland, three are from Australia, and nine from the United States, principally from New Jersey and Pennsylvania. All claim to be cousins of the dead man.

Three witnesses—Judge Gilhooley, who drew the will; Dr. Thomas E. Dolan, who attended the testator in his last illness, and James Higgins—were those who testified. They swore the testator was perfectly rational to the last.

Central May Buy Rookery.

It is reported that the Jersey Central Railroad Company will purchase the old city jail and remove the same in order to complete the fine improvements they are making about that side of the track. It is also said that they will remove the tank house near the jail and make a beautiful park out of the property. Ex-Warden Thomas Martin and family, who occupied the jail until a short time ago, have moved from the place upon request of the owner of the building.

Members of Struck Jury.

A. Vanderbeek, of this city, W. R. Stanbery and John Robison, of Scotch Plains, are members of a struck jury that is to meet at Elizabeth today. The purpose for which they are called is not known.

—Neuman Brothers will receive 300 baskets of fine canning and table peaches tomorrow morning.

SMALL DOG CAUSED GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Ran Amuck in the Borough and Left a Reign of Terror in His Wake.

SEVERAL PERSONS BITTEN

THE BRUTE FINALLY ROUNDED UP AND KILLED.

The Carcass to be Taken to Pasteur Institute in New York So That Treatment Can be Given to the Victims.

A fox terrier, about fifteen inches long and about half as high, caused more excitement in Plainfield and the borough yesterday than has been experienced in many a day. It is believed that the dog was mad, but whether he was or not, his wild antics caused a reign of terror and it took the best part of the day to round him up and bring to an end the trouble he was making for everyone on the line he followed.

It is not definitely known who owned the dog, but circumstances lead to the belief that he was the property of Samuel Fields, corner of Terrill road and East Front street. It is known that he owned such a dog, and that he was missing the forepart of last week. About Wednesday he returned, and Friday he visited the home of Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, on East Front street. At that time he acted all right, but when he visited Mr. Hetfield's home yesterday morning about 8 o'clock he acted in a queer manner. He ran up on the stoop and bit Mr. Hetfield's valuable water spaniel, which may result in his death. Mrs. Hetfield was near at the time, and she called her husband. When the latter appeared the dog ran from the yard and went in the direction of Plainfield.

That was the start of the canine's wild run. The next heard of the dog was at Prideville, North Plainfield, where he bit two dogs. He ran through the yards of William Drake and Geo. Bremmer, but neither one was quick enough to land the animal. From there he ran through Greenbrook road to Rockview avenue, and into David L. Thompson's cellar, where Mr. Thompson's coachman and a man named John Powers had a fight in chasing him out. From the Thompson home he ran to Rockview terrace and through Mayor Smalley's yard. The Mayor's boy, Clarence, was in the yard and to escape the dog he ran into the barn. The canine did not stop there, but continued his journey to Mercer and Sycamore avenues, the home of Borough Clerk Frank Rowley. Mrs. Rowley and her little daughter, Julia, were on the porch, and the dog made a wild attack there at Mrs. Rowley. She did her best to chase the dog away, but with little success. The little girl she tried to get away from the dog, but before she could do so he bit her twice in the left hand. This may be considered about the worst case thus far reported. The dog's teeth drew blood in several places, making a bad wound.

While in the Park the animal bit a dog belonging to Oscar Clare at 51 Willow avenue. From Mr. Rowley's home the dog continued to run through Sycamore avenue to the home of George D. Hallock, where he bit the latter's dog that was lying on the porch, and from there he ran through Myrtle to Giraud avenue and into Plainfield. After reaching this city he attacked two or three dogs on West Third street and then wended his way toward town. He ran through West Second street into George Cole's livery stable, and after making an attempt to bite Michael Keefe he was chased out and he ran back to Madison avenue to Front street.

He then went down Front street toward Somerset street, and on his way he ran into the hallway next to Randolph's pharmacy which leads to the flats over the tea store. There he hid behind a door, evidently exhausted by his long run. He had been there but a short time when Miss Nellie Messenger, who lives in one of the flats, came home. In walking through the hall the dog jumped out and bit her in the leg near the ankle. She was greatly frightened and sought Dr. Buchanan at once who gave the proper treatment. Her injury is not considered at all serious.

After attacking Miss Messenger the dog ran out in the street and went over the brook through Somerset street. He ran as far as Chatham street before making another attack. Here stood John Kennedy, the young son of Michael Kennedy, and the dog flew at him, planting his teeth in the boy's hand, but not deep enough to draw much blood. The boy was frightened and he hastened home. He was then taken to Powers' drug store, where temporary aid was given. He afterwards was treated by Dr. Pittis.

The next person to be attacked was Albert J. Leader, of Duer street, who had just turned into Somerset street on his way to the Y. M. C. A. meeting. The dog, who by this time was frothing and bleeding at the mouth, made a wild dash at Mr. Leader. He succeeded in catching hold of his pant leg and tearing it, but the teeth did not reach the skin. Mr. Leader's shoes were covered with blood and froth. He carried a cane and a few good whacks on the dog's head made him let go.

Miss Tillie Mulford, of East Front street, was near the corner of Lincoln place and Somerset street and the dog bit her in the back part of the right foot. The teeth penetrated the shoe and stocking, but scarcely drew blood. She was treated by Dr. B. Van D. Hedges and no serious results are looked for. A dog owned by Marris VanArsdale, the shoe dealer, happened to be on Somerset street and he was the next victim to be attacked. Fritz Conde, of Somerset street, was on the street and the dog flew at him. Mr. Conde grabbed him and threw him in the gutter with such force that it almost knocked the wind out of the canine. It did not, however, and the animal continued to run through Somerset street toward the mountains. At the upper part of Somerset street he ran up on the porch at the home of John G. McLaughlin's house, and there he was killed by Marshal Fred Emmons, who beat him with a club until dead.

After the dog entered the borough and began his wild chase the residents were up in arms. Mayor Smalley, Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., all the marshals, headed by Chief Campbell, started in pursuit. At first they were about an hour behind the dog, and as the chase was continued the time and distance lessened. In a short time there were fully seventy-five people in pursuit, and some residents were greatly frightened, not being acquainted with the facts. People were riding wheels and some were in wagons, and it was nearly 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the excitement subsided.

The dog that caused the trouble was placed on ice and this morning Frank Rowley, accompanied by his wife and daughter, went to the Pasteuer Institue, New York, where they will have the daughter's wounds treased. Mr. Rowley also took the dog to the same place for the purpose of ascertaining whether he had the rabbies of not. Most of the dogs that were bitten have been chained up and every precaution will be taken regarding them.

Mr. Rowley returned from New York at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon. He left his daughter at the Pasteur institute. She will remain there three weeks. The doctors at the institute advise that all dogs that were bitten be kept chained up at least three weeks.

RELAYING THE TRACKS.

Big Gang of Italians Put to Work at Midnight on West Front Street.

A gang of fifty laborers started work last night at 11 o'clock to relay the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, between Park avenue and Grant avenue. The first thing done was to place in position a new frog at the switch, just west of Somerset street where the double track begins. Then the west bound track was torn up and the work of placing the new rails in position began.

The work was continued until 5 o'clock this morning when the men were taken back to Westfield and given breakfast and then brought back to work. The gang was increased to a hundred and six this morning and will be still further enlarged before the week is over. It is expected that the change will be completed in four weeks. The west bound track will be relayed through to Grant avenue and then the other one will be replaced.

East of the switch near Somerset street, new ties will be put in as far as Park avenue. Where the double track is, the old six inch girder rails will be replaced by nine inch girder rails. The old rails weighed 70 pounds to the yard and the new ones 85 pounds to the yard. The new rails are much longer than the old ones.

There will be no hinderance of the regular traffic. The cars will be run on the east bound track using the switch at Grant avenue as a turnout.

Mrs. Budlong and daughter, of Madison avenue, will return in a few days from New York State, where they have been visiting for some time.

—A hundred baskets of entire white peaches will be included in the special sale of fruit at Neuman Bros. tomorrow.

FIELD DAY AT THE HOTEL

MOST THRILLING EVENT WAS THE THREE-LEGGED RACE.

L. H. VanBuren and A. Willis West Won the Event—More Events Next Saturday.

The guests at the Hotel Netherwood held a field day Saturday afternoon on the lawn in front of the hotel. Time was lacking for all the events, so some were postponed a week and will be held next Saturday afternoon. Quite an audience assembled to witness the sports.

The most thrilling event was the three-legged race. Edward J. Kline and James Dodd had trouble with their third leg and fell. Two other couples were right behind them and tumbled right over the fallen contestants. L. H. VanBuren and A. Willis West finished alone. They were in the lead, however, and thus escaped the tumble. The 50 yard dash was won by Norbert Pendergast. Mr. Class was the winner of the broad jump. In the running high jump, Oscar L. Richards was the best. Norbert Pendergast carried off the honors in the potato race. The hurdle race was won by A. Willis West.

O. L. Richards and Mr. Class ran a dead heat in the obstacle race and Richards won the toss which decided it. The fat men's race was cleverly won by Mr. Parsons. A tug-of-war between teams of seven men each, was won in two straight heats by the team of which William L. McClure was anchor. Norbert Pendergast was anchor on the other side.

SKULL FRACTURED IN JAIL.

Prisoner Dies in Elizabeth Hospital—Mystery in the Case—Committed from Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 17.—From an injury sustained in the county jail on Friday night, a prisoner who gave his name as Harry Davis died in the Elizabeth General Hospital Saturday night. The prisoner said he was born in England and was a machinist, and formerly lived in Bridgeport, Conn. He was taken to the jail from Plainfield to serve a term of forty days for being disorderly. Two hours after he was lodged in jail an uproar was heard among the sixty prisoners. When Wardens Dodd and Dyer rushed in they found Davis unconscious on the floor in a pool of blood. He was at once taken to the hospital, where he died from his injuries without gaining consciousness.

The prisoner had no papers in his possession, and unless some one identifies him he will be burried in Potter's Field. The cause of his injury is being investigated. The other prisoners say that he fell in a fit and fractured his skull.

Davis was first seen in Plainfield early last week. He told the police that he came from Bridgeport, Conn., where he had a wife, but to others he made the statement that his home was at Hartford, Conn., where his wife had died a short time before. He was arrested Wednesday night for being drunk and sentence was suspended on him Thursday morning. Thursday night he was locked up again for being drunk and was sent to jail for 40 days by City Judge Runyon Friday morning. Friday afternoon Doorman Grant took him to the county jail at Elizabeth.

Davis had a letter from Charles H. Smith to Charles Foster, a foreman at the Pond Tool Works, asking the latter to give Davis a job. The letter was never presented. Davis claimed to be a machinist.

Horseback Rider Collides With Cyclist.

While Edward Reighton, of Park avenue, was riding his wheel on the above avenue Saturday evening he was run down by Wm. Hobby, of Watchung avenue, who was riding horseback. The riders were going in opposite directions, but Reighton claims he was on the right side of the road when young Hobby collided with him. He was thrown from his wheel and sustained an injury to his leg and a few bruises about the face. His front wheel was almost a wreck. Hobby will probably be called on to settle for the damages.

BIG AND LITTLE AT G. O. P. OUTING.

All Classes of Politicians in Union County Turned Out to Have a Good Time.

KEAN AND FOWLER THERE.

PLAINFIELD FURNISHED THE LARGEST NUMBER OF GUESTS.

Among Them Was Quite a Number of Democrats—Congressman Fowler Shook Hands With Many—No Booms Were Launched.

Topped off with the presence of United States Senator John Kean and Congressman Charles N. Fowler, there was a notable gathering of Union county Republican lights at the outing arranged by the county committee of that party Saturday afternoon. The affair was held at Gibson's grove, between Westfield and Rahway, and was attended by over 600 men. The outing was intended to mark the formal opening of the G. O. P. campaign in Union county. While it partook more of a social time, there was considerable political side talk and the "boys" were enthused and made to feel by the party leaders that their services during the campaign were to be of great value and would be highly appciated.

The grove in which the outing was held was a delightful spot for such a gathering. It is situated in a little valley about one-half mile from the Rahway line of the trolley road. The principal feature of the affair was the clam-bake, which was cooked and served under the direction of Nat. Astfalk who had made preparations for feeding a large crowd. Seats had been arranged for nearly 500 people, but with the guests far exceeding that number there were many who had to wait for the "second table." Considering the great number there, the service at the bake was very good.

Plainfield sent the largest delegation to the outing of any place in the county. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon six special trolley cars left this city for the grove with nearly 200 men from the Pond Tool Works. The Republican leaders in this city had made a special effort to sell tickets to the men in Pond's, and the result was that there was quite a liberal sprinkling of Democrats who had tickets. They enjoyed themselves as best they could under the circumstances. The great number of Plainfielders present evidenced, however, the activity and aggressiveness of the local machine to make as good a showing as possible in the presence of the other Republicans of the county. It is not too much to say that they won first place in assisting in making the outing a success. City Clerk MacMurray took up a position where he could greet the Plainfielders as they arrived, and in this way make them feel that they were heartily welcome. Andrew McCardell, the Fourth ward leader, and through whose efforts many of the tickets were sold to the employes in Pond's, was busy in seeing to it that the wants of the Plainfielders in the refreshment line were amply satisfied. City Col-City Collector Smith, a member of the committee that arranged the outing, was also here, there and everywhere making things pleasant and agreeable for the guests. Near the end of one of the long tables at which the bake was served a party of city officials, including Mayor Rockfellow and several members of the Common Council, formed themselves into a little party that got huge enjoyment out of the affair.

At the head of the first table Senator Kean sat. To his left was Congressman Fowler and to his right State Senator Cross. Ranged down either side for a dozen seats were a number of other prominent partisans, among them former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, of this city. Before and after the bake Senator Kean and Congressman Fowler were kept busy shaking hands and indulging in short talks with their constituents. Congressman Fowler was especially suave in his manner, and seemed to wear a satisfied smile that betokened a confidence that he would again win in the Eighth district. Now and then he could be seen engaged in close conversation with a party of young men to whom he was evidently giving campaign pointers.

It is a tradition of politics that outings of this kind are usually occasions for the launching of booms for aspirants for office. This one was not, however. There are only three offices to be filled this year by Union county. They are the three members of Assembly. As none of the present incum-

HOSPITALS OVERFLOW.

Galveston's Injured Crowd Every Available Building.

GALVESTON, Sept. 17.—A more hopeful feeling is observable everywhere here and the situation is brightening rapidly. Dr. Blunt, the state health officer, believes that there is no danger of an epidemic resulting from the storm. The city board of health has adopted a resolution expressing the same view. Emergency hospitals have been established in every ward for the treatment of the sick and wounded. The Ursuline convent has been converted into a great general hospital for the reception and care of the more serious cases, with a full corps of physicians and trained nurses. All public and private hospitals are filled to their utmost capacity with sufferers. Medical supplies are still needed. Banks and some other branches of business have resumed, and others are actively preparing to do so. Preparations for rebuilding are going on in the business part of the city. The railways and the water front are being rapidly cleansed of debris. The telegraph and telephone companies are rushing things. Business on the floor of the Cotton Exchange will not be resumed for three weeks, the building being damaged and partially unroofed.

Many dead are reported hourly as being unburied, especially in the extreme western part of the city. The burial and cremation of human bodies and the carcasses of animals are being vigorously prosecuted. It is conservatively estimated now that the loss of human life will exceed 6,000, with half that number wounded.

Bryan on Trusts.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—W. J. Bryan made a long speech here on the subject of trusts to a large audience. In the course of his speech he said in part: "I desire to call special attention to the growth of trusts and to ask you whether your son is safe under the reign of private monopoly? If you cannot leave him a fortune, you can leave him something more valuable than money—viz, the freedom to employ his own brain and his own hands for the advancement of his own welfare. When there is industrial independence, each citizen is stimulated to earnest endeavor by the hope of being able to profit by his own genius, his own energy, his own industry and his own virtue, but when private monopoly reaches its full development each branch of industry will be controlled by one or a few men, and the fruits of monopoly, like the divine right of rule, will be kept within the possession of a few from generation to generation, while the real producers of wealth will be condemned to perpetual clerkship or servitude."

Nationalists Triumph In Havana.

HAVANA, Sept. 17.—In the elections of delegates to the forthcoming constitutional convention the National party again triumphed in the province of Havana. Not only did it elect the five delegates of the majority representation, but it also captured one of the minority representatives, the Republican party electing the other two—namely, Manuel Sanguily and Berriel. Returns from the other provinces come in slowly owing to the heavy rains. In Pinar del Rio there seems to be no doubt of the election of Gonzalo de Quesada, Rius Rivera and Civil Governor Quiles. Nothing definite is yet known here as to Santiago because of the difficulty of getting returns from the outlying country districts there, but it is reported that Juan Gualberto Gomez is elected.

Roosevelt In Montana.

BILLINGS, Mon., Sept. 17.—Governor Roosevelt began his Sunday trip westward at 6 o'clock a. m. There was no speechmaking during the day, but there was some handshaking and conversations between the New York governor and the people along the route. At New Salem two Lutheran clergymen, with members of their congregations, were at the station to greet the governor. At Mandan the Congregational minister, with some of his people, met him at the station. At Dickinson the pastors of the Episcopal Methodist and Presbyterian churches, with members of their congregations, were presented to Governor Roosevelt on the station platform. The day was clear and cool, the first frost of the season having fallen during the night.

Captain McQuiston Killed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Captain Charles McQuiston of the Fourth United States infantry, stationed at Maganone, Cavite province, was shot and killed by a soldier of his company. This information was cabled to the war department by General MacArthur. The explanation was given that Captain McQuiston in a fit of temporary insanity had attacked men of his company, shooting one or more, when he himself was shot. General MacArthur says the shooting of Captain McQuiston was in self defense. Captain McQuiston was appointed to West Point in 1879 from Indiana, in which state he was born. He became a captain in 1898.

Courier to Kruger Returns.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—On the American line steamer New York, which arrived from Southampton and Cherbourg, was Master James F. Smith, who has just returned from his long journey to Pretoria, where he delivered the address and resolutions passed by the schoolboys of Philadelphia to President Kruger of the Transvaal Republic. Young Smith was a saloon passenger by the New York.

Oom Paul's Departure For Europe

LISBON, Sept. 17.—The Portuguese government has telegraphed to the governor of Mozambique authorizing the departure of Mr. Kruger for Europe. The governor, however, must satisfy himself that Mr. Kruger is really going to Europe. Meanwhile he is instructed to take all precautions to safeguard the personal security of Mr. Kruger.

Printing Works Damaged by Fire.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 17.—Fire broke out yesterday in the plant of the Erie Lithographing and Printing works, doing damage to the amount of between $40,000 and $50,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The firm will continue to fill orders promptly, with the assistance of the other printing offices in the city.

Elmira's Oldest Contractor Dead.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Thomas Gerity, the oldest contractor and builder in this city, is dead at the age of 84. He constructed many of the finest public and private buildings in Elmira. He is survived by one son, W. S. Gerity, head of the wholesale drughouse of Gerity Bros.

EXTENT OF STRIKE.

Reports Indicate Great Magnitude of Movement.

AN ATTEMPT TO BRING ABOUT PEACE

Sunday a Quiet Day at the Mines. Many Meetings Held—Foreigners Said to Be Strongest Advocates of Strike—Threats Made.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 17.—That the strike of the mine workers in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania which President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America has officially ordered will be one of considerable magnitude seems certain from reports received from the regions affected. It seems equally certain that a number of operators will make an effort to run their collieries even though they may be short handed, but whether they will be successful only can be determined when the breaker whistles sound the call to work. The operators generally will have their collieries in condition to begin operations, and the whistles will blow as usual, but a large number of the employers admit that there is but little hope of being able to start.

A last attempt is being made to bring about peace between the coal operators and their men. Father Phillips, who has worked hard for a settlement of the differences between the employers and the mine workers, has again entered the field with the proposition that Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia be accepted as arbitrator. Father Phillips will hold a conference with President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers and ask that the organization he represents stand aside and allow Archbishop Ryan to approach the operators on behalf of the men and the public generally, the latter of which, he claims, has a material interest in what is taking place. Father Phillips took renewed hope when he read Archbishop Ryan's interview in which he said he would do all that lay in his power to avert the strike. Acting on the archbishop's hint, Father Phillips sent to the prelate the following telegram:

"I thank you for offer of assistance and sentiments expressed in the newspapers. I had retired from the field, believing that all my resources had been exhausted, but now, encouraged by you, will resume efforts. Will see Mitchell and suggest further appeal by miners to operators through you as mediator, acting for the public in general. This telegram will also suggest to operators a way out of the difficulties that will not include any direct recognition of the union, the chief obstacle to settlement. Even this step may fail, but the situation, now desperate, demands prompt action on our part. Will advise you of progress."

Later Father Phillips called on John Markle at Jeddo, the manager of G. B. Markle & Co., who control the Jeddo, Highland, Oakdale and Ebervale collieries, employing about 2,500 men, for a conference regarding this proposition. General Superintendent Smith and Alvin Markle, a partner, were present. John Markle, whose firm has an agreement with its men to settle all differences by arbitration, accepted the proposition of Father Phillips.

With the exception of President Mitchell's arrival there has been little evidence shown here that Hazleton is the storm center of the present coal war between labor and capital. Nothing has occurred to disturb the serenity of the Sabbath. Quite a large number of miners had come to town, but soon left when they found that there was no news floating around. With the exception of the engineers, firemen, pump runners and repair men no one has been around any of the mines in this vicinity. Public meetings of miners were held at Harley, Ebervale and Freeland, on the north side; Shepton and Harwood, on the west side, and at Coleraine, south of here.

The foreign speaking miners are in the majority in the Hazleton district, and most of them are in favor of strike. The English speaking workmen who are in favor of striking are not so numerous. It seems to those who are in close touch with the situation that all depends on the foreigners. If they conclude to stay away from their work, the mines will be so crippled that operations will have to cease, thus forcing idleness upon the English speaking workmen. The territory south of Hazleton is well organized, and there is some apprehension here that disturbances might occur among the foreigners in that locality. Some of them have made threats of bodily harm against any one who starts to work.

The United Mine Workers' officials are doing their best to prevent any outbreaks. Mr. James last night authorized a denial of a story telegraphed from here that the Italians at Bunker Hill, seven miles south of here, are manufacturing "bomb balls" for use in case trouble with the police should arise. He also denied the printed statement that committees had been sent to Altoona, Pa., and other places in the bituminous coalfields of this state for the purpose of agitating a sympathetic strike.

GOMPERS CHEERS MINERS.

Labor President Says Their Cause Is Just and Predicts Victory.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 17.—A mass meeting held here was attended by between 4,000 and 5,000 miners. They were very enthusiastic over speeches by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John Fahy, president of the Ninth anthracite district. Mr. Fahy advised the men to stay away from the mines and not indulge in intoxicating drinks and to avoid quarrels which would tend to injure the cause of the miners.

President Gompers informed his hearers that by reason of their great patience in seeking to induce operators and coal carrying companies to grant them a conference and by the operators refusing to meet them the sympathy of the American public was with the men. Their cause was a just one, and by united action they would win. They had the best kind of a chance, and considerable strength would be accorded the United Mine Workers by kindred associations to defeat the operators. The speaker also said that the clergy made a mistake in advising the men not to strike, that they could not now recede an inch from President Mitchell's order for a strike unless the operators grant concessions.

Socialists Gather In Mainz.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—The sixteenth annual Socialist congress will open at Mainz today. A reception has been tendered to the delegates already assembled.

ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS

Vice Presidential Candidate Makes Public His Letter.

CONDEMNS KANSAS CITY PLATFORM

Says Trust Problem Should Be Carefully Studied—Names Thomas Jefferson as First Expansionist. Our Territorial Acquisitions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Governor Theodore Roosevelt has made public his letter accepting the nomination for vice president on the Republican national ticket. Mr. Roosevelt reviews the various issues brought to the front by both the Republican and Democratic parties. The currency question, trusts and expansion are the subjects to which he has devoted the greater part of his letter.

"I feel that this contest is by no means one merely between Republicans and Democrats. We have a right to appeal to all good citizens who are farsighted enough to see what the honor and the interest of the nation demand. To put into practice the principles embodied in the Kansas City platform would mean grave disaster to the nation, for that platform stands for reaction and disorder, for an upsetting of our financial system which would mean not only great suffering, but the abandonment of the nation's good faith, and for a policy abroad which would imply the dishonor of the flag and an unworthy surrender of our national rights. Its success would mean unspeakable humiliation to men proud of their country, jealous of their country's good name and desirous of securing the welfare of their fellow citizens. Therefore we have a right to appeal to all good men, north and south, east and west, whatever their politics may have been in the past, to stand with us because we stand for the prosperity of the country and for the renown of the American flag.

"If this nation is to retain either its well being or its self respect, it cannot afford to plunge into financial and economic chaos; it cannot afford to indorse governmental theories which would unsettle the standard of national honesty and destroy the integrity of our system of justice. The policy of the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 is a policy fraught with destruction to every home in the land. It means untold misery to the head of every household and above all to the women and children of every home. When our opponents champion free silver at 16 to 1, they are either insincere or sincere in their attitude. If insincere in their championship, they of course forfeit all right to belief or support on any ground. If sincere, then they are a menace to the welfare of the country."

Speaking of trusts, Mr. Roosevelt says.

"The first thing to do is to find out the facts, and for this purpose publicity as to capitalization, profits and all else of importance to the public is the most useful measure. The mere fact of this publicity would in itself remedy certain evils, and, as to the others, it would in some cases point out the remedies and would at least enable us to tell whether or not certain proposed remedies would be useful. The state acting in its collective capacity would thus first find out the facts and then be able to take such measures as wisdom dictated. Much can be done by taxation. Even more can be done by regulation, by close supervision and the unsparing excision of all unhealthy, destructive and antisocial elements. The separate state governments can do a great deal, and where they decline to co-operate the national government must step in."

Concerning expansion, he says:

"In 1803, under President Jefferson, the greatest single stride in expansion that we ever took was taken by the purchase of the Louisiana territory. This so called Louisiana, which included what are now the states of Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Idaho, Montana and a large part of Colorado and Utah, was acquired by treaty and purchase under President Jefferson exactly and precisely as the Philippines have been acquired by treaty and purchase under President McKinley.

"The parallel between what Jefferson did with Louisiana and what is now being done in the Philippines is exact. Jefferson, the author of the Declaration of Independence and of the 'consent of the governed' doctrine, saw no incongruity between this and the establishment of a government on common sense grounds in the new territory, and he railed at the sticklers for an impossible application of his principle.

"Properly speaking, the question is now the acquisition of Florida. This was partly acquired by conquest and partly by purchase, Andrew Jackson being the most prominent figure in the acquisition. Our next acquisition of territory was that of Texas, secured by treaty after it had been wrested from the Mexicans by the Texans themselves. Then came the acquisition of California, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and parts of Colorado and Utah as the result of the Mexican war. Then came the acquisition of Alaska, secured from Russia by treaty and purchase. Nearly 30 years passed before the next instance of expansion occurred, which was over the Island of Hawaii.

"When we expanded over New Mexico and California, we secured free government to these territories and prevented their falling under the "militarism" of a dictatorship like that of Santa Anna or the "imperialism" of a real empire in the days of Maximilian. We put a stop to imperialism in Mexico as soon as the civil war closed.

"The next great step in expansion was not whether we shall expand—for we have already expanded—but whether we shall contract. The Philippines are now part of American territory. To surrender them would be to surrender American territory. They must, of course, be governed primarily in the interests of their own citizens. Our first care must be for the people of the islands which have come under our guardianship as a result of the most righteous foreign war that has been waged within the memory of the present generation. They must be administered in the interests of their inhabitants, and that necessarily means that any question of personal or partisan politics in their administration must be entirely eliminated. We must continue to put at the heads of affairs in the different islands such men as General Wood, Governor Allen and Judge Taft, and it is a most fortunate thing that we are able to illustrate what ought to be done in the way of sending officers thither by pointing out what actually has been done."

DAVIES REPLIES TO LEE.

Attorney General Claims Ice Trust Has Hindered His Investigation.

ALBANY, Sept. 17.—Attorney General Davies has written a letter to Professor Duncan Campbell Lee of Cornell university, who introduced the anti-ice trust resolution at the Democratic state convention, in which he takes exception to the phrase which made this declaration "demand that the Republican attorney general proceed with diligence for the legal destruction of the said trust" and in which he demonstrates by an appended record of his department what he believes to have been unusual activity in prosecuting said trust.

The record taken from the registers of the attorney general's office shows that on May 10 formal application was made to commence action to annul the charter and preliminary hearing had on that date in New York city; May 17, formal hearing at Albany and five days allowed for filing briefs; May 26, application granted; May 28, secured an order from Justice Chase appointing referee and ordering witnesses to attend; May 29, order served on President Morse and hearing adjourned until June 1; Morse failing to appear, an order was issued requiring him to show cause; June 1, Justice Andrews granted a show cause order why the order of references should not be vacated and made returnable June 5; June 2, Justice Herrick granted alternative writs of prohibition and the late Justice Smyth to show cause order why the order of reference should not be vacated all returnable June 9 at Albany; adjournment on June 9 to June 13, when adjournments were had; June 27, Justice Chester's decision was rendered; July 3 notice of appeal from orders filed by ice company; July 4, stay served; July 6 stay served on attorney general in writs of prohibition; July 20, application made by attorney general to vacate all stays denied; Aug. 16, notice of motion served for an order dismissing appeals to the appellate division; Sept. 4, court set Sept 14 as date for hearing arguments, which will be finished up next Friday.

The attorney general contends that the record of his department discloses that the ice combine has refused to meet the proceedings upon its merit, but on the contrary has hampered his department at every step with writs of prohibition stays and appeals.

Van Wyck Gets Another Extension

ALBANY, Sept. 17.—The extension of time granted to Mayor Van Wyck of New York city in which to file his answer relative to the charges made against him of holding stock in the so called ice trust expired Saturday at the noon hour. Nothing was filed by the mayor, however. Although the governor has not granted a further extension of time to the mayor, it is understood that the attorney general has done so to the extent of another 15 days. This will give his honor until the 29th inst. in which to file his answer.

Clark Backs Baseball Scheme.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 17.—August Koch, who tried last year to purchase the Detroit League club, and Joseph O'Brien, who was a candidate for the secretaryship of the American Association of Baseball Clubs, are on their way to Philadelphia for the purpose of making another effort to organize the association for next season. The plan is to have the circuit comprise the cities of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Detroit, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. It is said that Alderman Charles Havenor of Milwaukee is to own the Chicago team, Gus Koch the Philadelphians and McGraw the Baltimore club. Ex-Senator Clark of Montana is said to be one of the principal backers of the scheme.

To Inspect Standard Oil's Books.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 17.—Attorney General Smyth has filed a new motion in the supreme court for an order upon the Standard Oil company to permit an inspection of the books of the company, including the list of stockholders, stock book and ledger, the minutes of the company from the time of its organization to the present, also the books showing the shipment of oil by the defendant company to Nebraska and the sources from which this oil was shipped. The motion asks that the defendant be required to indicate where in Nebraska the defendant will permit the attorney general to inspect the books and papers and take a copy thereof.

The American Transvaal League.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 17.—President M. H. Walker of the local branch of the American Transvaal league and Sybrant Wesselling, chairman of the general organization committee, have issued a call for a meeting of representatives of the various branches to take place in Chicago Sept. 29 and 30. The object is to complete organization and co-operate with the South African Afrikander bund. The principal offices are located in Chicago, New York, Grand Rapids and San Francisco.

The Knights Templar Relief Fund.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—William H. Mayo, grand recorder of the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States, wants it known by all grand and subordinate commanderies throughout the United States that the address of Hon. Henry B. Stoddard, deputy grand master, is Houston instead of Galveston, to whom all funds are to be sent by New York exchange instead of by wire, as heretofore advised.

Twenty-one Fishing Schooners Lost.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 17.—Seven fishing schooners have gone ashore at Conche, on the French treaty coast; four at Englee, three at Griquet, five at Croc and seven at Quirpon. All are likely to go to pieces. About 40 others have been more or less seriously damaged by the storm. Fortunately no lives were lost, as all the vessels were in port at the time, and the crews escaped.

Suit For Bond Interest.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—A suit involving $1,500,000 has been filed in the United States district court. It is the Central Trust company of New York against the United States Flour Milling company, incorporated under the laws of the state of New Jersey and doing business in various parts of the country. The suit is brought because of default of interest on bonds.

FERRYBOAT IN COLLISION.

Pennsylvania's New Brunswick Hit by a Steam Yacht.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company's fast ferryboat New Brunswick, in command of Captain Dan Tuttle, just after leaving her slip at the foot of Cortlandt street, North river, for Jersey City was run into by a steam yacht, the name of which could not be seen. No person was injured on board the ferryboat, but great excitement prevailed until the passengers were assured of the safety of the vessel.

The yacht was bound down the river at a good speed when the New Brunswick poked her nose out from behind the Starin pier, which hid her from view. Signals were exchanged, but before the vessels could be stopped the yacht had struck the New Brunswick amidships, making a hole ten feet in diameter in the ferryboat's side above the water line. When the yacht got clear, it was seen that her stem was badly stove in, her foremast cut away and her mainmast broken above the masthead. The New Brunswick lay by until it was seen that the yacht was in no danger, then went to Jersey City. The yacht proceeded down the river.

Costa Rica's Claim Upheld.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The minister of Costa Rica at Washington, Senor Calvo, has received a cablegram from the minister of Costa Rica at Paris which conveys the information that the president of the French republic, M. Loubet, who was the arbitrator appointed to decide the boundary question between Costa Rica and Colombia, by his award has fixed the boundary limit between the two countries in the Atlantic side at Mona Point (or Point Carrets) and in the Pacific side at Punta Burica. The republic of Colombia claimed that the limit should be fixed at Cape Gracias-a-Dios, in the Atlantic, including the whole of Costa Rica and Nicaragua Atlantic coast, and that the limit on the Pacific side should be placed at Borucs river, to the northwest of Golfo Dulce, which would have given Colombia a right to half the territory of Costa Rica and about two-thirds of that of Nicaragua. The award fixes the boundary line in the Pacific side at Punta Burica, as claimed by Costa Rica, and in the Atlantic denies the right of Colombia to any part of the territory of Nicaragua or any portion of that of Costa Rica beyond Mona Point.

Barbour's Companion Discovered.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Helen Southgate, the adopted daughter of the late Bishop Horatio Southgate of the Protestant Episcopal church, was the young woman who went to the St. Charles hotel in Brooklyn on Thursday night with Henry Grosvenor Barbour, son of the Rev. Henry M. Barbour of the Church of the Beloved Disciple, in East Eighty-ninth street, and was in a room with that young man when he killed himself. Miss Southgate permitted Barbour to shoot her first, having decided that she was perfectly willing to die with him, and before he aimed his pistol at himself at all he sent a bullet into the girl's left breast close to the heart. The girl did not lose consciousness. As she was lying perfectly quiet on the bed she saw Barbour place the muzzle of the revolver in his own mouth and pull the trigger. Then she got up, dressed herself, held a conversation with the porter and finally slipped out of the hotel and rode almost two miles on a trolley car to the home of her aunt, where she went to bed. It was not until the loss of blood began to weaken her and the fear of death came over her that she summoned aid.

Labor Unions on the Increase.

ALBANY, Sept. 17.—The quarterly bulletin of the state bureau of labor statistics issued for the quarter ended June 30 shows an increase of 151 unions, the largest quarterly increase yet recorded. The gain in membership was 15,069. At the close of the quarter there were 1,603 labor organizations in the state with an aggregate membership of 247,602. The number of organized working women was 10,762, which is an increase of 40 per cent within the past year. Owing to extended stoppages of work caused by strikes for higher wages and by the advance in the price of building materials the number of unemployed members of labor organizations in the second quarter exceeded the small number in the same quarter last year.

More Millions From Alaska.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 17.—W. A. Baer, a mining engineer of this city, has just returned from Dawson. He says that, according to the latest information in the possession of the gold commissioner's office at Dawson, royalty will be paid this season on $16,000,000. The actual clean up will be $9,000,000 more. Just before Baer left Dawson encouraging reports had come from Stewart river placers, 200 miles distant, and that another exodus to that river had taken place. Good reports have also come from Little Salmon, and great results are confidently anticipated.

Minister Changes His Creed.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Rev. B. J. Morgan, a Presbyterian minister who served several charges in this state, has withdrawn from the Presbyterian church owing to a change of theological views. Mr. Morgan has become a member of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, this city. It is expected that he will be licensed as a local preacher in St. Paul's church during the coming week and eventually join the New York conference.

Good Government League to Meet.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 17.—The Milwaukee conference of the National Municipal League For Good City Government will bring together a large number of prominent officials from Wisconsin and Minnesota during the three days' session, from Sept. 19 to 21. Famous Race Horse Collapses.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Lieutenant Gibson, the great 3-year-old who was the short favorite in the American Derby and for whom $20,000 was refused by Charles Head Smith, has broken down completely. Mr. Smith said he would be retired to the stud and as soon as possible will be shipped to Lexington, Ky.

British Considering Transfer of Additional Troops.

Russian Legation Moves From Capital to Tien-tsin—Americans Build Permanent Telegraph Line. Von Ketteler's Assassin Shot.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—In connection with the prediction by Sir Robert Hart that there will be further hostilities in China in November the press understands that the British government is already considering the transfer of troops from South Africa to India in order to make it practicable to send more British troops to China. The military authorities consider the war in South Africa so far ended that troops may now be safely moved.

It is probable that the Russian legation has already been removed from Peking to Tien-tsin, but there is no definite news as yet as to whether Li Hung Chang will after all go to Peking.

General Dorward is going to the capital, leaving the British troops at Tien-tsin under command of Brigadier General Horne Campbell. Vice Admiral Alexieff has returned to Taku.

The Americans have begun at Ho-siwu a permanent telegraph line between Peking and Tien-tsin.

The Peking correspondent of The Daily News says that the assassin of Baron von Ketteler has been shot. The Morning Post's representative there says that the question is being discussed of sending relief to a few British, French and American engineers who are besieged in a city 200 miles south of Peking.

Shanghai advices say that a house has been engaged there for Count von Waldersee, who is expected to arrive next Saturday. Chinese officials estimate that 20,000 disbanded Chinese soldiers by the simple expedient of turning their coats managed to remain behind in Peking. Other dispatches confirm the report that in addition to Hsu Tung, guardian of the heir apparent; Yu Lu, viceroy of Chili, and Wang Yi Yung, president of the Imperial academy, with 200 members of official families, committed suicide when the allies entered Peking.

Dispatches from Peking state that the allied generals were in conference four hours yesterday, the principal topic being how best to encourage the Chinese to return to work. It was agreed that looting should cease and that foraging parties should hereafter be accompanied by an officer, who should give receipts for all supplies taken.

The question of wintering at Tien-tsin was brought up with a view of ascertaining if possible the attitude of the Russians. General Linevitch admitted that most of his troops would winter there.

Colonel Whitside's Annual Report.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Sept. 17.—The annual report of Colonel Samuel M. Whitside, commander of the military department of Santiago and Puerto Principe, which has just appeared, is probably the most complete report of its kind prepared by any American commander in Cuba. It gives a full account of the civil and military events that have occurred in this important department during the last fiscal year and is replete with statistics of the products, mineral resources and exports of the region. It contains extensive data as to the troops here, the Eighth and Tenth United States cavalry and the Tenth United States infantry, including something like 150 officers and 2,500 men. Important recommendations are made by Colonel Whitside regarding civil questions, based on his experience during the year. These he supports by emphasizing the fact that this usually turbulent section of Cuba has during the last 12 months been almost absolutely quiet. The excellent sanitary conditions prevailing are shown by the absence of epidemic diseases for nine months and even at a time when yellow fever is prevalent in other parts of the island. Colonel Whitside reports that there are 165,000 school children in the department. To them he looks for the future of the district.

Pennsylvania's Industrial Statistics.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—A compilation of the annual returns to the state bureau of industrial statistics shows that in 1899 Pennsylvania produced 6,542,998 gross tons of pig iron, the value of which was nearly $100,000,000. An average of 15,347 workmen were employed during the year in the making of pig iron, the average yearly earnings of skilled and unskilled labor being $495.18. Pennsylvania produced 6,446,159 gross tons of steel of all kinds in 1899, or over 60 per cent of the production of the United States. The number of workmen employed in the steel industry of the state independent of those employed in the rolling of black plate was 69,982, their average yearly earnings being $559. The aggregate value of the 331,083,734 pounds of tin and terne plate produced by the 25 establishments in Pennsylvania last year was $12,165,879. Twenty-three companies produced pig iron in 1899, Allegheny heading the list with a production of 3,278,420 tons.

May Change Emergency Ration.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17.—The emergency ration board of the war department has begun in this city the preparation for a test to determine what shall be the new emergency ration for the United States army in the field. Two thousand rations of a combination of foods which the board has decided to test will be made by a local packing company, and then an actual emergency march will be made in Oklahoma and Indian Territory by a troop of cavalry from Fort Sill and Fort Reno, the men eating only the food prepared of which the board has decided to make a trial. The experiment may result in a complete change in the feeding of the American soldier during activity in the field.

Princeton Football.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 17.—Everything is ready for the football candidates to begin practice, and about 30 candidates are now here. It has been learned that Langdon Lea, head coach of last year's eleven, will be here this week to assist Captain Pell in coaching the candidates before going on to the University of Michigan to direct the coaching there. Trainer Robinson will begin training the players immediately.

Poughkeepsie Man Killed.

SARATOGA, Sept. 17.—James Sullivan of Poughkeepsie was mangled to death by a Delaware and Hudson train at Ingerson's crossing, north of this place, before daylight yesterday.

The Striking Miners.

It is a truthful saying that in taking a position on any matter upon which there may be a disagreement among men, everything tends upon the point of view. Believing this to be so, we would suggest that those who are not troubled about securing the material things of life for the morrow try to loose their identity for a few minutes and imagine themselves in the place of one of the lowly and poor miners who have gone out on the strike in the Pennsylvania coal region.

First of all, make yourself believe that you are working ten and twelve long hours in the bowels of the earth, blasting digging and shoveling coal day after day without hope of advancement. Your hands are calloused, your body begrimed with dirt and dust and your clothing of the roughest and cheapest that money can purchase. Somewhere about the mine you know you have sons—not yet out of their teens—who are laboring long and steadily the same as you are. Mere boys they are, and you know they should be at school.

At the noon hour you stop your laborious work long enough to open a tin dinner pail in which are, probably, three or four slices of bread, a piece of cold meat, a hunk of cheese and cold coffee enough to wash it down with a gulp. After eating this lunch you resume your work for another five or six hours. Then comes quitting time for the day.

You go to what is called your home. It is a little wooden shanty, the same in size and build as probably two dozen others perched together on a little ridge not far from the opening to the mine from which you have just emerged. The floor is bare; there is a table and a few chairs in the room used jointly as kitchen, dining room and parlor. Your wife, attired in the cheapest goods to be bought in the town store, brews your cup of tea and sets the table for supper. It is a frugal meal in all that the word implies.

Later you light your pipe and take up a position on the narrow steps that lead from the dingy front yard to your hovel-like home. There you smoke and "take life easy" until bed time—and that comes early as a result of the severe toil which you have undergone through the day. Then you go to bed. You sleep until dawn of day, then up with the chipper of birds, wash your face in a tin basin, partake of your breakfast and off to work you go again with that dinner pail filled with bread, meat, cheese and coffee.

That is the life that you live from day to day. And yet there is one variation. That comes on pay day—every two weeks if the company obeys the law or once a month if they defy the law, as many of them do. On this day—the brightest of the month in one sense—you get an envelope. It may contain $15, $20, $25 or $30.

Now that you have got your month's pay, Mr. Plainfielder, shake off this role of imagining that you are a miner, but still hold that $15, $20, $25 or $30 and set your brain at work and try to figure out how far any one of these sums would go towards satisfying the necessities of life as you look upon them from your own point of view.

Do you, honestly, think that the miner has no grievance, that he is getting enough pay, that he has no right to complain, that, in view of the refusal of his bosses to consider his lot in the work-a-day world, he has no business to strike?

Arbitrate you may say. Yes, that is what should be done. But it takes two to arbitrate. The miners are willing to settle their grievances in this manner, but, let it be known, the operators refuse to acquiese in any such plan. Arbitration, if fairly carried on, will be good for both sides, but from all that appears thus far the mine owners seem bound to monopolize all the good for their own selfish interests.

The miners have suffered long, they have sought time and time again for relief from the operators. But the operators refuse to treat with the miners—except individually, and everyone must know that such a method would result in absolutely no betterment of the miner's condition.

Strikes are disastrous; they are to be deplored; they cause untold inconvenience to the great public and much suffering to the participants. But the strikers are men—with souls, sentiment and ambition—and if you, Mr. Plainfielder, was in the same position as they are we imagine that you would be doing just exactly the same as the strikers themselves are doing.

Noting that the city of Elizabeth has been promised good water, with some prospects of getting it, the Newark Call makes these terse and very proper comments: "We would suggest to the Supreme Court Judge for the Union Circuit that failure by the water company to immediately provide pure and wholesome water to the people should be punished by the indictment and conviction of each and all of the principal officers of the company. The crime may be anything from manslaughter down. While there may be excuses for cities owning their plants and failing to provide for the future, no such sin of omission should occur in a private company furnishing water, and wrong perpetrated should be adequately punished. A private company acting in a public capacity should be made to appreciate its responsibilities. It is probable that where disease resulted from foul water furnished by a private company, a suit for damages could be maintained. Certainly, criminal proceedings on behalf of the public would be fully justified. The State of New Jersey has suffered enough in its pocket from such concerns, and they should not be allowed to distribute poison under contract with the public."

The pink carnation is to be a badge of the Republican National campaign. The pink carnation is President McKinley's favorite flower, and this fact induced J. R. Nevitt, of Washington, to write to Perry S. Heath, chairman of the National campaign press committee, suggesting that it be declared the Republican party's National emblem for this campaign. Mr. Heath immediately referred the matter to Chairman Hanna and he approved the selection. Democrats will hereafter taboo the pink carnation.

The combined funds for the relief of the Galveston sufferers now amounts to $1,500,000. That amount will be increased each day for some time by large contributions. For the aid of the victims of the Johnstown disaster $2,000,000 was raised. But the Galveston hurricane and flood was far worse than the fate that befell the Pennsylvania town, and the relief that will be afforded the unfortunate Texans will doubtless be in proportion to their losses.

Senator Braun of Passaic county has positively declared that he will not accept a renomination, which leaves the way open for some ambitious Democrat to run against Former Assemblyman Wood McKee, who is said to be sure of the Republican nomination. It is understood that nothing political short of the nomination for Governor will satisfy Senator Braun.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A bright little lad whose home is in the borough went with his mother to call at another home in North Plainfield a few days ago. The youngster has been quite quick to pick up the different slang expressions and has a pretty fair understanding of their meaning. To entertain the lad, the hostess proposed that she should show him her scrap book.

"Is that a kind of fighting book?" demanded the lad who evidently knew more about scraps than scrapbooks. The difference was promptly explained to him.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 17. The Watchung Water Company has completed one of the two new reservoirs that the company has had in course of construction. They are located on the mountain back of Dunellen, and when the two are finished they will add greatly to the facilities of furnishing water. A great deal has been said of late about the Mayor and Council accepting the forty-five hydrants about the borough. They have practically been accepted, but there seems to be some misunderstanding between the company and the officials. It is the intention of the water company to make many improvements at their plant in the near future. The plant used for lighting the borough is to be transferred to Metuchen, and from that place nearly all of Middlesex county will be lighted. The light company which is known as the Central Electric Company are gradually preparing for this change. Light will then be furnished to Metuchen, Rahway, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Perth Amboy and a number of other places. By making the change the machinery at Green Brook will be used entirely for the pumping of water to supply the various boroughs and towns in this vicinity. In the course of time additional reservoirs will probably be built and thus the system will be extended beyond its present territory.

Rev. Mr. Sproul, of Englishtown, who is one of several ministers being considered for the pastorate of the Presbyterian church, preached in that church yesterday. His sermons were interesting and helpful. It is believed that in the near future a pastor will be selected from the list of those who have been heard.

George Smith, a former resident of the borough, but now of Newark, has decided to return and take up his residence in this place. His house is now occupied by Lloyd Nelson and family, and they will move to the house occupied by Mr. Wirtz The latter has not yet decided where he will move to.

The work of laying the water main for the fire hydrant to be located near the borough and city line is completed and the hydrant will be erected this week. This will give the residents in that vicinity the much-needed fire protection that they are entitled to.

A brass band traveling about in the interest of the State Fair visited the borough Saturday afternoon. It drew a large crowd of young people and many older ones, and the programme was a source of enjoyment to all.

The remains of Alfred Cotrelly are still at the late home. They will be taken to New Rochelle tomorrow morning for interment. The Masonic lodge of which Mr. Cotrelly was a member will have charge of the services.

Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening and initiate one candidate. This Council is increasing steadily in membership and a lively winter is being planned for.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyman, of Cincinnati, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, have left town to visit friends and relatives elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Wilson, of New Brunswick, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. Wilson's father, John Y. Wilson.

Louis Churchill, who has been summering at Ocean Grove, has returned to the borough, where he will remain for a time.

The many friends of John Milliken and family will be sorry to learn that they are to take up their residence at Belle Mead.

Mrs. Fred Schomp and son have been visiting Mrs. Schomp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westphal, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Nancy Thomas and family have returned from Ocean Grove, where they have been spending the summer.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 17.—Justice Storms issued a summons Saturday in the landlord and tenant case of Salome Schnedecker against Theodore Glazer, Jr., which is returnable next Thursday. He also issued execution papers in the contract case of Theodore R. Hodge against Anna Brikoff, judgment in which was given August 28th. The Justice issued a warrant for the arrest of Martin Brennan on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Maggie Brennan, who charges assault and battery. Constable Polhemus served the above papers late Saturday afternoon.

From October 15th the water will be out of the pond for four days, as previously stated. While the water is out, John Otto, the miller, will make some repairs about his mill. It is the intention of J. Y. Wilson, the ice dealer, to build a dock and a road about his houses so that horses and wagons can pass around. It will also help him in the harvesting of ice.

George Pyatt, the faithful watchman at the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing, has been given three days off this week. He will be away Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and will enjoy the time in the country visiting relatives.

Edward Johnson, Dan. Moody and Theodore Roantree went gigging Friday night. They caught seven eels, some catfish and a bull-frog. The legs of the latter measured a trifle over thirteen inches.

William Winges, who cut his foot a few days ago with an axe, is not troubled much with the injury, and is able to work every day.

Miss Eva Ingham, of Plainfield, who has been visiting her grandparents, Justice and Mrs. Storms, has returned home.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 17.—The recently organized Republican Club will meet in Excelsior Hall tomorrow evening for the purpose of considering plans for the coming campaign. All Republicans voters not already enrolled as members of the club are asked to attend the meeting and join the club.

But little effort was made Saturday evening by the conductors on the trolley to curb the enthusiasm of those who were returning from the Republican clam bake held at Gibson Grove, near Picton. The result was the crowd about owned the cars and made life and riding very unpleasant for other passengers especially the ladies who were unfortunate enough to be on the cars.

The Democratic voters in town are considering the advisability of starting a Bryan and Stevenson campaign club. If the plan is carried out Fanwood township will no doubt see the most exciting campaign the town has had in years.

Richard Malone, of New York, has been visiting at the home of his uncle, Col. Stegman, of Stout avenue.

A number of local ball players journeyed to Cranford yesterday afternoon to cross bats with a team from that place. Scotch Plains won the game, the score being 9 to 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company will hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wambold, of Springfield, were the guests Sunday of Mrs. James Buckley.

Miss Clara Force, of Plainfield, was the guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Buckley.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, September 17.—McDonough Brothers have their ice houses about empty. They will have to buy some for their fall trade. They intend building two now rooms this winter.

Sylvester Randolph is doing some extensive repairing on the big barn of Harris & TenEyck. The frame is giving way and it has to be supported with heavy iron bolts and rods.

The schoolhouse is again tied up and will remain so until the lumber for floor beams shows up. It has been shipped but the car has been lost.

Frank Miller is out again after being laid up for a week with a very sore hand. He cut it while working on the ice wagon.

—Mothers endorse it, children like it, old folks use it. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. It will quickly cure all throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

LITERARY.

Minister Wu Ting Fang will present in the October Century "A plea for Fair Treatment" in behalf of his fellow-countrymen. This is one of a half dozen articles in the same magazine, in which the Chinese question will be treated, directly or indirectly. Bishop Potter writes on "Chinese Traits and Western Blunders"—the first of a series of travel sketches and studies.

INTER-STATAE FAIR AT TRENTON.

September 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

The great Inter-State Fair will be held on September 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28, on the Fair Grounds, three miles east of Trenton, N. J., on the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. As in previous years, every department will be replete with superior and instructive displays. The blooded stock exhibit will be particularly fine, and the daily programme of races contains the speediest classes obtainable. Automobile races will be novel and exciting.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will sell excursion tickets to the Fair Grounds, including coupon of admission, at greatly reduced rates from stations within a wide radius, and special trains over the New York, Belvidere and Amboy Divisions will be run through to the grounds, thus avoiding street-car transfer. The management of the Fair has put forth extraordinary efforts to make this year's exhibition even greater than last year's record-breaking display. 9 17 20 25

Where Beer Comes High on Sunday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, Sept. 17.—John Gerba was fined $20 last Thursday by Recorder Ward for giving away beer on Sunday. To give a person a drink is as great an offence as to sell one under the Perth Amboy excise ordinance.

—The full choir resumed work at the First Presbyterian church yesterday.

—A fine assortment of peaches, Bartlett pears and plums will be found at Neuman Bros, tomorrow.

—White peaches, so much desired for canning, are now coming in. J. A. Smith & Bro. have a fine stock to select from.

HOSIERY.

New Ideas In Stockings to Accompany Fancy Shoes.

Several years ago an attempt was made to introduce spotted stockings which met with ill success. This year the effort has been repeated with more prosperous results, for stockings adorned with dots of various sizes have been accepted as one of the agreeable novelties of the season. The dots are sometimes no larger than a pin's head, and from that they appear in graduated sizes up to spots as large as a 5 cent piece. They are white or black on a white, black or colored ground, and the prettiest are those which are printed, although there are silk embroidered dots also.

Another novelty in stockings is the checked design in black and white or colors, the regular checkerboard pattern being used. The squares, like the dots, are of all sizes, ranging from the very small, almost invisible style to three-quarter inch size.

Today's illustration shows a costume of coral red crepe de chine. The skirt is plaited and is made over a lower skirt of red taffeta. The upper part of the bodice is of guipure over white satin, while the lower part consists of a horizontal drapery of red crepe de chine which passes under the arms and is caught up in front by a large bow of black mousseline de soie. The sleeves are of guipure over white satin. The hat of draped mousseline de soie is trimmed with an ostrich plume.

FASHION HINTS.

Suggestions as to What Styles Are to Come.

Gold embroidery will be much worn upon the collars and cuffs of jackets this winter. A black coat, for example, will have collar and cuffs of colored cloth thus embroidered.

The corselet is gradually growing in favor again and appears on many of the newest models of gowns, showing a revulsion from the extremely narrow, straplike belts which have been worn of late.

Boleros enjoy undiminished favor. The newest have no basque and cling to the

One of the latest skirt models has a tunic reaching almost to the foot and opening in front in the redingote style to show the tablier.

The last word with regard to lace dresses has not yet been said. The illustration shows a princess gown entirely of guipure made over maize taffeta. The sleeves are of guipure, and the upper part of the bodice is cut in a point, showing a collar and guimpe of plaited mousseline de soie. A scarf of mousseline de soie is drawn across the back and under the arms and is fastened in front by a mousseline chou, from which two long ends fall almost to the foot. The guipure sleeves are of half length and are completed by full puffs of mousseline de soie.

CLOTHING IN CHINA.

Four-Fifths of the Garments Worn Are Made of Cotton.

They Card, Spin and Weave It at Home—Where They Get the Raw Material — Vast Economic Changes Predicted.

[Special Hinghua (China) Letter.]

IT IS safe to say that four-fifths of the clothing worn by the Chinese is cotton. The Mongolian wears it literally "from the cradle to the grave." Rich and poor, high and low, dress in cotton clothes. The rich man may have a silk robe on, but his underclothing is of cotton. Of wool, he will have none of it. He says "it blisters" him.

The importance of this fact in its bearing upon America's great cotton growing and cotton manufacturing industries can scarcely be over-estimated. Here are over 300,000,000 people, our next-door neighbors, furnishing an insatiable market for one of our most overworked lines of production. Connect the cotton producing states with the far east by an isthmian canal and open the interior with its vast populations under an enlightened government, and it will be scarcely possible ever again to glut the cotton market of America.

Where do they get it now? It is grown chiefly in the Yangtse valley. Compared with the American article, the best is poor. The fiber is short. It grows low and stunted, and the carding is done by hand. A bow with a string, held up by a stick tied to the workman's back running from his waist to a foot or more above his head, and a wooden mallet, are his tools. By working hard he can beat ten pounds a day.

The beaten cotton is made into little rolls about 18 inches long. The cost of this carding process is about one cent a pound. The shops retail the carded cotton. It is safe to say that at least three-fourths of the cotton clothing worn by the Chinese is homespun. These little rolls are spun into yarn one thread at a time by the women and girls in their homes. A woman can spin from three to five ounces a day, and earn about one cent. That is what would be called "sweating" by certain social reformers in America. But in China it is nothing of the kind. These women are making their own clothes, and those of their family. They have plenty of time and no money. They use their large leisure in that way. The woman operatives in the cotton mills in Shanghai are paid ten times that and can live comfortably on their wages.

It seems like ages ago, but it is not so very long, since our great-grandmothers spun and wove the clothes for their husbands and brothers. The century that is about to die has seen the birth of this and nearly all the great industrial enterprises that have so revolutionized our social conditions. And a century is a trifling period of time in the orient.

Their tools are, of course, of the most primitive and cheapest kind. The spindle is simply a wheel of bamboo spokes about two feet in diameter, turned by the right hand. A string belt turns the little spindle, and the roll of cotton held in the left hand is drawn out and twisted into a rather coarse and uneven yarn.

When one watches this process of spinning one thread at a time and thinks of the countless mass of humanity that is being clothed in this way, it gives hm a vivid conception of the accumulative power of little things.

The loom is of wood, clumsy and heavy; but they use it with such skill and industry, and labor is so cheap, that they can successfully compete with machinery in weaving, and at the same time make a living wage. A good weaver will make 14 yards of cloth a day, when the yarn is in the loom, but it is not possible to average that, for it takes one-third of the weaver's time to place the yarn in the loom.

The dyeing is mostly with indigo, which is raised in large quantities in South China. The men's clothes are plain blue or black. The black is simply indigo in larger quantities. This plain blue or black homespun cotton cloth is the universal clothing of the Chinese peasantry during the cool weather. Those who can afford it wear white in summer time. They also weave white and blue together, the warp of one color and woof of the other, making a pepper and salt cloth that is quite common. Figured cloth is also worn by children, but not much by adults. It is stamped by the dyer. The women of this region are fond of bright red for dress-up occasions, and bright green is also a popular and comparatively expensive color. A curious method is used to dye this color. One day's journey north of Hinghua is a stream that has some peculiar mineral properties that cause the indigo blue to turn bright green. Cloth is carried there from Amoy overland, a four days' journey, to be dyed. As far as is known this is the only stream that has these properties. Doubtless a little knowledge of chemistry applied to the problem would soon reveal the secret, and make it possible to do it artificially, thus avoiding the expense of long carrying overland and breaking up the monopoly of this neighborhood.

In cold weather coats and trousers, double and lined with cotton wadding, take the place of the heavy woolens worn by western nations. This is very much cheaper than wool. It is clumsy, of course, but that does not inconvenience the wearer, for his clothes hang so loose upon him that there is ample room. I am assured that it is no uncommon thing for persons who can afford it to wear as high as a dozen coats in cold weather, of which two or three are cotton-lined. There are no fires for heating houses in South China, and the doors are always open; so the Chinese when cold simply add a coat. When too warm they take one off. The loose cut of the garments makes this a simple matter. If in a company, and it is not desirable to remove the outer garment, by a little dextrous pulling and shifting of arms the surplus undergarment is pulled out of one of the ample sleeves.

As to the future, it is in every degree probable that in time much less homespun will be worn, and machine spun and woven cloth will take its place. There is a steady increase of cotton goods imported from America and India, especially of the lower grades of cloth. The literary classes wear foreign cloth for outside garments almost entirely now. They prefer homespun for underclothing, because it is heavier, and hence warmer. Yarn is being imported from India in great quantities. During the past three years several large mills have been erected in Shanghai for spinning yarn. They can sell their yarn as fast as they can spin it, but their expenses are so heavy, owing to the high prices of coal prevailing in the east, and the large advance of wages in Shanghai, that they have been a failure financially so far. When the interior is opened and made safe by a stable government, similar establishments can utilize the immense water power of the Tangtse and other rivers, and with the wages of rural districts can then compete with any rivals. The woman with the distaff will gradually disappear. She will buy the yarn and weave it.

As the country opens wages will advance, garments will be less abbreviated and less patched by the laborer, a finer quality of cloth will be demanded by the middle classes. The quantity of raw material consumed will be increased, as well as a better grade of goods called for.

Whatever may be the political changes the future has in store for this most ancient of empires, we may safely predict the undisputed and uninterrupted reign of King Cotton.

An Ornamental Lamp Shade.

Did it ever strike you that with an old parasol cover and a little cheap lace you can make a charming lamp shade for your own special sanctum? If the silk is dirty scrub it with soap and water, rinsing it afterward before you take it off the frame. If you don't possess a frame for the shade, get a length of fairly strong wire and twist one for yourself. It is quite easy to do if you have another one at which you can peep for a guide, and it is wonderful how a pretty lamp shade improves the look of one's room.

PETTICOAT COLONELS

Royal Ladies of Europe Who Don Regimentals.

Queens and Princesses Lead Troops, Participate in Drills, and Ride with Skill and Grace—Kings Are Poor Horsemen.

It is not generally known that most of the royal ladies of Europe are colonels of both infantry and cavalry regiments, and that some of them even devote a good deal of time and attention to their subordinate soldiers. Nearly all of them, when arrayed in their regimental garb, seem to lose every vestige of feminine appearance, and at a distance they certainly look very mannish.

Foremost among the feminine royal colonels is the German empress. Her majesty is chief of the famous First regiment of imperial cuirassiers. Often on parade days the empress may be seen riding at the head of this military body, and, after saluting the emperor, rein in beside him and let the regiments pass. She cuts a dashing figure, as she is tall and well formed. Her regimental uniform is very showy—red facings on a pure white material, surmounted by a three-cornered hat with large, drooping heron's plumes.

Queen Margherita of Italy has grown quite stout of late, and just before King Humbert's assassination ordered a brand new colonel's uniform, in which she appeared at the head of a regiment of Hessian rangers. This royal amazon is very seldom seen on horseback in her own country, but when on a visit to the duchy of Hessia she delights in honoring her regiment, of which she was made an honorary chief by Kaiser Wilhelm, her late husband's most devoted friend and ally.

The kaiser's mother, ex-Empress Frederick, is chief of the Second regiment of imperial hussars. She is perhaps the only royal woman who has retained her feminine looks on horseback. Despite her advanced age she looks quite pretty. She is also commanding officer of the Eightieth infantry, battalions of which are stationed at Homburg and Wiesbaden, within a couple of hours' ride of her summer residence. During her stay there she frequently invites the acting colonel, staff and the line officers to dine with her and discuss regimental matters, and at times she attends the field exercises of her men.

A very manly appearance has the Grand Duchess Victoria of Hess when dressed in her regimentals as colonel of the Third regiment of Hessian infantry. She is very enthusiastic about her soldiers, and does not regard her position as honorary. She is often on the parade ground, even when the regiment is at work. Then she appears in undress uniform, consisting of a dark blue coat, red collar and cuffs, edged with blue, and a heavy black shirt. What gives her a manly appearance more than anything else is her peaked helmet, tightly strapped about her chin.

The Crown Princess Maria of Roumania is another royal female colonel, who considers herself bound to her regiment in more than name. She is the chief of the Fourth regiment of Roumanian hussars. She looks very imposing at the head of her troops, and is a very skillful horsewoman. This petticoat colonel is a woman of versatile talents; she has written voluminously in the sphere of fiction and histrionics. As an amateur actress, both in the German and Roumanian languages, she has displayed wonderful talents, and it is said of her that she is the power behind the throne in Roumania.

Among younger royal female colonels are the Crown Princess Charlotta of Saxe-Meiningen and Princess Adolph of Schaumburg-Lippe. The former is chief of the King Frederick III. regiment of grenadiers, and the latter commands the Fifth Westphalian infantry.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the youngest of all, is chief of a number of Dutch and German regiments. She looks exceedingly pretty in the uniform of a general of the royal horse guards, dark blue, with gold facings, epaulettes and the numerous insignia of rank. Sometimes she appears at the head of her troops riding on her favorite pony "Baby," wearing a white amazon riding habit, with the regulation tall black hat.

It is a curious fact that while nearly all the royal ladies of Europe are superb and picturesque horsewomen, few of the reigning sovereigns are even tolerable riders. Emperor William has not a firm seat, and is at a disadvantage because of his crippled arm, and always mounts with assistance of some kind.

King Humbert of Italy was famous for his falls, the emperor of Russia is not a master of the equestrian art, and the kings of Sweden, Greece and Denmark absolutely abhor riding. The king of Portugal finds no enjoyment when mounted because of his "embonpoint," Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria cannot ride for an hour at a time, and King Alexander of Servia is afraid of horses.

Fox Hunting a Costly Luxury.

Fox hunting comes high in Britain. Some interesting particulars relating to the first cost of the sport were given by Lord Bathurst. There are now 221 packs of foxhounds in the United Kingdom—180 in England, 26 in Scotland and 15 in Ireland, and these packs consist of 8,000 couples of hounds, and they necessitate the employment of 100,000 horses of the value of $35,000,000, involving an outlay of $25,000,000 per annum for their maintenance.

ALL ALIKE.

The thing that is, is the thing that's been,
And the things you see are the things you seen;
And the things that thrill and fill with awe,
Are the same old things you have always saw.

What can you see when at home you lie?
People and things and land and sky;
What, from the eagle's restless wings?
Sky and people and land and things.

If you had one wish, little boy, what then?
"I'd be a man, like other men;"
What, oh man, is your chiefest joy?
"Wishing that I could be a boy."

So, the fellow who stays and the man who goes,
Only exchange their joys and woes;
And the fellow who goes and the man who stays,
Meet at last at the end of the ways.

BOB BURDETTE Takes a Trip Abroad

He Tells of Things That He Sees and Hears in "Sunny Old England."

(Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.)

"AT LAST," I said, "having been a native for more than 50 years, I will know how it feels to be a foreigner!" And as I set my American foot upon English soil I had a large-sized humano tremolo thrill.

Vain hope! This appears to be a voyage of unexpected discoveries. I have left unseen the things I expected to see, and have felt the things I never expected to feel. For, though I tried honestly and tried again and again, on three or four different tacks, I couldn't feel a foreigner in England. For everything I saw belonged to me. I was a part of it all. The last week in America we spent in Cambridge, Lexington, Concord, birthplaces of American liberty. Sailed away saturated with half a century of "home-living" and "home-loving;" lingered at the last in the footprints of the heroes and patriots who died that our country might be, and when we landed in England, why, that was part of the homestead. The love of country that poured out blood like water at Concord—why, our fathers who died there were suckled at the breasts of English mothers. England's greatest wars were ever her civil wars—centuries of fighting through night to light. This is a part of the homestead. "I have a birthright here. How do you like it?" I said to the Older Boy. "Don't know," he said; "I haven't got on yet. This is no more London to me than it is New York." So I knew then it wasn't the fault of my dull age that prohibited the foreign feeling. It must be my lifelong and intense Americanism.

I WORE MY BAGGAGE CHECK ON MY NECK.

"Sunny England."

First place, it wasn't the London welcome I had on the programme. For sunny England had put on her brightest smiles for us. California couldn't have done better. London, under a cloudless sky for a whole week! And one day the thermometer at Greenwich, just to show the American tourists what "way up" English weather is, got out into the sun and gasped "156." How's that for an effete monarchy? Can we do any better in America? I trow not. It was a greeting of superlative home weather. Our welcome was pleasant all round. Customs officer looked into our boxes as a fond mother looks into her boy's trunk to be lovingly sure that he has everything he needs before she closes it, and sends him away with a "God bless you." Asked man for my train, and he told me to ask the guard. Didn't see any guard, but braced a brakeman. "Guessed right the very first time." Asked him way to place in the train, and he told me to "walk right down the aisle." Didn't see any "aisle," but walked down the platform, and ran into the arms of my family, waiting and waving for me. Guessed right the very next time. Asked for my baggage, and man said my luggage was in the van. Didn't see any van, but walked along the train and found the baggage car. Man assured me that my boxes and bags were in there all right. Could make affidavit that I didn't have bag or box in the world, but took his word for it, and, sure enough, got my trunks and valises when the time came without a particle of trouble. Threw away my French phrase book and German gehaben hapt, and said I was going to learn English instead, it was so much easier, and I can now say: "Have you pens, ink and paper?" without a stammer.

Atrophied Humor.

Have abused English railway system of handling luggage during the past 25 years every time I needed a paragraph to fill up a column. Wonderful, isn't it, how funny and how cleverly sarcastic a man can be about something he doesn't know anything about. That's why a man's humor is said to play out and run flat. As he grows older, and a little wiser, and sees a little deeper, and knows a little more, things don't seem so "funny" to him as they did 20 or 30 years before. Things that I made merry over 25 years ago I now bare my head and bow my heart to. I once wrote the funniest kind of a story about a rickety old hearse and a pair of rawboned horses and a rusty old driver. Make you laugh till you cried for help. Can't see anything funny even in the suggestion now. Sense of humor has atrophied, maybe. Will do that, sometimes. Some things that used to make me roar with merriment now give me the heartache. Used to have as much fun at a funeral as a congressman. But, somehow, do you know, a funeral nowadays is rather a serious and thoughtful affair to me. Must be that they don't have such jolly funerals as they used to. Or else I've lost my faculty for seeing the funny side of things. Frequently hear the youngsters say that I have. Believe I'll wait 35 or 40 years to hear the boys review their own decision. That isn't very long for a man to wait, at my time of life.

"Baggage While You Wait."

Oh, about my luggage? Well, nothing much. We had only five trunks and four pieces of hand baggage, all in the van, as these poor people call the baggage car.

Picked them out of a pile on the platform—baggage of the whole ship, brought up on special train. Porter piled "boxes" on top of two "four-wheelers"—looked like Noah's ark going along Waterloo road—and in 30 minutes family and baggage were in their rooms, unpacking. And it cost, including "tips," $1.84.

Now, in New York the trunks would have followed us in from three to six hours. And the cost would have been $3.85, minimum. Begins to dawn upon me that boy's grandmother really knew how to suck eggs before the boy was born. Must amuse the old lady occasionally, when the boy brings in an egg from the barn, and tells her how it is done. Can't understand, however, why English passenger cars should be coupled with the old-fashioned three-link chain, such as we used in America 30 years ago on freight trains. Must be some reason for it, however. Some reason for appendix vermiformis making human seed pod of itself, too, but the reason doesn't reconcile me to the fact.

I JAMMED MY FOOT INTO THE WATER PITCHER.

"Not Lost, But Left Behind."

Man says: "Baggage very apt to get lost under English system. American system perfectly safe; baggage check good as a bank check." Just about. Have a bank check now, in glass frame at home, face value $150. Sell it for soda check on reliable fountain. Souvenir of $1,200 lecture course in $300 town. Two years ago met F. Hopkinson Smith in Charleston, S. C. The creator of "Col. Carter" was giving lectures and attending receptions and other society functions in brown traveling suit. Trunk lost, with American check on it. Went on down to Jacksonville, Fla. Met Col. Henry Watterson, trying to borrow dress suit to lecture in. Trunk lost with American check on it. My own trunk I had not seen or heard of for a week. When I went before audience nightly, wore my baggage check—41144—on my neck. Check bore same relation to my lost dress suit that bank check does to a man's balance in bank. But baggage check wasn't clothes, and bank check isn't money. All depends. Only lecture on finance I ever delivered. When you see heap of baggage on English platform and say to porter, "That's mine" and he unhesitatingly gives you what you designate, seems to you easiest thing on earth to claim everything and get away with anybody's boxes. But, somehow or other, it doesn't happen that way. American system may be safer. It is certainly hours and hours slower, in spite of the unquestioned fact that we are the livest, hustlingest, speediest, up-to-datest nation on earth. Even the most sensitive American admits that we are all that. "An' the besht of it is," said Mr. Dooley, "we know we are." However, no one man and no one nation knows it all. Not even the youngest.

Anglo-American Advertising.

Learned another thing—advertising in public places isn't exclusively an American abomination. Must have caught that of our mother. More advertisements on one London omnibus than you can find in two miles of Hudson river scenery, illustrated by New York merchants. On front of prominent church full-sheet bills posted, half a dozen of 'em, advertising the parson's books. Good place; all parson's friends sure to see it; no advertising agent find fault with that scheme; don't find fault with it myself; merely mention it that you may remember it next time anybody without an H in his system finds fault with American custom of advertising. Saw more billboard advertisements of "candles" between Southampton and London than I ever saw in the same number of miles of "Battle Ax Plug."

Candles! Haven't seen one since I was a boy until I came to London. Have tried to buy some, on two or three occasions, but couldn't find any in the town. American hotels are lighted by electricity. That's why I tried to buy candles. Wanted to read. Landlord of average hotel has deep-rooted objection to guest reading in room. Fearful of injurying guest's eyes, likely. If man went blind would demand reduced rates because couldn't see dining-room girls. And landlord would charge convention rates because man couldn't see what he was eating. And consequently wouldn't eat it. And hotel loses everything guest eats. Blindness never a real help to hotels. Sometimes sight of dining-room girl takes away appetite. Spectacle of waiter who cleans lamps and assists porter between meals coming down dining-room with thumb in soup has also effect of paralyzing swallowing-thing. Well, anyhow, "hotel newly furnished and refitted throughout, and brilliantly lighted with electricity," puts electric light of three-quarter candle-power in guest's room. Puts it away up in ceiling like distant planet. Man wants to read, hauls washstand under planet, puts chair on top, and sits there, as though he was reading to invisible audience. Was reading thrilling novel in such position one night; just as got to where he was going to kill the duke, chair slipped; fell off in several directions and jammed foot in water pitcher so tightly couldn't get it out. Landlord and clerk came up. Wanted them to get hammer and smash pitcher. Landlord refused; said it would break set, and he couldn't get it duplicated, and suggested that instead of hammer they get ax and amputate foot. Scared me so that got cold feet; foot shrunk, pitcher dropped off, and landlord put item in bill of "two dollars for medical attendance," and one dollar for "misuse of furniture." Electric light way up in ceiling no improvement on candle on table.

Another favorite way of placing electric light in hotel guest-room is to hang it on a string, just about three inches higher than man can reach. Guest comes into room in dark. Remembers to have seen electric pendant in room. Gropes around room with outspread fingers and uplifted hands, and promiscuous language, steps in open valise. Knocks everything off bureau feeling for matches. Feels all over the grimy wall paper for bell button, which is cleverly concealed behind head of bed, and finally goes downstairs for matches. Clerk gives him just one. Man lights it, sees where lamp is, reaches for it, falls short; goes across room for chair. On his way back match burns down to thumb and finger. Swears at it, and loses bearings, can't find lamp again; climbs on chair and delivers impressive and impassioned address in pantomime, feeling round for bulb, gets down and gropes to bed in dark. Candles may be semiobsolete, but they don't belong to dark ages, like swinging bulb.

One thing impresses me about candle in London is great abundance in room. Every time I come in want to celebrate high mass, and for life of me can't help bowing when I pass before the mantelpiece. Feel that I am drifting toward Rome. Know I am, in fact. Going there next winter.

Grand, Gloomy and Peculiar.

Near terminus of run railway official entered our compartment. Think he was a duke. Wore blue uniform of conventional railway pattern, bright brass buttons, and high, slick, shiny silk hat. Took up our tickets. Guess he was an archbishop. Or dean. That's it; he was a dean. Never before did I see such a uniform, and that was at Harvard university at commencement. A glorious creature, in just such a uniform, with the addition of a gilt belt and a gorgeous sword, wearing just such a hat—the highest, slickest, shiniest, glossiest silk hat that ever crowned a human being—came on the platform, and I fell down dead on the floor. Wouldn't that kill you? Then another man—if mortal men they were—arrayed like unto him, came in and stood beside him, and I got up again. Such an apparition would make any corpse get upon his feet. So I think the English railway trainman in a high, slick, shiny hat, who collected our tickets must have been a dean, he took up the collection so naturally. The next time I see one I am going to speak to it, if I go to the tower for it. Want to go there anyhow. Have been up Washington monument and Bunker Hill, and if Tower is any higher be afraid to climb up without parachute. Haven't very strong head for high places. On that account never stood very high in class at school. Too giddy. Or perhaps, as the boys say in these degenerate days, too gay. Same thing, I reckon. Only different.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

THE CUSTOMS OFFICER LOOKED INTO OUR BOXES AS A FOND MOTHER LOOKS INTO HER BOY'S TRUNK.

A GREEK CHARACTERISTIC.

Most Attractive and Lovable Is the Unfailing Hospitality of This People.

Apart from this frank and childlike simplicity, the trait that has always appeared to me the most attractive and lovable in the Greek character is his unfailing hospitality, says the Bulletin of the American Geographical Society. The person to whom you may come with a letter of introduction will place himself and his house at your command and seek in every way to be of service to you. Even the humblest peasant, at whose house you, as a stranger, may apply for a night's lodging, will receive you with a cordial welcome and will place his best at your disposal with a courtesy that goes far toward making you forget that you will be obliged to pass the night wrapped in a rug upon the floor instead of in a bed and that your morning toilet will, of necessity, be performed without the aid of a washbasin or a looking-glass. Nor is the charm of your reception in any way marred by the knowledge that this man, who is now seeking to the utmost of his ability to make you comfortable, will on the morrow present an exorbitant bill for the night's accommodations, for the Greek has the faculty of making you feel under these circumstances that he is, for the time, being, your host and you his honored guest. And it is a strange thing, for which I cannot account, but nevertheless a fact, that when you finally ride away on the morrow, after you have wasted perhaps a valuable half hour in bargaining before you have been able to settle the bill upon an equitable basis, it will be in a spirit of perfect friendliness, and in the future you will be sure to think of your quondam host, not as a rascal who tried to cheat you, but as a person to whom you are indebted for generous hospitality.

Have erroneous ideas about grain. They think that anything is fit to feed. There is just as much difference in grain as there is in anything else, and there are just as many poor kinds as there are good kinds.

The safest way is to patronize the place that can give you good clean grain, because they have the machinery to handle it. It costs no more.

SPORTING.

GOLF

There will be a team match next Saturday on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course between Hillside and New Brunswick. This is outside of the regular series in the tournament.

A meeting of the golf enthusiasts of Westfield will be held at the Westfield Clubhouse tomorrow evening, when Messrs. J. A. Worth, E. D. Floyd, C. D. Orth, E. R. Perkins and W. E. Tuttle, Jr., the committee appointed to consider and report a basis upon which a golf club could be formed in this town, and to arrange for the leasing of the grounds known as the "Osborn Farm," at the junction of Brightwood avenue and the Jerusalem road, will report. The property named above has been secured on terms so favorable as to make the success of the club assured. The grounds have been examined and pronounced favorable for golf by an expert of a nearby golf club. The committee will so report and also report that the large house on the property can be converted into an ideal country clubhouse, which will be accessible either by driving or trolley, the latter requiring twenty-eight minutes from the Westfield station. It is intended that the club shall be up to date in every respect, and that it shall be made attractive and available, not only to the members themselves but to their families as well. The proposed club will provide what Westfield entirely lacks at present, a place of resort for idle summer hours and a club at which visitors can be well entertained. All interested in the game are invited to attend the meeting Tuesday evening.

ON THE DIAMOND

It was a rather a poor windup for the Arion's baseball season Saturday, for they were defeated in their game with the Pond Tool Works' nine by a score of 23 to 9.

The Prudential Insurance Company of this city kept up its good name, and also the motto, which says, "The Prudential has the Strength of Gibraltar," by defeating the Metropolitan Insurance Company, of this city, at base ball Saturday afternoon on the Washington avenue ball grounds by a score of 37 to 17.

BIG AND LITTLE AT G. O. P. OUTING.

bents have had more than one term each, it is recognized that they will be renominated again this year and so there was no chance for work in this direction among the politicians. It is conceded that Assemblymen Foote, Smith and Meeker will be renominated.

Those who went to the outing expecting to hear campaign oratory, were disappointed. There was a total absence of speech-making as it was realized that the occasion was not auspicious for that line of entertainment.

Senator Kean was asked by a reporter of The Press as to how he looked upon the political situation.

"Well," said the Senator, "there was considerable apathy some time ago, but now I think that interest is being aroused among the Republicans and that we shall certainly elect McKinley and Roosevelt. The meeting we had in Elizabeth and this affair here today proves to my mind that Republicans are up and doing."

"What do I think of the political situation?" said Congressman Fowler in replying to a like question from a Press reporter.

"Why I think we are going to win. I predict that the Republicans will carry New Jersey this year by the largest Republican plurality it has ever given with the exception of that in 1896. I think we are short on apathy and long on confidence."

Among the prominent men there were the following: Senator Kean, Congressman Fowler, State Senator Cross, Assemblyman Smith, Editor McBride, Sheriff Houston, former Assemblyman Squire, Judge Atwater, State Prison Keeper Moore, Jail Warden Dodd, County Engineer Bauer, Palmer H. Charlock, Factory Inspector Tucker and Mayor Mack, of Elizabeth; Mayor Rockfellow, City Clerk MacMurray, City Clerk Smith, City Judge Runyon, Councilmen Tolles, Buckle, Coriell, Randolph and Gloak, Assessor Hand, Chief of Police Kiely, former Councilman Newman, William Newcorn and Andrew McCardell, of Plainfield; Mayor Holmes, Clerk of Freeholders Ryno, Chief of Police Wright, Surrogate Parrot, County Clerk Howard and Judge Vail, of Rahway; Councilman Hope, of Roselle; Freeholder Adams, of Crahford; Col. E. H. Hine, of Newark; Thomas Keller, of New York; Freeholder King, of Clark township.

WANTNED AT SEASIDE.

William Thompson, who September 11th was committed to the County Jail from this city, for the term of five days, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, is wanted at Asbury Park on a charge of larceny.

The complainant, David Baxter, swears that on Aug. 29th Thompson was employed at the Hotel Devonshire as porter and on that date Thompson made off with clothing and articles valued at $50.

Thompson, as soon as the expiration of his sentence in the jail, will be delivered to the authorities of Monmouth county.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes' Sermon.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes preached in the First Baptist church yesterday from the text "The Lord hath His way in the whirlwind and in the storm." Referring to the recent disastrous hurricane that devastated Galveston he spoke of the powers of nature that worked according to fixed laws, the necessity for man to put himself in harmony with these laws, the inscrutability of God's providences, the sin and folly of passing judgment on the victims of a catastrophe and the present opportunity for showing sympathy and kindness to the sufferers in the calamitous storms.

HOW TO DRINK WATER.

Much Benefit Is to Be Derived from Nature's Best Beverage by Sipping It Slowly.

As a rule it is much better to sip water than to swallow a glassful at one draught. The exception to this rule is in the morning, when one should drink a glassful or two of moderately cold water in order to flush the stomach while it is tubular, says Ladies' Home Journal. At other times, however, sipping the water is much more stimulating in its effect on the circulation. During the action of sipping the nerve action, which slows the beating of the heart, is temporarily abolished, and in consequence the heart contracts much more quickly and the circulation in various parts of the body is increased. Another advantage in sipping is the fact that the pressure under which the bile is secreted is considerably raised. It has been stated on good authority that a glass of cold water slowly sipped will produce a greater acceleration of the pulse for a time than will a glass of wine or spirits taken at a draught. Sipping cold water will, in fact, often allay the craving for alcoholic drinks—a point worth remembering by those who are endeavoring to reform.

Fruit Souffle.

Put into a bowl one heaping cupful of fresh whole strawberries or raspberries, those without any hard cores or spots are to be preferred. Sprinkle over them one cupful of powdered sugar and add the unbeaten white of one egg. Beat with a perforated wooden spoon or a silver fork, slowly at first until the berries are broken and mixed with the egg and sugar, then rapidly and continuously until the mass is stiff enough to hold its shape. It takes about half an hour, so do not attempt it until you are blessed with the time and strength. When it is stiff place it in the ice chest until ready to serve. Dissolve one tablespoonful of sugar and one saltspoon of salt in one pint of fresh warm milk. Then stir in quickly one junket tablet and turn at once into a deep glass dish. When firm and cold pile the fruit souffle lightly on the surface.—Boston Budget.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

The Prohibitionists of the Third Congressional district met in Bound Brook Friday and nominated Rev Charles F. Garretson, of Cranbury, as their candidate for member of Congress. Afterward the Somerset County Prohibition convention was held, when B. K. Hoppock, of Somerville, was nominated for member of Assembly, and William H. Powelson, of Bound Brook, for County Clerk.

The Eighth Congressional district convention of the National Prohibition party will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock, at the W. C. T. U. Hall, 1203 East Broad street, Elizabeth. The Union county Prohibition convention will be held at the same place immediately after the adjournment of the Congressional convention, to nominate three candidates for the Assembly and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

The Republican National committee has assigned Congressman John Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, to New Jersey for the greater part of the campaign in this State. He will speak at the Passaic county convention, in Paterson, tomorrow, and on Thursday he will address the Fourth Congress district convention at Washington, N. J. United States Senator William P. Frye, of Maine, is another distinguished statesman and orator who will make a number of speeches in New Jersey. Up to this time his dates in this State are: Elizabeth, October 1st; Paterson, October 2d; Camden, October 3d, and Trenton, October 4th.

Franklin Murphy, the chairman of the Republican State committee, is giving his days and his nights to the present campaign. He was at the headquarters of the Republican State committee, in Newark, early Saturday morning, going through a mass of correspondence, listening to visiting Republicans and dictating to a stenographer. Speaking of the outlook in the State, he said: "There appears to be the beginning of a general awakening among the Republicans of the State. For two hours we have been busy answering requests for speakers, lithographs, literature and buttons, and in looking after a score or more of other matters incidental to the campaign. Our people are becoming aroused to the situation, meetings are being arranged for and held, and the outlook is more encouraging. We are making preparations to prosecute the campaign vigorously in every county in the State, and we will be in a position to do that, as we shall soon be in direct communication with every ward and town and hamlet. First, we will reach all the more important points in the State with large meetings, and the county committees and club organizations will keep up the work. There will be plenty for us to do from now until November, and I might say that the real, earest, aggressive work is just about beginning. I began to realize that fact yesterday, and today I have further proof of it before me."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Way Down East," possibly the most successful of modern dramas because it has attracted wide attention, not only in the theatrical world but from the class of people who as a rule are not disposed to look with favor upon the stage, is soon to have its second production here. It is announced at Music Hall for next Monday evening. This play from the pen of Lottie Blair Parker, aided by the deft elaboration of Joseph Grismer, has gone far toward elevating the tone of the stage. First produced under the direction of William A. Brady, it remained for an entire season at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, and then had a second session at the Academy of Music, crowding the house at every performance. It will be seen here with all the original scenery and accessories of the New York houses, and superb cast of characters. Reserved seats are now on sale at box office.

* * * * * *

Fairyland, of which every child has read, will be seen at Stillman Music Hall, when the curtain rises on Friday evening, September 28th, and Saturday afternoon and evening, September 29th. The legend of "The Brownies" is one that is thoroughly believed in all over Scotland.

New Singer Heard.

Mrs. C. M. Fonshell, of Watchung avenue, sang in the choir at Trinity Reformed church last evening, in place of Miss Krymer, who was absent. Mrs. Fonshell has a mezzo-soprano voice, and her rendition of Bartlett's "God Be Merciful," during the offertory, was very pleasing and gave evidence of careful training.

Aged Woman Fell

Mrs. Mary Mundy, an aged woman living on East Sixth street, slipped and fell Saturday afternoon as she was entering Campbell's candy store. She was bruised about the body and face. Dr. Browning is in attendance.

DOLLIVER AT HOME.

No Man in Iowa Is More Popular Than the New Senator.

Appointed by Gov. Shaw to Fill the Chair Left Vacant by Senator Gear's Death—Won Fame in Tariff Debate.

Mr. Dolliver is, next to Speaker Henderson, the senior congressman from Iowa. He is exceedingly popular throughout the state.

Among the brilliant men and speakers of national reputation in the house of representatives Mr. Dolliver enjoys a position second to none. Of late years he has been a mainstay of the administration, and the leader among his party associates when an appeal to the house was deemed advisable and when eloquent and convincing argument was needed to carry a point.

Because of his strong following, particularly in the west, he was prominently mentioned prior to the Philadelphia convention as a desirable nominee for vice president on the ticket with President McKinley. His services for his party as a stump speaker have been invaluable, and those who have heard his remarkably able debates during the 12 years he has served in congress can give testimony to the power of his eloquence.

Born at Kingwood, W. Va., he received his education at the West Virginia university, and after graduation studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1878. Mr. Dolliver was elected to the Fifty-first congress, and although at that time but 31 years of age, he was soon recognized as one of the ablest speakers of the house. That his constituents have also recognized his ability is evidenced by the fact that he was serving his sixth term when appointed to the senate.

The first recognition by the house of Mr. Dolliver's brilliant powers followed his speech on the McKinley tariff bill, when even those widely differing from him in political creeds generously accorded the praise won by his fine effort. Subsequently he was invited to New York, where in 1880 he spoke at the Metropolitan Grand Opera house.

JONATHAN P. DOLLIVER.
(Appointed United States Senator by the Governor of Iowa.)

When he ascended the platform he was, comparatively speaking, unknown, but a very few minutes sufficed to enlist the attention and sympathy of his hearers. His magnificent personality and graceful flow of language held the vast audience spellbound, and when the last echoes of the applause died away, Jonathan P. Dolliver had captured the town. The freedom of the various clubs was cordially extended to him, and no brighter page illumines the records of political enthusiasm than that accorded the brilliant young lawyer.

Nature has generously endowed the "orator of the house." Personally he is handsome, about five feet ten inches tall, clear brown eyes and hair of chestnut hue. He has a good complexion and in his manner there is a blending of the old-time southern chivalry with the breeziness of the state of his adoption. He is genial, easily approached, and extremely popular. When he rises to speak in the house the members listen in close attention. His manner is confident, his gestures graceful, his voice deep, resonant and penetrating, and his language shows not only the man of culture but the finished rhetorician, the scholarly logician and the fine elocutionist.

In his political campaigns he is unique in his methods. His district lies principally in the farming regions, many parts of which are long distances from the towns. During a recent canvass, instead of renting the town halls, he carried a large tent from place to place. An advance agent went ahead distributing posters and dodgers, indicating when and where the next meeting would be held. The tent was pitched at the various cross-roads, and Mr. Dolliver made at least one speech a day under canvas, from early in July until the decisive first Monday in November.

He is a close student, enjoying the quiet of his library; yet he is much sought after. He is essentially a domestic man and his wife accompanies him to Washington during the congressional season and is interested in all that concerns her brilliant husband.

Butterflies in Arctic Regions.

Frozen butterflies are frequently found by mountain climbers lying lifeless on the snow, and so brittle that they break unless they are very carefully handled. Such frozen butterflies, on being taken to a warmer climate, recover themselves and fly away. Six species of butterflies have been found within a few hundred miles of the north pole.

GETTING READY TO ENROLL REPUBLICANS.

Every Republican Will Have to be Enrolled to Vote at Coming Party Primaries

REASON WHY IT IS DONE.

ENROLLMENT NIGHTS ARE THURSDAY AND THURSDAY AWEEK.

The Registration of Republican Voters Will Take Place at Places Where Primaries are Usually Held--Importance of the Enrollment.

For the rank and file of the Republican party in Plainfield, there will be an opportunity Thursday evening to do a little work for the aid and welfare of their party. That is the first of the two nights set by the Republican city executive committee for the enrollment of the Republican voters of the city.

A few years ago, the Republican primaries were run on a far different plan than that in vogue at present. The voters assembled at the appointed hour, voted sometimes by voice, oftener by ballot, for who ever they wanted to and then went home. Two years ago, the plan, proposed by Former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray and named after him, was adopted by the city committee for the primaries preceeding the charter election. The primary became like a regular election with nominations made in advance and a ballot box kept open for several hours.

When the contest in the primaries grew warm a new trouble appeared. Some of the factions attempted to bring into the primary men of no particular persuasion and vote them as Republicans. Even Democrats were sworn in. It was shown that some remedy was necessary to do away with this evil In one ward there were more voters at a Republican primary than there were votes cast for the last Republican candidate. So the plan of enrollment was suggested, and finally approved by the city committee, as the best remedy for the trouble.

The plan of the enrollment is very simple. It will be practically the same as a registration of voters, only the qualifications necessary for those enrolled will be that they are Republicans as well as being voters. If the voter cannot be present at the enrollment his name may be sworn in by a known Republican.

There are still two important primaries to be held in each ward of the city by the Republicans this year. At one, delegates to the county convention which will nominate three Assemblymen and members of the county executive committee, will be chosen. At the other, delegates to the city convention which is to nominate a mayor and other city officials, Councilmen and members of the city executive committee will be chosen. They are the two most important primaries of the year. To vote at these primaries a Republican must be enrolled either Thursday evening or the Thursday evening of the week following. Those are the nights chosen by the city committee for the work. The Republicans who neglect to have their names placed on the roll then prepared will practically be outside the Republican organization as far as having any voice in its management is concerned.

It will readily be seen that this enrollment is going to be an important event in the coming campaign and that the local Republicans will turn out in good numbers for the enrollment. In the wards where there is any prospect of a contest, it is probable that a strong effort will be made to corral every single Republican voter. In the other wards, the ward leaders will have to watch out sharply for any apathy which will lead to the omission of the names of many good Republicans from the roll.

The hours set for the enrollment are from 8 o'clock to 10 and the places of meeting in the different wards are announced as follows: First ward, the old City National Bank building, 120 East Front street; Second ward, the Bryant school building, East Sixth street near Richmond street; Third ward, West Seventh street and Arlington avenue; Fourth ward, reading room of Reform Hall, West Second street and Central avenue. The Republican election officers will be in charge of the enrollment.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell Preached.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell, of West Third street, who was in attendance at the meeting of the Colored Baptist Ministers' conference at Newark, yesterday, delivered an excellent sermon on "The Divine Character of the Bible," and at the close of his discourse was highly complimented for his eloquent and powerful sermon.

CARING FOR CHILDREN.

Place Wanted for Three Girls and One Boy.

A W Abbott, agent of the Children's Aid and Protective Society, of the Oranges, visited Plainfield yesterday on the business of placing out children for adoption in good private families. The society has been very successful in placing some children in this city, mainly due through the publication of their advertisement in The Daily Press and Constitutionalist.

Mr. Abbott paid a visit to this office yesterday and is looking for good Protestant homes where the society can place three girls aged three years, five years and seven and a half years respectively; also a boy six years.

Any application for either of these children should be made to the agent at his office, 65 Essex avenue, Orange, N. J.

Death Prevented Promotion.

Congressman Stewart has withdrawn his recommendation for a promotion to the lieutenancy for First Sergeant Henry S. Booream, Co. I, 22nd Infantry, a Paterson soldier who died in the Philippines. Had Booream lived he would soon have been wearing shoulder straps, as he stood high in his examination and Congressman Stewart had good reports for him from the War Department. The body of the young soldier will be brought to Paterson about Christmas time. The dead soldier leaves a sister who lives in this city.

New Lighting Apparatus.

PROVING THAT ALLEN WAS STEVE PANGBORN

More Important Testimony Taken in the Story of a Double Life.

LAST JERSEY WITNESSES

A STRONG CHAIN OF EVIDENCE TO PROVE THE CLAIMS.

Testimony Taken Before Judge Schenck as Commissioner—Case Will be Resumed in Pennsylvania November 12th.

The last of the testimony from witnesses in New Jersey in the attempt to prove that the man who lived and died at Williamsport, Pa., as Winfield Scott Allen was none other than Stephen Pangborn, who deserted his wife and daughter in this city over thirty years ago, was finished before Judge Lewis Schenck, of the Somerset county court, yesterday afternoon. Judge Schenck has been taking the testimony in the case as a commissioner for the Lycoming county (Pa.) circuit court.

The first witness sworn was W. C. Runyon, of Newark, who testified that he married a niece of Pangborn, and that in 1876 and again in 1882 Pangborn visited at his home and particularly cautioned him to address letters to him in the name of Winfield Scott Allen at Williamsport. At that time Pangborn also told him that there was only one thing that he had to regret in his life, and that was that he had been compelled to change his name.

Dallas Reeves, who is in charge of the bureau of vital statistics of the State at Trenton, testified as to the custom of admitting certificates of vital statistics in courts of record of competent evidence.

Mrs. Catherine Vermeule, of Watchung avenue, this city, was also an important witness yesterday. She testified to the fact of her acquaintance with Pangborn, and said that the day before New Year's Day, 1863, Pangborn had asked her to witness his marriage to Miss Sarah Giles. Mrs. Vermeule refused, owing to the opposition of Miss Giles' mother to the marriage. The day after New Year's Pangborn told Mrs. Vermeule that he had been married. Two years after Pangborn had deserted his wife he came to Plainfield and met Mrs. Vermeule. The latter went to Mrs. Pangborn's home and got the baby daughter and brought her to where Pangborn could see her.

Mrs. Mary Wyckoff, of Montclair, a sister of the late Rev. Sylvester Armstrong, who performed the marriage of Pangborn and Miss Giles, testified that she witnessed the ceremony, as at that time she was visiting her brother.

Dr. H. H. Lowrie, of this city, testified to the good character of Mrs. Pangborn.

The taking of testimony will be resumed in the Lycoming County Circuit Court at Williamsport, Pa, November 12th. At that time it is expected that the defendants will make the strongest effort to defeat the suit of Mrs. Charles Perrine, Pangborn's daughter, who, if she proves that Pangborn and Allen were one and the same, will be entitled to the property left by Allen, as he was known at Williamsport. The property is said to be worth about $50,000.

BOYS' CLUB WAS OPENED

INFORMAL ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE BOYS IN THE GYMNASIUM.

Fine Work Done by Bert Hansen and Frank Shepherd—Splendid Outlook for the Coming Season.

Preparatory to the beginning of the winter activity at the Boys' Club open house was held at the clubhouse of that organization last evening and the crowd of boys who assembled were entertained with an exhibition in the gymnasium. Bert Hanson did some very clever acrobatic and contortion acts which were loudly applauded. Although only a lad he showed remarkable talent in that direction Frank Shepherd gave an exhibition on the slack wire. He first removed his clothing over his tights while balancing on the wire and then did some juggling stunts which were quite marvelous.

There were a number of boys at the clubhouse last evening who were strangers to the work of the club, but who are now anxious to join The number in the classes this year has been increased from twenty to twenty-five and more may be taken in as the season progresses. The classes at the start will be the same as last year, but Superintendent Olaf Saugstad hopes to add bookbinding and perhaps printing during the course of the winter.

The work of the Boys' Club has been very satisfactory in the past and Mr. Saugstad has shown his ability in handling the lads so as to bring out the best development in the lines of industrial effort.

POLITICIANS AT DINNER.

Senator Reed will Entertain Republican Friends Before Planning for Campaign.

Plans for the Republican campaign preceding the national election in Somerset county will be formulated this afternoon at a gathering of the Republicans at Somerville. Senator Charles A. Reed, as chairman of the county executive committee of the G. O. P., has called a meeting of the committee for this afternoon and it will be preceded by a dinner at Cawley's hotel to the members of the committee. The dinner is given by Senator Reed.

After the inner man is thoroughly satisfied the county committeemen will begin to lay plans for the campaign. This will be the first meeting of the committee this fall and the Republican efforts made thus far through the county have been by local organizations. Now the committee will lay down its plan of campaign and prepare to fight the hosts of the Democracy.

A county clerk and an Assemblyman are to be nominated in Somerset county this fall. There is little doubt but that County Clerk Frank Somers will be renominated for his office. The candidate for the Assembly has not yet been settled on, but it is practically certain that E. E. Cooper, of Warren, will not go back to the State Legislature. He has had two terms and it is considered somebody else's turn now. The nomination will probably go to one of the southern townships. The candidate is likely to be fixed at the conference this afternoon.

Hermann-Yeager Nuptials.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Frances Yeager, of Stirling, and John Hermann, of the borough, which took place on Tuesday, September 4th, at Chatham, Morris county. The bridemaid was Miss Rosie Hermann, a sister of the groom, and the best man was Charles Aschman. After the wedding the couple left for a trip through Connecticut, and they returned a few days ago to announce their marriage to their relatives and friends. They are residing at 37 Steiner place, where the groom furnished a cozy home for his wife and himself. Mr. Hermann is foreman at Bohrens' Bottling Works at 11 Greenbrook road.

Members to Suggest Subjects.

A special effort was made last winter and spring to make the mid-week services at the Congregational church particularly attractive and interesting. Novel subjects were introduced. The meetings proved a decided success and will be continued this fall and winter. At Sunday morning's service Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the church, invited the members of his congregation to suggest subjects for the meetings.

MAN MAY BE PITTED AGAINST FOWLER.

He Will be the Choice of the Bayonne Delegates at the Congressional Convention.

CONVENTION IS TOMORROW.

PARK, OF CRANFORD, AND WILDE, OF GLEN RIDGE, ALSO CANDIDATES.

Chances Favor the Bayonne Man—Has Lived in the State for Twenty-eight Years—What Will Union Delegates Do?

The Democratic convention of the Eighth Congressional District will be held tomorrow afternoon at Arlington Park, Boulevard and West Fifty-first street, Bayonne. This Congressional district includes Bayonne, all of Union county, Belleville, Bloomfield, Caldwell, Franklin, Livingston, Glen Ridge, Milburn, Montclair, Orange, South Orange and West Orange, of Essex county.

The choice of the Bayonne delegation will be E. A. S. Man, a prominent lawyer of New York and New Jersey, and former City Attorney of Bayonne. Mr. Man has been asked if he would stand, and agreed to do so, and as it was understood sometime ago that Bayonne could name the candidate, there seems to be no doubt that Counselor Man will be honored with the nomination.

There are other candidates in the field, however, but just how anxious they are for a nomination remains to be seen. Among the most prominent of these candidates are Frederick W. Park, of Cranford and Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge. Mr. Park is reported to be very anxious to make a canvass of the district in opposition to Congressman Fowler, whose place he would like to take in the House of Representatives. Mr. Wilde has a widespread reputation as a good speaker, and has often been on the stump in advocacy of Democracy in previous campaigns, Congressional and National. He will probably speak at the convention, whether he receives the nomination or not.

Counselor Man, Bayonne's candidate, has lived in Bayonne for twenty-eight years, or about one-half of his entire life. He is fifty five years of age, a Pennsylvanian by birth and a graduate of Yale. He has a large law practice in New York. He has never held elective office, although he has always been interested in Bayonne affairs. He is now a member of the governing board of the Bayonne Hospital. He is unmarried, residing at the Hotel La Tourette.

Just what the Union county delegates will do in the convention is not known yet. Many of the leaders in the county realize that if Bayonne really wants the nomination it should have its wish gratified, as it has been many years since a Democratic candidate was taken from that section. It is thought that possibly Mr. Park may retire in favor of the Bayonne candidate, which, if he does would assure the nomination to Mr. Man.

Liners May Land in Jersey City.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Sept. 18.—It is reported here that a proposition has been made by the American Line to re-establish a steamship line between Jersey City and Liverpool. The proposition under consideration provides for the transfer of some of the Antwerp and Liverpool ships to the proposed new line between Jersey City and Liverpool. The American line is in control of the Grand street wharves in this city, although they have not been used by the Red Star vessels since they moved to New York. The warves are in good condition, and could easily be refitted.

In the afternoon and evening Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut will deliver addresses.

Harold Nomer was elected assistant manager of the football team. The management was given full power to arrange with the Alis A. A. for the use of the grounds.

The High School management has the first refusal of Martine Common, but they will allow the Alis A. A. to play there Saturday afternoons and on holidays. The High School eleven wil play week-days, Saturday mornings and on such Saturday afternoons on which the Alis boys are playing elsewhere. The Alis boys will, in return for the courtesy, put the ground in condition for play.

The candidates for the High School team were out Saturday afternoon and again yesterday afternoon under the charge of Harold Davis, temporary captain. There is promise of a strong team and a fair number of substitutes.

STATE C. B. L. CONVENTION.

It Will be Held in Plainfield Next Month.

The eighteenth annual convention of the New Jersey State Council, C. B. L., will be held in Plainfield, October 9th.

Representatives will be expected to give such detailed statements of the work done by their respective councils since the last State convention, as the number of admissions; net increase or decrease; have meetings been held regularly do the officers attend meetings; have any public meetings been held; if so, what attraction, how advertised, cost and results; has your council been suspended during the year; how often and for what cause?

The credentials of representatives of subordinate councils, duly signed and attested, must be placed in the hands of the State Secretary at or before the opening of the meeting, and representatives who have not previously been admitted to membership in the State Council are required to be also furnished with their certificates as chancellors.

Wants $200 Damages.

Justice of the Peace William H. Abbott has brought suit, in tort, against John Totten, of Bound Brook, through his counsel, W. K. McClure. The claim is for $200, and the case will be given a hearing before Justice Mattison Tuesday, September 25th. About a month ago Justice Abbott was driving through Dunellen. Mr. Totten had left his horse and wagon standing on the street. The animal became frightened and ran away. The rig collided with Mr. Abbott's rig, wrecking it. Mr. Abbott claims $200 damages and sues for that sum.

In the Interest of Temperance.

Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, held a public meeting last evening in Washington Hall in the interest of temperance. There were several addresses by officers of the Division, and a very entertaining programme of vocal and instrumental music was presented. Grand Worthy Patriarch Murray, of Orange, was present and made a stirring address along the line of prohibition and temperance. His remarks were well received by all.

Sporting Goods Company.

The Keer & Martin Cycle Company, of Newark, has been organized into the Martin-Koehler Sporting Goods Company, with Frank L. C. Martin president; Frederick Keer, vice-president, and Herman J. Koehler secretary and treasurer. The Messrs. Martin and Keer are well known in Newark, having been identified with the business for twelve years, and Mr. Koehler is the well-known Orange athlete and football player. They will conduct business on a large scale.

New Trolley Route.

The rumor that the Morris County Traction Company had secured the right of way for a trolley line through the main street of Medison is without foundation. The right of way has been secured to Rosedale avenue, but from that point the opposition has been so strong that the company has determined to go through Madison by the way of Brittin street to Central avenue, through Brittin street to Ridgedale avenue, and then along Park avenue to Morristown.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY IN THE LOCAL CANADA

Republicans Have Opened Headquarters in Spencer's Hall for the Campaign.

SITUATION IN SOMERSET CO.

SEVERAL CANDIDATES FOR THE ASSEMBLY NOMINATION.

Colored Republicans to Have an Outing at Union County Recreation Grounds—Campaign Affairs of Various Sorts.

The Republicans of the borough have begun their campaign. Republican headquarters are now open in Spencer's Hall, Somerset street, and will remain every afternoon and evening until after election. There will be interesting literature on all the issues of the campaign and members of the U. S. Grant Club will be there the most of the time to receive visitors. Will McLaughlin is in charge of the headquarters under the direction of Mayor N. B. Smalley, president of the U. S. Grant Club. A meeting of the Grant Club is called for this evening at Spencer's Hall, to which all the voters of the borough are invited. No formal programme has been arranged, but some of the prominent Republicans of the borough will probably do a little talking on political subjects.

It is desired that all the Republicans of the borough be enrolled on the membership list of the club. Names will be received at Republican headquarters in Spencer's Hall any afternoon or evening. Meetings of the Grant Club will be held at frequent intervals, which will be addressed by many well-known Republicans from all over the State. A big mass meeting will be held later in the season.

The Southern League Republican Club, an organization composed of the colored voters of the city, will hold its first clambake and picnic at the Union County Recreation Grounds Thursday afternoon and evening. The committee of arrangements consists of William Douglass, Arthur Venable, Wm. H. Jones. A. W. Brown, Samuel Bolden, Wm. Geter, Samuel Fields, James Connett, Edward Maynard and Wm. A. Kline. A number of prominent speakers are expected to be present.

A rousing meeting of the Democrats of Westfield was held at French's Hall last night and a Bryan and Stevenson campaign club, with 125 members, was formed. The officers elected are: President, E. J. Whitehead; vice-presidents, Freeholder M. M. Scudder, S. W. Reese and W. E. Tuttle, Jr.; secretary, R. M. Stickle; treasurer, Joseph B. Bennett. Messrs. Irving I. Ross, M. M. Scudder and John M. C. Marsh were appointed a committee on rooms and banner, and at once reported that the three-story brick building on Elm street, owned by L. E. Hart, had been secured. E. J. Whitehead and M. M. Scudder were appointed as delegates to attend the National convention of Democratic clubs to be held at Indianapolis October 3d.

Both parties in Somerset county are making preparations for the political battle which is to be fought earnestly this fall. The Republicans have organized clubs at Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook and North Plainfield, and the campaign really opened last evening, when John S. Gibson, of Newark, addressed a meeting at Somerset Hall and the oraganization of the club was completed. A preliminary meeting was held last week, when F. A. Pope, of Somerville, who is a candidate for Assembly, made an address.

The Democrats have a club at Somerville and at Neshanic, and have arranged for a meeting next week. The Republicans feel sure of electing their entire ticket in the county. There will be a hot fight over the county clerkship. Frank W. Somers, the present incumbent, will probably be renominated by the Republicans, though William H. H. Wyckoff, former sheriff, has announced himself a candidate. The Democrats are talking of nominating Charles L. Voorhees, who is considered the strongest man, and they predict his election even in a Presidential year. Mr. Somers, however, is personally popular and has a strong following. For member of Assembly Frederick A. Pope, of Bridgewater; Frank W. Remsen, of Hillsborough, and Joseph Fitzga, of Bridgewater, are seeking the nomination on the Republican side.

George Firstbrook, of West Fifth street, has returned from a business trip through Morris county.

Mrs. Elmore D. Moffett, of Orchard place, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wilbur J. Chamberlain, of Brooklyn.

LETTER OF BRYAN.

He Formally Accepts the Presidential Nomination.

FAVORS LAWS AGAINST THE TRUSTS.

Recommends Free Coinage of Silver at Ratio of 16 to 1—Advocates Establishment of a Department of Labor—Condemns Imperialism.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—William J. Bryan, presidential candidate on the Democratic national ticket, has presented his letter accepting the nomination. Mr. Bryan leads his text with his views on the trust question. He touches on interstate commerce and reviews the currency issue, the labor situation and devotes considerable space to expansion and imperialism.

In regard to trusts he says:

"The Kansas City platform very properly gives prominence to the trust question. The appalling growth of combinations in restraint of trade during the present administration proves conclusively that the Republican party lacks either the desire or the ability to deal with the question effectively. If as may be fairly assumed from the speeches and conduct of the Republican leaders that party does not intend to take the people's side against these organizations, then the weak and qualified condemnation of trusts to be found in the Republican platform is designed to distract attention while industrial despotism is completing its work. A private monopoly has always been an outlaw. No defense can be made of an industrial system in which one or a few men can control for their own profit the output or price of any article of merchandise.

"Under such a system the consumer suffers extortion, the producer of raw material has but one purchaser and must sell at the arbitrary price fixed, the laborer has but one employer and is powerless to protest against injustice either in wages or in conditions of labor, the small stockholder is at the mercy of the speculator, while the traveling salesman contributes his salary to the overgrown profits of the trust. Since but a small proportion of the people can share in the advantages secured by private monopoly it follows that the remainder of the people are not only excluded from the benefits, but are the helpless victims of every monopoly organized. It is difficult to overestimate the immediate injustice that may be done or to calculate the ultimate effect of this injustice upon the social and political welfare of the people.

"Our platform, after suggesting certain specific remedies, pledges the party to an unceasing warfare against private monopoly in nation, state and city. I heartily approve of this promise. If elected, it shall be my earnest and constant endeavor to fulfill the promise in letter and spirit. I shall select an attorney general who will without fear or favor enforce existing laws. I shall recommend such additional legislation as may be necessary to dissolve every private monopoly which does business outside of the state of its origin, and if, contrary to my belief and hope, a constitutional amendment is found to be necessary I shall recommend such an amendment as will without impairing any of the existing rights of the states empower congress to protect the people of all the states from injury at the hands of individuals or corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

"The Democratic party makes no war upon honestly acquired wealth. Neither does it seek to embarrass corporations engaged in legitimate business, but it does protest against corporations entering politics and attempting to assume control of the instrumentalities of government. A corporation is not organized for political purposes and should be compelled to confine itself to the business described in its charter. Honest corporations engaged in an honest business will find it to their advantage to aid in the enactment of such legislation as will protect them from the undeserved odium which will be brought upon them by those corporations which enter the political arena."

The currency question:

"The platform reiterates the demand contained in the Chicago platform for an American financial system made by the American people for themselves. The purpose of such a system is to restore and maintain a bimetallic level of prices, and in order that there may be no uncertainty as to the method of restoring bimetallism the specific declaration in favor of free and unlimited coinage at the existing ratio of 16 to 1 independent of the action of other nations is repeated. In 1896 the Republican party recognized the necessity for bimetallism by pledging the party to an earnest effort to secure an international agreement for the free coinage of silver, and the president immediately after his inauguration by authority of congress appointed a commission composed of distinguished citizens to visit Europe and solicit foreign aid. Secretary Hay in a letter written to Lord Aldenham in November, 1898, and afterward published in England declared that at that time the president and a majority of his cabinet still believed in the great desirability of an international agreement for the restoration of the double standard, but that it did not seem opportune to reopen the negotiations just then. The financial law enacted less than a year ago contains a concluding section declaring that the measure was not intended to stand in the way of the restoration of bimetallism whenever it could be done by co-operation with other nations. The platform submitted to the last Republican convention with the indorsement of the administration again suggested the possibility of securing foreign aid in restoring silver.

"Now the Republican party for the first time openly abandons its advocacy of the double standard and indorses the monetary system which it has so often and so emphatically condemned. The Democratic party, on the contrary, remains the steadfast advocate of the gold and silver coinage of the constitution and is not willing that other nations shall determine for us the time and manner of restoring silver to its ancient place as a standard money. The ratio of 16 to 1 is not only the ratio now existing between all the gold and silver dollars in circulation in this country, a ratio which even the Republican administration has not attempted to change, but it is the only ratio advocated by those who are seeking to reopen the mints."

Election of senators:

"The demand for a constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by direct vote of the people appears for the first time in a Democratic national platform, but a resolution proposing such an amendment has three times passed the house of representatives, and that, too, practically without opposition. Whatever may have been the reasons which secured the adoption of the present plan a century ago new conditions have made it imperative that the people be permitted to speak directly in the selection of their representatives in the senate. A senator is no less the representative of the state because he receives his commission from the people themselves rather than from the members of the state legislature."

Relative to labor:

"Several planks of the labor platform are devoted to questions in which the laboring classes have an immediate interest, but which more remotely affect our entire population. While what is generally known as government by injunction is at present directed chiefly against the employees of corporations when there is a disagreement between them and their employer it involves a principle which concerns every one. The purpose of the injunction in such cases is to substitute trial by judge for trial by jury and is a covert blow at the jury system. The abolition of government by injunction is as necessary for the protection of the reputation of the court as it is for the security of the citizen.

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the importance of the platform recommendation of the establishment of a department of labor, with a member of the cabinet at its head. When we remember how important a position the laborer fills in our economic, social and political fabric, it is hard to conceive of a valid objection being made to this recognition of his services.

"The Chinese exclusion act has proved an advantage to the country, and its continuance and strict enforcement as well as its extension to other similar races are imperatively necessary.

"The Democratic party is in favor of the immediate construction, ownership and control of the Nicaragua canal by the United States. The failure of the Republican party to make any progress in carrying out a pledge contained in its platform four years ago, together with the substitution in its latest platform of a plank favoring an isthmian canal for a specific declaration in favor of the Nicaraguan canal, would indicate that the Republican leaders either do not appreciate the importance of this great waterway to the maritime strength and commercial interests of the country or that they give too much consideration to the interested opposition of transcontinental lines.

"Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma have long been ready to assume the responsibilities and enjoy the privileges of statehood, and it will be a pleasure as well as a duty to carry out the platform pledge concerning them. There will be a popular acquiescence in the demand for home rule and a territorial form of government in Alaska and Porto Rico. Both are entitled to local self government and representation in congress.

"The recognition contained in both the Democratic and Republican platforms of the right of the Cubans to independence removes the general principle involved from the domain of partisan politics. It is proper, however, to consider whether the accomplishment of this purpose can be safely intrusted to the Republican party after it has yielded to the allurements of the colonial idea and abandoned its earlier faith in the natural and inalienable rights of man.

"By inadvertence the income tax plank agreed upon by the resolutions committee was omitted from the platform as read and adopted. The subject, however, is covered by the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform, and I take this occasion to reassert my belief in the principle which underlies the income tax.

"The reasons given by Washington, Jefferson and the other statesmen of the early days in support of the doctrine that we should maintain friendly relations with all nations, but enter into entangling alliances with none, are even stronger today than they were 100 years ago. Our commerce is rapidly increasing and we are brought into constant communication with all parts of the world. Even if we desired to do so we could not afford to alienate many nations by cultivating unnecessary intimacy with a few."

Speaking of expansion, he says:

"The position taken by the Republican leaders and more recently set forth by the Republican candidate for the presidency—viz, that we cannot protect a nation from outside interference without exercising sovereignty over its people—is an assault upon the Monroe doctrine, for while this argument is at this time directed against the proposition to give to the Filipinos both independence and protection it is equally applicable to the republics of Central and South America. If this government cannot lend its strength to another republic without making subjects of its people, then we must either withdraw our protection from the republics to the south of us or absorb them. Under the same plea, that the guardian nation must exert an authority equal to its responsibility, European nations have for centuries exploited their wards, and it is a significant fact that the Republican party should accept the European idea of a protectorate at the same time that it adopts a European colonial policy."

His reference to imperialism:

"The subjects, however, treated in this letter, important as each may seem in itself, do not press so imperatively for solution as the question which the platform declares to be the paramount issue in this campaign. Whether we shall adhere to or abandon those ideas of government which have distinguished this nation and given to its history its peculiar charm and value is a question the settlement of which cannot be delayed. No other question can approach it in importance; no other question demands such immediate consideration. It is easier to lose a reputation than to establish one, and this nation would find it a long and laborious task to regain its proud position among the nations if under the stress of temptation it should repudiate the self evident truths proclaimed by our heroic ancestors and sacredly treasured during a career unparalleled in the annals of time. When the doctrine that the people are the only source of power is made secure from further attack, we can safely proceed to the settlement of the numerous questions which involve the domestic and economic welfare of our citizens."

Coons Nominated.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The Democratic senatorial convention of the Twenty-seventh district has nominated Alonzo B. Coons of Sharon Springs for senator. Coons received nine votes to six for E. Watson Gardiner, Independent Republican. Coons is a lawyer and a former assemblyman.

112,000 MEN ARE OUT

Strikers In Pennsylvania Have Reached That Number.

EACH SIDE CONFIDENT OF WINNING

Foreign Miners Leave For New York En Route to Europe—Mr. Mitchell Says This Is the Biggest Industrial Contest of Country.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 18.—The great struggle between the anthracite coal miners of Pennsylvania and their employers is now well under way. Each side is confident of winning, and neither of the contending forces shows any disposition to yield. With the exception of a trivial incident at No. 3 colliery of the Lehigh Coal company, where a gang of boys compelled a mule driver to seek cover by throwing stones at him, the contest thus far has been entirely devoid of violence of any kind.

About 100 foreign speaking miners have left Hazleton for New York, where they will take a steamer for Europe. These men expect a long strike and rather than remain idle here they preferred to go to their former homes.

President Mitchell has given out the following statement:

"Information received up to this time indicate that 112,000 mine workers are on strike in the anthracite region. Of this number 72,000 are in district No. 1, 30,000 in district No. 9 and 10,000 in district No. 7.

"Reports received are to the effect that large numbers of those who have gone to the mines will soon join the suspension."

"We feel confident that the entire number of men employed in and about the coal mines of the anthracite district will be idle in the next few days.

"The men appear determined to continue on strike until their demands for justice have been acceded to.

"The number of men now out on strike exceeds that of any other industrial contest in the history of our country."

Reports received by the United Mine Workers' officials from the entire anthracite region were to them most satisfactory. The district south of this place known as the South Side has been tied up completely with the exception of Coleraine, Beaver Meadow and Carsons washeries. In this territory the United Mine Workers are very strong. On the north side, the upper Lehigh, Milnesville, Ebervale and Drifton No. 1 collieries, employing about 1,500 men, are shut down, the mines at Lattimer and Pond Creek, employing 1,200 men, are working full, but every other mine in that big territory is working with badly crippled forces. Three of the Markle mines, over which there has been so much contention, worked with about 65 per cent of their men. On the west side every colliery has started up minus its union men except at the Hazle mines, where the union miners went to work in consequence of a misunderstanding.

Hazleton presented an animated appearance yesterday. Strikers from all the surrounding mining towns came here and gathered in groups on the street corners and discussed the situation. It was a most orderly crowd. Around strike headquarters at the Valley hotel there was more or less of a crowd of men all day. President Mitchell, who has arrived from the west, was kept busy receiving reports from every section of the region. Messengers bringing information to him from nearby points kept coming regularly.

Mr. Mitchell decided an important point in the matter of arbitration. It will be remembered that last week the miners employed by G. B. Markle & Co. decided not to strike until the firm had passed upon a set of their own grievances which differ somewhat from those of the United Mine Workers. The firm has an agreement with its men that if any differences fail of adjustment then the grievances shall be arbitrated. John Markle of the firm has agreed to have Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia arbitrate the differences if the mediators already decided upon by the firm and the men cannot come to a satisfactory agreement. Mr. Markle gave out an interview to newspaper reporters to this effect and suggested to the reporters that they go see what President Mitchell would have to say to the proposition, Mr. Markle not caring to be put on record as recognizing the union.

President Mitchell decided to ask the men employed by Markle to strike.

Father Phillips, who suggested the idea of having Archbishop Ryan brought in as arbitrator on behalf of the men, would not talk on the decision of President Mitchell, but in speaking on the subject of an early settlement of the strike he said:

"There can hardly be anything done for a few days, and it is likely that the nature of the archbishop's efforts may depend upon the contingency that may aris in the meantime or due to the continuance of the strike. I will watch events closely and keep him informed of every opportunity where mediation or intercession can serve to make this strike ot brief duration. That is about all that can be accomplished or even attempted now that the conflict has begun unless overtures for arbitration should be made to him, but of course that will have to come from both sides agreeing to it. It is too early to look for a basis of negotiations or mediation, as the contending forces will probably test each other's strength before deciding on peace or continued war. It is yet hoped that it will be peace."

Not In Sympathy With Strike.

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 18.—Inquiry by telephone among the nearby bituminous coal towns has developed the fact that the anthracite coal strikers will receive little if any help from the region north and west of Altoona. While it is reported that representatives of the hard coal men have been in this region agitating a sympathetic strike there is no evidence of the fact in this vicinity. Messages deny that any such effort is being made in those towns. The bituminous miners at each place say they will not even contribute money to help the eastern men, as they did not receive a cent from them during the bituminous wage troubles of recent years.

Sixteen British Soldiers Killed.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The British commander at Taku cables that a fatigue party engaged in destroying gunpowder at Tungchau has been blown up. Eleven Welsh fusiliers were wounded, two British Indian soldiers were killed and 13 British Indian soldiers were wounded, and Captain Hill and 11 British Chinese infantry soldiers were wounded. Later advices show that 16 were killed and 22 injured in the explosion.

PROGRESS IN GALVESTON.

Waterworks Now Running and Telegraph Lines Operating.

GALVESTON, Sept. 18.—Now that the waterworks are running, some of the streets lighted, many others nearly cleared of debris and telegraphic communication with the outside world re-established, the people of Galveston are anxiously looking forward to the re-establishment of rail communication, and they will not have to wait long, for the work of relaying the tracks and rebuilding a bridge across the bay is being pushed with great energy. The officials in charge of this work believe that they will be able to run trains into Galveston on Thursday.

The work thus far done has been remarkable and has been accomplished under the greatest difficulties. Track has been laid along a right of way which was swept by the sea and washed into ravines, along a line bestrewn with dead bodies of men and animals. The men worked under a blazing sun, in water and slush and mud, in surroundings sickening to the senses and at first without supply of food. Great difficulties in getting material to the places where it is used have been encountered, yet the work has gone on day and night, and the structure that is to bring Galveston in real touch with the outside world is being steadily pushed forward.

The Santa Fe system has concentrated nearly all its best bridge and track men on the work of restoring communication. Vice President Barr has 600 trackmen and 250 bridgemen at work. The track was completed to Virginia Point last evening.

It is said that State Health Officer Blunt in his report to the governor will estimate the mortality at 8,000 souls.

The quartermaster general was also informed that the transport Athenia has left Kobe for Manila with wagon trains for the First cavalry, which regiment was sent to the Philippines instead of to China, as originally intended. The war department has been notified of the arrival at Kobe of the transport Strathnagle. Two officers and 77 men of the Ninth cavalry are aboard, as well as 676 horses and 44 mules. WOMEN AND BABIES BURNED.

Twelve Suffer Horrible Deaths In Cincinnati Fire.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—An old four story tenement building at 403 East Front street used as a branch nursery of the Salvation Army burned last night, and its occupants were so imprisoned that many were suffocated to death and others seriously injured. Twelve are known to have perished.

On account of the cold weather a fire had been started in the stove for the little tots who are cared for there during the day while their mothers are engaged at work elsewhere. It is thought that this caused the fire through some defect in the flues. Most of the mothers knew nothing of the calamity until they were through with their day's work. At the morgue and at the hospitals as well as about the burned building the scenes were indescribable.

The firemen made heroic efforts to rescue women and children, but most of those on the upper floors were beyond hope. The patrol wagons dashed with all possible speed to the hospitals with those that were rescued, and their cries were heard along the streets. All of the hospital physicians were called in, and the nurses did their utmost to relieve those suffering from burns.

The first floor of the building was used as a church, the second floor as headquarters for the destitute and for cooking and the upper floors for the nursery. The women and children could be seen from these upper stories pleading for help when the stairways were enveloped in flames. The fire was soon controlled, but not until many had died from suffocation and others were seriously burned.

The fire occurred near the river front, the most densely populated part of the city. The nursery is near the old Spencer House, and children from that tenement were in the burned building. Captain Lodge was suffocated while carrying children from her floor. John Hawkins, who lives in the old Spencer House, now used as tenement quarters, lost his life while endeavoring to save his children.

The mission was in charge of Staff Captains Erickson, Anderson and McKenzy, who conducted a kindergarten for the little ones while their mothers were "working out." Captain Erickson recently arrived from New York to superintend the instruction.

James Howard's Trial.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 18.—The first really sensational testimony in the trial of James Howard, charged with having fired the shot that killed William Goebel, has been given by Bowman Gaines, a local liveryman, and James Stubblefield, a former deputy sheriff of Clay county. The former identified Howard as the man who ran out from the rear of the statehouse grounds and jumped over the fence immediately after the shooting. Gaines was positive in his identification of the prisoner as the man and said the latter then wore a mustache and was followed by a man who was tall and slender. A boy who was nearby at the time will also be introduced as a witness to corroborate Gaines. The most sensational witness, however, and at the same time the most important witness from the prosecution standpoint was James Stubblefield, a one legged and one armed ex-deputy sheriff of Clay county. Stubblefield testified that Howard exultingly told him that he fired the shot that took Goebel's life. Stubblefield lost his limbs as a result of the Clay county feuds last year.

CANTON, O., Sept. 18.—President McKinley will start for Washington at noon today to attend to some public business and will return here the latter part of the week. It is said that some matters bearing upon the Chinese question require early attention and that other things that can be better attended at Washington have been accumulating faster than expected. Only Secretary Cortelyou will accompany the president. Secretary Dick did not come to Canton to see the president, as Columbus reports said he would. Judge McAtee of the supreme court of Oklahoma has had an interview with the president.

State Department's Consultations Result In Nothing New.

ARMY PLANS FOR WINTER IN CHINA.

New Cable From Shanghai to Chefu Laid — Count Waldersee's Arrival Expected to Create a Stir Among Military Officials—His Record.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The passage of yesterday without an event bearing upon the Chinese situation went to confirm the prediction made last week by the officials that there would be no immediate important developments. Several cable messages were exchanged, and there were some consultations, notably between Acting Secretary Adee and the Chinese and Japanese ministers and the French charge, but these were without visible result. The general impression is that nothing can be done until the Chinese themselves have progressed further toward the restoration of the government at Peking. Meanwhile the military preparations for a winter stay in China go on without cessation, though the officials are careful to point out that these are only precautionary measures and are not to be taken as an indication of a final determination on the part of the government.

General Chaffee's dispatches show a decided improvement in the cable communications, and notice having been given to the state department that the new cable from Shanghai to Chefu, connecting at that place with the Taku cable, has just been completed it is hoped that it soon will be possible to get messages through on the date of dispatch.

Count von Waldersee, who will command the allied armies, is expected to arrive at Shanghai next Wednesday or Thursday. There have been no announcements of his purposes, but it is expected that these will be developed as the result of instructions which he will receive on arrival. Although a military commander, it is the understanding among officials that he probably will exert considerable influence on the diplomatic situation, as he is a diplomat as well as a soldier. He was with the German embassy at Paris before and after the Franco-German war and has had wide experience in the diplomatic field.

The Japanese minister, Mr. Takahira, has had a conference with Acting Secretary Adee concerning the status of Chinese affairs. Japan's course has been clearly defined in her answer to the Russian proposal. In this answer Japan announces her purpose of withdrawing from Peking all "superfluous" forces and continuing there only such force as is considered necessary. Just what number will constitute this superfluous force does not appear, although it is expected to be the bulk of the Japanese detachment now at Peking. The efforts made by China to start peace negotiations have led to the suggestion that Marquis Ito, the distinguished Japanese statesman, represent that country in the negotiations. A strong public sentiment has been developed in Japan in his behalf, but he has expressed an unwillingness to accept the post, feeling that the conditions do not require his services. It was Count Ito who represented Japan in the negotiations with Li Hung Chang for the settlement of the Japan-China war.

The suggested removal of the Chinese capital from Peking to Shanghai is now practically abandoned. The main reason given is the difficulty of communication between Shanghai and Peking during the winter months. But aside from this was the strong feeling in certain quarters that it would be undesirable to establish a seat of government where British influence is so strongly dominant. The discussion has led to the general understanding among officials that Tien-tsin offers the greatest advantages outside of Peking for purposes of negotiation, and it is likely to be the headquarters, military and diplomatic, of the foreign establishments not maintained at Peking.

Americans Forget Passports.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Henry Bordewich, consul general of the United States at Christiania, Norway, reports to the state department that a great many American citizens come to Norway in the course of their travels without passports or any papers to show their citizenship. As a result they are detained by the police authorities when ready to return to America, and he states that it would be a matter of great convenience to all concerned if American citizens coming to Norway would carry with them either a passport or at least a copy of their certificate of naturalization.

No Change In Carnegie Company.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 18.—No material changes will occur among the officials of the Carnegie company. The meeting at Skibo castle last month was for informal discussion of the general status of affairs in the big corporation, and harmony prevailed in very detail considered. Mr. Carnegie is pleased with the manner in which the business of the company has been conducted and will come to Pittsburg on Nov. 1 to attend the exercises at the Carnegie institute on founders' day.

Elizabeth's Gratifying Growth.

The population of Elizabeth, as officially announced yesterday by the Census Bureau, is 52,130, as against 37,764 in 1890. These figures show, for the city as a whole, an increase in population of 14,366, or 38.04 per cent. from 1890 to 1900. The population in 1880 was 28,229, showing an increase of 9,535, or 33.78 per cent. from 1880 to 1890. The population by wards in 1900 is as follows:

Ward 1	5,299	Ward 7	4,548
" 2	4,015	" 8	6,178
" 3	6,378	" 9	4,154
" 4	3,931	" 10	2,699
" 5	4,761	" 11	3,334

Elizabeth's growth during the last decade is in conformity with the gratifying increase that has been shown thus far in all the other New Jersey municipalities whose populations have been tabulated and announced.

The growth of Elizabeth is directly attributable to its industries. The city is admirably located for development in manufacturing lines, and in this respect it seems to be forging to the front rapidly. There is no reason why it should not grow more rapidly and with greater substance in material things for the next ten years than it has in the past ten. It is on the line of two great railroad systems and, most advantageous of all for itself, it has tidewater facilities of the first class.

If properly managed and promoted Elizabeth should become one of the greatest manufacturing centres in the metropolitan district.

Among the pledges which the Federation of Trades Unions will try to obtain from legislative candidates this year is one to support a measure providing for a constitutional convention. The particular reason why the labor unions want the State constitution revised is to secure a more equitable representation for the great centres of population than they have under the present instrument. The Senate now consists of twenty-one members, being one from each of the twenty-one counties, each county being entitled to a Senator irrespective of the number of its inhabitants. Under this system the ten counties of Atlantic, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Ocean, Salem, Somerset, Sussex and Warren, with an aggregate population, by the State census of 1895, of 299,084, have ten Senators, while the counties of Essex and Hudson, with an aggregate population of 642,080, have but two. Essex, with a population of 312,090, has only one Senator, while the 176,652 people of the counties of Atlantic, Cape May, Gloucester, Ocean, Salem, Somerset and Sussex are represented by seven Senators. Hudson, with its 328,000, has but one Senator, while eleven other counties, with about the same number of inhabitants, have eleven.

Conservative estimates of the August output of the anthracite mines place the total of 4,900,000 tons, in which there is to be considered the result of September work for fifteen days, which is placed at nearly 3,000,000 tons. The mines have been worked for some time past to their full capacity, owing to fear of a strike, and the operators generally scout the notion of an impending or possible coal famine. On behalf of the coal companies it is urged that to yield to the miners' demands would mean speedy bankruptcy, since a 10 per cent. increase in wages alone would cost $6,000,000 a year. The Philadelphia Record observes that "in any arbitration proceedings it would be necessary only to demonstrate the validity of this contention to put an end to any organized miners' movement for increased pay."

As a formal step towards accepting the nomination for Congress in the Seventh district Allan L. McDermott has written a letter to Governor Voorhees resigning the office of State Senator from Hudson county. In politics there are many quick and great changes. Who would have ever thought that four years ago Mr. McDermott would in this Presidential campaign be a candidate for Congress on the same platform with Col. Bryan for President? As a successor of Mr. McDermott in the State Senate it is said that former Judge Robert S. Hudspeth is the most likely man to be chosen by the Hudson county Democrats.

Business men who have done little advertising would be surprised if they could know how large a proportion of newspaper readers are really interested in "ads," says the Philadelphia Record. People like to learn facts about almost any business, and do not have to be enticed into reading an advertisement that tells something. How to reach the buyers in a community is no problem to experienced advertisers; the reputable newspaper with the largest circulation is their efficient medium.

Saturday the electors of Cuba voted in the various provinces for thirty-one delegates to a Constitutional convention which is to meet at Havana on November 5th next to frame the organic law of the new Cuban Republic. The Constitution as finally framed must be satisfactory to the representatives of Federal authority, so that no danger to free institutions on the island need be apprehended in any event.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Senator John Kean is to fill up fifty acres of the swamp land of Newark and Jersey City with the debris of the rapid transit tunnel. The Pennsylvania Railroad is using up another big slice of the marsh in its new roadbed. A few more enterprises like this energetically undertaken will abolish this malaria and mosquito breeding section.—New York Herald.

* * * * * * * *

It is said in Republican political circles that Editor McBride does not desire the appointment as postmaster at Elizabeth. However true this may be, it is certain that his services to his party entitle him to some handsome reward other than the knowledge of "duty well performed." But possibly the genial editor knowing the intimate relations existing between Governor Voorhees and Congressman Fowler feels that the splendid treatment he received from the Governor bars him to a certain extent from bothering his friend for his support for another office. McBride always was considerate.—Summit Record.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly New, but Just as Interesting.

These are the days when bicycling for pleasure is really at its best. It is cool enough so that the necessary exercise is barely felt and there is something bracing and invigorating about the air which is fully enjoyed in a spin over the smooth roads of this section. The county road to Elizabeth is in better condition than it has been for some time and many wheelmen and wheelwomen daily take advantage of it for a little jaunt on their bicycles. Those who have been on a bicycle tour of any length know that this is the most delightful time of the year for such an outing. There are a few men who have been waiting until now for their vacation and will take it awheel. They believe that, after all, they are the only ones who really know how to get the fullest enjoyment out of their annual outing.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, September 18.—Of late there have been many strange and suspicious people about this place and from their actions it is evident that they are about for no good purpose. Several attempts have been made to enter houses and in each instance they have been frightened. It is not known for a certainty who these people are, but they are warned not to ply their trade too far, else they suffer by their own doings. It is not long ago that an effort was made to enter the postoffice, but the thieves were frightened away before they could do anything.

Martin Brennan, who was arrested Sunday morning on a warrant issued by Justice Storms on the complaint of Mrs. Maggie Brennan, charging assault and battery, was arraigned before the Justice and waived examination. He furnished bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance before the Grand Jury. As it is rather late for the present term it is possible that the case will have to go over until the next one. The Justice will make an effort to have it tried in the September term.

Mulford Casterline's handsome phaeton was damaged to some extent yesterday in a collision with one of Wm. Farrier's heavy stone wagons. Emelie Bobenrich was in the wagon, and in trying to get by on the road in front of the hotel ran into Mr. Farrier's rig, which was in charge of Fred Holden. Mr. Casterline's wagon was scratched and one of the front wheels wrecked.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 18.—The mad dog which was shot in Plainfield Sunday was seen to pass through town early Sunday morning, but the few who saw the animal had no idea it was mad. Although acting queer it made no attempt, as far as is know at present, of attacking anyone. But it is feared he may have bitten some of the dogs in town and a close watch will no doubt be kept on any animal showing the least signs of having the rabbies.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Sept. 18—There is no great loss without some small gain. The strike in the coal mines makes work plenty at the coal storage here. They were very busy for several days last week, and prospects are good for work as long as their stock lasts, which will be about two months with the present force.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Way Down East," which enjoyed such long and prosperous runs at the Manhattan Theatre and Academy of Music, New York, will be presented at Music Hall, next Monday night. The success of the play has been remarkable. It caters to all classes of theatregoers, and presents a strong moral without a sermon being preached to you. It is owing to this latter point that it has aroused the interest of the clergy in the different cities in which it has been presented. During the engagement at the Manhattan Theatre, numerous clergymen in Brooklyn used it as a text for their Sunday sermons. "Way Down East" was written by Lottie Blair Parker, and was elaborately produced by that skillful actor, Joseph R Grismer, and the interpreting company supplied by Manager Wm. A. Brady, is one of marked excellence. It depicts life as one finds it in rural New Hampshire and admits of elaborate staging, which Manager Wm. A. Brady has supplied. Probably the most conspicuous scene in "Way Down East" is the snow storm which is presented throughout the entire third act.

James J. Jeffries, the noted athlete who successfully vanquished Sharkey, Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Jackson, earning for himself thereby the enviable title of champion of the world, will pay this city a visit for the first time in his life next Tuesday night, 25th inst, at Music Hall, in the capacity of an actor. Mr. Jeffries is presenting a play from the pen of that eminent playwright, Clay M. Greene, entitled "The Man From the West." The piece deals with life on the plains and in the State of Montana. It fairly bubbles over with exciting scenes and thrilling situations. In one of the scenes of the piece the champion will give an exhibition of bag punching, training exercises and a spirited sparring contest of three rounds with Jack McCormick, of Philadelphia, who defeated Kid McCoy in one round. The dramatic company supporting Mr. Jeffries is a carefully selected one.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—The contract case of Alexander A. Phelps against Mary A. Codwise, that was to have been tried Saturday in Justice Mattison's court, has been settled out of court.

—Mrs. C. M. Fonshell, who has just opened a musical studio in Watchung avenue, sang a very acceptable soprano solo in the Congregational church Sunday morning.

—Yale University will open for the fall term September 27th. Most of the young men from this city who attend that college will go to New Haven Monday or Tuesday of next week.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Frankenthal. Wegen „Landfriedensbruchs" wurden in Maxdorf die Arbeiter Ludwig Kohl, Martin Kohl, Jakob Kohl, Philipp Guhmann, Adam Schäfer, Valentin Fink, Tobias Hahn und Karl Marnet verhaftet. Anläßlich eines Tanzvergnügens in Fußgönnheim hatten sie im Verein mit noch etwa 20 anderen Maxdorfer Burschen mit scharfen Patronen in den Tanzsaal des Wirthes Hanck geschossen, so daß alle Tänzer und Tänzerinnen flüchten und die Musikanten sich auf dem Speicher des Hauses verstecken mußten. Sodann haben sie Fensterläden zertrümmert und durch die Fenster in die Wohnungen der erschreckten Dorfbewohner geschossen. Die Fußgönnheimer Polizei war machtlos. Es mußte die Feuerwehr zusammentreten, der es schließlich gelang, die Burschen aus dem Dorfe zu vertreiben.

ODDS AND ENDS.

How to Utilize Scraps of Lace and Fine Embroidery.

Now that fine needlework is in vogue many odds and ends of lace and embroidery which have gone out of fashion may be utilized in the manufacture of the dainty accessories now so much favored. Everybody knows, for example, that embroidered handkerchiefs give out, as a rule, in the plain middle part, while the decorated edges and corners are still good. Where the corner decoration is small the angles may be cut off and used to make little turnover collars, for use with stock, two parts being used for each side. If the decoration runs all around the handkerchief, it may be cut in two either straight or diagonally, the worn portion trimmed away and the pieces thus left employed as the ends of the large lawn or muslin cravats now worn. The seam by which the ends are attached may be concealed by a row of tucks or a band of insertion may be carried across between the edges to be joined.

The illustration shows a bodice of steel gray taffeta. It has a yoke of plaited white mousseline de soie, around which is a flat, circular bertha of white taffeta edged with narrow guipure. The back is stretched. The front closes invisibly, having a sort of plastron trimmed with guipure. The tight sleeves are of gray taffeta as far as the elbow, where there is a puff of white mousseline de soie. The lower part of the sleeve is of guipure. The belt of velvet is tied at the side.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Interesting Items Concerning the Fashionable Wardrobe.

Stitched bias bands of taffeta are used on woolen and silk gowns and wraps. They are applied in straight lines or are arranged to form motifs of greater or less elaboration and are prettier than they are serviceable, as taffeta soon cuts through where it is exposed to any wear or chafing.

Fashion demands fluffy waviness of the hair without regard to circumstances; hence visitors at the seaside and voyagers upon yachts are at a disadvantage, damp sea air being a notorious enemy of all artificial curls and undulations. To overcome this difficulty the old fashioned invisible net made of hair is revived, and to fasten it there are tiny hairpins, gold, silver or brown, to correspond with the color of the hair.

The illustration shows a new design for a house gown. It is of glace taffeta with deep incrustations of guipure. The back, which is half fitting, forms a train. The shirt bolero is open in front over a draped yoke of white mousseline de soie, below which the gown is tucked lengthwise as far down as the waist. The bolero has guipure revers, and at the back is a large bow of ribbon with long ends. The sleeves of half length have large cuffs with guipure applications, from which escape full sleeves of mousseline gathered into a band at the wrist.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Barnum's Ready Wit.

Not only was Mr. Barnum quick to grasp a situation, but was also ready at repartee. Once at the hotel at Block Island the dining room was crowded with people from all over America. One of the guests was a somewhat notorious mayor of a well known western city. During a partial lull in the conversation this politician had the temerity to bawl out: "Barnum, what is going to be your next humbug? Your last one, the white elephant, was a failure!" Mr. Barnum, in a voice equally loud and without a moment's hesitation, replied:

"I think my next humbug will be the present mayor of your city. I have been twice senator of my state and three times mayor of Bridgeport, but from what I have learned from politicians and their methods in the west I have come to the conclusion that I am now in a far more respectable business—that of showman—in which no man is either corrupted or injured."—W. Up in Mount Vernon, which is a suburb of New York City, there is a man who visits the citizens with—to cut it short—with crullers. A lady recently heard this man address one of her neighbors on the subject of his merchandise and the woman said: "You don't eat them yourself, do you?" And the pedler said, laughing, "Well, formerly I did not, but now I do." The woman thereupon asked what had brought about the change and the pedler said, "Well, I eat crullers, but when I do, I take a Ripans Tabule"—and he produced one of the 5-cent cartons from his pocket. "When I take a Tabule I can eat the crullers and they do no harm to me."

REFORM IS NEEDED.

City of Washington Surrounded by Vice and Crime Factories.

Some of the Loveliest Spots on the Potomac and Chesapeake Bay Dominated by Rumsellers, Gamblers and Bums.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE vice factories are working on full time, and are turning out vicious and criminal grists daily.

The laws for the government of the District of Columbia are strictly enforced by efficient officials, but across the line, in Maryland, there are resorts easily accessible by our street cars where lawlessness consorts with crime.

One of the most beautiful spots in this vicinity is the weird glen ten miles west of the city, over which the government built famous Cabin John's bridge, the longest single span of masonry in the world. On the other side of that glen, in Maryland, there is a hotel, and in that hotel there is a bar, with numerous waiters and barkeepers. There are also private rooms where gambling and other vices may be practiced without the knowledge of the general public.

The electric railway which conveys people from the city to the bridge skirts the Potomac river palisades, and the ride is not only beautiful but, in summer time, invigorating. Thousands of our good people take the ride, and, remaining on the cars, return to their happy homes, but there are other thousands who go for the purpose of drinking, gambling and vicious practices. Sunday is not the best day, but the worst day, of the week, and the lower order of human beings take possession of the cars in such numbers that respectable ladies refrain from the outing, or they must mingle with creatures whose actions and language not only offend but horrify.

The laws of Maryland are good laws. They read well and have sanctions which should deter crime and criminals from appearing upon the soil of the state. But the laws are not enforced. The prohibition laws are rigid, but the bar business at Cabin John's bridge thrives so that it constitutes the chief income of the hotel which is located there. The sheriff and other officers are not in ignorance of this condition. They simply permit the laws to be violated and defied. What inducement the hotel proprietor has given the officials to refrain from executing the law can only be surmised.

Not many weeks ago an innocent man was murdered on the bridge by two young ruffians, and the Maryland authorities were unable to find the perpetrators. The police of this city, however, arrested the murderers, made out complete chains of evidence and turned them over to the Maryland officials. Nothing has been done with them.

It is not alone that men and women go to this resort to drink and carouse. That would be bad enough. But young people go there, or are taken there, to be initiated in vice. Boys of 16 to 20 years of age are permitted to have intoxicants, and encouraged to take them. It is not an unusual sight to see scores of them reeling about helplessly drunk.

But, worse still, girls of from 12 to 16 or 17 years are induced to go there with older women, and soon they become like them "whose feet take hold on hell." They are introduced to libertines, who buy wine for them until they are drunk; and then they learn to take stronger drink and become completely helpless under the influence of whisky.

These things are not written of Peking, or Shanghai, where missionaries are sent, but concerning a resort near this national capital, where no missionaries are ever sent.

Forty miles away there is a resort known as Chesapeake beach—a good bathing place where good people may go for a day's outing on Chesapeake bay, and it is patronized most liberally. There is an electric railway starting at the treasury department in the heart of this city and running seven miles to the district line. There connection is made with the steam cars, which carry passengers on to the beach resort. Right there, across the district line, in Maryland, is a low-down resort called Chesapeake Junction. There beer saloons, dance halls and merry-go-rounds have been set up, and this place is worse than Cabin John's bridge hotel and its environments.

In no wild western frontier mining camp is there greater license, nor ever was. These so-called pleasure parks are nightly thronged with young people, particularly young girls, who are taken there for sinister purposes. There they take their first lessons in drinking and in associations with vicious boys and men who have consciences diseased or deadened with criminal excesses.

Little girls with dresses above their shoe tops are nightly seen at tables with grown men, drinking beer and whisky until their brains reel. Then they are led off for strolls in the parks; and there are no officers of the law stationed at these places, the Maryland authorities there being as callous and blind as those who should look after the other resort mentioned above.

One evening last week a man about 30 years of age was seen to take a girl of 13, or less, buy beer for her until the child could take no more, and then compel her to drink a glass of whisky in spite of her protests. She was almost in a drunken stupor when the man took her by the arm and led her away from the crowd, but there was no one there with authority to interfere. In the midst of that crowd of toughs any law-abiding citizen who would raise his voice against any act of crime or vice might be beaten to death and nobody would know or care who did it, and no prosecution would ensue.

The blue-coated guardians of the peace of this city go on their beats to within a few hundred feet of these vice factories, but they cannot go over into Maryland to enforce the laws of that benighted state.

But the police force of this city can do one thing, and the people here are demanding it. When these cars reach the district line, crowded with drunk and boisterous people, they can arrest those who are disorderly and prosecute them. Night after night the last cars bringing home respectable people from Chesapeake beach are crowded with indecent people whose actions and language are shameful. The men and women, boys and girls, who go to that junction resort and to Cabin John's bridge to get drunk, should be compelled to remain in Maryland until they are sober, or else suffer the consequences before the law in this city.

Maryland may reek with crime and may push her criminal resorts up to our boundaries, but Maryland ought to be made to take care of her own, and also take care of those from this city who are being debauched upon her soil. Maryland may enjoy the fruits of vice and crime, but that state ought not to be allowed to send into the capital city the drunken revelers who sing distasteful songs and indulge in obscenity and profanity. The police force of this city ought to be held responsible for law and order on our street cars, so that respectable ladies and children may have and enjoy the right to proceed from point to point without suffering the humiliation of enforced association with those people.

At each of the resorts mentioned the law is not only violated in the sale of liquor to minors, and to all people on Sundays, but there are gambling devices openly at work by day and by night. Not only is card playing indulged in, but gambling machines are operated by professional gamblers, and the young people are robbed of their nickels until their dollars are all gone. Maryland can have the pleasant monopoly of that sort of lawlessness, and the authorities of this city cannot protest. But our people are beginning to insist that Maryland shall not send thousands of drunken people into this city every night, and take possession of two of our best street car lines to the exclusion of our best citizens and the members of their families.

Jackson City and Rosslyn were two dangerous resorts on the Virginia side of the Potomac for many years. But the people of Fairfax county, Va., removed the county seat from ancient Alexandria to a point near both of those places, and now our people have little cause for complaint of lawlessness there. We have ceased to attack Virginia on that score.

The state of Maryland alone to-day has the monopoly of encouraging vice and crime on our borders, and of enticing our young people to ruin and everlasting infamy. And yet some crowds of the people sing with pride: "Maryland, My Maryland."

They might better be singing temperance hymns and joining with respectable people in crusades against crime.

SMITH D. FRY.

Why He Signed the Pledge.

There is one extremely dissatisfied man in Muscotoh, Kan. He rarely pays his bills, when he can avoid payment, and gets tick wherever he can. Last week something unusual occurred—he got gloriously fuddled, and, when drunk, went down in quest of his creditors, and paid his debts. He was so annoyed on discovering how foolish he had been that he determined to sign the pledge.

One of the local American papers in Manila is agitating the leper question, and advocating the selection of one of the numerous islands of the group as a place where they may be secluded.

LEGIONS OF CRANKS.

Writing to Government Officials Is Their Pet Hobby.

Some of Them Are Dangerous, But Most of Them Are Harmless Lunatics—One Has Electricity in His Head.

There are all sorts of cranks in the world—some of them dangerous to society or themselves, others merely annoying to public men or the persons whom they pester with their ideas. Probably Chief Wilkie, of the secret service, has as good an opportunity to know about them as anyone connected with the government.

"I was at my home the other day," said Chief Wilkie to a Washington Star reporter, "when I was informed that a man wanted to see me. I went to the door, and, after the usual greetings, the man asked me if he could talk with me a few minutes. I took him to a private place, and the first question he asked me was whether I knew Thomas A. Edison. I replied in the affirmative and the man told me this story: 'Edison is after me. He has pursued me right along with his wireless telegraphy, and has run me out of nearly every job I have had. I now feel the electricity buzzing around my head, and every time I have ever been near Edison the electricity would almost kill me. I at first thought it was all due to drinking, but since I have stopped drinking the electricity in my head continues. I do not think it is fair that a man should use his talent in any such way, and I have come to you to see if something can't be done.'

"All during the talk," continued Chief Wilkie, "the man looked at me in the most serious and earnest manner. I, of course, saw that he was a crank before he had spoken many sentences, and the question with me was what to say to him to give him the most satisfaction. A thought occurred to me. I asked him if he knew Tesla, the great rival of Edison. He said he did. Then I told him that Tesla could get satisfaction for him. I told him if he would just explain to Tesla what Edison was trying to do to him Tesla would build him an instrument that would neutralize Edison's electricity and would defeat all of Edison's plans. The man's face actually beamed with pleasure when I unfolded this plan to him, and he declared that he would write to a friend at once and put the plan in operation. He went away satisfied."

In his office in the treasury building Chief Wilkie has a small case devoted to letters from cranks. Many cranks write to him, and some of them keep up a regular correspondence.

A plot to blow up all the government buildings, kill the president and all public officials was revealed to Chief Wilkie in a letter from a crank at Cleveland, O. The writer said that 40 anarchists had left for Washington, and would do their dastardly work the next day. He implored the officials to be on the lookout. The funny part of the letter was that if there had been such a plan it could have been carried out before the letter arrived, as the writer had forgotten to mail the letter for three days after he had written it.

Sometimes there is absolutely no connection in the ideas sought to be conveyed by the writer. In Atlantic City is a crank of this kind. He thinks himself a student so profound that none understands his ideas. Writing to Chief Wilkie, occasionally underscoring some phrase or sentence, he says: "Will you pardon this liberty? Still, I thought it best to state a few facts, and thought 'it takes a very secure place to keep a secret.' One of my lines of study is 'shooting arrows.' I have wandered on in the forest of study, concerning Columbia, that I seem to be at home with you all, but awakening to conditions of my circumstances—you are all lost—as knowing you, for recommendation. To clear the atmosphere a little I inclose a photo of my two signatures. I am the same person, full signature special, short-writing and stamp business, and partly special to some extent, I mean. The full signature to a letter may mean some importance as to information, or may be considered as an arrow of a diplomatic character shot in the right direction."

From Chattanooga, Tenn., Chief Wilkie has been receiving letters from a man who says he is under "a magic influence," and he wants detectives sent to clear the whole matter up.

Richest Town in Europe.

There are no taxes in Arsa, Sweden. In the course of 30 or 40 years the community has sold about $5,000,000 worth of trees, and thus obtained money to pay the expenses of government. Railways and telephones are free as well as the schools.

Learn to be a worker. Every man's success is founded on hard work, backed by honesty, a little common sense and a good deal of taste.—Atchison Globe.

"What!" exclaimed the orator. "What two things are helping mankind to get up in the world?" "The alarm clock and the stepladder," answered the dense person in the rear of the hall.—Baltimore American.

The Cruel Man.—Daggs—"I think Miss Hinote's vocal solos sound better when one is some distance off." Waggs—"Undoubtedly—now the farther away from her I can get the better I enjoy her singing."—Ohio State Journal.

He Was Generous.—When the queen, during a stay in Scotand, visited the Tay bridge, one feature of the attendant ceremony was the presentation of a beautiful basket of flowers. The queen smiled as she took it, but Dundee was not yet satisfied that it had done all in its power. The provost stepped forward with a low bow. "And, your majesty," said he, "you need not return the basket."—London Outlook.

ODD EFFECTS OF CARGOES.

Sufferings Caused to Sailors at Sea by Coffee, Sugar and Pine Lumber.

It was in one of the little river front eating houses in Brooklyn frequented by sailors from the coasters which are loading or unloading. A big, powerful sailor, who looked as if he had never in his life known what it was to be sick for a day, entered and took a chair opposite a longshoreman who had already ordered and was waiting for his dinner. As the sailor was looking over the bill of fare with that critical and hesitant eye that characterizes Jack ashore from a long voyage with a discriminating sea appetite upon him, the waiter brought in a cup of steaming coffee and set it down before the longshoreman. As the odor of it reached the sailor's nostrils he bent upon the cup a gaze of concentrated disgust and hatred. Then he turned deadly pale, rose from his seat and staggered toward the door, relates the New York Sun.

"Been drinkin' a little too much for your tonnage, mate?" asked the proprietor, helping him to the door.

"Haven't had a drop to-day," said the man. "It's that coffee."

"What's the matter with the coffee?" asked the proprietor, angrily. "There ain't any better coffee than that on the river front."

"That's all right," replied the sailor, with an effort, "but I just got in off a coffee ship this morning."

"Oh," said the proprietor, comprehendingly. "If that's the case I'll fix you off in the corner where you'll be all right."

A table was set for him far from the others, and there he ate his dinner in apparent peace. Now there was in the eating house a landsman of an inquiring turn of mind who failed to understand the wherefore of all this, so he questioned the proprietor, who has been long on the river front and is himself a graduate from before the mast and has sailed in many waters of the world.

"Nothing queer about that," he said, in response to the landsman's question. "He's been out on a coffee ship, that's all. He won't want to see or smell coffee for weeks, let alone taste it."

"Do they feed them nothing but coffee on the coffee ships?" asked the landsman, in the innocence of his soul.

"Feed 'em? 'Tisn't the feed. It's the smell that knocks 'em. For a week or ten days it isn't bad; in fact, it's rather a pleasant smell, that of the green berry, but after that it begins to get on your mind. In damp weather if it's a long voyage it's something terrible. I've seen a whole ship's crew in a dead calm over the rails, just getting breath enough to swear between times. If anybody had been going by they'd have thought there was a shipful of lubbers getting the worst of the ground swell. By and by a breeze came up and didn't take any orders from the captain to get us astern and to windward of our cargo in two seconds. But we hardly had strength enough to work that ship the rest of the voyage home and if we'd struck another calm spell I reckon we'd have all dropped overboard from pure disgust."

Refuse to Be Civilized.

China is often alluded to (whether correctly or not is a question) as a benighted region, but there is one little kingdom, the Hermit kingdom of Corea, that is entitled to the palm of darkness as far as civilization and modern progress goes. The trouble with China is that the people will not adopt systems of the foreigners, while Corea, it seems, cannot. Missionaries and others have been endeavoring to instruct the Coreans in the use of American tools, but, with all the labor involved, they prefer to do the work as their forefathers did.—Washington Times.

JUST MISSED CHRISTIANITY.

China's Search for the Incarnate God Was 15,000 Miles Short of the True God.

One of the most interesting chapters of Chinese history is that which concerns the embassy sent out in 67 A. D by Emperor Wing-te to find the incarnated God. Rumors of the Christian religion, its miracles and holy men penetrated to the court of Peking in that year. These eventually reached the ears of the emperor. Calling the literary and scientific men before him, he demanded to know their opinions, says a London exchange.

After long consultation it was decided to send an embassy to the incarnated God, with rich offerings, and to ask him to come to China to preach the true word. So a great caravan of richly-decorated camels was gathered and magnificent offerings loaded upon their backs. There were superb silks, glittering precious stones, the choicest incense, magnificent ivory carvings and the finest products of all China. Attended by a huge retinue of coolies and servants and soldiers, the embassy, consisting of China's most learned men, started south along the coast line, for in those days it was not safe to travel too far inland. Days and weeks the caravan traveled. Each day prayers were offered for the incarnate God. On went the cavalcade, passing beyond the boundaries of China into the unknown land beyond. Everywhere the mission went the word of the search was passed, and soon a huge army entered India.

Once there the stories of the incarnate God became more circumstantial and with renewed courage the ambassadors pressed on. At last southern India was reached and a positive clew discovered—at least so the embassy thought. Yes, the natives had heard of a great prophet. He had performed miracles and had disappeared in a miraculous manner, none knew whither. He had lived and was born on an island south of India, across the water, which the Chinese dreaded.

But, strong as was the fear of water, the desire to accomplish their purpose was stronger, and so in rude boats they set sail for Ceylon. The weather favored them and soon they set foot on the island home of the unknown prophet. There, where the knowledge of his existence was still fresh in the minds of the people, where the Bo-tree, or tree of knowledge, where he had gained inspiration, was still standing, where his personality was not yet forgotten, the ambassadors gained their knowledge of —Buddha, Gautama Siddartha, the all-wise.

They confused Buddha and his works for Christ and His miracles. Had they gone 1,500 miles to the west they would have received the true word and China might have been the greatest Christian nation on earth.

NOTABLE DEAD LIE THERE.

King's Chapel, Boston, First Built in 1869, and Its Unique Graveyard.

At the corner of Tremont and School streets in Boston stands one of the most historic churches in that city. This church is King's chapel, and when it was built it took the place of a small wooden chapel standing on the same ground. The little wooden chapel had been erected in the year 1689, and the land on which it stood was taken from the public burial ground by Gov. Andros. It was the first Episcopal church in Boston, and its attendants were chiefly the British officers and loyalists. It had the first organ ever heard in New England, a certain Thomas Brattle having given it the instrument in 1713. In the year 1749 the corner stone of the present building was laid by Gov. Shirley, but the church was not completed until 1789. In that year George Washington was present at an oration given in the church celebrating its completion, and he contributed five guineas to the church. During the siege of Boston this was the only church in which regular services were held attended by the British officers. When the city was evacuated by the British the rector sailed away to Halifax, carrying with him the church register, communion service and vestments, and the church was closed. A few years later it became the First Unitarian church, and it is to-day one of the most important of the Unitarian churches.

Gov. Shirley lies buried in a tomb beneath the porch of the church, and in the old burying ground at the side and in the rear of the church are the graves of many of the good men and true who were among the founders of the city of Boston. Here may be seen the graves of John Winthrop, of Gov. John Leverett, of Mary Chilton, of Lady Anne Andros, wife of Sir Edmund, the governor. Lady Andros died in February, 1688, and her funeral was held in the evening by torchlight. The funeral of Gen. Joseph Warren, who was killed at the battle of Bunker Hill, was held in this church. The body was followed from the townhouse to the church by a great procession, and the funeral oration was by Perez Morton. In later years the funerals of many distinguished Bostonians have been held from King's chapel.

French Style of Starting Foot Races.

In an American sprinting race the starter orders the runners on their marks, then tells them to "get ready," then calls out "set," and a couple of seconds later fires the pistol. At the Paris races the French starter ordered the men on their marks, called out "attention" and fired the pistol so soon afterward that the Americans could not get into a crouching position. After the first heat or two the Americans were always set by the time attention was called and started at the word instead of pistol, thus gaining a yard or two.—Little Chronicle.

KING HAD VANISHED.

And the Entire Belgian Court Was Very Much Excited.

Why Belgium's Portion of the Allied Army in China Will Arrive Three Weeks Later Than the Troops of Other Nations.

Those who are disposed to believe that it is only in novels and melodramas that monarchs are wont to mysteriously vanish from sight, either temporarily or forever, need only cast a passing glance at the Belgian newspapers just to hand in order to convince themselves that there is no necessity for either novelist or playwright to draw on imagination in the matter. For King Leopold has once again been alarming his people and his family, besides throwing into confusion the whole government administration, by being completely lost for the space of an entire ten days.

An important cabinet council was to have been held on a stated day at Ostend to which all the ministers had been summoned, and a number of decrees and proclamations were awaiting the king's signature, including one giving the royal sanction to the dispatch of a Belgian contingent to China. The ministers and various government officials arrived at Ostend on the appointed day, but there was no king. Inquiry led to a reluctant admission on the part of the court officials —who are obliged to observe the utmost discretion in revealing their master's whereabouts—that the king was away yachting somewhere in the North sea.

Referring to this state of affairs, the Marquise de Fontenoy says in the New York Journal that inasmuch as the government business for which his presence is needed admitted of no delay, telegrams were sent to all the German, Dutch, Danish and British ports at which it was thought that the royal yacht might possibly touch. But no trace of the king could be found. Day followed day, and the alarm, not only at Ostend, but likewise at Brussels, and indeed throughout Belgium, grew hourly, until finally, after ten days of anxiety, dismay and confusion, the king sailed into port without vouchsafing any other information than that he had been delayed by stress of weather, although the meteorological reports gave no indication of any bad weather having been noted in northern Europe.

This is by no means the first time the king has disappeared in this fashion. On one memorable occasion he completely vanished from sight for the space of six weeks, and a ministerial crisis having unexpectedly arisen at Brussels, he was sought far and wide, the sittings of parliament being suspended from day to day, since there was no possibility of proroguing the legislature nor of receiving the resignation of the defeated ministers nor yet of appointing their successors without the king's presence. When last heard of he had been yachting off the Moorish coast, and, as Belgium had no navy, English, German and French warships were requested to cruise along the Moorish coast with the object of discovering if the royal yacht had perhaps been wrecked and Leopold captured by Moorish pirates. Finally, after all Europe was in a state of perturbation about the matter, the king was by mere chance found enjoying himself by means of a driving tour in questionable company in one of the remote portions of Switzerland.

Nor can one forget that memorable birthday of his three or four years ago, when, all the troops of the Brussells garrison having taken up their position in review order and the dignitaries of the court and of every branch of the government service as well as the foreign diplomatic corps had assembled at the royal palace to offer their congratulations, no king could be found. He was sought high and low, but in vain, and only returned to Brussels a couple of days later. Nor was it until the arrival of the German papers that the worthy Belgians learned that their king had spent his birthday at a small resort not far from Frankfort "with friends" from Paris.

Hens as Fortune Tellers.

Russian girls have a peculiar way of learning their matrimonial prospects. A number of girls take off their rings and conceal them in a shallow basket of corn; then a hen is brought in and invited to partake of the corn, and the owner of the first ring uncovered will be the first to enter matrimony.

Real Nice Wedding Cake.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Richard, of Plainfield, N. J., was married recently. When the bride cut the cake she found in the bottom of it a bag containing $1,500, which had been contributed by the parishioners.

"THE MAN WHO KNOWS, 1158

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The scene of the principal football contests this fall will be on Martine Common as usual. The management of the Plainfield High School team was the first to secure the use of the Common but arrangements will be made with the management of the Alis team so that the latter team will play there as heretofore. The High School games will be principally in the morning with an occasional afternoon game. The Alis team will play most of its games in Plainfield but will occasionally arrange an out-of-town game when the High School team will play at the Common. The field is to be put in good condition at once and both clubs will make the usual arrangements for the collection of tickets on the grounds.

ON THE DIAMOND

A great game of ball will be played next Saturday on the old golf grounds, Plainfield avenue, between teams from Pond's and St. Mary's school. This will be for the championship of the city.

The Brownies Gathered.

The first rehearsal of "The Brownies in Fairyland," which is to be given in Music Hall, Sept. 28th and 29th, was held in Music Hall yesterday afternoon and proved a great success. Ninety bright children of this city responded and took up the work without trouble. Many of the mothers accompanied the children and were delighted with the prospect for the entertainment. The affair is in charge of Miss Edith Pond, of New York. A part of the proceeds will be given to the Galveston relief fund.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Why Widen Somerset Street.

To the editor of The Daily Press—It occurs to the writer that the proposed widening of Somerset street is an unnecessary expense on the borough. From my view point I think that the widening is not consistent in view of the recent opening of Watchung avenue and the almost completed Duer street, one block in either direction. What is it for? Certainly not for the traffic and certainly not for beauty. Perhaps it is an excuse to do away with the wire poles and the gloomy looking trees, which cast a bewildering and forest-like appearance as one looks up the central cavern-like approach to the borough.

But why is it necessary to widen Somerset street at the proposed expense of $5,000, when the desired results can be had with at least one-fifth of the expense without widening? Is it to accommodate the trolley line? This cannot and should not be, as the trolley only conveys a car every fifteen minutes, with extremely careful speed. Perhaps it is looking into the future when auto vehicles and the other possibilities will be gliding by. This is all very well but there are other much more needed improvements—a sewer to tide water; a little park cut out from Somerset street to Elm street, formerly Water street; annexation, the most important improvement of all.

This latter, of course, can be obtained by guaranteeing the "political plums" to the ones who give up their orchards. The P. O. sub-stationists for instance. Getting down to hard business, if there is more room needed for wagons to go around the trolley switch opposite the schoolhouse, buy a good wide strip of ground opposite the schoolhouse, and set off the trolley switch as far as possible from the school. Somerset street can be straight or offset, a little park might be worked in and the majority of citizens satisfied. D. T. Kenney.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

Claims Cement was Not Right.

Bruce & Runyon have been engaged by Titus H. Laury, the contractor for the new railroad station, to bring suit against DeWitt C. Ivins & Co., for damages resulting from a certain grade of cement sold to the plaintiff. The contractor claims that he did not get the kind of cement ordered and for this reason he had to tear down a portion of the wall erected and build it over again. This case will be tried in the District Court soon.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

A movement will be inaugurated here tomorrow in the interest of the educational work of the Y. M. C. A., the aim of which will be to bring to the attention of the machinists and employes of the local shops the many advantages to be gained through the evening classes and other departments of the Y. M. C. A. in this city.

Charles B. Brown, formerly a resident of this city, now associate State Y. M. C. A. secretary, will conduct a meeting at the Aluminum Plate and Press Works at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and one at the Scott Press Works at 12:35 o'clock. The meeting will not be of a religious character but Mr. Brown will merely explain the advantages to the wage-earner and working man which may be obtained from the association.

George H. Fountain will accompany Mr. Brown and photograph the men at each shop at the close of the meeting. Thursday noon meetings will be held at the other of the shops in the city.

The object of these meetings is to arouse interest in the work of the Y. M. C. A. and bring the wage-earner to realize what advantages are really within his reach for his better mental and physical improvement.

In Aid of Famine Fund.

An entertaint for the benefit of the India Famine Relief Fund will be held at the East Third Street mission Thursday evening. There will be singing, recitations and readings by by Gertrude Gier, Ethel Reynolds, Mabel Hand and Edna Kennedy, also violin solos by B. W. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance as those in charge are quite anxious to raise a goodly sum for the worthy object mentioned. A collection will be taken during the evening.

Tried to Shift Blame.

The case of J. F. Martin against Theodore Galzer, Jr., on contract, was tried in Justice Moffett's court this morning. The plaintiff was represented by Robert M. Clark, while Wm. G. DeMeza represented the defendant. The suit was for money claimed by the plaintiff for work done for the defendant. The defendant attempted to prove that he should not be sued and that William Schorb was the man. Justice Moffett gave the plaintiff judgment for full claim and costs. Notice of appeal was given.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

Gottfreid Honey brought suit against Michael Powers for $5.25, balance of wages claimed due him. The case was tried in Justice Mosher's court this morning. The plaintiff was represented by W. G. DeMeza, but his place was taken by William Sweeney, while he tried another case. The defendant was represented by his bookkeeper, Mr. Schimel. Judgement was given the plaintiff for $5.25 and the costs of the court, and an execution was issued.

Came Near Being Killed.

A valuable bull dog belonging to John Hine, of Liberty street, escaped from its owner last evening. At Fourth and Liberty streets it attacked another dog, despite the fact that it wore a muzzle. The crowd tried to drive the bulldog away by clubbing it with pickets and a crowbar. Finally Patrolman Saffron fired at it twice with his revolver. The dog is now in a fair way to get well, but received a very severe beating.

NICHOLAS MESSERSCHMIDT DEAD.

A Well-Known Resident of the Borough—Aged 77 Years.

Nicholas Messerchmidt, aged 77 years, one of the best known residents of Plainfield, died last evening at his home at 80 Jackson avenue, after a long illness. For a long time he had been detained at his home, and his death was not wholly unexpected. He was a tailor by trade and many years ago was employed by Christin Schepflin on West Front street. Mr. Messerschmidt lived on Washington street near Fifth street for years, but during the past few years he resided at 80 Jackson avenue. He is survived by two sons, William F. and Emil Messerschmidt, both residents of the borough.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Interment in North Plainfield cemetery.

Team of Horses Wandered Off.

A team of horses belonging to a farmer, named Matthews, living on the Springfield road, near Scotch Plains, wandered away from the stable of William Schenck, near Scotch Plains, early this morning. The horses broke their halters and were last seen by a hay-carter coming in the direction of Plainfield. One of the team is a bay mare and the other a grey horse. They are fifteen and a-half hands high and well-matched.

otherwise proved himself a capable military man. In the Egyptian expedition of 1882 Gen. O'Grady Haly was one of the fighting officers in the Second York and Lancashire regiments. He also served in the Hazara expedition of 1888, and was mentioned in the dispatches for his valor in that campaign. He begins his regime in Canada entirely free from all prejudices or entanglements, such as made the recent command of Gen. Hutton disagreeable alike to that soldier and to the officers of the provincial militia.

The Earth Is a Glutton.

Nothing is too big or too small to escape the maw of our hungry globe. Quicksands are the traps she spreads for the smaller fry. Probably the worst and most dangerous in the world are the "shotts" of the Sahara. These are perhaps the dregs of some prehistoric sea. Now they are covered over with a thick crust of salt and sand. Whole caravans have walked unconsciously into these death traps and been quickly swallowed up. Reclus, the great French authority, declares you can sound these quicksands to a depth of 300 feet without finding bottom.

Horse Made a Vicious Bite.

A man named Apgar, employed on one of the delivery wagons of the Lake Hopatcong Ice Company, met with a painful accident this morning. He was arranging the bridle about the head of a horse when the horse caught Apgar's thumb in its mouth. The thumb was almost bitten off. He went to Powers' drug store, where James Best, the clerk, fixed the injured member so that there will be no further trouble.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD MAY HAVE TO GO DRY

Rivalry for Licenses Causes a Stir in the Middlesex County Court.

A WOMAN AS AN APPLICANT.

MORRIS HIGGINS SAYS THAT HE CAN OFFER BETTER ACCOMMODATIONS.

Witnesses on Their Way to Court Almost Killed in Runaway Accident—Another in Contempt of Court.

South Plainfield may have to go dry this fall. It has a saloon now, the Lehigh Valley Hotel, but an effort is being made to get a license for another place, and the result will likely be that neither place will get a license before December. Naturally, South Plainfield is much excited over the affair. The records up to date show that one family has been almost killed in a runaway accident, one man has been threathened with punishment for contempt of court and still others have been compelled to make public all their real estate ownings and how they got them.

When license applications were received last week Mrs. Amanda E. Poling and Morris Higgins filed applications for the privilege of dispensing wet goods at South Plainfield. Mr. Higgins claimed that he could offer better accommodations and therefore wanted the license. The hearing was set down in New Brunswick yesterday. Peter F. Daily looked after the interests of Mrs. Poling and George S. Silzer represented Mr. Higgins.

At the hearing yesterday morning Mr. Silzer began to tear Mrs. Poling's application apart. He had subpœnaed nearly all the the signers to her petition, with the intention of showing that out of the fifteen signers there were not twelve legal property owners upon it.

George Arrowsmith, of South Plainfield, had signed both applications. He also had been subpœnaed. He started for New Brunswick yesterday with his wife and son in a buggy. As they were driving near Metuchen their horse became frightened at a trolley car and ran away. Mr. and Mrs. Arrowsmith were thrown out and seriously injured. The boy kept in the rig and disappeared. The horse may still be running. Mr. Arrowsmith didn't appear in court and Judge Strong accepted the excuse for his absence.

John Maher, also of South Plainfield, was another subpœnaed witness who failed to appear. Lawyer Silzer said that he would move for contempt of court against the man and asked that a bench-warrant be issued directing the Sheriff to produce the man.

Mr. Maher's wife was in court. The Court was about to issue the warrant when the wife rose to her husband's defence and she pleaded for him more eloquently and persuasively than any lawyer could have done.

"Your Honor," she said, "if my husband came here today he would lose his job. His boss said so. He has a very responsible position. He is a railroad gate-tender and couldn't get anybody to take his place this morning and took a strange man down to tend the gates for him, but as the man had never had any experience with gates he couldn't leave him in charge. Why, your Honor, if my husband left the crossing it might have been the means of having many people killed there."

The appeal softened Lawyer Silzer's heart and he withdrew his application for a bench warrant.

After having heard the testimony Judge Strong said that the Court was anxious to consider the matter upon its merits. In this case, he said, he had heard no complaint regarding the way which Mrs. Poling had kept her place. The only argument that had been made was that somebody could do it better. The Court, he said, is anxious to do as the people of that locality desire. As no complaint has been made against Mrs. Poling's place he took it that the place gives satisfaction. He could not see why, therefore, he should give the license to somebody else. He said that if it is shown that Mrs. Poling's application has not the necessary number of signers, then he will permit her to withdraw it and she may present it again in December. In the mantime, he said, he would not grant any license to the other applicant.

After considerable arguing, the whole matter was adjourned until Friday, September 28th, when the fight will be renewed.

—Neuman Brothers have 50 baskets of Bartlett pears which will be sold at reasonable prices.

NEW TRIBE READY.

Will be Instituted by Great Sachem William Newcorn at Meeting Tomorrow Evening.

The new tribe of Red Men, Wetumpkah Tribe, will begin its official career tomorrow evening when Great Sachem William Newcorn will institute the new tribe. The initiatory work will be done by the team from Miantonomo Tribe. The ceremonies will be held in Red Men's Hall where the braves of Wetumpka Tribe will hereafter hold their meetings. It was hoped that the charter list might number a hundred but it has not yet reached that point. The members are hustling after good candidates to fill up the list.

TO BE WEDDED.

John V. Beekman, Jr., is to Figure Prominently in Big Church Wedding at Cambridge, Mass.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Susan Warren Hill, daughter of Mrs. Frederick K. Hill, of Cambridge, Mass., to John VanDeveer Beekman, Jr., eldest son of John V. Beekman, of West Eighth street. The ceremony will take place in the Old Cambridge Baptist church, Cambridge, Mass., Tuesday evening, October 2d, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Beekman graduated from the Plainfield High School as a member of the class of '95, and after a year's study, entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he graduated last June after taking a four year's course in architectural engineering. He now has an excellent position with a large New York engineering firm. It was while attending the technical school at Cambridge that he met the young woman who is soon to be his wife. They will take up their residence at Glen Ridge.

TO GET THEM ALL OUT.

Republicans Will Work to Secure Enrollment of All Members of Their Party.

The Republican leaders of the city have sent out instructions to their assistants to see that as many as possible of the local Republican voters turn out tomorrow evening for the enrollment. The new project of the city executive committee of the G. O. P. will then put to practical test the improvement made to the Murray primary system by the originator thereof, Roger F. Murray.

The hour for the enrollment is from 8 until 10 and the places of enrollment will be the regular places where the primaries are held. Those who are not enrolled tomorrow evening will have another opportunity a week later, but the ward workers are particularty anxious to get as many as possible out the first night for fear they might be overlooked the next week.

It is expected that this first touch of real politics will tend largely to awaken the workers out of the apathy which seems to prevail at present. Ward organizations may be formed at once and preparations made for an active campaign up to Election Day.

An Approaching Marriage.

An interesting marriage for the month of October will be that of Miss Loretta Darby, daughter of John L. Darby, of Alton, and Edgar F. Sheppard, of Central avenue. The affair will be a quiet one and will take place at the home of the bride Wednesday, October 3d. Both are popular young people. Mr. Sheppard is president of the Christian Endeavor Society at Trinity Reformed church, and is very active in church work, as is also Miss Darby, who attends the same church.

County Contract.

The contract for excavating and lowering the bed of the stream beneath the centre arch of the Morris avenue bridge over VanWinckle's Creek at Springfield has been awarded by the Morris County Board of Freeholders to John C. Howard, of Springfield. The contract price is $155. The excavation is to be fifty feet long, ten feet wide and eighteen inches deep. This is to be cobbled in the form of an inverted arch, eight inches deep.

Classes in Boys' Club Formed.

The members of the Boys' Club were regularly organized in classes last evening and the regular work of the club was begun under the direction of the superintendent, Olaf Saugstad. There will be twenty-five boys in the various classes at the start instead of twenty, the number last year, and more may be taken in during the next few weeks.

Special Deputy Sheriff.

Peter V. Weaver, of West Front street, has just received the appointment of special deputy sheriff for Union county. The appointment was made yesterday by Sheriff Robert G. Houston, and Mr. Weaver received his badge and notification of appointment this morning.

WALKED TO HIS DEATH ON RAILROAD TRACKS

An Unknown German Killed by Passenger Train on the Central Yesterday.

NO WAY TO IDENTIFY VICTIM.

REMAINS WILL BE HELD BY UNDERTAKER TILL SATURDAY.

Passing Coal Train Made it Impossible for Him to Hear the Approach of Passenger Train That Killed Him.

An unknown German walked on the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad yesterday afternoon for the last time. The express train, which leaves New York at 3:45 o'clock and is due here at 4:35 came upon him. He didn't hear the whistle. He lived only long enough to be brought to the North avenue station where he died in the baggage room. From his appearance it is evident that he was not a tramp but was a workman, propably returning to his home.

The stranger did a foolish thing. We was walking westward on the west bound passenger track. He was approaching Berckman street when a coal train came along on the third track. The noise of the passing coal train evidently drowned the sound of the whistle of the approaching express. The warning shriek of the whistle was disregarded and the man never turned his head. The air brakes were applied but the locomotive struck him and hurled him to one side of the track,

The train was stopped and backed up to where the body of the injured man lay. He was carefully lifted into the baggage car and brought to the North Avenue station where he was taken into the baggage room. Dr. Browning was the first to respond to the hurry call for a physician. He reached there in time to be present at the last moments of the stranger.

The victim of the accident was apparently a German of about 50 years of age. He had a grey moustache and his hair was slightly tinged with grey. His clothing was cheap, but in good condition, and he appeared far too clean for the usual hobo. In his pocket was 80 cents in change, a rusty case knife and a pair of rusty scissors in a leather case. There were no papers about him which might lead to his identification.

The body was removed to Cole's undertaking establishment late in the afternoon and County Physician Westcott summoned. Dr. Westcott found a scalp wound, a broken arm and a bad bruise on the abdomen. Death was probably due to concussion.

Dr. Westcott was convinced that the man was no tramp, but probably a workman whose home was in this vicinity. So he instructed Mr. Cole to hold the body until Saturday at the latest to permit the identification of the body if possible.

BIBLE STUDY.

Don O. Sheldon Arranging to Conduct a Series of Meetings in This City Again.

Among the various speakers who have addressed Plainfield audiences on Bible study there has been none as popular as Don O. Sheldon, of New York city. Mr. Sheldon is working under the direction of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association and has been making addresses on the subject of Bible study throughout the States. Through the influence of Wm. D. Murray, of this city, who is a member of the international committee, Mr. Sheldon was again secured by the local association to speak here. His Bible conference here last December was very popular and it is expected that many will wish to hear him again. He will speak at three meetings in this city next week. Monday evening he will hold a conference in Y. M. C. A. hall with pastors, directors and committeemen of the Y. M. C. A. The meeting Tuesday evening will be a public one and will be held in the First Presbyterian church. A special invitation to the members of the various young people's societies of Plainfield and vicinity has been given. The Thursday evening meeting at Y. M. C. MAN WILL BE THE MAN.

BAYONNE DEMOCRAT WILL PROBABE NAMED AGAINST FOWLER.

Convention Now in Session—More Interest Evidenced Than in Former Years

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Bayonne, Sept. 19—For the first time in many years, genuine interest is being evidenced in the Democratic convention for the Eighth Congressional district, which is being held here this afternoon in Arlington Park, and will nominate an opponent to Congressman Fowler.

More delegates are in attendance than at any convention since the one that named John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth for a renomination.

From all appearance the strongest candidate for the nomination is E. A. S Man, of Bayonne. Mr. Man has the solid delegation from his home at his back, and they are working among the Union county delegates seeking support for him.

The fact that Bayonne has not had the nomination in many years and is a strong Democratic city, leads many of the influential delegates to urge that Mr. Man be honored with the nomination.

Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, is recognized as an aggressive and loyal Democrat, but there is a disposition among many of the delegates which argues that he should retire at this time and let the Bayonne favorite have the nomination without a contest.

Edward S. Wilde, of Glen Ridge, seems to have dropped out of the contest. Essex county has the fewest delegates of any section in the district, and as that county has had the nomination twice in succession it is recognized that it really has no claim upon it at this time.

Most of the Union county delegates arrived here at 1:30 o'clock and are now in caucus to determine what their attitude will be in the convention.

The Bayonne delegates caucused with the following result:

On Rules—James J. Connors.

Resolutions—City Attorney Allen Benny.

Credentials — Councilman Charles McGee.

Permanent Organization—Recorder Hyman Lazarus.

Vice-President—John McAdie, Jr.

Assistant Secretary — Charles T. Cavanaugh.

Congressional Committeeman — Daniel J. Murray.

ACTIVITY IN SOMERSET.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE LAID PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN.

First Meeting of the Fall Held at Somerville Yesterday—Will Open Headquarters There.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 19—Things political in Somerset county are beginning to show considerable life. The Republicans of the county prepared to open their campaign yesterday, when the members of the Republican county executive committee enjoyed the hospitality of Senator Charles A. Reed at a dinner given at Cawley's Hotel, this place, and afterwards held their first meeting of the fall.

All the boroughs and townships of the county were represented, and, while, as yet, nothing has been done, all the committeemen were enthusiastic over the outlook in the coming campaign. After the dinner, there was an informal discussion of the situation and the best plan of campaign to be followed this fall.

It was decided to take a preliminary canvass of the county at once. There will be a series of mass meetings through the county, the dates and the speakers at which were not definitely fixed at present. There will also be a general distribution of campaign literature. The organization of campaign clubs will be encouraged.

The county committee already has one room in this place for county headquarters. It was decided to enlarge the quarters and open the county headquarters as soon as possible and keep it open until after election.

STRIKE BRINGS AN ADVANCE IN COAL.

Price of Coal in Plainfield Was Advanced Yesterday Fifty Cents a Ton.

SOME CHARGE EVEN MORE.

TODAY SEES SEVERAL DEALERS SELLING COAL AT $6 A TON.

Scarcity of Coal in Plainfield Made the Advance—No New Supply Yet Received—Stock in City Fast Decreasing.

The big strike in the anthracite coal regions has started and, as a direct result, the price of coal in Plainfield has begun to climb. An informal conference of the local coal dealers yesterday resulted in a general advance of 50 cents per ton on all domestic sizes. Today two of the dealers have announced to their customers a still further advance and are selling coal at $6 a ton, where a week ago it brought but $5.

As is the situation all through this and neighboring states, so Plainfield is short of coal. There are some wise householders who have the winter supply of coal safely stowed away. The rest find themselves unable to get their usual orders filled and are enabled to purchase only a single ton, all the dealers refusing to sell more than a ton of each kind of coal. All the domestic sizes of hard coal are selling at the same price. Pea coal, which is usually $1 cheaper than the other kinds, is not to be had now at all.

Last week, The Daily Press told of the situation in Plainfield, regarding the supply of coal. There was then barely five thousand tons of the fuel stored in all the local yards. A few small shipments have been received since that time while the wagons of nearly all of the coal dealers have been very busy distributing coal, a ton at a time, to their various customers. The result is that the supply has steadily decreased and there is no immediate prospect of renewing it.

Representatives of several of the large coal companies were in town yesterday. They could promise nothing. They would accept orders but utterly refused to guarantee their delivery at any specified time. There are already many orders, sent in weeks or months ago, which have not yet reached the local dealers. Furthermore there seems no prospect of these shipments arriving for some time.

Today the price of coal is $5.50 a ton at most of the yards. Regular customers are enabled to get a ton at that price, but other people will have trouble in getting any coal at all from most of the dealers. Their present supply is so low that they will try to protect their own customers and allow the rest of the public to hustle for their coal.

The reason for the raise, as given by one of the prominent dealers, was simply the great scarcity of coal. If any more coal could be purchased, he said, it would be increased in prices, and so the dealers have to protect themselves.

A still further increase in the price of coal may be expected any day. As the supply in this city is reduced the price will go up. If no more coal comes in, it will not be many days before coal will not be obtainable at any price.

Central May Buy.

Edward White is gradually settling up the affairs at the mill corner of Fourth street and Watchung avenue, which was recently operated by Dr. Rushmore. There is some talk that the property may be purchased by the Jersey Central Railroad Company and used in connection with the park they intend to lay out about the new station.

To Organize Ward Club.

A meeting of the Republican leaders in the Third ward will be held at the Casino this evening to prepare for the organization of the Third Ward Republican Club. It will be an organization for campaign purposes. Other wards are preparing to take a similar step in the near future.

DUPEE WILL PLAY.

Again Practicing With Yale 'Varsity Eleven and is Being Tried at End.

Charles Dupee, of Rockview avenue, Washington Park, has been summoned back to New Haven several weeks in advance of the opening of Yale University to begin practice with the 'varsity football squad. Dupee was substitute full back on Yale's champion eleven last season and played half back in several important games. He is practically certain of a regular position on the team this year unless he should meet with some injury. He is now being tried at end as good men for that position are scarce. If he fails for end, he will be given a place behind the line.

TROLLEY IN METUCHEN.

Mayor and Common Council Gave a Hearing on Application of Raritan Traction Company.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Metuchen, Sept. 19.—The Mayor and Common Council gave a hearing last night on the application of the Raritan Traction Company for a franchise to build a trolley road from Perth Amboy to Metuchen over the old Brunswick turnpike. The Messrs. Orton, who own considerable property along the proposed route, appeared as objectors to the franchise, claiming that the company did not have the necessary number of consents from the property owners. James Wight, of Perth Amboy, connsel for the Traction Company, stated that the necessary number of consents had been secured, as could be proven. A petition was presented, signed by many citizens of Metuchen, asking that the franchise be granted. James E. Martine, of Plainfield, was present at the meeting, and spoke of the benefits that Plainfield had derived from the operation of the trolley system in this city. The hearing was adjourned to September 24th when it is thought that the franchise will be granted.

MEMBERS ENROLLED.

Nearly a Hundred New Members Added to Roll of U. S. Grant Club, of the Borough.

There was a large and important meeting of the U. S. Grant Club, of the borough, last evening in Spencer's Hall, when fully 100 Republicans enrolled themselves as members of the club. There were speeches during the evening by Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Mayor Smalley and Senator Reed. Their remarks caused much enthusiasm.

Among the important matters discussed was the proposed mass meeting. It was decided to hold it next week Wednesday evening, at which time Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, will speak. A band of music has been engaged and Saengerbund Hall has been secured for the meeting. After all arrangements had been completed it was learned that a Republican mass meeting is to be held in this city the same night, and the borough meeting will be held the following week. It will depend upon the question as to which night Mr. Pitney can be present.

New Cars on P. & R. New York Trains.

The new parlor cars which have been recently added to the equipment of the Philadelphia and Reading two-hour trains between Philadelphia and New York, were built expressly for this service by the Pullman Company. These trains leave Philadelphia at 7:30 and 8:30 a. m. Returning, leave New York at 4 and 4:30 p. m., being solid vestibuled trains throughout. Other fast trains to New York run frequently by this route. Engines burn hard coal; no smoke.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service was held at the New York Avenue Baptist church in Westfield Sunday in memory of the late Rev. W. D. Johnston, who died at his home at Plainfield a few days ago. The Rev. Mr. Johnston was the founder of the colored Baptist church at Westfield. Many ministers from out of town were in attendance at the service, and a collection amounting to $21.70 was taken for the benefit of the widow of the late minister.

BIG MASS MEETING FOR REPUBLICANS.

Will be Held in Stillman Music Next Wednesday Evening—Hon. G. L Barber to Speak.

OTHER SPEAKERS TOO.

BOROUGH REPUBLICANS PLANNED ONE FOR THE SAME NIGHT.

But the North Plainfield Leaders Agreed to Postpone Their Effort Until Some Evening Next Month.

Plainfield came very nearly having an overabundance of Republican mass meetings next Wednesday. The Republicans in this city prepared to open their series of meetings next Wednesday night with Hon. George L. Barber, of Hartford, Conn., as the leading orator. At the same time, the Republicans of the borough prepared to hold a big mass meeting Wednesday evening and have State Senator Mahlon Pitney address the gathering. A conference was held this morning between Senator Charles A. Reed and William Newcorn, secretary of the city committee, and as the Plainfield meeting could not be changed as both speaker and hall were engaged, it was decided to postpone the borough meeting until the following week.

Since the offer of the county committee of a speaker was refused by Plainfield, the city committee has been working direct with the State committee regarding speakers for local mass-meetings. Word reached Secretary William Newcorn yesterday that Hon. George L. Barber, of Hartford, Conn., one of the ablest speakers in New England, could be secured for a meeting here Wednesday evening of next week. There was a hurried conference with Councilman J. B. Dumont, chairman of the city committee, and word was sent to the State committee that Barber would be satisfactory. Music Hall was then engaged for the evening in question.

Arrangements have since been made which will insure the presence of Governor Foster M. Voorhees and U. S. Senator John Kean at the meeting. They will also speak. A short address is also expected from Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city.

The Republican mass meeting will be held in Music Hall next Wednesday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. LaVere's band will be present and will open with a short concert, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The policy of the Republican management will be as heretofore. The meetings will be open to all and the ladies will be particularly welcome. The meetings will be well conducted and good order will prevail. In the past, the ladies have turned out to the mass meetings in goodly numbers and the city committee are desirous that the practice shall be continued.

A special meeting of the city executive committee has been called for Friday evening when the various committees to take charge of the meeting will be appointed. The honorary officers will also be selected. There are many minor details yet to be arranged and the committees will take charge of those as soon as they are appointed.

A Christian Endeavor Paper.

The press bureau of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union has just announced that it will soon begin the publication of a four-page monthly devoted to the interests of the Christian Endeavor societies of Union county. The first issue is promised for next month. At the start the circulation will be not less than 3,000. The copies of the paper are to be distributed among the Endeavorers of the county.

No Unfavorable Symptoms.

Julia, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowley, who was bitten last Sunday by a supposedly mad dog, is doing as well as can be expected. She is at the Pastuer Institute, New York, and thus far there have been no unfavorable symptoms. She is being treated daily and it is believed that she will recover in a short time. The physicians in charge are of the opinion that the dog was mad.

Charged With Forgery.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 19.—Frank G. Hobart, of Linden, was lodged in the county jail last night, charged with passing a forged check for $15, drawn on the Essex County National Bank. The check was made payable to P. W. Mitchell, and was signed by W. F. Jackson. Hobart, it is charged, obtained the money on it knowing that it was fraudulent. He was arrested at his home and taken before Justice Hall, of this city, who committed him in default of $500 bail.

O—I—O

When a prepartion has an advertised reputation that is world-wide, it means that preparation is meritorious. If you go into into a store to buy an article that has achieved universal popularity like Cascarets Candy Cathartic for example, you feel it has the endorsement of the world. The judgment of the people is infallible because it is impersonal. The retailer who wants to sell you "something else" in place of the article you ask for, has an ax to grind. Don't it stand to reason? He is trying to sell something that is not what he represents it to be. Why? Because he expects to derive an extra profit out of your credulity. Are you easy? Don't you see through his little game? The man who will try and sell you a substitute for Cascarets is a fraud. Beware of him! He is trying to steal the honestly-earned benefits of a reputation which another man has paid for, and if his conscience will allow him to go so far, he will go farther. If he cheats his customer in one way, he will in another and it is not safe to do business with him. Beware of the Cascaret substitutor? Remember Cascarets are never sold in bulk but in metal boxes with the long-tailed "C" on every box and each tablet stamped C. C. C. c

MORE FAIR NEWS.

Attractions for Trenton's Exhibition Are Fast Multiplying—Opens on Monday.

Never in the history of fairs in the east have so many attractions been combined in one show as will be presented this year at Trenton's Greater Interstate exposition. The Fair will open next Monday morning and continue through the week, including Friday.

Beside the automobile races for the opening day, the horse racing for the other four days, the monster automobile exhibit, the diving horses, diving elks and diving bicyclists, the vaudeville acts and new midway, all of which have received a previous mention, the Fair of 1900 is to introduce a quartette of double-team races, a competitive blue ribbon contest for four-in-hand and tamdem drivers, and a general horse show in which many high-class, blooded animals have been entered.

Each department of the big exhibition has undergone the careful scrutiny of the new management, and has been overhauled according. Every branch of the regular exhibits, embracing the agricultural, industrial, domestic and artistic displays, have been materially enlarged and improved, and the list of farming machinery and apparatus, already placed in the various buildings, will surpass in novelty and newness anything ever seen in this section of the county.

Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

BIG WALL STREET FAILURE.

Hatch & Foote, Prominent Brokers, Make Assignment.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The announcement is made on the Stock Exchange of the suspension of Hatch & Foote.

Mr. Daniel B. Hatch, the senior member of the firm, when seen at the offices, 3 Nassau street, made the following statement:

"Mr. Foote speculated without the knowledge of the firm for several years and lost over $200,000. The loss and the strain have broken him down. He has been crazy for three weeks and is not expected to live the day out. I take it for granted that he has been out of his head for six months, as I cannot otherwise account for his actions. After taking counsel with friends I thought it best to stop business in order to clear matters up."

Mr. Hatch stated that the liabilities of the firm would not exceed $2,000,000. The assets, he thought, would be about that, although there had been some shrinkage, and it was largely a matter of estimate yet.

About 2,000 shares of various prominent stocks have been sold under the rule on the Exchange for account of the firm.

The story which is interwoven in the facts leading up to the assignment is one of the strangest that Wall street men of this generation have heard. Both Mr. Hatch and Mr. Foote were clerks in the old investment house of Fisk & Hatch, which did a large business in government bonds 30 years ago.

In 1867 they formed a partnership, but not until three years later did they become a Stock Exchange house. Mr. Daniel B. Hatch was the board member. Mr. Foote had charge of the accounts. Like the firm in which they received their early training, they did a quiet business and were located under the Fourth National bank on Nassau street. Up to now they had been regarded as one of the substantial houses of the street.

Bryan a Hypocrite, Says Hanna.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Senator M. A. Hanna made an address to several thousand down town business men and their employees at the rooms of the Commercial McKinley club. He said in part: "You will find my text in the letter of acceptance of that great apostle of free silver, W. J. Bryan. It is his last card, and he begins his interesting appeal to the people of the United States by telling what he knows about trusts." Mr. Hanna continued, saying: "I wish I could have together on this platform William Jennings Bryan and Senator George F. Hoar, that each might tell his reasons for opposing 'expansion' or 'imperialism.' Senator Hoar would convince you that he opposes it from conscientious motives, but is on all other points a unit with the party from which he differs in that one respect and that he is a supporter of William McKinley. With these two together I would tear the mask off the face of that hypocrite, William J. Bryan."

Socialists Condemn German Policy.

MAINZ, Germany, Sept. 19.—The congress of Social Democrats, which opened in the town hall here, debated the "German world policy." Herr Singer, the prominent Socialist leader who was elected president, offered a resolution condemning it and called Germany's world policy "a rapacious and capitalistic military movement." Herr Schoenbank, a member of the reichstag, spoke on the subject under discussion and ridiculed what he termed the music hall character of Germany's world policy. Another delegate, Herr Lebedow, said that if Germany had "a man as strong as McKinley or Chamberlain the workingman would vote on the 'khaki' side." The resolution was adopted unanimously, as was also another resolution condemning the Transvaal war.

Will Bring Home American Dead.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Colonel William S. Patten of the quartermaster's department, on duty at the war department, has completed arrangements for the free transportation to the United States of the remains of the soldiers and sailors and civilians who lost their lives and were buried in the island possessions of the United States and in China. According to the present plans of the department a burial corps will take passage on the transport Hancock, scheduled to leave San Francisco on the 1st prox. for the Philippines.

Firebugs Active.

FARMER, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The fifth barn to be set on fire within two weeks in this vicinity was burned about four miles west of this village. The barns belonged to Lewis Bodine and included his large grain barn, horse barn, cowsheds and other outbuildings. All of his crops and three valuable horses were consumed. There is no clew to the incendiaries.

Marine Loss Grows.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 19.—Reports of marine disasters during last week's gale continue to pour in from remote localities. Advices show 17 more vessels ashore and 18 lives lost. Considerable damage was done to property along the seaboard. Hope for the safety of four other vessels, with crews aggregating 25, is almost abandoned.

Horse and Driver Drowned.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 19.—James Cronin, aged 50, of Bennetts Corners, Madison county, drove into the canal near Durhamville at an early hour yesterday morning and was drowned, with his horse. The body of Cronin was recovered, and a search has been made for a man supposed to have been with him.

NOT AN EMERGENCY.

Little Significance Attends the President's Trip to Capital.

VICEROYS CONCEDE TO CHRISTIANS.

American Cavalrymen Go to Rescue Native Converts—Allies Open Courts to Prevent Looting. Many Chinese Killed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—It is said at the state department that no emergency exists in connection with the China matter or any of the foreign relations of the country which demands the presence of the president in Washington. However, when President McKinley left Washington for Somerset and thence for Canton, it was the understanding that he would make periodical visits to Washington at intervals of a week or ten days, and his departure from Canton is said to be merely to keep one of these engagements. A telegram received at the White House states that the president will reach here very soon.

It is positively stated that there has been no change in the Chinese situation, at least in its diplomatic aspects.

It is learned here that the discussion now proceeding in Berlin of an alleged American proposition to limit the occupying forces in China to 1,000 in Peking, 2,000 outside the walls and 20,000 elsewhere is not based upon any plan suggested by the state department here. It can be stated positively that it has not figured in the diplomatic negotiations.

A dispatch from Shanghai says an imperial edict has been issued which sanctions the agreement of the viceroys with the consuls regarding the maintenance of order in the central and southern provinces. It also agrees that native Christians who refrain from holding meetings and creating disturbances shall be treated impartially.

A dispatch from Peking of date of Sept. 13 says:

"Three hundred American cavalrymen will leave tomorrow for the northeast to rescue Christians who are surrounded by the Boxers. It is expected that they will be gone ten days.

"Other expeditions had been planned, but the general sentiment is opposed to them because they keep the country in a disturbed condition.

"Provost marshals' courts have been opened by all nations to prevent looting, and the Germans have made robbery a capital offense.

"A detachment of the Bengal lancers co-operated with the Germans in an expedition against Lianghsiang to exact reparation for an attack on German soldiers. The Indian troopers entered the city ahead of the Germans and temporarily hoisted the British flag. In the fighting the Chinese had 200 killed."

Dispatches from London say there was an unusual gathering of uniformed police and Scotland Yard detectives at Kings Cross railroad station awaiting the arrival of Lord Salisbury from his country seat.

It is said that since the premier's return to Hatfield he has received an anonymous letter of a character which has led to increased police vigilance.

Admiral Sicard's Funeral.

ROME, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The funeral of Rear Admiral Montgomery Sicard was held at 4 p. m. yesterday at the old Floyd homestead in Westernville, it being a very simple and plain ceremony, without military honors. The officiating clergyman was Rev. William B. Parmalee of the Presbyterian church of Westernville. The pallbearers were Commodore Clifford H. West, U. S. N.; Henry F. Miller of Alder Creek, William Dillmore of Westernville, United States Commissioner C. A. Miller, F. S. Wood and School Commissioner Egbert Bagg of Utica and John Howe and Fred Shorley of Westernville. The remains lay in full uniform of the rear admiral. On the coffin was draped an American flag and the flag of the deceased rear admiral used on his last cruise, blue with two white stars.

Grosvenor Opens Campaign.

BUFFALO, Sept. 19.—General Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio was the chief speaker at a meeting of 3,500 Republicans at the new convention hall, which was the formal opening of the campaign of that party in this city. Hon. John Barrett, former minister of the United States to Siam and a student of life in the far east, also spoke. His remarks were chiefly confined to personal experiences in the Philippines, from which he made political deductions. The meeting was presided over by Mr. William C. Cornwell, president of the City National bank of Buffalo and a writer on financial subjects.

Tug Sinks, Two Men Drown.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—In a collision in the North river off Canal street the tugboat America of the New York Harbor Towing company of 17 State street was sunk by the Atlantic Transport line steamship Minnehaha, which had just arrived from London and was being towed to her dock by the America. Five men are supposed to have been aboard the tug when she went down. The police report that two of them were drowned.

Strikers Resort to Violence.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 19.—A riot occurred here in the vicinity of the Merrimack mills in which a number of Greeks who were seeking work were stoned by the strikers or their sympathizers. The Greeks used knives, but were finally put to flight and pursued by an angry mob of 2,000 people. The striking print workers find that the Greeks are being hired to fill their places. All is quiet at the Hamilton mills, the print workers still being out.

Strike Affects Middletown.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 19.—It is said here that owing to the suspension of 12 train crews on the Ontario and Western railroad because of the coal miners' strike the number of the men employed in the railroad shops here will be reduced and all shop employees put on short time.

Plasterers Want More Pay.

BUFFALO, Sept. 19.—About 100 plasterers employed by Smith & Bastman, general staff contractors at the Pan-American grounds, have struck for an increase of wages from $3.50 to $4 per day.

Maine Hotel Burns.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 19.—The Asticou inn, located at Asticou, near Northeast Harbor, was destroyed by fire, and the financial loss will reach $20,000.

A NEW GALVESTON.

City Will Be Planned Better Than Before.

OVER $1,000,000 FOR RELIEF WORK.

Militia Companies on Duty Want to Go Home—Death List Will Pass Six Thousand Mark—No Epidemic Feared.

GALVESTON, Sept. 19.—"The situation continues to improve" is what one is told now when one applies at any of the various headquarters for information. In fact, this statement is being made with gratifying monotony all over the city. The work has been brought down to a business basis as far as possible, and the amount of system and order displayed in the various departments would furnish cause for considerable surprise to any one who might return to Galveston after an absence of three or four days.

One feature that has caused a better feeling and a more pronounced willingness to work is afforded by the fact that the "time" of all of the laborers employed is being kept at headquarters. The men have been assured of compensation for their labor, and, quite naturally, they now go about their unpleasant tasks with a much better grace than heretofore.

Then, too, there are not so many irritating little conflicts of authority as there have been in the past when the progress of the work was in some cases materially hindered by petty demonstrations of personal feeling. A thorough investigation reveals the fact that every department is as well organized as is possible under the circumstances and that everything is harmonious. This is eminently as it should be.

Supplies and money are now pouring in from all over the country. It is stated that at least seven figures are needed to express the amount of cash so far received. This is being used judiciously, and the good effects of the presence of such a relief fund in the city are already becoming apparent.

The state militia companies which have been stationed here have been doing splendid work, and many of the men are now of the belief that they should be allowed to return to their homes and troops sent from other parts of the state to fill their places. They have seen hard and almost continuous duty, and it would really be the proper thing, if the matter of transportation does not stand in the way, to let them return and send others to replace them.

Reluctantly one is forced to the opinion that the number of dead, which had been placed at 5,000, is too low and that the number will go as high as 6,000 and perhaps above that number. This conclusion has not been reached without considerable thought and careful investigation. The death list will reach the total of 4,437, with the additions just sent out. In addition to all this it must be remembered that only a comparatively small number of the negroes who perished in the storm have been reported.

After considering all these facts one can hardly do anything else but conclude that the total to be finally reached will be above 6,000. Every one has tried to be as conservative as possible in making estimates both as to the losses of life and property, but, in view of all the features of this part of the situation to be seen now, it is not possible to reiterate the former estimate of 5,000.

Judge Morgan Mann stated that in his opinion the list would go as high as 7,000. The exact number, of course, will never be definitely known. One can only hope that these larger estimates will prove too high and that at least a part of the horror of the storm will not be so strongly in evidence.

There are no developments which would lead to the belief that the estimate of a property loss of $22,500,000 is too high. While one occasionally finds a business man whose property has not suffered greatly, it must be stated that the class is hopelessly in the minority and that large losses are the rule.

The people are becoming more cheerful every day, and it is more than remarkable to observe the composure exhibited by some of them under the terrible circumstances. The individual's woe has been lost in the community's grief, and on every hand may be seen cases of people who have lost their all doing everything in their power to comfort a neighbor, who perhaps has not been so unfortunate. Everybody seems to be doing all there is to do toward ultimate rehabilitation, and the determination to build a city which will be bigger and broader in every way than the one which has been destroyed appears to be general. Fears of an epidemic have been allayed by the distribution of medicines and disinfectants.

To Dig Up Maya Tombs.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—It is announced that during the first week in November Professor Marshall H. Saville of the American Museum of Natural History will leave New York at the head of an exploring expedition which will investigate the ruins of the prehistoric cities, temples and tombs of the Maya people in Mexico. The party expects to be gone six months and to explore ruins in the vicinity of Monte Alvan, Cuilapa, Tectipac and other places in the state of Oaxaca.

His Blow Did Not Kill Her.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Coroner Decker's investigation into the death of Mrs. Sallie Moore resulted in the discharge from Goshen jail of Jacob Piggery, suspected of causing her death. Mrs. Moore died of tetanus, which was believed to have been caused by a blow on the jaw. Piggery admitted striking the woman, but the evidence showed that tetanus was caused by a splinter in the foot.

Prohibition Conventions.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The Prohibition county and assembly conventions have been held in this city. Rev. J. C. Murphy of Sanford and L. N. English of Whitney's Point were nominated for assembly in the First and Second districts respectively.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 19.—The government expedition charged with measuring the discharge of the rivers carrying the overflow of the great lakes has established headquarters at Ogdensburg, where work will be continued during the next year.

Yellow Jack Kills West Virginian.

HAVANA, Sep 19.—The yellow fever situation is decided unfavorable. Mr. Andrew Bollingsworth Patterson of Wheeling has died of this disease.

REVOLUTIONISTS CONTROL.

That Element Will Dominate Cuba's Constitutional Convention.

HAVANA, Sept. 19.—The results of the elections of delegates to the forthcoming constitutional convention are being freely discussed by the Havana delegates and other prominent Cubans. The conclusion reached is that the convention will be controlled by the revolutionary element. Senor Alfredo Zayas, Nationalist delegate, says:

"The convention will not allow itself to be influenced by any representative of the United States. It will adopt and follow an independent policy throughout, in my opinion, refusing to decide as to the relations which shall hereafter exist between Cuba and the United States. This is a matter that should be left to a special commission."

Mayor Rodriguez expressed the same opinion, and other representative delegates in various parts of the island adopt the same attitude.

In the main the delegates are capable men. Most of them, it is said, are in favor of immediate and absolute independence without the intervention of a protectorate.

The defeated Republicans and fusionists here have raised the cry of fraud and have already held a mass meeting to protest against alleged illegal practices.

No Dumdum Bullets For Americans.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The ordnance bureau of the war department recently called upon the manufacturers of cartridges to stop printing and using a label for cartridge boxes which indicated that the United States government was using soft nosed dumdum bullets. The bureau received from two officers in the Philippines the tops of the pasteboard boxes in which cartridges are packed upon which was a label saying that the cartridges were the soft nosed bullets used by the Krag-Jorgensen or standard United States rifles. As none of these bullets have ever been purchased or manufactured by this government the two firms using the label were notified that such use must cease.

Bryan Talks In Kansas.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Sept. 19.—William J. Bryan addressed several thousand people here in the open air. Owing to the dense crowd Mr. Bryan found it impossible to mount the speaker's stand. He therefore had his carriage stopped in the midst of the crowd and spoke from the carriage box. The "full dinner pail" argument of the Republicans received his first attention, and he contended that the workingman is not well contented with a well supplied table. "When the hog is hungry, he squeals," said Mr. Bryan. "When he is full, he goes to sleep. That seems to be the Republican idea of the workingman."

Tribesmen Kill Frenchmen.

PARIS, Sept. 19.—The ministry of war announces that news has been received of fighting between the troops forming a French Saharian outpost near Timimoun and the Berber tribesmen. The French force under Captain Falconnetti fought two engagements and finally returned to Timimoun without being molested. The dispatch is vague, but says clearly that the French lost 26 men killed and wounded, including two officers killed. Re-enforcements are on their way to Timimoun.

Wisconsin's Trial Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—A slight mishrap to her machinery requiring about three days' time to repair has delayed the departure of the battleship Wisconsin from San Francisco for Puget sound, where she was to prepare for her trial trip. It is expected that the trial cannot take place now before the end of the month. The torpedo boat Bagley will be launched on the 25th inst. at Bath, Me.

GERMANY WANTS REVENGE.

Note Demanding Punishment of Chinese Rebels Received.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—A copy of the German note demanding the punishment of the leaders of the rebellion in China has been presented to Acting Secretary Adee at the state department from the German embassy. The German charge, Baron von Sternberg, being temporarily absent from the city, there could of course be no attempt at discussion of this most important communication. The baron is expected to return some time today, when the subject may be taken up with him.

Meanwhile the note itself will receive the earnest attention of the president and such members of the cabinet as are in Washington. The state department has been all along directing its efforts to the speedy opening of negotiations for a final settlement with the Chinese government and has so far not been heard from relative to the matter of punishment beyond the indirect references contained in the notes that have defined the government's purposes. The question is now presented plainly whether or not the negotiations shall be preceded with a decision on this point.

Conductor and Brakeman Arrested

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Conductor Frank Proper and Rear Brakeman George Donovan of train No. 90 of the Harlem River division of the New York Central railroad, which was run into by a train following it at Kensico a few weeks ago, have been arrested at Dover Plains. The collision caused the death of the engineer, fireman and a brakeman of the second train. Proper and Donovan were held responsible by the coroner's jury. It was alleged that they did not send back a red light to warn the second train when their train stopped at Kensico depot. The charge against the two men is manslaughter in the second degree, and they were held under bonds of $3,000 each for the grand jury.

Boers Lose Heavily.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following from Lourenco Marques: "A pitched battle has been fought midway between Kaap Muiden and Hestor spruit, resulting in heavy Boer losses. The Boers removed and now threaten to destroy the cogwheels of locomotives used between Watervalboven and Watervalonder, without which the railway cannot be worked. They have blocked and damaged the railway for six miles on the Crocodile Poort section, have destroyed the culverts and the Hector Spruit bridge and looted and burned Komatipoort. The British are now at Komatipoort, and heavy fighting is proceeding. It is rumored that Mr. Steyn has arrived here."

Ulster County Tax Case.

ALBANY, Sept. 19.—The court of claims heard the claim of Ulster county to recover $42,890 from the state, the amount of taxes collected from or paid by railroads in the various towns of that county bonded to aid such railroads and paid by the county treasurer to the state. About 40 counties having filed claims to recover moneys so paid into the state treasury, Ulster county filing the first claim, the court decided to make it the test case. Deputy Attorney General Stevens appeared for the state and former State Senator John J. Liston and Frederick Arthur Westbrook of Kingston for the claimant. Considerable testimony was taken, and the case was on when court adjourned.

Odd Fellows Transact Business.

RICHMOND, Sept. 19.—The sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows held a long session, most of which was devoted to routine business and the introduction of resolutions, which were referred to committees. Officers were elected as follows: Grand sire, A. C. Cable of Ohio; deputy grand sire, John B. Goodwin of Georgia (Mr. Goodwin's election was unanimous, Messrs. Wright of Pennsylvania, Nolan of Tennessee and Semmes of Alabama withdrawing in his favor); grand secretary, J. Frank Grant of Baltimore; grand treasurer, D. Richards Muckle of Pennsylvania. The resolution appropriating $1,500 to the Galveston flood sufferers was passed.

Will North German Lloyd Build?

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The steamship Aller when she sails on Sept. 27 will carry Captain Walter F. Whittemore of Hoboken, N. J., who is an expert on pier building and the shipping business of the port of New York. He has been summoned to Bremen by the officials of the North German Lloyd Steamship company. It is said that there is a difference of opinion among the directors as to whether it is best to rebuild the lately burned Hoboken piers or to secure docking facilities in New York, and it is to give the directors the benefit of his knowledge that Captain Whittemore is to visit Bremen.

Europe Wants American Metal.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 19.—James Bowron, vice president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, has returned from a five months' trip to Europe. Mr. Bowron says the demand for American iron and steel in Europe is as strong as ever and that the export business of the south with that country is bound to develop steadily and in larger volume year by year. Just now he says, exports are hampered by high railroad rates to the coast and still more unreasonably high rates charged by ocean craft.

Attacked by Crazy Woman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Miss Cora Crow, an attendant of the State hospital at Ogdensburg, came to this city to take Hannah Fahy, an adjudged insane woman, to that institution. The crazy woman attacked her with a hand saw, but the plucky young attendant beat her off and made her escape. The police were called and overpowered the Fahy woman.

Confession of Faith Revision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The question of the revision of the Westminster confession of faith came before the presbytery of Morris and Orange at Summit, N. J. It was decided by a vote to issue a supplementary explanatory statement, and a committee was named to prepare such statement. This will be submitted at the next meeting of the presbytery.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Sept. 19.—Five hundred Boer refugees have arrived here. Twenty are wounded.

STRIKERS INCREASE.

Six Thousand More Miners Lay Down Their Tools.

OPERATORS CANNOT GET MEN BACK.

President Mitchell Says Thousands of Men Who Worked Monday Are Now Staying Away From Mines. Strikers Confer Secretly.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 19.—The second day of the anthracite coal strike has failed to bring forth anything that would lead to the coming together of the coal operators and the striking mine workers. Neither side has approached the other, and as far as could be learned there is no such move contemplaed by either the operators or their employees. Unless there is a break in the ranks of either it seems that a third party will have to step into the breach and try to bring the two forces together. Who that third party will be and what methods will be pursued with that end in view no one in touch with the situation can at this time say.

President Mitchell in his last statement on the situation throughout the entire anthracite region estimates that about 6,000 additional mine workers have laid down their tools, making a total of 118,000 mine workers idle.

There have been no important developments in this district, and what little change there is in the situation is in favor of the striking miners. It has been estimated that of 16,000 mine workers in the Hazleton region about 8,000 did not start work. President Mitchell in his estimate, however, raised these figures to 10,000. Careful reports received from every mining town in the region warrant the estimate that upward of 1,000 additional men did not go into the mines yesterday morning. Not one operator was reported to have increased his working force over that of the day before. President Mitchell in his statement, based on reports received from his men in the field, makes the claim that not less than 1,500 men who had entered the mines failed to report yesterday morning. Although the majority of the operators and mine superintendents give no figures they insist that they are holding their own.

All was quiet in Hazleton, with the exception of a few petty cases of breeches of the peace. A crowd of mine workers numbering about 100 marched from McAdoo through the south side, but caused no trouble. At Jeanesville 75 men at work fled on their approach.

District No. 7, which includes all the Hazleton region, held a secret conference to devise ways and means of furthering the interests of the strikers. A central committee composed of two delegates from each of the local unions in the district was appointed to gather information for the use of President Mitchell.

Mine workers in large numbers have come to Hazleton to hear the latest news. Meetings have been held at Stockton, Harwood, Jeddo, Shaft 3 at Hazleton, Freeland, Coleraine and West Hazleton. President Mitchell spoke at the latter place.

In response to requests on the part of many newspapers for his views regarding the strike situation Rev. Father Phillips of St. Gabriel's church, who has been a prominent factor in the strike, gave out the following authorized statement:

"My views of the situation, briefly expressed, may be summed up in a few sentences. Operators and miners are in deadly struggle, one demanding submission, the other recognition of the union and concessions. Advantage so far, in the lockout of collieries, is on the side of the miners, but the battle has only begun and endurance will decide the victory. It is a question, therefore, of resources. Continuation of conflict, if there be opportunity for peace, is an unnecessary sacrifice of labor and capital. Remember that the operators and miners are not the whole public, and aggression on the rights of others, if remediable, is criminal.

"The remedy has been offered by G. B. Markle & Co. of Jeddo to the employees. This is arbitration. Other operators have this remedy and should apply it. Miners recognizing it as the cardinal principle of adjustment should accept it when offered. The communities demand it, the state and nation demand it. Operators and miners owe willing compliance with public demand. Rights and obligations cannot be separated. Victory to either side gained by unnecessary human misery is a curse. The public voice, crying for arbitration, compulsory if not otherwise, must be heeded. To still it, to disregard it in the face of untold evils, is a crime against suffering humanity which cannot go unpunished. Joint conference or arbitration will decide the responsibility and furnish the remedy and reparation for the social and economic disturbance called strike and smooth the way for happier relations between employer and employee, making the whole world better and brighter."

Price of Coal Goes Up.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and all the local coal dealers have advanced the price of coal 25 and 50 cents a ton, respectively. The Reading advance applies either to coal at the mines or at tidewater, and, with the local dealers' advance, goes into operation at once. The Reading further announces that all unfilled orders for September are canceled and that all future orders are subject to the company's ability to furnish the coal. Regarding the local increase, dealers say the rush for coal has been so great that they have at times been compelled to pay premiums to get the coal. The statement was also made that the increase will be adhered to as long as the strike lasts and that a further increase depends entirely upon the length of the strike.

Soft Coal Miners Satisfied.

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 19.—The anthracite coal operators need expect no aid from the bituminous operators in their struggle against the miners. At a recent meeting the operators of this district decided not to meddle in the troubles of the eastern district. They are having plain sailing at present and do not desire to court trouble. They have all the orders they can fill at present, and some are behind because of a lack of cars during the summer. The strike will divert the cars to the bituminous field, and the operators are looking for the best business in their history this fall. All the miners are at work, and there is no talk of a sympathetic strike.

A Slave to Rotation.

Just why there should be an unwritten rule that as soon as a man has filled an elective office two or three times, and fairly fitted himself for the place by that very good teacher, experience, he should get out of the way and let some other good political fellow have a chance, is something that a common sense view of efficient public service does not harmonize with. But the custom of "rotation in office" is an old one, and affects both Republicans and Democrats. Consequently, in blind observance to it, many a good man falls by the wayside; and unless he is a person of strong and aggressive character he generally stays there.

This passing of the political plums to the faithful is noted particularly in the State Assembly, where every year can be seen a number of districts represented by men who have succeeded former members simply because the latter have had the office a couple of times and have had to make way for others who have done their little service and are rewarded with a nomination and election to the Lower House of the Legislature.

These green members take the whole of the first session in learning the ropes and adapting themselves to the situation. The second they serve they become more valuable to their constituents, but the third term—that they seldom serve. Now it would seem that much better service could be secured by the people if this "rotation in office" scheme was abandoned, allowing, of course, for the rejection and retirement of such Legislators as proved themselves unfit for the place they were elected to fill.

There are a large number of Members of the Assembly who will fall victims to this short-sighted policy this fall. The following is a list of them, and it will be noted that among them are recognized some of the best Assemblymen in the House:

Edmund W. Wakelee, of Bergen; Charles Wright and Joel Horner, of Burlington; Wm. J. Bradley, of Camden; Jesse S. Steelman, of Cumberland; Jacob Clark, John W. Weseman; John Kreitler, F. J. Deloot, G. F. Bradenburgh, Wm Mungle, John N. Klein, John P. Dexheimer and Benj. F. Jones, of Essex; "Tim" J. Carroll, Leon Abbett, Maurice Marks, John H. Vollen and J. Emil Walscheid, of Hudson; Oliver J. Blackwell, of Hunterdon; Ira W. Wood, of Mercer; Jacob W. Welsh, of Morris; Courtney C. Carr, of Ocean; V. M. Lewis, of Passaic; Edward E. Cooper, of Somerset; Elvin E. Smith, of Sunset, and Hiram D. White and Jacob R. Smith, of Warren.

Republican Estimates.

New Jersey Republican leaders express great confidence for their cause in New Jersey, saying that they will carry the State by a liberal majority. They frankly admit, however, that the figure will be considerably reduced from the 87,000 plurality that McKinley and Hobart received four years ago. In the big counties the Democratic gain will undoubtedly be considerable.

First of all, in Hudson county four years ago McKinley received nearly 6,000 plurality. Now Republicans concede that Bryan will carry that bailiwick by as large a plurality as he lost it with four years ago. This will make a cut of 12,000 votes in the Republican 1896 plurality at once. Then in Essex county the G. O. P. vote over the Democratic ballots amounted to 22,000 four years ago, and this year the Republicans are not counting on more than 12,000 plurality there. In Mercer county Barker Gummere estimates the Republican plurality at 5,000 less than four years ago, and in Camden county, which is to the Republicans of New Jersey what Hudson is to the Democrats, conservative estimates give the Republicans about 4,000 plurality, or nearly 5,000 less than the McKinley vote four years ago. Chairman Codding, of Union county, cuts the Republican vote 1,500 this year in comparison with that of four years ago, and in Somerset county Senator Reed freely allows the Democrats a gain of 800.

Presuming that the other county leaders on the G. O. P. side allow for Democratic gains at about the same proportion, it would appear that they are figuring on 30,000 to 40,000 plurality this year.

The Prohibitionists of both Union and Somerset counties have already nominated their county tickets. It is a characteristic of the temperance men to always be first in the field in the matter of nominations and last in the list on election day.

The Democratic convention for the Eighth Congressional district is being held in Bayonne today. There are three aspirants for the nomination, anyone of whom will make a vigorous fight for votes against Congressman Charles N. Fowler.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Some weeks ago Senator Reed told the Republican State committee that the Democrats of Somerset were putting up a stiff fight to win a majority in that county, and the Senator was right. There is more of a show of Democratic activity in Somerset than has been witnessed for several years. The same is true in Monmouth and Middlesex, which make up the Third district. While Representative Howell has never known defeat, there are symptoms which indicate the need of Republican hustling to save the district this year.—New York Press.

James E. Martine, the "Farmer Orator" of Union county, said yesterday that the report that "Congressman Fowler would find in him a victim in the coming election," was without foundation, for the reason that he is determined to adhere to his decision not to be a candidate for Congress. Mr. Martine was not sure, however, that there was not a Democrat who could defeat Mr. Fowler. As a political optimist, it should be said Mr. Martine has no superior among the intelligent Democrats of the Eighth Congress District. And there is, too, a spirit of kindness about him which eloquently appeals to those of a sympathetic temperament. He never objects to the boil being on the other fellow.—New York Tribune.

—If the present cool weather continues it will be in order to call off some of the open trolley cars now being used in this city. It is understood that the Plainfield Street Railway Company has ordered some new closed cars, but many will not believe it until the cars are on the road.

New Market, Sept. 19. — George Pyatt, the gateman at the Lehigh Valley Railroad crossing, has been transferred to a crossing at Phillipsburg, his own home. His place has not yet been permanently filled, but Sylvester Kilmary, who has been alternating with Mr. Pyatt, is now doing day duty.

Miss Kate VanNess lost her valuable dog early yesterday morning. The canine was poisoned by some mean person. Several neighbors did all in their power to save the dog, but all efforts failed. Of late, several dogs have been poisoned, and if the practice does not stop there will be trouble ahead for some people.

During the past few days not many coal trains have been run over the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which is no doubt due to the fact that there has been a cessation of work in the coal regions.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Storms, a bride and groom from Boonton, N. J., who have been visiting Mrs. William Dunham, have returned home.

Justice Storms is still on the sick list. He had a relapse yesterday and is scarcely able to attend to business or get about very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ackerman, who were recently married, are expected to return the last of this week from their wedding trip.

"Mul." Casterline was called to New Brunswick yesterday to look after some business matters.

Miss Holmes, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in town.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scoth Plains, Sept. 19.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republican voters was held in Excelsior Hall last evening. In the unavoidable absence of A. D. Shepard president of the club, Vice-President John Robison occupied the chair. Plans were talked over for the coming campaign and a committee was appointed by the chair to consider the advisability of procuring a banner or large American flag with the name of McKinley and Roosevelt upon it. At the close of the business meeting those present were entertained by a short but interesting talk by Palmer Charlock, of Elizabeth, upon the work and plans of the National Commercial Industrial League which promises to take such an active part in the election of McKinley and Roosevelt in November. Mr. Charlock presented the club with a number of lithographs of the party's choice beside leaving plenty of Republican literature to distribute among the voters. The speaker received the unanimous thanks of the meeting for the interesting talk. The next meeting of the club will be held in Excelsior Hall Thursday evening at which time the committee on rooms is expected to report. As soon as suitable rooms can be engaged the club will start the battle in earnest, having the club rooms open several evenings during the week so as members may drop in and be able to look over the best Republican literature and in other ways pass a pleasant evening.

A number of the younger residents of Fanwood have recently organized a league for the purpose of taking an active interest in the events of the day. The recent disastrous cyclone at Galveston was the first important work taken hold of by the league members and there is no doubt but what the work of the hustling young members will bring success to their efforts. An effort is to be made to have the young people of Scotch Plains unite with the league and in this way spread the good work which is being done.

Mrs. Frank Eller died at her home in Stony Hill yesterday morning. Mrs. Eller has been a patient sufferer for several months from a stroke of paralysis, and while the family and friends had hoped that the end might be prolonged, still when the end came the family had resigned themselves for the parting. Mrs. Eller was seventy-two years of age, and for a number of years has lived in Stony Hill. A husband, three sons and two daughters survive her.

Clarence Lambert and Thomas Lee have been chosen as the Democratic representatives on the Board of Registry for the fall and spring elections.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey VanDyke, of Brooklyn, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. VanDyke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Nichol.

Wm. McDonough, of Montclair, has returned to his home after a visit of several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McDonough.

Mrs. William Terry, of Plainfield, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. James Buckley, yesterday.

Mr and Mrs. George Schick have been entertaing Mr. Ford, of Philadelphia, for a short visit.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, September 19.—P. J. McDonough had a man at work grading where his new house is to be. The contract calls for the house to be completed by November 15th.

Saturday night's rain flooded the cellar under the depot, and a gang of men pumped on it Sunday and Monday and still failed to clear it of water.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad carpenters commenced work on the tower yesterday, and it looks now as if it would be completed before long.

A. S. Manning is building an addition to the pumping station over the new pump. They will soon have it ready to run.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The lovers of the beautiful in this city are greatly regretting the probability that the autumnal foliage will assume but few bright colors this year. With plenty of rain to keep the foliage green and then sharp, brisk frosts, the leaves assume all kinds of brilliant hues. This month has been unusually dry, however, and it is likely that the leaves will, on that account, simply dry up and turn brown. When the bright reds and yellows cover the hills, Union county and its neighbors are beautiful places indeed. It will be a regrettable fact if this fall sees but little of the colors as is now feared.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, tells the following interesting incident of a visit which he paid to Paris some years ago: "We once occupied a room in a hotel in the city of Paris, from which the sunlight would have been wholly excluded except for a simple devise such as Frenchman are wont to avail themselves of. The windows of the room opened into a comparatively small shaft which led to the upper air and sunlight. A mirror was deftly arranged in the upper part of the window, and set at such an angle that the rays of the morning sun were caught and flung into the room at an early hour. It was a novel and satisfying experience to be awakened by that sunlight."

The story of a remarkable oriental religious order has been published. It is the order of the Behais, or, as they formerly called themselves, the Babis. The society took its rise in Persia, the ancient home of the fire worshipers, and spread like wildfire. Originating in 1844 with a young Mohammedan who called himself El Bab, or "The Gate," the new faith passed like a wave through western Asia, into India and even touched the shores of China and Japan. Not only this, but it was at length carried into Russia, western Europe and finally to the United States.

Today, known to few outside of themselves, there are 2,000 Babis in this country, the fortunate land where there is no religious martyrdom such as the sect endured in Persia. Forty thousand Babis suffered torture and death for their faith in Persia. It is recorded of them that they seemed not to suffer pain from the awful tortures, but went to their death murmuring the Arabic text, "Verily we are God's, and to him we return." After the martyrdom of the Babis in 1850 there arose for them Beha'u'ullah, called "The Manifestation of God." He further developed and advanced the doctrines, and the Babis now call themselves from his name, "Behais."

The followers of the new faith are taught to live literally the ethical teachings of the New Testament, to school themselves in unselfishness and humility and to accept the doctrine of the confirmation of the spirit as taught by the apostles. The true followers of the Beha drop from them at a stroke the complications and worries of modern social existence and lead lives of extreme simplicity.

A feature that distinguishes the Behai faith from other oriental theologies is that from the beginning it inculcated the perfect equality of the sexes. If it did not, then one would know it to be false. Thousands of Behai women suffered martyrdom in Persia before the sect was driven to its present headquarters at Acre, in Palestine. A herald, prophet and martyr of the new faith was Kurratu'l'Ayn, the most famous woman poet of Persia. One day, full of the spirit of prophecy, Kurratu'l'Ayn tore the veil from her face, which act was a scandal to all Persia and Turkey, ran to the tent of the Beha and bade him come forth and take his place as leader of the Babis. He obeyed and that day began his mission. Today the most eloquent and successful teachers of the new faith in England, France and the United States are women.

Occasionally we read in dispatches from the Philippines a very unpleasant item of the killing of Tagalo women and children by American soldiers. To one not knowing the circumstances this seems a wanton and awful atrocity. But it is war, which is itself a wanton atrocity. Like all uncivilized peoples, the Philippine natives take with them into camp their wives and children. They take refuge, men, women and children, a whole village at a time, in a church or behind cunningly wrought intrenchments and from this safe shelter pour fire into the ranks of advancing American troops. In order to stop the fire it is necessary to dislodge them. To dislodge them it is necessary to fire at them, sometimes to batter down the walls of their stronghold with cannon. Women and children are among them, and women and children sometimes are shot and killed. That is how it happens. Certainly no English speaking white man would deliberately fire upon a defenseless woman or a child.

I have been away from the United States nearly two years and two months. I have traveled in that time almost 50,000 miles and been all around the globe. I have been near enough to the north pole to have reached it in two days if there had been a railway to it. I have been within 150 miles of the equator and out on the battle line in the Philippines. I feel as though I had lived a century of experience in the time I have been away, and after it all I come home to find the woman's page of the newspapers still giving directions for making an embroidered dustpan holder. Oh, my country!

The wife of a well-known contractor and builder in a town of Northern New Hampshire has for several years suffered from gall stones, and at the time of the passage of one of these she experienced such intense pain that it would generally cause her to take to her bed and remain there sometimes from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. She had taken Ripans Tabules for a stomach trouble and was surprised to note that a Tabule, taken at the time of an approaching paroxysm with the gall stones, lessened the pain. As time went on, and she learned to apply them in season, she found most surprising relief, and her husband lately said: "If it had not been for Ripans Tabules I do not believe she would be alive to-day." He is very careful, indeed, to see to it that the supply of Tabules is never allowed to run low.

When this testimonial was shown to the lady, it having been taken down from her reported sayings, she said the only suggestion she could make regarding it was that it did not give the severity of her case in strong enough terms nor sufficiently express the almost miraculous relief she derived from the use of the Tabules. Her husband said he had always been haunted with the fear that for some reason the manufacture of the Tabules might be suspended, because he feels confident he shall never be able to find anything that will take their place.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 10 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

Charming Fall Gowns of Reversible Cloths

They Are Novel, Neat and Attractive and Give Promise of Great Popularity

AS A CONNECTING link between the furs of winter and the gossamer muslins and laces of summer we are seeing some charming gowns for the first comers in the way of autumn fashions. American women of wealth are positive in their ideas; they command goods that is stylish, effective and neat, and garments that are not too loud in pattern. It was to meet this demand that the reversible cloths produced by American manufacturers first came out, and these cloths have now invaded Europe and are in general use in France and Germany.

OF BLACK AND WHITE CLOTH.

These cloths are being worked into many novel garments for fall wear. Among these is a reversible coat and skirt which is both original and unique. The material of this is a thick Scotch tweed. One side is plain, in a soft shade of Parma violet, and the other a plaid in the Parma violet and cream. The tight-fitting coat has revers and cuffs of the reverse side with the cream ground striped with delicate shades of the violet; the outer edges of the coat are bordered with stitched cloth of the deeper tone, this giving an excellent effect. This coat is so made that it may be turned inside out and so transform it into a stunning little plaid coat with the revers of Parma violet and cuffs of the same. The skirt has a deep border of the plaid, cut on the bias, and bordered on each side with stitched cloth of a deeper tone. When the skirt is turned it produces a directly opposite effect, giving a border of plain cloth on a plaid ground. The price of such a gown as this is not nearly so large as one might think, while its utility cannot be questioned.

Another gown of these reversible plaids is in a very light and dark brown. The skirt has a rather full back with three narrow plaits at the left side; a short cutaway double-breasted jacket, with turnover collar and cuffs of brown velvet; pointed revers of the plaid. Ten large smoked pearl buttons trim the front of the jacket.

PARMA VIOLET WITH BACKGROUND OF A CREAMY SHADE.

A third that is decidedly startling to some people is in black and white cheviot. Of this the front of the skirt is cut so that the stripes form V's; the black has six small tucks from the waist extending down about five inches, then falling in graceful folds. The jacket is just to the waist line in the back, with a spade front. A turnover collar and large revers of white broadcloth, stitched with black silk. Six handsome gold buttons ornament the front of the jacket.

A gown that is more decidedly a tailor-made, and is an elaborate affair of that order, is of a navy blue Venetian cloth. The skirt is made with tucks forming large box plaits, each having the effect of a gore; this falls loose just below the knees, having strapped pieces underneath of black taffeta and a finish at the hem of black taffeta edged with white. It has a short waistcoat revealing a handsome tucked vest of white taffeta. The waistcoat is edged with black and white taffeta, having numerous tiny gilt buttons down the front. A plain sleeve, with a turn-back cuff of the black taffeta edged with white.

The fall materials that are being transformed into charming gowns are almost innumerable. It cannot be said that many of them are decidedly new, and yet practically all of them are produced in new shades, at least, and that together with the new styles of making up give a variety that is quite sufficient for ordinary demands, though of course there are many women who are constantly demanding the impossible, both in cut and in material. Of these fall materials it may be of some interest if I mention a few.

There is covert cloth, cheviot, tweeds, the new diagonal, serges, Venetian cloth, the black and white shepherd checks, broadcloths and shot fancy wool materials. Practically all of these cloths may be found in such shades as mauve, grays, the royal blue, crushed strawberry, Nile green, browns, heliotrope, drabs, reseda and navy blue. Some of these are new and some are not, but the combinations of the fall are certainly charming.

One of the novelties that are seen in the earlier fall costumes are beautiful short coats of lace, tight fitting, with the narrowest bands at the waist and the lace coming to about three inches below the waist line. They are distinctly Frenchy in appearance. Some of them are quite heavily trimmed with braid, and some resemble in style the hussar jacket. These little coats are not hard to make, and by a little effort at home may be produced without a great expense. For the woman who is not an adept at dressmaking it is well to make these coats more on the order of the Russian blouse than to attempt the tight-fitting garment. This is cut in four tabs below the waist in order to give the necessary spring at the hips. Ordinarily it is as well to cover the silk lining with a layer of chiffon or mousseline de soie.

OF A LIGHT AND VERY DARK BROWN.

For the short woman it is much better to make these coats on the sac fashion, as this, when adorned with a large lace collar, adds to her appearance of height, a thing which is always desirable.

Another fall fashion that seems to be popular is the leather-trimmed gown for shooting, fishing, golfing and all the outdoor sports incident to fall outings. These gowns have but very little variety of style about them. They must fit and hang well, and have a goodly supply of pockets.

Cream of Tomato Soup.

Stew one pint of tomatoes for 20 minutes, adding one slice of onion, one bay leaf and a sprig of parsley; press through a sieve and return to the stove. Scald one quart of milk and rub together one teaspoonful of butter and two teaspoonfuls of flour, adding a little hot milk to prevent lumping; when the remainder of the milk has been added, the mixture should be stirred until it thickens to a cream; add one teaspoonful of sugar and the same quantity of salt and one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little cold water; heat the soup tureen, turn into the tomato and gradually add the milk, stirring constantly.—Good Literature.

Chicago as the POLITICAL CENTER of the Nation

Chicago may not be the center of population of the nation—ten years ago that interesting spot was located somewhere in Indiana—but at least Chicago is the center of the politicians of the country. It is the Mecca toward which every pair of political eyes are turned, and toward which every political worker hopes to journey. The little district surrounding the Auditorium hotel is a veritable maelstrom of politicians. Into it flow a steady and ever-increasing stream of party workers for both parties, and there is being recruited a larger army for the subjugation of the American voters than the government has used to do battle with the rebellious Filipinos.

From the Auditorium hotel this political army is being sent by companies, battalions, regiments, brigades and whole army corps. Political soldiers of both the great parties flock into Congress street; each side can find the headquarters of the enemy directly across the narrow thoroughfare, yet the rupture upon which hangs the fate of a nation is fought elsewhere.

From Congress street the soldiers are sent forth to battle in the party's cause, with instructions to show no quarter to the enemy; charges and counter charges are hurled backward and forward; nothing is spared in the effort by both forces to capture the allegiance of the voters; everyone from private to general officer wages a fierce warfare that knows no mercy for an opponent, and yet about headquarters in Chicago everything is as quiet as a Philadelphia evening.

The Ways of Politics.

How the world and its ways have changed: There was a time when every political campaign brought with it ruptured friendships, vile epithets and duels among the political leaders. In those days there was probably less money and more patriotism than there is to-day. Then the campaign orator worked for love of party or principles; to-day, as a rule, he works for love of self and dollars. To-day while the campaign speaker works himself into a white passion over the evils that the opposing party would foist upon the country should the voters be so unwise as to permit it, Senator Jones and Senator Hanna sit side by side in the smoking-rooms of the hotel in Congress street enjoying their cigars and talking of the affairs in China, of the commercial outlook, of the rise and fall of stocks, of the weather, of everything that two men can find to talk about—excepting politics. The closing century has been a century of marvels, and the least of these is not the change which has made such things possible.

Friendships Are Not Broken.

On September 3 there stood on the balcony of the Auditorium a presidential and vice presidential candidate representing opposing parties. They were there to review a procession of workingmen, and as the procession passed by they chatted pleasantly, as though each had not an army in the field to work the everlasting destruction of the other. Politics did not make of them personal enemies. As they stood there sharing the cheers of the passing multitudes two voters were vigorously pummeling each other but a few feet away because the one dared intimate that the other was a fool for voting as he had expressed his intention of doing. Such is the political situation of the day.

The Campaign Buttons.

Not least among the many people attracted to Chicago because of its being the political center are the button and novelty men, and who can say but that some of these may be equally as valuable to the political parties as are the speakers.

A Few Campaign Buttons.

Hundreds and thousands of souvenirs are turned out in every campaign, but it is seldom that so many opportunities have been offered for striking novelties as this year. Sixteen to one, imperialism, the trusts, and, in fact, every feature and plank of both parties is well illustrated in the buttons and novelties that are finding favor at national headquarters.

The republican committee has officially adopted a button showing President McKinley's portrait on a medallion in connection with a tin dinner pail. Of these buttons the committee has already ordered more than 5,000,000, so that the cost of buttons is not a small item in the expense account of conducting a presidential campaign.

The favorite button on the democratic committee is a portrait of Mr. Bryan on a silver background, and below this is suspended a genuine rabbit's foot.

Among the novelties of the campaign are portraits of the candidates attached to strips of flexible metal which can be bent around the handle of an umbrella or cane. Then there are buckles bearing the portraits for ladies' belts, buttons on the end of a cylinder and slipped over the head of a cane or umbrella, cuff buttons, neckties and handkerchiefs.

The Practical Joker.

Practical jokers have been a feature of every political campaign since the days of Washington. Some men refuse to take their politics seriously, and the campaigns offer them an opportunity for sport that is too good to be missed.

"Do You See the Point, Now?"

It is one of these practical jokers who invented the "argument settler" button. This is nothing but a large-headed tack upon which is printed the picture of the favorite candidate, and the motto "do you see the point now?"

The joker gets hold of some obdurate friend of the opposition and painly endeavors to convince him that his political position is all wrong. Of course he fails; that was not only to be expected, but to be desired. Then, just to show that no hard feelings exist because of the friend's obstinacy in not viewing the political situation as he does, the joker asks his friend to step in and have a drink or a smoke. He selects a table, and as he draws out a chair for his friend, drops one of his "argument settlers" onto it. When the friend sits down he feels even though he does not see the point, but such an argument seldom changes his political convictions.

At the headquarters of both parties such souvenirs are condemned. The political leaders prefer to have the voters take their politics seriously, and so official sanction is withheld from this feature of the campaign for the reason that it belies its name and does not make votes.

Of the republican badges, none are proving more popular in the west than the miniature rough rider's hat, molded in brass. It is one of the more expensive souvenirs, but the national committee is willing to disregard that point if the hats will make votes.

Growth of Chicago.

Chicago is not the biggest city in America; it needs nearly 2,000,000 more people to make it that, but Chicago is, and has reason to be, proud of its growth. There is probably no other city in the world that can show such a record for rapid growth as Chicago.

Chicago Sixty Years Ago.

Sixty years ago the second city in America was but a struggling country town of 4,470 people. It was not even a promising town in those days; it had not a single railroad; not a mile of paved street, nothing to distinguish it from dozens of just such places in the western territories. But in 1840 Chicago was less than ten years old.

In 1850 the population had increased to 29,960, and stood nineteenth among the cities of the union. Even then it had attracted the attention of the world; it had railroads, manufactories, and a wonderful lake commerce.

By the end of another ten years the hundred thousand mark had been past, and in 1860, with a population of 109,260, Chicago was not the nineteenth, but the ninth city in the union, and through it the products of the west were being poured into the east by both lake and rail.

When in 1870 the census enumerators counted 298,977 people, giving it fifth place among the cities of the union, even old Father Knickerbocker applauded. Then came the census of 1880, and the half-million mark had been passed and Chicago had a population of 503,185, notwithstanding the town had been practically burned up eight years before. That year Chicago was the fourth city in the union. By 1890 it had distanced Philadelphia, and with a population of 1,099,850 it took second place. In the last ten years more than another half million of people have been added to its population, and today it still stands in second place with a population of 1,698,575.

Microbe Exterminates Rats.

Mr. Danysz, of the Pasteur institute in Paris, has found a microbe which exterminates rats. He has tried the effect of his microbe in warehouses, farms, and other places, and in 50 per cent. of the cases the rats completely disappeared.

Can Fly Fast and Long.

The frigate bird can fly at the rate of 100 miles an hour, and live in the air a week at a time without touching a roost.

ELECTION TO DECIDE.

Kansas Girl's Choice of a Husband Depends on the Outcome of the Presidential Campaign.

Miss Mary Kincaid is the prettiest girl in Dudley township, Haskell county, Kan. Miss Kincaid has two ardent admirers and she has been trying for more than a year to decide between them. She likes them both, and, as nearly as she can determine, she likes them equally. The other day the three, James Bradley, Willis Wilkerson and Miss Kincaid, were talking together about the coming election. Bradley is a republican and Wilkerson a populist. Suddenly, as the two men discussed the claims of their respective parties, a bright idea struck Bradley.

MISS MARY KINCAID.
(Her Choice of Husband Depends on the November Election.)

"I tell you what," he said, "suppose we let the result of the election in Dudley township decide which one of us shall marry Mary?"

Wilkerson agreed, and Miss Kincaid also gave her consent. The proposition was put into writing and all three signed it. If McKinley carries the township Bradley is to lead Miss Kincaid to the altar. If Bryan gets a majority of the votes Wilkerson is to take his place as bridegroom. In case of tie the two men are to draw lots for Miss Kincaid's hand.

Dudley township is the only township in the United States which went for Palmer and Buckner in 1896. At that election only six votes were cast, three for the candidates of the gold democrats, two for McKinley and one for Bryan. Since that time two new voters have moved in, one a Swede, who announces that he will vote for Bryan, and the other a negro, who has proclaimed his allegiance to the republican ticket.

Bradley and Wilkerson will devote most of their attention to the three men who voted for Palmer and Buckner four years ago.

FAMOUS SOUTHERNER.

Judge Reagan, Last of the Great Confederates, Will Retire to Write His Memoirs.

Judge John H. Reagan, of Dallas, Tex., former member of Jefferson Davis' cabinet, and at present chairman of the state railway commission, will resign his position on the first of the year and retire to private life.

Judge Reagan is the last of the statesmen of the confederacy who were highly distinguished in ante-bellum days, and during the time the confederate government held together. He is a gentleman of the old school, but while he retains the manners of the chivalrous south, he has thrown aside the old ideas. Although he is more than 80 years old, his mind is active and clear, as may be gathered from his announced intention of starting to work upon writing his memoirs, which must prove of the highest value to the future American historian.

JUDGE JOHN H. REAGAN.

Born in Tennessee, Judge Reagan has spent his life since his youth in Texas. He was admitted to the bar in 1848, became probate judge, then legislator, then district judge. In 1856 he went to congress, and when Texas seceded he was made postmaster general and secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of Jefferson Davis. He was with the confederate president when the latter was captured in 1865.

During the period of the reconstruction Judge Reagan was the adviser of Andrew Johnson and Secretary Seward. He was United States senator in 1887, and although a democrat clear through, he has never been a bitter partisan. He is one of the most popular men in Texas.

Meaner Than the Gold Brick Game.

A swindler has been going around among Indiana farmers offering to sell them sets of false teeth for half price. He pulls the old teeth of his victims, secures part payment for the promised new set, and then disappears. This is a little meaner than the gold brick game. The gold brick men are content to get the innocent farmers' money without taking their teeth.

How the Different States PROTECT BIRDS

A Growing Tendency to Care for the Little Feathered Songsters as Well as the Game Birds

BIRD protection in its broadest sense appeals to many persons and diverse interests, and its importance is becoming more generally appreciated. The sportsman who values birds chiefly for the pleasure derived from their pursuit as game, the market hunter who hunts them solely for profit, the farmer who regards them in the light of their relation to agriculture, and the many persons of every class who derive enjoyment from their presence, are all interested in the question of their preservation. The sportsman has long realized the necessity for protective measures, but the farmer has only recently learned to appreciate the full value of birds as insect destroyers. More exact knowledge of their food habits has resulted in a higher estimate of their utility on the farm, and demonstrated more clearly than ever the necessity of active measures to insure their protection. Recent years have also witnessed a greatly increased interest in birds from the aesthetic standpoint, which has resulted in the formation of numerous protective organizations known as Audubon societies. Still bird destruction is going on rapidly in the United States, and in many regions there is a marked decrease in the abundance of certain species. Cheap guns, lax laws, the mania for collecting and shooting, and more especially the enormous demand for birds for market and for the millinery trade, are responsible for this reduction in bird life.

The protection of birds is a national, not a local question. It deals largely with migratory species which breed in one section, winter in another, and traverse several states in passing to and from their breeding grounds. Legislation on this subject belongs primarily to the states, but if it is to accomplish its purpose in a country like the United States, which, exclusive of Alaska, extends through 24 degrees of latitude and 58 degrees of longitude (an extent equal to two-thirds that of the whole continent of Europe), there must be greater harmony of action between the several states. Absolute uniformity in the protective laws of 50 distinct commonwealths may be impossible of attainment, but it is highly necessary, and seems to be feasible, to secure a much greater degree of uniformity than at present exists. State laws may be supplemented to some extent by federal legislation, and a bill has been passed by congress to regulate interstate commerce in game killed in violation of local laws.

Protective legislation was originally intended to secure merely the preservation of birds which were killed for food or sport, but as time went on it was extended gradually to other species.

The necessity of restricting the slaughter of useful birds began to be recognized in the last century, if not before. In 1791 New York enacted a law protecting the heath hen from April 1 to October 5. Some years later, in 1818, Massachusetts passed a law to prevent the wanton destruction at "improper times" of "birds which are useful and profitable to the citizens either as articles of food or instruments in the hands of Providence to destroy many noxious insects, grubs and caterpillars, which are prejudicial or destructive to vegetation, fruits and grain." This law prohibited the killing of quail or partridges between March 1 and September 1, and of woodcock, snipe, larks or robins from March 1 to July 4. Larks and robins were protected merely as game, and it was not until the middle of the century that birds not usually killed for food received the protection which is now generally accorded them.

In 1850 both Connecticut and New Jersey passed special laws for the protection of insectivorous birds. The New Jersey law, approved March 6, 1850, was entitled "An act to prevent the destruction of small and harmless birds."

Similar acts were passed in 1851 by Vermont, in 1855 by Massachusetts, and shortly after by other states, until in 1864 they were in force in the District of Columbia and 12 states, comprising all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota.

These early laws enumerated the species to be protected, and extended protection only to "insectivorous," "song," or "harmless" birds, as is still done by some of the laws now in force. In 1877, however, Florida went a step further by enacting special legislation for the preservation of sea birds and plume birds, and in 1891 her example was followed by Texas. Recently a beginning has been made toward preserving birds of prey, or at least discriminating between the useful and injurious species.

During the last three years a few attempts have been made to legislate against the sale and wearing of feathers of native birds, as the enormous demand for birds for millinery purposes is generally recognized as one of the chief causes of bird destruction. In 1897 California declared that every person who shall at any time kill or have in his possession, "except for the purpose of propagation or for educational or scientific purposes, any English skylark, robin, canary, humming bird thrush or mocking bird, or any part of the skin, skins or plumage thereof, * * * is guilty of a misdemeanor." In the same year Massachusetts passed a broader law aimed more directly at the trade in feathers, which provided that "whoever has in his possession the body or feathers of any bird whose taking or killing is prohibited by section 4 of chapter 276 of the acts of the year 1886, or wears such feathers for the purpose of dress or ornament, shall be punished (by a fine of ten dollars) as provided in said section." This act was promptly tested in the courts and declared unconstitutional. It was, however, amended by the legislature in the following year, although the new law did not go into effect until April 1, 1899. The words "whether taken in this commonwealth or elsewhere" were inserted after "1886," and another clause was added which excepted from the provisions of the act nonresidents passing through or temporarily dwelling within the state. Maryland also declared in 1898: "No person shall under like penalty (one dollar to five dollars) have in his or her possession, offer for sale or wear, the skins, plumage, wings or feathers of any of the birds, the catching or killing of which is prohibited by this section." Recently New York has incorporated in its game law a millinery clause, which provides that "no part of the plumage, skin or body of any bird protected by this section shall be sold or had in possession for sale."

MAP ILLUSTRATING DIVERSITY IN STATE LAWS FOR THE PROTECTION OF BIRDS. The Common Dove is found throughout the United States. In 12 States (shaded) it is protected at all times, in 19 (dotted) only at certain seasons, while in the others it is without protection.

Federal legislation restricting interstate commerce in birds for millinery purposes has also been advocated, and a bill designed to accomplish that purpose was passed by the senate at the last session of congress, but failed to become a law.

It has been proposed that, as a means of increasing interest in bird study, the schools observe a special "Bird Day" each year. This suggestion has met with considerable favor.

A "Bird Day" celebrated with appropriate exercises, similar to and often united with those of Arbor day, has now become a regular feature of the school calendar in several states, and in some has been recognized by law. Wisconsin in 1897, and Minnesota and Connecticut in 1899, legally established a combined Arbor and Bird day.

A Wife for Sale.

Much later than 1823 there lived a publican some miles off, whom I knew very well; indeed, he was the namesake of a first cousin to a carpenter in my constant employ. He bought his wife for a stone two-gallon jar of Plymouth gin, if I was informed aright. She had belonged to a stonecutter, but, as he was dissatisfied with her, he put up a written notice in several public places to this effect:

"NOTICE—This here be to hinform the publick as how G—— C—— be disposed to sell his wife by Auction. Her be a dacent, clanely woman, and be of age 25 years. The sale be to take place in the —— Inn, Thursday next, at seven o'clock."—From "A Quiet Village," by S. Baring-Gould.

Have erroneous ideas about grain. They think that anything is fit to feed. There is just as much difference in grain as there is in anything else, and there are just as many poor kinds as there are good kinds.

The safest way is to patronize the place that can give you good clean grain, because they have the machinery to handle it. It costs no more.

RAIN HELPS SOMERSET COUNTY.

More is Needed, However, as the Drought Has Been Severe.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, September 19.—The rain which fell Saturday night was a great relief to many parts of this county which were suffering greatly from the drought, but it will take a much heavier rainfall to fill the wells and cisterns. The district from Wood's Tavern to Griggstown Mountain, and from Sourland Mountain well down toward Millstone, has been particularly parched. No rain of any consequence has fallen in this section since last May. The crops were ruined, the pasture fields were burned out, and the situation was assuming a serious aspect owing to the limited supply of water. Many farmers are still experiencing great difficulty in getting water for their stock and domestic use. In some portions cattle are driven a long distance over roads covered with several inches of dust to water.

The earth was baked so hard that fall ploughing was out of the question, and even yet it is doubtful if the farmers will be able to go on with their work.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"'Way Down East," which comes to Music Hall next Monday night with its rustic simplicity and blended pathos and humor, finds great favor everywhere. Those who have seen "The Old Homestead" and "Shore Acres" pronounce "'Way Down East" a play of a higher standard. The same production of this famous drama that for an entire two seasons enthused New York is to be given at Music Hall. It is said to possess all the elements of enduring popularity, appeals to all classes and both sexes. It will be given with a strong company, complete scenery and some of the most novel mechanical effects ever seen on any stage.

Peace hath its victories as well as war and James J. Jeffries, the present heavyweight champion of the world, the conqueror of Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Sharkey within one brief year, is the defiant gladiator from whose prowess the mighty men of muscle shrink back in confusion has proven himself as potent a personality on the stage as in the prize ring. His appearance at Music Hall next Tuesday night in this city will deeply stir the curiosity of all classes in this community to whom his achievements are as well known as that of any among the world's celebrities. Everybody has heard of Jeffries, who has sprung from obscurity to world wide distinction because he has the massive power and skillful science and rugged endurance to defeat all aspirants and to court challenge from all comers consumed by ambition to dispute his preeminence. Mr. Jeffries has turned actor, and successfully too. His appearance here in Clay M. Greene's drama, "The Man From the West," is being keenly looked forward to, for in it he illustrates how to punch the bag, spar and train for health. Manager Wm. A. Brady has given the play his personal supervision and a car load of scenic effects as well as an interpretation by a carefully selected dramatic company will make the Jeffries night at Music Hall a red letter one.

The Plainfield public will be given a great surprise when they see the performance of the wonderful "Brownies" who are to appear at Music Hall Friday and Saturday night and Saturday matinee, Sept. 28th and 29th. The little people will illustrate some of their doings in fairyland, and it is confidently expected their adventures will not only interest children, but grown folks as well. It is intended by the management to devote and donate a percentage of the receipts to the Galveston relief fund and to this end a list with the names of every child taking part, will be forwarded to the fund and be known as a donation from the Plainfield Brownie children. None should fail to see the funny little folks, particularly the funny Italian organ grinder and his trick bear. The Brownie cake walk will be another feature, supplemented by the flower dance by ten little girls and the stirring finale "Off to the Wars." Seats will be on sale at the box office, next Monday, 24th inst. The entire lower floor will be reserved at 50 cents each and other prices will be 35 and 25 cents.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

The Westfield Republicans had a banner-raising Saturday night after the clambake. The rain kept the crowd away, but there was considerable enthusiasm. The banner is well up in the air on poles at the corner of Broad and Prospect streets.

The Presidential campaign was opened in Flemington Saturday afternoon, when a large hickory pole and Bryan banner were raised in front of the Court House, followed by speechmaking. A 10,000-candle power electric light was placed on top of the pole, and it can be seen for miles.

The organization of the Somerville Republican Club has been perfected by the election of Prosecutor James L. Griggs as president; nearly every prominent Republican as vice-president; C. H. Bateman, recording secretary; F. A. Pope, corresponding secretary, and W. S. Stryker, treasurer. Rooms in Association Hall have been secured as headquarters.

One of the busiest Democrats in New Jersey is ex-Congressman Johnston Cornish He appears to have fully recovered from the defeat which he encountered when he ran for Congress against State Senator Mahlon Pitney some years ago, and to have got what the Democrats over there call his "second wind." At any rate, he is stirring up the Fourth Congress district in a way which shows his peculiar effectiveness as a political worker, and it will not be unprofitable for the Republicans to camp on his trail. Mr. Cornish is not a candidate for office this year, but his friends say that his ambitition to be Governor of New Jersey will not be concealed under a piano this time.

General P. F. Wanser, postmaster at Jersey City, says that the Republicans of Hudson county had not come to any decision as to whom they would select as their candidate for Congress in the Seventh district, George W. Record, former State Treasurer John T. Toffey and others have been favorably mentioned. "We shall endeavor," General Wanser said, "to make the strongest possible nominations for both Congress and State Senator, and we shall make one of the most active campaigns that has been known in Hudson county in a long time."

Capitalists Propose to Secure Power for Electric Lighting Plants.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Belvidere, Sept. 19.—A big electric power plant is on foot in this section, and capitalists propose to harness the immense water power that for years has run to waste in the Delaware River, at Big Foul rift, a few miles below Belvidere.

Options have been seen secured on a number of farms adjoining the river, and everything points to the speedy consummation of the plans for a plant that will furnish power for the electric lighting of Philipsburg, Washington, Hackettstown, Belvidere and other nearby places. For nine months of the year it is estimated that the energy to be derived from the flow of water at the rift will give 5,000 horse power. There is a fall of twenty-three feet in a little over a mile.

Rev. Mr. Fitch, of Caldwell, has been spending a few days in Plainfield with relatives.

WEDDED AT TWILIGHT.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING AT RESIDENCE OF MR. AND MRS. F. WENZEL.

Their Daughter, Miss Ada Wenzel, was Married to Samuel Wilson, of Elizabeth.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wenzel, 1143 South Second street, was the scene of an attractive home wedding last evening, when their daughter, Miss Ada Wenzel, was united in marriage to Samuel Wilson, of Elizabeth. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock in the presence of a number of relatives and admiring friends. Rev. John McMurray, pastor of Monroe Avenue church, officiated, assisted by Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, of Flemington, a former pastor of that church, and an intimate friend of the family.

The bride wore a gown of white trimmed with white satin ribbons, and carried a bouquet of white asters. The bridemaid was Miss Bertha Wenzel, sister of the bride, and was gowned in white over pink. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The Misses Marion Praed and Agnes VanNorden were the flower girls. They were dressed in white and carried baskets of pink roses and white asters. The best man was Howard Cox, of this city.

As the bridal party entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, the wedding march was rendered by Miss Mary Graves, of this city. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilson received the hearty congratulations of the guests present. A wedding supper was served, after which the happy couple departed amid a shower of rice to enjoy a wedding trip. They will return to this city in a short time and remain here for a month prior to taking up their residence in Elizabeth.

The floral decorations at the home were very pretty, and consisted of golden rod, white asters, smilax, and choice cut flowers. In the parlor the effect was greatly admired, and also in the dining room.

The bride and groom were handsomely remembered by their friends and they received a great many costly and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are both popular young people in this city.

SPRING LAKE WIPED OUT.

Popular Summer Resort on Jersey Coast Swept by Fire This Morning.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, September 19—Driven by a high northwest wind, a fire swept over Spring Lake, a summer resort five miles from this place, early this morning, and the town is practically in ashes.

Three of the largest hotels, twelve of the finest cottages, a drug store, two groceries, a bicycle shop and four shanties were destroyed. The loss is estimated now at $250,000. Only the estuary been Spring Lake and Sea Girt prevented the flames from jumping to there, where there would have been a fertile field for the fire.

The hotels burned were the celebrated Monmouth House, the finest hotel in Spring Lake; the Carlton and the Essex. The cottages were the three Morehead cottages, the four Uirig, the two Peacock, one of Mrs. Pusey, the two Joy cottages and the Allaire House.

LOCAL TELEPHONE COMPANY LOSES.

Elizabeth Favors Conduit Franchise for the New York and New Jersey.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 19.—The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has, at last, after a prolonged struggle triumphed over its rival in this city, the Elizabeth Telephone Company, and will secure from the City Council the valuable franchise allowing the company to construct conduits in all the streets of the city where its wires run and place them underground. The franchise was passed on its first and second readings early Sunday morning by the City Council, after an exciting session that lasted several hours, the debate being marked by much bitterness. The champions of the local company were President Ryan, Councilman Horre, Benedict, Collins and Ford. They wanted to have the Elizabeth Company given the use of the conduits or be allowed to construct conduits for its wires, and also tried to have the franchise limited to twenty-five years. They were, however, beaten at all points by a vote of 8 to 5.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold their monthly meeting in the lecture room of the church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All are requested to attend.

Democrats of the Eighth District Make a Nomination After Spirited Contest.

MR. PARK SHOWED UP GOOD.

BAYONNE CANDIDATE SUPPORTED BY ELIZABETH DELEGATES.

Convention Showed More Life and Interest Than Has Been Seen in Several Years—Platform Denounces Imperialism.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Bayonne, Sept. 20.—When the delegates to the Democratic convention of the Eighth Congressional district gathered at Arlington Park in this city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of nominating an opponent to Congressman Charles N. Fowler, who is leading the Republican campaign in this district, it was readily to be seen that Edward E. A. Man, of Bayonne, was the choice of a majority of the delegates and would probably be nominated with a liberal number of votes to spare. Such a situation did not discourage Frederick W. Park, of Crandford, who has been an aspirant for sometime for the nomination of Congressman, and he and his friends started in to keep up an aggressive and earnest contest for the honor. Mr. Park was personally on hand and mingled among the delegates in a determined sort of way. Mr. Man early took up a place in a room in the hotel attached to the Park, and there he kept in touch with the condition of affairs through his loyal Bayonne friends.

If Mr. Park had been able to secure the solid vote of Union county in his favor he would have secured the nomination without trouble, as the delegates from the Essex county part of the district came to the convention as a unit in his favor. It was realized by his friends from the outset, however, that he would not be regarded with favor by many of the Union county men, because they thought that by political practice Bayonne should get the nomination if it really desired it. Of that latter condition there seemed to be no doubt, and as a result when the thirty-nine delegates from Elizabeth arrived at the convention it was learned that they had caucused the night before and had decided to support Mr. Man. The delegates from the other sections of Union county were not pledged to any candidate for the nomination, but after getting a fair idea of the situation most of them decided that it would be the best policy to support the Bayonne favorite. In his early canvass for the nomination, though, Mr. Park had made a few friends among the Union county men and they stuck loyally to his cause, although they realized that he was beaten. In the spirited but friendly contest that took place Mr. Park demonstrated his political energy and by his ready and pleasant acquiesence in the decision of the majority at the end he won the approval and respect of all who had not favored him with their votes, but who will now regard him as a factor of some consequence in county politics.

The convention was over an hour late in being called to order, the Union county caucus not being held till after the time set for the convention to convene. The caucus was held on an open piazza to the hotel. It was swept by the breezes of the Kill von Kull, which, to say the least, were not very hot. The proceedings proved quite warm, however, it being the first time since John T. Dunn was renominated that Union county has taken anything but a perfunctory part in such a meeting at a Congressional convention.

Mr. Park and his friends went into the caucus determined to prevent the unit rule from prevailing. If this rule had prevailed, Mr. Park's candidacy would have been cut short there, as with Elizabeth's thirty-nine votes favoring Man the county delegates would have been prevented from expressing their individual choice in the convention. Councilman George Ford, of Elizabeth, was chosen chairman of the convention. John Lane, of Summit, was secretary. The committee honors were as follows: Resolutions, James E. Martine, of Plainfield, rules, A. B. Cook, of Rahway; permanent organization, J. J. Manning, of Elizabeth; credentials, R. J. Mooney, of Summit, vice-president, John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth; member of the Congressional committee, John J. Lane, of Summit.

After much discussion it was decided not to enforce the unit rule, but to let each delegate cast his vote for whatever candidate he favored. Eliza-

HILLSIDE SHOULD WIN.

LOCAL GOLF CLUB NOW LEADS IN EAST JERSEY GOLF ASSOCIATION.

Chief Rivals of the Plainfield Team are from Glen Ridge—Remainder of Schedule.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club still stands in the lead in the East Jersey Golf Association with a fair prospect of holding the place to the end of the season. There are only three more matches for the Hillside team to play and two, at least, out of the three should be credited as victories. With such a result the trophy is a certainty for the Hillside team.

For a time East Orange made a strong showing but they have begun to fall back now and the Glen Ridge Golf Club has come to the front. The hardest game for the Hillside team will be against the Glen Ridge cracks Saturday October 20th, on the Glen Ridge links. The Hillside players have also to go to Newark and will meet the Forest Hill team in the Hillside links. The latter match is practically assured for Hillside. The game in Newark should be won although the golfers of the Newark A. C. have made a wonderful brace in the last few weeeks. It is the game with Glen Ridge in which the greatest interest is centered and Captain R. M. Shepard will get together just as strong a team as is possible to the chief rivals of the Hillside team.

The balance of this season's schedule in the league is as follows:

September 22—East Orange vs. Madison, at Madison; Elizabeth vs. Forest Hill, at Forest Hill; Glen Ridge vs. Newark Athletic, at Newark.

September 29—Hillside vs. Newark Athletic, at Newark; Madison vs. Elizabeth, at Elizabeth.

October 6—Forest Hill vs. Hillside, at Plainfield; Glen Ridge vs. East Orange, at East Orange.

October 13—Madison vs. Newark Athletic, at Newark.

October 20—Hillside vs. Glen Ridge, at Glen Ridge; Madison vs. Forest Hill, at Forest Hill

October 27—East Orange vs. Elizabeth, at Elizabeth.

November 3—Forest Hill vs. Newark Athletic, at Newark.

MAKING RAILROAD SURVEY.

Employes of New York and New Orange Company Planning for Extension Through Irvington.

Two parties of surveyors in the employ of the New Orange and New York Railroad are at work in the vicinity of Union, planning a suitable route for the proposed extension of the company's road from New Orange through Irvington to Vailsburg.

The surveyors, it is said, have been instructed to make an estimate of the proposed extension. Until they complete their work the company will take no decisive action toward securing a right of way.

Unhealthful Food Articles.

A restrictive law against alum baking powders, such as is enforced in some Western States, or prohibiting their sale, as in England, would be a boon to the people of this State. Physicians say that the danger from alum baking powders is greatly augmented of late. Manufacturers have adopted various tricks to disguise these powders, not hesitating to guarantee them as made of cream of tartar, and as they are sold at a lower price than a pure cream of tartar powder, there is danger of their use, particularly among the people who can least afford to use unhealthful food.

Housekeepers should be on their guard against this danger to their food. Alum powders are well known to be detrimental to health. Many boards of health have published the names of the alum powders in order to warn the public against them. The very highest authorities condemn their use.

It is well-known that the so-called "cheap" baking powders are made from alum or the very cheapest materials. To give them weight some brands are found to be filled with sixty per cent. of powdered soapstone. They cost but two or three cents per pound to produce, though they are sold to consumers at from twenty to thirty cents per pound. The great profit in them causes their sale to be pushed by their manufacturers—and by some not over-scrupulous grocers also, we are sorry to say.

Mr. Pack Making Improvements.

Gerome Pack is making some extensive improvements about his place on Park avenue. An entirely new front will replace the old one and the store will be brought down on a level with the sidewalk. When completed it will be occupied by Mr. Johnson, the green goods dealer.

DEMOCRATS WILL ORGANIZE A CLUB.

Meeting to be Held Tomorrow Night in Reform Hall for That Purpose.

AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE SECURED UNTIL ELECTION DAY.

Several Meetings Being Planned For, With a Couple of Big Ones in Music Hall—Banner Raising, Too.

With the nomination of a Congressman by the Democrats of the Eighth district, which took place yesterday at Bayonne, as told in another column of today's Press, the important candidacies as they relate to the National campaign in this section have been completed. Now the Democrats say they are ready and anxious to do aggressive service for their standard bearers. Four years ago Plainfield Democrats carried on hardly the semblance of a campaign in this city, but this year things will be different.

Realizing the capacity of the local Republicans for hard work for their ticket, the Democrats intend to become active and aggressive, too. As an important step in that direction a call has been issued and arrangements made for the organization of a Democratic club in this city tomorrow night. The matter has been under consideration of those active in Democratic councils, and it is planned to establish an organization upon which the brunt of the campaign battle will fall from now until election day and to acquire a membership that will be resolute and permanent in its loyalty to Democracy.

The meeting will be held in Reform Hall, and it is expected that it will be attended by a large crowd of Democrats. It will be called to order at 8:30 o'clock and all Democrats who are anxious for the success of their party this fall are urged to be present and participate in the meeting.

Just what plans the organization will have will be determined after a thorough discussion of the situation. It is likely, however, that headquarters will be secured for the rest of the campaign, and that they will be kept open every day and evening as a place where Democrats may gather when they feel like it.

It is hoped to secure headquarters that will be adapted for holding good sized meetings where well-known party speakers can appear at least once a week and address audiences on the issues of the campaign. Two big meetings will also be held in Music Hall, when speakers of National reputation will be on hand to argue for Democracy's candidates. There is also a move on foot to purchase a Bryan and Stevenson banner, and if it is carried out the first appearance of the banner will be an occasion for a Democratic demonstration.

Guessed Elizabeth's Population.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 20.—Jennie Johnson, twelve years old, who resides at 1008 Laura street, this city, and who is a bright pupil of the Morrell Street Grammar School, has the honor of being the only one in this city to guess correctly the exact population of Elizabeth. A local newspaper offered a prize of $10 to the person who would come the closest to guessing the census of this city. Little Miss Jennie sent in her guess to the paper on June 16th and her figures, 52,130, exactly hit the mark. The prize money was handed to her yesterday afternoon.

Interesting Factory Employes.

Charles B. Brown, who is in Plainfield for a few days in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. work, has arranged to hold a meeting soon at the Chapot chamois factory. Meetings were held yesterday noon at the Aluminum Press and Plate Works and at the Scott Press Works. At each place Mr. Brown explained the objects of the Association, and he held the close attention of all present. At each place a photograph was taken of the employes as they stood in a group near the works.

A Sad Bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Connelly, of Liberty street, have lost two infant daughters during the month with whooping cough. One died the first of the month and the other a few days ago. The last one was buried yesterday in St. Mary's cemetery.

Liquor Association Delegates.

Joseph A. Blatz, Jacob Klotz, Henry Haurand, John Rafferty and Mr. Hibbard went to Orange today to attend the annual meeting of the State Liquor Dealers' Association.

ELLA'S SAD TALE.

She Says She Lost $50, But Was Sent to Jail in Default of $5 Fine.

Ella Warbin reached town at 1 o'clock this morning. She says that she was robbed of $50 after that time. At 9 o'clock this morning City Judge Runyon sentenced her to the county jail for twenty days. She went this noon. Patrolman Weizenreid found her lying drunk in the gutter at 3 o'clock this morning. She had fallen near the solder furnace of the trolley line men and was evidently trying to keep warm. She afterwards told the police that she came from New Brunswick but that her home was in Easton. She declared that $50 had been taken from her pocket during the night but her appearance rather belied the story. She went to jail in default of $5 to pay her fine.

TRAMPS WERE HUNGRY.

THEY BROKE INTO A HOUSE AND ENJOYED A REPAST.

At the End of the Meal They Made Off With $25 Worth of Silverware.

Two wandering tramps satisfied their hunger Tuesday evening at the expense of I. C. VanNatta, of La-Grande avenue, and departed, carrying with them a number of silver spoons and other silverware, valued by the erstwhile owner at $25. An entrance to the house was effected by way of a window in the rear of the building. The tramps entered and departed without disturbing the legitimate occupants of the house.

When Mr. VanNatta went down stairs yesterday morning he discovered signs of the night's invasion. Several pies which had been placed in the pantry had been eaten. A number of jars of jam had been cleaned out. Then the burglars sampled the rest of the contents of the pantry and evidently enjoyed a good meal. They also visited the dining-room where the silverware was stolen from the buffet.

There was no clue to the burglars. The matter was reported to the police who investigated. The work was evidently done by tramps rather than professional burglars.

TO ACT AS HOSTESSES.

Iona Council to Entertain Members of the State Council.

An important meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, was held last evening. One candidate was adopted. A committee of nine was appointed to receive and entertain the members of the State Council of the order, which will hold its annual meeting here the fourth Tuesday in October. The committee subsequently organized as follows: Chairman, Mrs. W. A. Westphal; secretary, Mrs. Charles Holdstein treasurer, Mrs. Edward Bowman. It was decided to hold a dance October 3d to raise money for the entertaining fund.

Iona Council tendered the use of its property for the institution ceremonies this evening of the new tribe of Red Men, and a number of members volunteered their services to assist in the serving of the collation after the institution.

Opportunities for Young Men.

Meetings in the interest of the educational department of the local Y. M. C. A. were held at the factories of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company and of Walter Scott & Company yesterday during the noon hour. Charles B. Brown, associate State secretary of the Y. M. C. A., told briefly of the opportunities for young men in the mechanical classes at the association. J. Harry Manning, general secretary of the Plainfield Association, also spoke a few words. The men were much interested, and a number came up after the meeting to learn more of the classes. There were about thirty men at each meeting.

A Fine Light.

J. W. Gavett has just installed one of the noted Bourneville acetylene gas machines, for which he is agent, in Mrs. C. G. DuFling's house. This perfect light is coming into great use. Brilliant, very little heat, about the price of oil, it looks like the coming light. Gavett will have one to light his store in a few days and he will be pleased to show it to all interested.

Mr. Martine in Bayonne.

James E. Martine delivered an address in Bayonne last night at a mass meeting of the Democrats. Among the guests who occupied seats on the platform was John J. Gaffney, the active young Somerset county Democrat.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mamie Squires, of North Plainfield, and Charles Cox, of this city, which took place recently. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are residing with the groom's mother on East Fourth street.

DEMOCRATS AWAKENING.

CITY COMMITTEE WILL ARRANGE DETAILS OF MASS MEETING.

G. O. P. Preparing to Open City Headquarters—Campaign Literature Already on Hand—Ward Organizations Planned—Other News.

There are unfailing signs which point to a steady increase in the general interest of the Plainfield public in the national campaign. While the Republicans didn't have a terribly enthusiastic opening when the banner was strung across North avenue, the members of the G. O. P. are warming up to the fray. Then the Democrats are bestirring themselves. It's fast getting cooler these days and more like weather for politics. Nobody can be expected to be wildly enthusiastic over any political issue when the thermometer registers over ninety degrees in the shade. But those days are gone now until next year and the politicians are fast getting into shape.

The Republicans have something new to do this evening. Tonight is the first of the two evenings set by the Republican city executive committee for the enrollment of Republican voters in the city. To vote at any of the Republican primaries this year it will be necessary to be enrolled. The enrollment may be made in person or on the affidavit of any known Republican. This registration will take place this evening from 8 o'clock until 10. In the First ward the meeting place will be the old City National Bank building, 120 East Front street. The voters of the Second ward will be enrolled at the Bryant school building on East Sixth street. The Casino is the rendezvous of the Third ward. In the Fourth ward the enrollment will take place in the reading room of Reform Hall. The other night for the enrollment is Thursday evening of next week at the same places.

The first mass meeting to be held this campaign is booked for Wednesday evening, when the Republicans fire their first big gun. Hon. George L. Barber, one of the best and most logical speakers of New England, has been assigned to Plainfield by the State committee. He will make the principal address, while there will be a few words from Governor Foster M. Voorhees and U. S. Senator John Kean, both of Elizabeth, and Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city.

A special meeting of the Republican city executive committee will be held tomorrow evening to arrange the further details of the mass meeting. Arrangements will also be made for the opening of headquarters in this city. The present rooms in the Marsh building on Park avenue will probably be selected and some good Republican will be appointed to take charge.

A quantity of campaign supplies for the Republicans has arrived at Republican headquarters. Literature or lithographs of the two chief candidates can be obtained by calling there or at the office of Wm. Newcorn, secretary of the city committee, 204 West Front street.

Plans will be laid in the wards of the city to establish campaign clubs, and a meeting of the Young Men's Republican Club will be called in a week or two.

PREPARING FOR WINTER

NEW CARS FOR PLAINFIELD-ELIZABETH LINE EXPECTED SOON.

With New Cars Main Line and Local System Will be Equipped With Closed Cars.

Riding in open trolley cars has lost its fasination for the Plainfield public. Where a month ago the open cars on the line between this city and Elizabeth were crowded nightly, only those who are actually compelled to ride do so now. It's entirely too chilly these September evenings to ride for fun. Now that the summer trade is over, the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company is preparing for the fall and winter.

It is the plan of the company to equip the Plainfield-Elizabeth line with new double truck closed cars. These cars, according to the statement of Superintendent John Adelman, were ordered early in the summer. The company had originally ordered ten double truck open cars but they came so late that the order for five was countermanded and the car builders were instructed make ten closed cars, equipped with double trucks, instead. These cars were promised for this month but Superintendent Adelman says that he expects them early in October. As soon as they arrive, they will be put on the main line.

The Boynton Beach line is of little importance during the winter, and it is not anticipated that the traffic during the fall and winter months will be very large. Superintendent Adelmann has therefore withdrawn the three box cars, belonging to the Westfield and Elizabeth Company, from service between Picton and Boynton Beach. They were dragged over the Lehigh Valley tracks at Picton and are now being used on the main line. The little closed cars of the Rahway company will be large enough to accommodate the traffic on the Boynton Beach line.

At present there are not enough closed cars to equip both the Plainfield Company's lines and the through line from this city to Elizabeth and open cars have to be used. If the big closed cars, with the double trucks, arrive, according to promise, the company will be well fitted to use closed cars throughout. If the new cars are delayed well into the winter, Plainfield will enjoy more experiences with the "pneumonia express" as the open cars were termed last winter.

THIRD WARD G. O. P

Organization Effected by the Republicans With Roger Murray at the Head.

The Republicans of the Third Ward set an example to the other members of the G. O. P. last evening by organizing the first ward campaign association to be formed this year. A meeting of the Third ward leaders was held last evening in the Casino and the Third Ward Republican Association was organized. The following officers were elected: President, Roger F. Murray, secretary, William C. Kinney, treasurer, George J. Tobin.

Plans for the coming campaign were then discussed. An attempt will be made to make the organization permanent. The ward headquarters will be established at the club house of the erstwhile Union County Country Club. Every Republican voter in the ward will be enrolled as a member if possible and the club will see to the distribution of campaign literature and getting the vote out. The Third ward is always overwhelmingly Republican but an effort will be made to give even a larger Republican majority than usual.

The meeting adjourned until next Monday evening when the committee on constitution and by-laws will make its report and the organization will be perfected.

Fell From Trolley Car.

Mrs. Sarah H. Gaskel, of 204 West Front street, fell from an open trolley car Monday near the Recreation Grounds, a short distance from Westfield. She was carrying a bundle and as the car gave a lurch the bundle fell from the car. In an effort to catch the bundle she lost her balance and fell from the car. She was partly stunned by the fall and received a severe cut on her right cheek. She was taken to her home.

Celebrated Completion of Work.

The construction department of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway celebrated the completion of the work with a shore dinner at Bergen Point Tuesday night. A special car left Westfield at 4 o'clock, in charge of Superintendents Adelman and Knight. At Newark Colonel E. W. Hine and a party of friends boarded the car and it then proceeded over the Plank road to Bergen Point, returning about 12 o'clock.

SHOTGUN AND PISTOL END A LOVE AFFAIR.

Two Men Shoot and Probably Fatally Wound Each Other.

SHOT FIRED AT THE GIRL.

FARM HAND'S ATTENTION TO FARMER'S DAUGHTER RESENTED.

Affair Occurred at Unionville, Union County—Farmhand Picked Up in Newark in a Critical Condition.

In an encounter between Horace Baldwin, a farmer at Unionville, Union county, and Thomas Doyle, formerly a farm hand at Baldwin's house, Tuesday night, both men were dangerously wounded. The shooting was the sequel of a love affair.

Doyle, who belongs in New York, is 38 years old. Last January he was hired by Baldwin to take care of horses, and he remained until March, when he went away. During his stay with Baldwin, Doyle paid attention to Grace, the farmer's daughter, who is twenty years old, and it was after Baldwin had expressed his objection to Doyle as a suitor and the acquiescence of Grace that he left the farm.

Last week the girl learned that Doyle had been drinking, and on Sunday she met him and told him that she would have nothing more to do with him. Doyle appeared at 8 o'clock on Tuesday night at a hotel in Unionville under the influence of liquor and said he was going to the Baldwin house. Later in the night he went to the house. Baldwin looked out, and seeing Doyle told him to go away. Doyle said he wanted to see Grace for a minute, and then he would leave for good. Just then Grace, who was in the room, peered out and saw that Doyle held a pistol in his hand. She so informed her father and ran screaming to the rear of the house. Doyle saw her through the window and fired at her, but the bullet went wild. The farmer returned with his shotgun and pointed it as Doyle was again aiming his pistol.

There was a simultaneous discharge and then Doyle fired a third shot. Baldwin was shot in the breast and staggered forward and fell. Doyle was apparently not hurt. The sound of the firing and the screams of the women attracted Gottlieb Senior and Charles Reilly. When they reached the farmer Doyle was sitting on the piazzi and asked if Baldwin was badly hurt. He added that Baldwin had fired at him, and he had to shoot back in self-defence.

Baldwin was sixty-three years old, and his advanced age seemed to preclude hope of his recovery. Doyle disappeared, and it was not known that he was wounded. At 3:25 o'clock yesterday morning Patrolman Hennessy, of Newark, found a man crouched on the steps of a sub-basement on Market street, near Broad street. There was a pool of blood beside him. He explained feebly that he had been shot by a man at Unionville. He was taken to the City Hospital, where examination showed that there was a large hole through his body, torn by a charge of buckshot. The doctors passed a cloth through the hole and daylight could be seen through it.

SWINDLED BY "INSPECTORS."

Cool Thieves Carry Off Electric Fans and Motors.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Sept. 20—Two men representing themselves to be inspectors for the Consumers' Heat, Light and Power Company called one day last week at the Central Hotel, of which James Erhart is proprietor, and examined the electric fan motors, pronouncing them out of order and in need of repairs. The proprietor obligingly accommodated the men with a stepladder, when they proceeded to remove the fans and motors, saying they would take them away to be repaired.

Yesterday an inspector for the electric light company called and asked what had become of the fans. When told the circumstances he informed the astonished proprietor that he was the fourth victim of the sharpers, who have succeeded in robbing hotel keepers of fans and motors to the value of several hundred dollars.

INTER-STATAE FAIR AT TRENTON.

The great Inter-State Fair will be held on September 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28, on the Fair Grounds, three miles east of Trenton, N. J., on the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The blooded stock exhibit will be particularly fine, and the daily programme of races contains the speediest classes obtainable. Automobile races will be novel and exciting.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will sell excursion tickets to the Fair Grounds, including coupon of admission, at greatly reduced rates from stations within a wide radius, and special trains over the New York, Belvidere and Amboy Divisions will be run through to the grounds, thus avoiding street-car transfer. The management of the Fair has put forth extraordinary efforts to make this year's exhibition even greater than last year's record-breaking display. 9 17 20 25

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Samuel Johnston, an aged resident of Monticello, lies at the point of death at his home in this village from the effect of drinking carbolic acid. Mr. Johnston was not feeling well yesterday morning when he awoke, and he went to the medicine chest, where a small phial of whisky is kept. The closet was dimly lighted, and Mr. Johnston could not see well. Instead of getting the whisky flask he took a bottle of carbolic acid and drank a large draft of it before he discovered the mistake. Physicians were immediately summoned and are using every effort to save his life.

STRIKERS ACCUSED.

Prominent Operator Says the Leaders Are Trouble Makers.

126,000 MEN DECLARED TO BE OUT.

President Mitchell Tells Markle Employees That Thousands of Miners Look to Them and That to Stop Work Would Mean Victory.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 20.—The third day of the strike passed off as quietly as the two preceding days. Beyond the occasional stoning of a mine worker going to or from his work there has been no disorder. It was estimated last night that about 70 per cent of the mine workers of this region were idle yesterday.

President Mitchell did not issue a formal statement because of his absence from headquarters. He said, however, that from reports he had received he figured on more than 126,000 being idle in the anthracite district. He added that most gratifying reports were received from this and the Schuylkill district.

No negotiations for a settlement of the strike are yet in sight, and the situation in that respect is precisely the same. The United Mine Workers' officials are confining their efforts to getting the men to quit work everywhere, believing that they cannot successfully carry on the contest unless every operator in the three districts is tied up completely. The operators appear to be doing nothing toward a settlement of the trouble. They are working the collieries which are crippled as best they can. The mine owners in the Hazleton district complain bitterly of what they call the "cruel tactics" of the union men. They claim that the workmen who are still going to the mines are being intimidated and even threatened with serious bodily harm if they do not quit work. They also add that most of the men now idle desire to resume work, but through fear of assault they do not leave their homes.

The meeting at Jeddo of the employees of G. B. Markle & Co., who operate the Jeddo, Ebervale, Highland and Oakdale collieries, proved to be probably the most remarkable gathering of its kind ever held in the anthracite regions. It was expected to be a heart to heart talk between John Markle, managing partner of the firm, and his employees, who number 2,500, but it developed into a joint debate in which Mr. Markle, President Mitchell, Rev. Father Phillips and National Committeeman Benjamin H. James took part. It began in a dignified manner, but gradually degenerated into impassioned argument and wound up very close to personalities.

The committee of the Markle employees which presented the grievances of the men to the firm last week called a meeting in front of the village schoolhouse at Jeddo for the purpose of learning what Mr. Markle had to say in regard to the grievances. The United Mine Workers' officials also announced a meeting of the Markle mine workers at the same place. The chairman of the grievance committee called the 1,000 people gathered there to order, after which Patrick Gallagher, a miner, was elected chairman. The Markle employees are divided on the question of striking, and some members of the grievance committee who tried last week to avert a strike were accused of standing in with the company. At the meeting the committee was asked to make a report of some kind, and, failing to present one, a miner in the crowd moved that the men in the Markle mines strike. A viva voce vote was taken, and there was a great roar of "Yea!"

President Mitchell was in the crowd, and he was invited to speak. As he walked up the steps of the schoolhouse John Markle, Alvin Markle and General Superintendent Smith of the firm's mines came along the railroad track, and the trio stood on the cinder embankment of the road and listened to the strike leader exhort his hearers.

Mr. Mitchell in brief said that he regretted that the men of the Markle mines were divided, but was glad that those who opposed the strike were in the minority. He said the eyes of 138,000 miners were looking toward them and that if they all stopped work the victory would be won; but, on the other hand, if a few went to work it would injure the interests of all the men.

Mr. Markle was unable to speak for awhile because of interruptions by many in the crowd. Several of the United Mine Workers' officials attempted to get the crowd to disperse and not to listen to Mr. Markle. The latter, however, won over the gathering. He told them the company stood ready to arbitrate any differences with the men and proposed that the company select one arbitrator and the men choose one. Mr. Markle concluded his address by paying his respects to the United Mine Workers' officials, calling them agitators and charging them with being responsible for all the turmoil in the region.

Mr. Mitchell then got on the steps and, standing beside Mr. Markle, told the crowd that the United Mine Workers would not accept arbitration on that basis. It must be the whole region and not a part of it.

Mr. Markle again addressed the men and reiterated what he said last Sunday, that he would accept Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia as an arbitrator, to which Mr. Mitchell replied that he would accept the archbishop on the basis the United Mine Workers proposed—arbitration for the whole region at one and the same time.

At this point Father Phillips, who was in the crowd, was called upon, and he delivered a speech favoring arbitration. He told the men that here was a chance to arbitrate their honest differences and if they did not seize the opportunity they would be giving organized labor the hardest blow it has ever been dealt and that all the men who refused the offer deserve all the hardship that the operators could put upon them in 100 years.

President Mitchell and Mr. Markle again spoke and Benjamin James also addressed the men, but their remarks were largely of a personal nature.

The strike leaders claim that as a result of the meeting the Markle mines will be closed today, while the firm claims that the meeting was a packed one and that their mines will operate today as usual. It remains to be seen which side is right.

The McAdoo marchers to the number of 250 marched to Coleraine, where they gathered quite a crowd together, and listened to addresses by strike leaders.

PHILIPPINE REPORT.

Commission Sends Secretary Root Account of Operations.

NATIVE FORCES GUERRILLA BANDS.

Uncertainty of Future Policy of the United States Makes Insurgents More Unruly—People Ask For Municipal Organization.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—On Aug. 17 Secretary Root cabled the Philippine commission for a report of its operations to date. Following is the reply of the commission, cabled on Aug. 21:

"Replying to dispatch, commission reports: It has for two months and a half made diligent inquiries into conditions prevailing. Mass of people has aptitude for education, but is ignorant, superstitious and credulous in a remarkable degree. Hostility against Americans was originally aroused by absurd falsehoods of unscrupulous leaders. Distribution of troops in 300 posts has by contact largely dispelled hostility and steadily improved temper of people. This improvement, furthered by abuses of insurgents, affirms that large number of people long for peace and are willing to accept government under United States. Insurgents not surrendering after defeat have divided into small guerrilla bands under general officers or become ladrones.

"Nearly all prominent generals and politicians of insurrection except Aguinaldo have since been captured or have surrendered and have taken oath of allegiance. Policy of leniency culminating in amnesty had marked effect to induce surrenders until defining of political issues in United States reported here in full gave hope to insurgent officers still in arms of changed policy and staid surrenders to await result of elections. Disturbances in parts of island, kept up and avowed by insurgent proclamation and orders to influence election, do not show unfriendly attitude of majority of people of provinces where they occur, but only activity of small insurgent bodies in mountain fastnesses whence they issue for usually harmless night attacks or murderous ambush of small American squads or to collect contributions or recruit from people terrorized by cutting out tongues, cutting off limbs, burying alive, murder and plunder.

"Difficulty of detection enables insurgents to maintain surveillance over people even in some garrisoned towns. Uncertainty as to future policy of United States and defenselessness of people without arms largely prevent them aiding Americans in suppressing outrages. Despite these difficulties, maintenance of status quo makes for more peaceful conditions. All northern Luzon except in Neuvaecija and Bulacan are substantially free from insurgents. People are busy planting and are asking for municipal organization. Railway and telegraph lines from Manila to Dagupan, 122 miles, have not been molested for five months. In excepted provinces and parts of provinces of southern Luzon insurrecto bands dodge from one mountain refuge to another and give occasional trouble. Tagalogs alone active in leading guerrilla warfare have succeeded in recruiting bands among the Visayans in Samar, Leyte and parts of Panay which maintain themselves by method described. In Negros, Cebu, Romblon, Masbate, Sibuyan, Tablas, Bohol and other Visayan islands little disturbance exists and civil government is eagerly awaited. Near Cayagan in Mindanao old Tagalog penal settlement considerable force of ladrones makes neighboring country dangerous, and disturbance exists at Surigao, but in south of this large, sparsely settled island, at Zamvoanga, Contabatto and other points, the country is tranquil.

"Four years of war and lawlessness in parts of islands have created unsettled conditions, and unguarded American or foreigner traveling ordinary trails far from garrisons and attracting cupidity runs risk of violence even in pacified provinces. Native constabulary and militia should be organized at once will end this and the terrorism to which defenseless people are subjected. Natives desire to enlist in these organizations. If judiciously selected and officered, will be sufficient force for maintenance of order and will permit early material reduction of United States troops. It is conceded by all but men in arms and is implied in their proclamation that if election confirms present policy remnant of insurrection will disappear within 60 days by surrender of leaders and fading out of rank and file. Ladrones, in part a heritage from Spanish rule, will continue, but can be suppressed by measures. Existing insurrecto organization now maintained with greatest difficulty for purpose stated. Effort is to mass enough insurgents to crush one of our small garrisons for political effect, but hitherto without result.

"Change of policy by turning islands over to a coterie of Tagalog politicians will blight their fair prospects of enormous improvement, drive out capital, make life and property (secular and religious) most insecure, banish by fear of cruel prescription considerable body of conservative Filipinos who have aided Americans in well founded belief that their people are not now fit for self government and reintroduce the same oppression and corruption which existed in all provinces under Malolos insurgent government during the eight months of its control. The result will be factional strife between jealous leaders, chaos and anarchy and will require and justify active intervention of our government or some other. Business interrupted by war is much improved as peace extends, but investment of new capital is retarded by doubt concerning the policy of the United States. In Negros more sugar is in cultivation than ever before. New forestry regulations give impetus to timber trade and reduce high price of lumber. Cultivation of rice in some provinces is retarded by loss of draft cattle through disease and war."

Boers Moving Northward.

SPITZKOP, Sept. 20.—General Viljoen, who succeeded Louis Botha in the supreme command of the Transvaal forces, is reported to be moving northward in the direction of Hectorspruit, with 3,000 men and 30 guns. He is known as "The Firebrand" and will endeavor to protract the war.

Porto Rico Wants Money.

HAVANA, Sept. 20.—Porto Rico having forwarded a petition to Washington for the repayment of $2,500,000 of the Cuban war loan, the matter has been referred to Governor General Wood, who will turn it over to Senor Cancie, secretary of finance.

FILIPINOS KILL TWELVE.

Twenty-six Wounded and Five Missing In Fight With Natives.

MANILA, Sept. 20.—During the last seven days there has been a distinct increase of insurgent aggression, particularly near Manila, along the railroad and in the provinces of Laguna, Morong, Bulucan, Nueva Ecija and Pampanga, culminating Monday in an engagement near Siniloan, at the east end of Laguna de Bay, in which detachments of the Fifteenth and Thirty-seventh United States infantry regiments, 90 men all told, met 1,000 insurgents armed with rifles and intrenched.

The American loss was 12 killed, including Captain David D. Mitchell and Second Lieutenant George A. Cooper, both of the Fifteenth infantry; 26 wounded and 5 missing, who are probably dead. The enemy had been pursued for several days.

There are rumors of attacks on the railroad and of trouble in Manila. Refugees are arriving here from Laguna, Morong and Pampanga provinces. The natives of Manila are restless, and many are leaving the city. The hostile demonstrations are particularly marked along the railroad and on the shores of Laguna de Bay.

SPRING LAKE FIRE SWEPT.

Popular New Jersey Resort Almost Wiped Out of Existence.

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 20.—The village of Spring Lake was swept by fire and three of the principal hotels, eight cottages and a number of business places were destroyed before the firemen could make any headway against the flames. The burned hotels were the Monmouth House, the Essex and Sussex and the Carlton. All the Moorehead cottages except one were burned. The loss is estimated at $400,000.

Among the business places consumed were the drug store of D. H. Hill & Co., in First avenue; Bamman's grocery store, Edgar White's bicycle shop and Sedgwyck & Callis' restaurant.

As the season is over there were very few persons in either the hotels or cottages. The few guests remaining were able to save most of their personal property. So far as can be learned no one was injured.

When it was seen that the local department was unable to cope with the flames, calls for assistance were sent to Manasquan, Ocean Grove and Asbury Park. The departments in those places responded quickly.

Hop Picker Mangled by Train.

ALBANY, Sept. 20.—A Delaware and Hudson switchman, walking along the tracks on Church street near Cherry street yesterday, discovered the trunk of a man's body lying on the tracks. In the meantime the head belonging to the body was found at another street crossing and the limbs at points farther along the track, one leg being found 200 yards north. It was 10 o'clock before the identity of the remains was known. At that hour Policeman Sheehy arrested a drunken man. He gave his name as John P Williams, a bookbinder, and said he belonged in New York. He said that the man killed was Michael O'Brien, 35 years old, of Hamilton street, New York, where he has a wife and children. He and O'Brien had been picking hops near Schenevus and started for home Tuesday night. They caught a freight train and rode to this city.

Mechanics at Odds.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The "loyalist" faction of the state council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, has decided to file papers in a suit in equity to restrain the "insurgents" from making use of the name of the order. The warring factions held separate meetings, and each elected officers and conducted the business of the regular annual meeting. The insurgents sent a committee to State Secretary E. S. Deemer, who was with the loyalists, with the request that he attend the meeting. Upon his refusal his seat was declared vacant and Samuel B. Mench was selected to take his place. Each faction elected separate officers, the loyalists naming Z. T. Wahensmith of this city as state councilor and the insurgents electing Dr. S. D. Wood to the same office.

Low Tides In Hudson Make Trouble.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The exceptionally low tides in the Hudson river are causing much trouble to boatmen in this section. The Watervliet electric light plant, which obtains its water from the Hudson, was shut down last night, and the city was in darkness.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 20.—The first evidence for the defense in the Howard case was taken yesterday, the defendant himself being the first witness. He told in a straightforward way of his arrival in Frankfort and movements here Jan. 30, and his testimony, as anticipated, was to prove an alibi. He will be on the stand again today.

DARING BANK ROBBERY.

Western Cashier Compelled to Open Safe at Point of Gun.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev., Sept. 20.—The First National bank was robbed of about $13,000 by three men, who entered the front door of the building and with revolvers made all present throw up their hands. There were five people in the bank at the time, Cashier Nixon, Assistant Cashier McBride, Bookkeeper Hill, Stenographer Calhoun and a horse buyer named Johnson.

The robbers threatened with instant death the first man who made a show of resistance. One robber at the point of a pistol made Cashier Nixon open the safe and take from it three sacks of gold coin. They threw this in an ore sack, together with all the gold coin in the office drawer. The robbers then marched the five men out through a back door to an alley, where three horses were waiting. The men were kept covered with guns until the desperadoes mounted their horses and escaped. The whole affair occurred in but five minutes.

An alarm was quickly given, and several shots were fired at the desperadoes as they sped through town, but without effect. The robbers returned the shots, but no one was hit. Officers and armed citizens have started in pursuit of the robbers, who took a course up the river. A posse has also started from Golconda to head them off, and it is thought they cannot escape.

Congressman Boutelle Recovering.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 20.—A report sent officially from the asylum in which Congressman Charles A. Boutelle is receiving treatment for aphasia, received by his family here, states without qualification that he is rapidly improving. The brain obstruction which, by allowing a physical pressure upon certain parts, made it impossible for him to properly control his nerve centers, has so far been absorbed under the treatment he has been receiving that he is now only slightly troubled in thought or speech, and in general he is practically himself again. At no time during his illness has his physical condition failed. The physicians say they are agreeably surprised at his recent rapid gains, and they are confident enough to hope for an early complete recovery.

Murdered by an Old Friend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—John Sandin, a Swedish tailor living in Jersey City, was shot and instantly killed in his shop by John Jansen, a fellow countryman. Sandin was 55 years old and Jansen one year his senior. They had known each other for 15 years. Jansen called at Sandin's shop and told Sandin he wanted to speak to him. The tailor ordered Jansen from his shop, and at this Jansen pulled a revolver and shot Sandin four times, killing him instantly. The murderer surrendered to the police. His only explanation of the motive for the crime was that Sandin had been circulating false reports concerning him in Sweden.

Miss Barton Ill at Galveston.

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—A dispatch from Galveston says: "Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross society, who came here to distribute relief supplies, was taken sick while ministering to the victims of the Galveston storm. She succumbed like a soldier at her post and is seriously ill. She will leave for her home in Washington, retiring from the field only on the imperative orders of her physicians. Miss Barton was taken ill at a conference in her rooms at the Tremont hotel, with her staff of nine gathered about her. She had just finished an outline of her work, assigning each member of her staff to a particular part of the work."

The Socialist Congress.

MAINZ, Germany, Sept. 20.—The Socialist congress, after a heated discussion, adopted resolutions protesting strongly against Germany's course in China. Answer to German Note Prepared by State Department.

GERMANY ANXIOUSLY AWAITING IT.

Chinese Government Wants United States to Act Independently In Making Settlement—France and Russia to Deal With Li.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—With the German proposition to postpone peace negotiations with China until the persons responsible for the Peking outrages are punished and the French and Russian notification of the purpose of those governments to begin such negotiations at once awaiting him the president found much matter of importance to dispose of upon his arrival in Washington from Canton. He lost no time in notifying the officials he desired to consult on his return, and the day was largely given up to private discussions.

Although it was stated that no answer would be ready to the German note at once, it appeared that the president, after talking over the situation with Attorney General Griggs, Acting Secretary Hill and Assistant Secretary Adee, had arrived at a conclusion as to the nature of the response that should be made. Mr. Adee consulted with Acting Secretary Hill and drafted the note of response, but all information as to its nature was refused at the state department. It was said that the note is to be gone over carefully at a further meeting between the president and such of his advisers as are in the city. The German government apparently is anxious for a speedy answer, as Baron Sternberg paid two visits to the state department after the German note was delivered. The Chinese minister also was twice at the state department seeking to influence the government not to agree to the joint action suggested in the German note.

The conclusion reached from the developments is that the powers are divided as to China and at present Germany and Great Britain stand aligned against France and Russia, while both sides are ardently seeking the adherence of the United States government. The issue appears to be made up in such shape as to dismiss further hope of attaining that harmony of action respecting China that the president has been seeking so far, and the point apparently has been reached where the United States must take sides or at once proceed to act entirely independent of other powers in reaching a settlement.

The Chinese government is urging the latter course upon the state department, but thus far there has been a restraining force in the desire to avoid making the United States the first of the powers to break the solid front that has been maintained up to the present time in dealing with China.

The first definite determination to begin peace negotiations with China seems to have been reached by the French and Russian governments, which have made known their purpose to proceed with negotiations with Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching as soon as feasible. This doubtless will have an important influence on the present negotiations, which are hinging to a considerable extent on the opening of peace negotiations. Within the last few days the United States minister at Paris, General Horace Porter, has been seen frequently at the office of the French minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, and it is understood that sentiments of the most friendly accord have been exchanged between the two countries. As France is acting with Russia, this determination appears to remove any prospect of a modification of the Franco-Russian determination to withdraw from Peking. It also disposes of all questions as to the credentials of Li Hung Chang and places France in a position of being ready to proceed on the credentials he has brought forward.

Bryan Talks to Missourians.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 20.—An immense crowd greeted William J. Bryan at Baseball park. Mr. Bryan was introduced by Congressman Cochran. Mr. Bryan referred briefly to the possibilities of the approaching election and asked: "Why should any man who voted with us in 1896 vote against us now?" In speaking of the trusts Mr. Bryan said: "Even the newspaper editors are compelled to write their editorials defending the trusts on paper the price of which has been raised by the trust. It is a pitiful thing to see an editor writing such an editorial and at the same time being plundered by the trust."

Buying Coal at Taku.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A cable message from Major Byron, quartermaster at Taku, announces that he has purchased 2,000 tons of coal at Taku. He is sending ships to Nagasaki for 8,000 tons purchased at that place, of which 2,000 tons have arrived. He says he will try to get 6,000 tons more at Nagasaki. The department has purchased 2,500 cords of wood in Japan for the use of the troops in China. It is stated at the war department that these supplies will not be unloaded at Taku if it shall be determined to withdraw the United States forces to Manila.

Battleship Alabama Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The navy department has received the official report on the recent speed trial of the battleship Alabama. A review of the findings of the trial board develops that, with the exception of a few minor details of imperfection, the Alabama's trial trip proved her in all respects complete and ready for instant sea service. Her displacement at the trial was 11,570 tons, 45 tons over the requirement of her contract, so that the Alabama made her fast run under slightly adverse conditions in this respect.

The Transsiberian Railroad.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—United States Consul General Holloway at St. Petersburg has furnished the state department an interesting report upon the Transsiberian railroad, in which he speaks more particularly of the journey from Vladivostok to St. Petersburg. The entire journey, a distance of 6,677 miles, can be effected in about 30 or 35 days. The trip back to Vladivostok can be made in about six days less time, as the steamers can travel much faster going down the Amur.

Mr. Man for Congress.

Edward A. S. Man, of Bayonne, has been nominated by the Democrats of the Eighth Congressional district to combat the claims of Congressman Charles N. Fowler for re-election to the House of Representatives. The nomination was made yesterday at a convention which evidenced a greater interest in the Democratic affairs of the district than any similar body has since the Hon. John T. Dunn was nominated for a second term.

Four years ago it was recognized by Democrats that Mr. Fowler was as sure of election as anything can be certain in politics. Two years ago very much the same spirit animated the Democrats in the district. But this year the Democrats seem to be more anxious to contest the candidacy of Mr. Fowler with spirit than heretofore. This, of course, is due to the fact that Democrats are much more united than they were in either of the two Congressional campaigns referred to above.

Four years ago Mr. Fowler received a majority of over 7,000 in the district, and two years ago his vote over Col. Snyder, the Democratic nominee, was 4,352. The 1896 Republican vote was greater than the party leaders expect to roll up this year, but they are confident that Mr. Fowler will be elected by a majority as large as he received two years ago. The plurality of 4,352 received two years ago by the Republican candidate may be considered to be about the nominal G. O. P. vote over the Democrats in the Eighth district, so that in becoming a candidate Mr. Man will be confronted with an adverse vote of that number.

As a favorite son of Bayonne, Mr. Man, it is thought, will go out of that city with a largely increased Democratic vote to meet the Republican efforts in Union an Essex. Just how strong he will prove to be in the sections in which he is not known, but with which he will make an acquaintance to some extent during the campaign, remains to be seen. Naturally, it will be determined by the work of the Democrats themselves.

Personally, Mr. Man is a clean, bright and cultured gentleman. Though a Pennsylvanian by birth, he has resided in New Jersey all his life. He is a graduate of Princeton University, and is a practicing lawyer in New York. He resided in Elizabeth in his boyhood days, and later lived at Scotch Plains. He left there in 1870, going to Jersey City and then two years later taking up his residence in Bayonne, where he has since lived. He never before was a candidate for an elective office, but in 1876-78 he was City Attorney for Bayonne. In local affairs in his home city he has always been more or less active and prominent. Although not a skilled speaker, he will take the stump and devote his whole time until election day in prosecuting the canvass for the office to which he has been nominated.

Serious Neglect.

The Democrats of the Third Congressional district consider their bailiwick as good fighting ground against the Republicans—in fact throughout the State it has been sized up as one where a Democrat might be elected—but yet in the face of this condition of affairs the call for the Congressional convention has been neglected until the last moment, and only now makes its appearance through the interest and appreciation of its importance by our esteemed editorial friend, W. H. Mattison, of the Somerville Democrat. At the State convention Editor Mattison called the attention of several politicians in the district to the fact that no call had been issued for the convention that is to nominate an opponent to Congressman Howell. A hasty investigation failed to unearth the proper committee to do this work, and so Editor Mattison was delegated to issue the call. This he has done. The convention is called to meet in New Brunswick this coming Saturday. In accordance with this arrangement the primaries in the various towns of Somerset county outside of North Plainfield borough have been fixed for Friday evening, and in the borough this evening is the time set for the primary to choose delegates to the convention. To say the least, this neglect is a serious one in a district considered as important by the Democrats as the Third. Unless the election day results are considered with more importance than the call for the convention their expectations may be rudely dashed to earth.

Hits the Poor People Hard.

To those of the well-to-do class who are financially able to put in their winter's supply of coal during the summer months at the moderate price then prevailing, the possibility of a coal famine and the consequent high prices for the commodity have but few terrors, except as their pity is aroused for their more unfortunate brethern.

As noted in this column a few days ago, it is upon the poor people that falls the brunt of the disastrous effect of a coal strike so far as the increased prices are concerned. Already the price of coal has increased from fifty cents to one dollar in Plainfield, and if the strike continues, as it seems probable that it will, the rate will go higher yet. Acquiring their fuel in small lots at various times through the winter, as their modest earnings will permit, the poorer people of Plainfield are forced to meet this situation face to face. It is a deplorable one for them.

The Republicans of Plainfield are planning for ward organizations throughout the city to promote the interests of their party and its candidates in this campaign. The Democrats are following out the same line of action by the plan to organize a club tomorrow evening with which they hope to identify every active and energetic Democrat. Apathy, so far as organized purpose is concerned, has been marked on both sides up to the present time, but with the consummation of the ideas now proposed it would seem as though this city would witness an aggressive and lively campaign from now until election day.

The Tribune notes that it was said at Elizabeth yesterday by Republicans who speak with authority that Assemblymen Foote, Meeker and Smith would be renominated for the Assembly. They have served one term, and, according to custom, are entitled to another if they can defeat their Democratic opponents. Last year Mr. Smith was high man on the Assembly ticket, with a majority of 2,141. Mr. Foote's majority was 2,033 and that of Mr. Meeker was 2,073.

County W. C. T. U.

The sixteenth annual convention of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union is being held today in the Cranford Presbyterian church. There will be three sessions, beginning at 9:30 in the forenoon, when the annual reports were read and the election of officers took place. The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock, and will be devoted to hearing reports on various topics. The evening session will be taken up by Mrs. A. M. Hammer, of Bayonne, with an address.

Laborers Strike.

Laborers engaged on the street work on First avenue, Roselle, struck Monday and refused to work because they had not been paid. When they were given to understand that they would be paid they went on with the work.

I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Stanley Day received yesterday a copy of the Galveston Daily News under date of September 13th. The whole paper is devoted to a description of the terrible cyclone that visited Galveston recently, and gives a very long list of the dead found up to the time of publication. The paper states that no words can be found to paint the awful picture, and no one will ever realize the magnitude of the damage to the city.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Mahlon Dayton, of Piscataway township, and Miss Annie D. Lloyd, formerly a teacher in the Whittier School. The happy event will take place Thursday, Sept. 27th, at the home of the bride's uncle, Rev. Mr. Lloyd, in Philadelphia. 'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 20—Real Estate Dealer Thomas M. Paff, Sr., has been kept quite busy in his line as the following rentals will tell: Edward Apgar and family, of Plainfield, have moved into W. S. Cory's house on Front street; Frank Severage and family, of Westfield, to the Cleaver cottage; Mrs. Charles Syke's furnished house on Front street to parties from Boston; Dr. J. H. Parks' property on Park avenue to a New Brunswick party. Both of the latter are expected to arrive here about October 1st. Mr. Paff has a number of demands for $8 and $10 houses, but which he is unable to supply. This would be a fine opening for someone with a little capital to build a number of houses and put them on the market. At present there is hardly a house within a mile of the village that is to rent.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Frank Eller, who died at her home in Stony Hill, Tuesday, were held from St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, this morning. The church was well filled with the sorrowing relatives and friends who went to pay their last respects to one they had known and loved for years. Father Chandler, the rector for years, had charge of the services. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoing the church.

Borough Collector Charles Scheelen will shortly begin sending out the annual tax bills for the borough. The total amount called for this year is $5,245.65, the tax rate being $2.40 on $100. The members of the Epworth Literary Society connected with the Methodist church have changed their meeting night from Tuesday evening to Wednesday evening. At their meeting last evening the members began an interesting reading and study of Macbeth. THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Way Down East," manager Wm. A. Brady's great production that caused no end of enthusiasm during its long season in New York, is to be at Music Hall next Monday night. It is a play which has a special appeal to persons morally inclined. It attracts folk who have never attended the theatre, and to see it is to feel the better for the pleasant hours it gives you. It is one of those plays that after you have seen it you say: "It seems as if the plays were getting nicer; let's go again." The novel snow storm in the production is worked by electricity. The scene is a kitchen with a door and window. To the right of the door are erected appliances so placed that the wind causes the air to take a sort of a whirligig course down past the door and the window. The beautiful snow beats against the window and when the door is opened the wind and the snow whistles chill in the door way. "Way Down East" has proved a record breaker among rustic dramas. Its Boston engagement was prolonged beyond its original eight weeks and the piece could have remained all winter but for previous contracts.

James J. Jeffries, the mighty man of brain and brawn, who has laid low three such famous boxers as Fitzsimmons, Sharkey and Corbett within one brief year, to say nothing of the lesser lights of the squared circle, will appear at Music Hall next Tuesday night in Clay M. Greene's comedy-drama of western life entitled "The Man From the West." Jeffries has scored a decided hit in the role of "Sam King," Sheriff of Three Forks, Mon., and is without doubt the superior of others of athletic abilities who have sought honors on the stage. There is no man in this country whose name is more frequently upon the public tongue and whose fame extends more widely through the civilized world. Kings, statesmen, poets and painters enjoy their personal distinctions, but the Champion Heavy-weight of the World possesses no inferior renown. It is safe to predict that he will make as much money on his season's tour as John Drew, Nat Goodwin or Joseph Jefferson. The taste of the public, lately, seems to be to idolize an athlete, and no doubt Music Hall will be crowded to greet him when he appears.

—Those who contemplate canning peaches this season will do well to see the fine fruit Neuman Brothers are selling at reasonable prices.

—Jeaneard Brothers will give a musical entertainment in Reform Hall tonight under the auspices of the Reform Club. Admission free. All are welcome.

—The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. L. W. Randolph.

SWINDLING FARMERS.

Young Man and Aged Woman Tell Pitiable Tales to Hunterdon County People.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, Sept. 20th—Two clever swinders have succeeded in duping a number of citizens in this county out of various sums of money. They represent themselves to be mother and son. The man is described as being about 23 years old, of medium height and build, with light moustache and hair. The woman, who is pale, said she was 72 years old. They claimed Long Branch as their home. At Stockton they stopped at Mrs. H. M. Randolph's home on Main street and made inquiries about the sale of her property. During the conversation the old woman suddenly discovered that she had lost her purse containing $30. The man said he had no money with him. Mrs. Randolph did not offer any loan, and they left saying they would return in a few days and purchase the property. That night they stayed at a farmhouse near town and then went to Raven Rock, where they succeeded in borrowing a small amount of money on the plea that they had lost a purse containing $32. At the farmhouse the suspicion arose that the woman was a man in disguise. They are believed to be the same couple reported at Wilburtha, Lawrenceville and other places.

Governor Voorhees Back in Jersey.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, September 20.—Governor Voorhees has returned from the Thousand Islands, after spending ten days as the guest of Supreme Court Clerk Riker. Governor Voorhees has not looked as well in half a dozen years as he does the present time and he says he never felt better in his life.

—Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics used to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

COFFEES

We call special attention to our coffee department for the reason that it seems more difficult to please consumers with coffee than any other article used in a household. It is no uncommon thing to have ladies and gentlemen enter our store and ask "Have you good coffee? we have been buying all over town and can't get suited. We will give your coffee a trial." Invariably they will call again and say "Give me the same I have tried; it is excellent." One of the reasons, and perhaps the main reason, why our coffees give such satisfaction, is because they are always fresh.

Berlin. Ein Riesenfernsprechamt wird das neue Berliner Amt 3 in der Oranienburgerstraße, das jetzt im Bau begriffen ist. Es soll für nicht weniger als 22,000 Theilnehmer versuchsweise eingerichtet werden. Es ist dies die höchste Zahl von Theilnehmern, die jemals an einer Vermittelungsstelle vereinigt worden sind.—Um das Andenken ihres Vaters, des in Dessau verstorbenen Bankiers Moritz v. Cohn zu ehren, hat dessen Tochter, Frau Baronin Julie v. Cohn-Oppenheim, der Stadt Berlin, in der ihr Vater lange gelebt hat, 100,000 Mark zu wohlthätigen und gemeinnützigen Zwecken zugewendet.—In der Sauerstoffabrik in der Tegelerstraße ereignete sich eine furchtbare Explosion, wobei dem Arbeiter Lauf der Kopf abgerissen und die Gliedmaßen buchstäblich verstreut wurden, während der Werkführer Schau tödtliche Verletzungen empfing.

Rathenow. Der in Wolsier wohnhafte Altsitzer Friedrich Lagenstein feierte mit seiner Ehefrau Dorothea das Fest der diamantenen Hochzeit. Lagenstein steht im 84., seine Frau im 79. Lebensjahre. Beide Jubilare erfreuen sich besonderer Rüstigkeit.

Spandau. Das vierjährige Töchterchen des Maurers Reif fiel am Falkenhagener Thor in den tiefen und sumpfigen Festungsgraben. Der achtjährige Sohn des Arbeiters Voß sprang mit seiner vollen Kleidung in's Wasser und brachte das dem Ertrinken nahe Kind schwimmend an's Ufer.

Teltow. Die historische Mühle bei Großbeeren ist jetzt auf Veranlassung der letzten Eigenthümerin, der Stadt Berlin, abgebrochen worden. Die Mühle bildete in dem blutigen Ringen der tapferen Landwehr Bülows mit den Truppen des Marschalls Oudinot am 23. August 1813 den Mittelpunkt der siegreichen Abwehr des ersten französischen Vorstoßes gegen Berlin. An ihrer Stelle soll jetzt ein Gedenkstein mit Daten, die auf den Sieg Bülows Bezug nehmen, errichtet werden.

Provinz Hannover.

Norden. In Marienhafe sind in Folge des Bruches eines Gerüstes an der Freesenborg'schen Mühle sieben Personen abgestürzt. Ein Anstreichergehilfe blieb todt, Müller Freesenborg und ein Geselle waren lebensgefährlich, die Uebrigen leichter verletzt.

Papenburg. Der Verkehr auf dem Dortmund-Ems-Kanal hat in den letzten Wochen an Lebhaftigkeit in einem ganz erheblichen Umfange zugenommen. Zwischen Bremen und Westfalen findet gegenwärtig ein großer Schiffsverkehr, besonders bergwärts statt. So trafen dieser Tage sieben Fahrzeuge der „Unterwesergesellschaft" mit insgesammt 5000 Registertonnen Stückgut und Getreide hier ein.

Stettin. In einem Tanzlokale der Warsowerstraße wurde der etwa 30 Jahre alte Schlosser Albert Prinz aus Berlin von dem 18jährigen Arbeitsburschen Emil Schultz durch einen Messerstich getödtet. Prinz hatte sich einem Mädchen gegenüber eine unschuldige Neckerei erlaubt.

Heringsdorf. Die in der Treptow'schen Weinhandlung bedienstete Amalie Kruska aus Tempelhof war im Keller mit dem Sengen von Federvieh beschäftigt. Plötzlich fingen die Kleider des Mädchens Feuer. Durch die Wirthin Frau Brauns sowie den Küchenchef Brodzina wurden die Flammen ausgelöscht. Doch hatte das bedauernswerthe Mädchen so schwere Brandwunden erlitten, daß es im Krankenhause starb.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. Die von der Posener gemeinnützigen Baugenossenschaft in der Flurstraße fertiggestellten fünf ersten Arbeiterwohnhäuser bilden die erste Anlage dieser Art für freie Arbeiter im ganzen Osten des preußischen Staates. THE UNDERSLEEVE FAD.

It Promises to Run Riot Through Gowns of All Sorts.

I would be afraid to say how many barrelfuls of tears will be shed by women this season because velvet is to be the one great fashion and the one desirable thing—velvet dresses of every style, for house, for street, for carriage and in actual tailor made styles, to say nothing at all about the capes, coats and blouses.

Hats of heroic size and heavy weight are of rich velvet, sometimes the smooth panne and sometimes the old pile. Some are silk faced, and others are all silk, and this kind is naturally the most expensive. The cotton faced back velvets are pretty to look at in the piece, but they are not very good economy, for they soon show the cotton admixture in the fact that there seems to be no body to them, and they crease and soon grow shabby.

Where one cannot get the real all silk velvet it is better to get the velutina, which wears better and looks far better than the cotton backed velvets. The velutina is as handsome as Lyons velvet, but being cotton only some have an idea that it is not so fine as the silk faced fabrics. The ribbed velutina makes up into most beautiful walking suits, particularly for very cold weather.

There are two kinds of ribs, one being like the old corduroy and the other with the ribbing as fine almost as that in pique. In fawn, tan, brown or beaver and all the grays this is one of the most useful as well as beautiful of fabrics for any out of door wear. Trimmed with fur it should be to look its best. Capes, coats, blouses and shirt waists are made of this, and it seems to have been made for each, and—well, that is all there is about it. You get what you like best and suit yourself, but a real thing is always better than a cheap imitation.

One large house has made a specialty of velvet dresses and wraps of all kinds and blouses and jackets without number, and one feels after spending half a day looking at them all that life without velvet is not worth living. Nearly all the wraps and jackets are black, but there are some in dark and rich shades of purple and green as well as brown, and all are richly beaded and embroidered and fur trimmed and ornamented with elegant lace, for lace always is elegant. I say embroidered and trimmed with beading, but that sort of work this season surpasses anything of the kind I have ever seen.

Russian green is a color that now promises to be very popular in velvets, and it is extremely rich, and damson plum will be another favorite. One evening dress was of violet velvet most elaborately trimmed, and not only that, but nearly all the other garments not even excepting the street wraps, have threads of gold in with the embroidery. A magnificent reception gown with a train a yard long was of golden brown, and the embroidery on it had chenille and gold threads as well as the heavy embroidery twist. Several reception and other handsome costumes of heavy silk and fine woolen goods have sleeves of velvet. These sleeves are much ornamented, and it is to be feared that nearly all the sleeves will be cut with more or less of the undersleeve design, and some of the newest, as may be seen by a glance at the illustration, are quite elaborate.

The old belt shape is one of the favorites and calls for an undersleeve of lace, and this may open like the sleeve, with many lace ruffles around it, but the most of them will have the gathered undersleeve with a band, and that may or may not have a ruffle. One may have her sleeve as she likes, always remembering that the top is not large.

The illustration will give a better idea than mere words can as to the newest shapes. Coat sleeves are scarcely ever seen now except on the coats, and even then they are as different as they can be made. But no sleeve for a jacket or a blouse is so suitable as the coat shape, with perhaps some desired modification.

Among the novelties in dress goods I saw a new poplin where the silk is thrown over cotton and linen mixed, and the whole is moire. It is called moire empire. It makes a showy fabric and will be much worn by those who like striking effects.

For dancing dresses the newest thing shown yet is the oriental gauze, and this has a silk mesh, thin and transparent, and over and through this is run a gold or silver thread so that it forms the design.

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE.

Short Biographical Sketch of the Republican Nominee for Governor of Wisconsin.

Robert Marion La Follette, the republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, is a native of that state. He was born at Primrose, Dane county, June 14, 1855, and is a descendant from an old French Huguenot family, which settled in this country more than a century ago.

In 1873 the family moved to Madison, and two years later Robert entered the state university. As a student he took an active part in the debating societies of the institution, and in his senior year won the interstate oratorical contest, meeting contestants from six other states. His oration was entitled "Iago," and the production was declared to be a masterpiece.

He graduated in 1879, and six months later passed an examination for admission to the bar. In the fall of 1880 he was nominated and elected district attorney of Dane county, and was renominated and reelected in 1882. In 1884, when only 29 years old, he was elected to represent the Third Wisconsin district in congress, being the youngest man in the Forty-ninth congress. He was three times renominated by acclamation, being reelected twice, but failing of the third.

As a member of the committee on ways and means he drafted the tariff schedules on farm products, tobacco, linen and silks, and he was a member of the subcommittee which framed the iron and steel schedule.

Upon his retirement from congress in 1890, Mr. La Follette reentered upon the practice of his profession at Madison, as senior member of the firm of La Follette, Harper, Roe & Zimmerman. This partnership was dissolved in 1894, and he has since practiced alone. He was offered the comptrollership of the treasury by President McKinley, soon after his inauguration, but declined it.

Mr. La Follette was married to Miss Belle Case, a classmate at the university, in 1880, and his family consists of one daughter and two sons.

ESCAPED FROM BOXERS.

Eleven-Year-Old Margaret Chalfant and Her Father Were Pursued by 500 Chinese.

Margaret Chalfant, the 11-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Chalfant, American missionaries to China, has reached America direct from the heart of the Boxer troubles of the empire. Her father, just before she left that country, held 500 Boxers at bay for more than three hours, and finally found it necessary to kill two of the pursuing heathen in order to save the lives of a party of missionaries at Wei Hei.

For a time Rev. Mr. Chalfant shot in the air to frighten the band of Boxers, but they, believing that they were invulnerable to foreign bullets in time of war, laughed at each report of the gun. Realizing that their superstition made them fearless he found it his duty to shoot into the crowd. This had the desired effect, and before another attack the missionaries had sufficient time to escape over the walls of the compound, and after several hours reached the German mines.

Tired and exhausted by their trip, several of the missionaries decided to return to America for the present. Miss Charlotte Hawes, of Pittsburgh, one of the missionaries at the Wei Hei station at the time the attack was made by the Boxers, has arrived home. Little Miss Chalfant accompanied her and will remain with her uncle and aunt in Pittsburgh until her parents either arrive here or send for her to return to China.

Rev. Charles Chalfant, of Ashtabula, O., is an uncle of Margaret's. Her papa has been chosen by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to return to Wei Hei as soon as practicable and ascertain the loss to mission property and missionaries.

ORIGIN OF KISSING.

A Distinguished Italian Scientist Gives the History of a Popular and Pleasing Custom.

According to Prof. Cesare Lombroso, the distinguished Italian criminologist, kissing is quite a modern practice, and originated in a very curious manner. The kiss, as a token of affection, was unknown to the old Greeks, and neither in Homer nor in Heroid do we find any mention of it. Hector did not kiss his Andromache when he bade farewell, neither did Paris press his lips to those of the beautiful Helen, and Ulysses, who was more of a cosmopolitan than any man of his day, never dreamed of kissing the enchanting Circe, and when, after long wanderings, he returned home to his spouse, Penelope, he satisfied himself with putting one of his stalwart arms around her waist and drawing her to him.

The people of Terre del Fuego, says Lombroso, have taught civilized nations the origin of the delightful art of kissing. Drinking vessels are unknown in that country, and the people, when they are thirsty, simply lie down beside brooks and drink the water as it flows by them. It is evident, however, that infants could not satisfy their thirst in this primitive fashion, and therefore their mothers have for ages supplied them with water by filling their own mouths first and then letting it pass through their lips into the expectant mouths of their little ones. In some places the banks of the brooks and rivers are so high that water cannot be obtained in the usual manner, and the mothers in such places draw it through long reeds.

Birds feed their young ones in a similar manner. They first fill their own mouths with water and then transfer it to the wide-open mouths of the little ones. This very ancient maternal practice is, according to Lombroso, the only source to which the modern practice of kissing can be traced. The custom of pressing one mouth to another originated with the women in Terra del Fuego, who could only supply their infants with drink in this manner, and it is presumable that they learned the lesson from the birds. Finally we are told that kissing is an evidence of atavism and a memorial of that early stage of our development "during which the wife had not yet triumphed over the mother nor love over maternity."

Lombroso's views on this subject meet with the general approval of scientists, though there are some that point out that his explanation of the origin of kissing is not in accordance with the old one handed down to us by the old Romans. The latter maintained that the kiss was invented by husbands, who desired to ascertain in this way whether during their absence from home their wives had been drinking wine or not.

HAS COME TO STAY.

The Brown-Skinned Girl, Who Does Not Fear the Sun, Is the Idol of the Season.

History does not always go on repeating itself; sometimes it has a brand new idea, so sweet, so wholesome and sensible that one is amazed that it did not crop up before.

Of such refreshing quality is that bronzy goddess—the tanned girl. A delightful variation on her sticky predecessors of a few years back—the cold-cream girl, the face-bleach girl and the massage girl.

The tanned girl is the wholesome product of the golf links, the catboat and the bicycle. She has good looks to burn, and she burns them after the most approved method.

Sun, rain, wind, heat and cold are all one to this athletic young damsel. The veil is an unknown quantity, and her dressing table is innocent of complexion lotions.

The cold-creamed, freckle-fearing product of two or three generations ago seems to have got lost in the shuffle. Is she dead or gone for a missionary?

At all events, she has disappeared completely, and in her place is the care-free, bronzy being, with wind-brown locks, laughing eyes and skin like a velvety brown nasturtium. You see her all over the coast, with sleeves rolled up to the elbow, sampling and matching her tan-coated arms with other mermaids. She goes in for a dip in the briny with almost tidal regularity—and she scorns the sandfly who "sits it out" in a gaudy bathing siut.

The brown-skinned girl has come to stay. Here's to her!—Chicago American.

Soothing Paste for Burns.

For a burn or scald make a paste of common baking soda and water; apply at once and cover with a linen cloth. When the skin is broken apply the white of an egg with a feather; this gives instant relief, and keeps the air from the flesh.

Mr. S. J. Conklin traveling salesman for a New York Confectionery house, 134 West Front street, says:—"I was subject to pain in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's store and got a box. I took three boxes altogether and was wonderfully improved. Doan's Kidney Pill are a good remedy and accomplish all that is claimed for them."

Working Together in Perfecting a Rational System of Suggestive Therapeutics—America Leads the World.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

THE announcements concerning the international congress of experimental and therapeutic hypnotism, recently held in Paris, have awakened a general interest in the systems of healing of disease by suggestion.

Since the time of Mesmer, France has claimed to lead along this line of investigation. A recent issue of a well-known English magazine contains descriptions of scenes that may be witnessed at the "hypnotic" clinic of Dr. Edger Berillon, in Paris, and of the means he employs for inducing a state which is characterized as "sound sleep" in his patients (in which condition they will accept any suggestion, however untrue or absurd), and which is considered necessary in order to obtain the best results from suggestive treatment. Berillon has based his system upon the theories of Dr. Braid, of Manchester, England; Drs. Charcot, of Saltpetriere, Liebault and Bernheim, of the Nancy school, and other investigators to whose tireless efforts the world is greatly indebted for the light they have thrown on certain phases of psychic phenomena. Although his methods are claimed to be up to date in every particular, they present nothing new to Americans. Five years ago practically the same ideas were held, and the same results obtained in a similar manner, at the Chicago School of Psychology. Dr. Herbert A. Parkyn, its founder and principal, believing firmly in the beneficent results to be obtained from intelligently directed mental suggestion, has been employing all the resources of his great institution for the discovery of the best manner of utilizing the treatment, with the result that the Nancy methods are left far in the rear, most of the old theories deposed and discarded, suggestive therapeutics denuded of all uncanny mysticism and reduced to a science, logical and tangible. A system of healing has been developed by natural methods by which nearly all diseases may be successfully treated and every month physicians from all over the country are visiting the clinic to witness some of the extraordinary cures that are being made.

It is well known that numbers of people are being healed by "faith," Christian science, by a pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec; to Lourdes, France, and other localities supposed to be especially appointed by Heaven for this purpose, but no intelligent person can doubt that the mental attitude of the sufferers, the thought of healing, put in motion, is what effected the cures. The correct mental attitude is what Dr. Perkyn induces his patients to assume. Hypnotism, so called, is a condition in which suggestion has an exaggerated effect. While a person in a deep somnambulic slumber(?) will apparently believe everything that is said to him and may receive a healthful suggestion from an operator and be benefited thereby, much greater and more lasting effects are secured when a patient, after careful instruction as to the results which it is desired to obtain in his case, and the means to be employed to compass them, places his mind in hearty, intelligent cooperation with that of his physician. But, strange as it may appear, there are patients who feel that they cannot be benefited unless they are thoroughly "hypnotized," hence Dr. Perkyn teaches over 100 methods for producing this condition, which he considers rather a symptom than a state. Many persons are muscularly suggestible in whom complete hypnosis cannot be induced. On some days there are over a hundred applicants for clinical treatment.

Psychology means the science of the mind; a knowledge of the power within; and the application of this science to the physical ills of the body is known as suggestive therapeutics. There is no nerve or muscle of the human body which cannot be brought under the absolute control of the mind. At the Chicago school of psychology patients, as well as students, are taught the true meaning of the power of the mind.

The normal condition of man is one of health. When a sufferer is placed in the right way of regaining health nature will perfect the recovery. Physicians have too greatly neglected to cultivate the natural force of recuperation and resistance inherent in every man. Metaphysicians have gone to the other extreme and refused to sanction the use of necessary medicines. "The wise man is he who bends all things to his service in the evolution of good." It is not claimed that suggestion will cure anything but mental and imaginary complaints instantaneously, but that by the effects it can be made to exert upon the main organs of nutrition and elimination it can be used as a specific in some troubles and an adjuvant in every known disease. The same force which, if sent into the arm by the mind, enables a man to lift a weight of 100 pounds, if properly directed gives him power to overcome a functional trouble. Suggestion is the keynote of the school. The situation is beautiful and the surroundings of the patients who remain in the house are harmonious and tend to produce a tranquil and pleasant condition of mind. To a layman, one of the most wonderful things to be witnessed in the treatment of a patient by suggestion alone is the rapid increase in weight. Several pounds per week are gained in most cases. The theory is that dyspepsia, headache, kidney troubles, catarrh, neuralgias, rheumatism, insomnia and most other diseases are produced by troubles of circulation. If the blood supply to an organ be insufficient, impure or obstructed, it will soon begin to perform its work in an imperfect manner. Ulcers remain unhealed for years when the circulation is poor. Suggestions are given tending to increase and improve the blood supply. Often a light massage helps to strengthen the suggestion. The circulation follows the attention. If the hand be carried along the body to the seat of the disease and allowed to rest there the circulation will be found to improve at once. The blood flows more freely through the affected part. The cut shows a patient in the suggestive condition, the body being completely relaxed. His attention is being directed to various parts of the body by the operator.

A serious case of nervous prostration of ten years' duration was treated at the clinic some time since; a young man broken down physically and mentally. Each June he has had an attack of melancholia, of homicidal and suicidal mania. The whole trouble was found to lie with the organ of elimination, causing a poor blood supply to the brain and nervous system. He was placed in a suggestive condition, was told that he would be hungry, and thirsty, and happy. Was instructed how to hold his thought toward health, and to-day he is one of the jolliest, happiest, best-nourished looking young men one might wish to see. His mental trouble has entirely disappeared. One old man, 67 years of age, when he applied for treatment, a sufferer from nervous prostration, gained 22 pounds in one month. That was, of course, an unusually good showing. A patient appeared from whom her physician was about to remove a large tumor. She desired to have her general system built up that she might be able to undergo the operation. After placing her in an easy position and inducing her to relax the whole body, she was found to be suffering from nervous contraction of the muscular fibers of the abdomen. Hers was a phantom tumor and disappeared during the first suggestive treatment. In dentistry and other surgery, suggestion has proved a wonderful aid. Anaesthesia can, in many cases, be produced so that a patient retains consciousness while remaining insensible to pain. Recently a man with an abscess in the head, who could not take chloroform, was anaesthetized by suggestion, the forehead trephined and the abscess successfully treated without any pain being experienced by the patient. In conjunction with osteopathic treatment great success has been obtained, the most difficult manipulations being made without causing suffering. There have been many cases of the almost instantaneous cure of paralysis. For opium, morphine, cocoaine and all drug habits suggestion is the treatment par excellence. The vital force which heals is within the patient himself. Suggestion is the great factor in the formation and building up of the character and physique of children, and the intelligent application of this force is beginning to receive wide attention. EDWARD JULIAN.

GOLF

The golf department of the Westfield Club met Tuesday night and decided to take the Osborn farm on a ten years lease and fit it up for a club grounds.

Leroy M. Lyon, president of the Cranford Golf Club, has secured a thirty-day option on sixteen acres of land adjoining the links, and other plots will be secured as soon as practicable with a view to increasing the grounds from a nine-hole course to an eighteen-hole course, which it is hoped to lay out next spring.

W. J. R. Thiers, holder of the green committee challenge trophy at the Park Golf Club, has gone south with his wife and child and will not return to Plainfield until Monday night. That will make it impossible for him to play for he trophy Saturday according to the conditions of the competition. The next challenger on the list is W. de la R. Anderson and if the green committee decides not to allow the match to go off uutil Tuesday the trophy will be forfeited to Anderson. Morgan T. Townsend is the next challenger after him, but Townsend will not be at the club links Saturday.

R. B. Duyckinck, captain of the Morristown Field Club golf team, proposed a novel kind of a match with the Park Golf Club, which Morgan T. Townsend, captain of the Park Golf Club team, has been compelled to decline, owing to his inability to get a team together for Saturday, the day suggested. The match proposed was a mixed foursome match, each club to be represented by several pairs of players. It so happens that most of the crack players of the Park Golf Club have other engagements for Saturday afternoon, so Townsend was compelled to decline the invitation. It would be of considerable interest, however, to see such a contest, and while it cannot be played this week it may be that circumstances will permit it later in the season.

There has been a general scattering of the crack players of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, and when the Hillside team next plays in the East Jersey Golf Association, the famous five, who so ably represented the Plainfield club last week, will not be on hand. Frank Reinhart and Frank Talmage have both gone to St. Paul's School. Willard Wadsworth has just left for Cambridge and Harvard College. J. Whitney Baker begins his career as a student at Princeton University. W. L. Glenney will be back in Columbia, but he will probably be able to get off Saturday afternoons for the team matches. Charles W. Fisk and Augustus R. Fisk, who have been away all summer, will go to Yale this year and cannot be counted on to play here. Morris Dumont and J. H. Wharton still remain to keep up the reputation of the club. Olaf Saugstad and Dr. Van D. Hedges will probably be chosen to fill in the places left by the departure of the others.

ON THE DIAMOND

A meeting of the Alis Athletic Association was held Tuesday evening when five new members were elected. Other business of importance was transacted.

The young men at the Hotel Netherwood will continue their field sports Saturday afternoon. A number of events were left out last Saturday on account of lack of time and they will be run off this week.

There are quite a number of young men in the Plainfield High School who are anxious to take part in a field day. C. Ames Brooks, manager of the track team of the High School, has been looking about to see if there was enough material in the school to warrant the holding of a field day. It seems now very probable that the meet will be held early in October.

FOWLER WILL BE OPPOSED BY MAN.

beth, it was announced, would cast its thirty-nine for Man.

A half-hour later the convention was called to order by Mayor Egbert Seymour, of Bayonne. Dr. Clarence W. Butler, of Montclair, was chosen chairman. W. W. St. John, of Plainfield, was elected secretary, and John B. Walsh, of Summit, assistant secretary.

After the preliminary organization and the announcement of the committees a recess was taken to allow the committees to do their work After reconvening the temporary organization was made permanent. The most important committee report was that on resolutions. The platform was read by Assemblyman Allan Benny, of Bayonne. It declared that "we believe the paramount issue in the present campaign is whether the Republic shall endure as planned and transmitted to us by the Republic's founders." Then it went on to denounce the Republican policy of so-called imperialism, and ended by endorsing and accepting the Kansas City platform, added to which was a specific arraignment of trusts.

The nomination of a Congressman was then taken up. After a little squabble as to which county should have first call, that privilege was given Union county and when Elizabeth was called Col. Collins announced that Elizabeth gave way to Bayonne. Mayor Seymour nominated Mr. Man in a stirring speech, in which he pictured him as a typical Democrat, a true citizen and one who would make a splendid candidate for Congress.

All the rest of the towns were gone through with till Westfield was reached when the name of Mr. Park was presented with a few words. Later on Daniel Dugan, of Essex county, made the principal speech in favor of Mr. Park.

Nominations were then closed. A lively discussion followed as to how the vote should be taken, and it was finally decided to let the chairman of each county, town or district delegation cast the vote for his section. Elizabeth led off with 39 votes for Man. Then Mr. Park got 11 other votes in the Union county delegation, two of them being cast by the First ward of Plainfield. Man got 17 more votes from Union outside of Elizabeth, six from the Second, Third and Fourth wards of Plainfield. Then Essex county cast 51 votes for Park, which was followed by Bayonne giving their favorite, Man, 32 votes.

At this point Mr. Park jumped up and moved that the nomination of Mr. Man be made unanimous, at the same time making a very neat speech in retiring. This was done and the secretary cast one ballot for Mr. Man, and he was declared the nominee of the convention. On the formal ballot the vote stood ninety for Man and sixty-two for Park.

The news was carried to Mr. Man by a committee of which Mr. Park was chairman, and he was brought before the convention and delivered a short speeck. Afterwards Col. Meyer Zulick, of Freehold, one of the staff of Democratic campaign orators, delivered a rousing campaign address, and then the convention adjourned.

Judgment Given.

In the contract case of Drake & Mundy against J. B. Mills, which was tried yesterday in Justice Mosher's court, judgment was given the plaintiffs and execution issued.

LITIGATION COMES HIGH.

What It Means to Mrs. Sarah J. Berry, of Roselle—$400 of $750 Went for Expenses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Sept. 20—The appeal in the Second avenue widening case of Mrs. Sarah J. Berry against the borough of Roselle, was tried Monday and Tuesday at Elizabeth before Judge Vail, of the Court of Common Pleas. Mrs. Berry retained Judge P. H. Gilhooley to look after her interests, and the borough was represented by Attorney Frank Bergen.

The borough desired twenty one feet of Mrs. Berry's property to complete the widening of Second avenue, which boulevard was built and widened from sixty to eighty feet by the Bikers in order to get a franchise for the Plainfield-Elizabeth trolley road.

The Boulevard has long since been completed with the exception of the Berry property, which extends out into the road. Many witnesses were called on both sides and the case went to a struck jury late yesterday afternoon.

They awarded Mrs. Berry $750, which was $50 less than the original amount offered Berry by the borough last fall. The costs in the case Mrs. Berry will have to pay, the award being less than the original amount offered by the borough.

Of the $750 the Berrys, it is said, will have about $400 left after paying their lawyers and court expenses, or about one-half of the amount they would have received had they not fought the borough.

ALLEGED PLOT TO KILL VOORHEES.

Grand Jury is Investigating Charge Against Mrs. Henry Ruck.

The Middlesex county Grand Jury, at New Brunswick, yesterday began an investigation of the recent plot to kill Prosecutor John S. Voorhees.

The case is the most sensational one in years. Mrs. Henry Ruck, keeper of a well known resort, is to be the defendant, and she is charged with plotting with two New York detectives to kill the Prosecutor because he was making an effort to close up her resort.

Mrs. Ruck was arrested at the time, but she denied the story and was released on bail.

Stealing Coal.

Patrolman Lunger found a gang of men at 4:30 o'clock this morning, stealing coal from several cars which were standing on a siding in the West End. He attempted to capture them but the men fled and managed to escape

For Galveston Sufferers.

Contributions for the Galveston Relief Fund are still being received. Yesterday Mrs. Charles Potter sent $5 to The Daily Press to go toward the aid of the sufferers in the Texas city. Miss M. also contributed 50 cents.

Express Derailed.

The P. and R. express train that leaves Plainfield at 11:10 a. m., was derailed at Bayonne this morning. The passengers were considerably jarred up, but no one was injured.

SOLID BRICKS OF YELLOW.

Gold Cubes as They Reach the Mint in Philadelphia Need Not Be Avoided.

A paragraph in the New York letter of the Philadelphia Ledger stated that there had been received at one of the banks a lump of gold from British Columbia weighing 7,897 ounces, in shape of a cone, 13 inches high and 34 inches in circumference at the base, and valued at $135,275. At the United States mint in Philadelphia it was stated the other day to a Ledger reporter that it was unusual to ship gold in such large masses. It must have been cooled in a crucible, which was broken from it judging from its shape. No such masses had ever been received at the mint.

The usual form of gold bricks is that of an ordinary brick, the very largest being valued at about $30,000 and weighing about 1,500 ounces. That such bricks are not easily handled was easily demonstrated by the reporter who was allowed to lift from a truck a brick from the Denver assay office, 8x4x3¾ inches in size. It was just the size of a building brick, only three-quarters of an inch thicker, but it weighed 90 pounds and was valued at $21,000. Though small, it could not easily have been gotten away with.

Very little gold as it comes from the mines is received at the mint. A few small lots brought by the early Klondike miners is all that has been seen from Alaska. The dust, or flakes, is taken to the nearest assay office, probably at Seattle, and there sold to the government, which purchases all that is offered. It usually contains more or less silver or copper or both metals. It may be refined at the assay office, but is usually refined at the mint. Many bricks shown to the reporter looked like silver, the proportion of one-third of that metal giving them that appearance. Some small bricks, worth about $5,000 apiece, were shown which had been refined to 998 parts in 1,000, practically pure gold. These were for a prominent watch case manufactory for use in its business. Chemically pure gold is made only for testing purposes.

PRESIDENT STOPS A RUSH.

The 136th year at Rutgers College, New Brunswick, began yesterday. The students were welcomed in a brief address by Dr. Scott, the president of the college. The incoming freshmen class numbers 67 members, the largest ever known.

After the chapel exercises there was a flash rush on the campus between the freshmen and sophomores. President Scott rushed into the thick of the melee and wrested the flag from the men holding it. Later the rush was renewed, and the freshmen won.

FIFTY PASSENGERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Bad Accident on Central Railroad Caused by Loosening of Truck Attachment.

TWO CARS THROWN OFF.

WHILE DERAILED THEY ARE PULLED OVER TWO BRIDGES.

One Plainfield Man Injured—Had the Accident Occurred on Newark Bay Bridge the Results Would Have Been Terrible.

The Philadelphia express over the Central Railroad of New Jersey, due in New York at noon yesterday, was wrecked just outside of the West Eighth street station in Bayonne and the passengers had a narrow escape. One man was slightly cut by splinters of glass, but not one of the other persons in the train was hurt, though all were well shaken up and the women passengers when the crash was over ran screaming about the cars, expecting instant death.

The train had just passed over the long trestle bridge across Newark Bay and was speeding through the station, on which passengers were waiting for a local coming up behind, when a pin broke in the rear truck of the second coach. The truck wheel left the rail and slid over the wooden sleepers, smashing plates in the track and tearing up the permanent way. Thirty yards east of the station is a long curve. As the train rounded this the disabled truck collapsed completely. The train split in two and two of the four coaches left the rails. The parlor car in the rear of the train stayed on the track. The engineer reversed the lever and put on the brakes and almost instantly brought the engine and the forward coach to a standstill.

The two disabled coaches were twisted across the track, blocking half of the road. The doors in the partitions between them were smashed. The passengers flocked out, congratulating each other on their escape. The local train in the rear was switched onto another track and carried them, including the injured passenger, who was P. Chatelain, of Plainfield, to Jersey City. Until the track was cleared westbound trains were sent out from Jersey City over the loop line to Elizaport by way of Newark.

Had the accident occurred a minute earlier when the train was crossing the trestle bridge on a narrow track it is exceeding probable that one or more of the cars would have plunged over into Newark Bay.

Chatelain, who is fifty years old, residing at 141 Duer street, and a glove cutter by trade, so far as can be learned was the only one injured. He was taken to Jersey City, after which the company sent him home. The company's physician was away and Drs. Zeglio and Buchanan were called to treat his injuries, which consist of a bad cut in the head, a sprained and badly bruised shoulder, and a few bruises and cuts about the body. The little finger on the right hand is also lacerated.

A Daily Press reporter saw Mr. Chatelain this morning, and found him fairly comfortable. He is unable to lie down, and this is the greatest inconvenience he suffers. In explaining how he was injured, he says that if the crowd of passengers in the coach in which he had a seat near the door, had not rushed to get out, he would probably have escaped injury. The crowd rushed and forced him on the front platform of the coach, from which point he was thrown several feet. The front wheels of the coach came dangerously near crushing his head. He did not lose consciousness.

Among the Plainfielders who were on the train were A. L. C. Marsh, A. F. Pope, Rev. Father Symthe, George J. Tobin, Mrs. Robert Rushmore, Miss Lydia P. Ackerman, William J. Romain and Peter Schultz.

Temperance Entertainment.

A temperance entertainment was held at the East Third Street chapel last evening. It was well attended. It included two short addresses by Mr. Lunger on the subject of temperance, violin duets by Robert Barnes and George Spier, songs by the Plainfield Prohibition Band, composed of three little girls, readings by Gertrude Geier and Edna Kennedy, and a solo by Mrs. Honeyman. Miss Jessie Saxton acted as accompanist.

To Plan for a Fair.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold a special meeting in the lecture room of the church Wednesday afternoon of next week to transact important business for their coming fair, which will start Oct. 29th and continue for one week.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET.

ORGANIZATION PLANS TO BE MADE THIS EVENING.

It is Expected That There Will Be a Large Attendance at the Meeting in Reform Hall.

Much interest has been manifested among Democrats in this city over the movement to form a Democratic organization at the meeting to be held in the basement of Reform Hall this evening. Cards announcing the proposed meeting have been sent out to Democrats in different sections of the city, but all Democrats are invited to be present whether they received a notification by card or not. It was impossible to send notices to all, and so cards were sent to a few in order that they might spread the news among their Democratic friends and thus inform the whole partisan force.

A large number of Democrats have expressed themselves as intending to be on hand this evening and participate in the formal organization, the first positive move to be made by the local Democracy in the present campaign. It is realized that there is but six weeks more before election day, and that partisan purposes will be best served by getting right down to work and pushing an aggressive campaign from this time forward.

If the plans are materialized as it is anticipated they will be, arrangements will be made for headquarters to be used exclusively by the Democrats until the day after election, or possibly until the municipal campaign is passed.

An effort will be made to enroll all Democrats upon the membership book of the organization that will be formed this evening, and to interest each one personnally in the work of the party.

HELD-UP BY STRANGE MEN.

New Market Farmhand Had a Thrilling Experience Coming Home From New Market.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, Sept. 21. — Simon Sprigue, who is employed by Former Freeholder Calvin Drake on the latter's farm, had an exciting experience a little after midnight yesterday morning, while returning home from New Brunswick. He went to the county seat early in the evening and it was late when he started for his home, on foot. He lives about four miles from New Brunswick, and when about two miles out he was suddenly attacked by two strange men. It was on the river road and very dark. Sprigue could not see the men very well, but asked them what they wanted. One of the strangers replied that they wanted his money. Fortunately, Mr. Sprigue carried a picket, which he picked up before starting for home, and when the strangers made a motion to catch hold of him, he hit one of them a terrible blow along side of the head. The blow almost knock the man down. He then decided that Sprigue was too much for him and his partner and they both fled to the woods without accomplishing anything. Mr. Sprigue says that it is the first time he was ever held up, and he hopes it will be the last.

Interesting Workingmen.

The meetings in the interest of the educational classes at the Y. M. C. A. were continued yesterday and the employes of the Campbell Printing Press Company and the Potter Printing Press Company were addressed by Associate State Secretary Charles B. Brown during yesterday's noon hour. There was a large attendance at both meetings and the men were quite interested in hearing something of the association, which was comparatively unknown to some of them. Good results are expected from the meetings, which have been held to show the advantages that may be obtained by a membership in the local association.

Relaying Trolley Tracks.

The work of relaying the west bound track of the Plainfield Street Railway Company on West Front street is progressing rapidly. The new tracks have been placed in position through the business section of town and the work will continue to be pushed as fast as possible. As soon as the west bound track is laid the cars will run over it while new rails are put down for the east bound track.

Tinplate Making a Success.

TROLLEY CAR STRUCK WAGON FULL FORCE

Another Bad Accident on Street Railway in Westfield Last Evening.

WHOLE FAMILY SPILLED OUT

THREE OF THEM, INCLUDING A BABY, QUITE BADLY HURT.

Accident Occurred on Elm Street at a Point Where it was Very Dark—Not Known Yet Who is to Blame.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 21—Another serious accident occurred on the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway at this place last evening. It was about 9:30 o'clock that a trolley car, in charge of Conductor Frank Hubert, was speeding along at a lively gait on Elm street. Just ahead was a horse and wagon near the tracks. In the wagon was Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, Cornelius O'Donnell, Miss Elizabeth O'Donnell, Marguerite O'Donnell and Mary Elizabeth O'Donnell. The last two named are six months and three years old respectively. The family live in Prospect place and were on their way home. At the time of the accident they were driving along a dark place in the road.

It is not known whether the motorman rang his bell, or whether the occupants of the wagon failed to hear the oncoming car. At any rate the car struck the wagon full force, smashing it to pieces and throwing the occupants into the street. As quickly as possible the motorman and conductor assisted the injured people in to the trolleg car and brought them to the company's office, where Dr. Cooper was summoned. In the meantime, Dr. Fritts, of Plainfield, the company's physician, was summoned and in his absence, Dr. Pittis, of Somerset street, was summoned. When he arrived the injured people were at the home on Prospect place. Cornelius O'Donnell fortunately escaped with barely a scratch, but Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell was severely injured. Her face was badly cut and the blood flowed profusely. There were also contusions of the body and a lower rib on the left side was fractured. She was unconscious for a long time, and at first it was thought her injuries might prove fatal. Miss Elizabeth O'Donnell, sister of Cornelius O'Donnell, also sustained several contusions of the body and her leg was injured. Marguerite, the baby, suffered from a contusion on the head, and there were fears that she was internally injured. Mary Elizabeth, the other child, escaped with a slight wound over the left eye. Drs. Pittis and Cooper worked over the injured people for a long time and finally succeeded in making them comfortable.

Passengers on the car which struck the wagon lent their assistance and did all in their power to allevate the sufferings of the injured. In the opinion of all who were present it was almost marvelous that those in the wagon escaped with their lives. At present it is not known who is to blame for the accident.

FINE WAS NOT PAID.

Execution Papers Issued by Justice Storms Against George Becker.

About a year ago Wm. N. Pangborn, representing the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, brought an action against George Becker, who lives near Campbell's Clubhouse on Park avenue, in Middlesex county. Becker was speculating in worn out horses that he was able to pick up in New York for a small price. He would bring the animals to his home and fix them up to sell again. One of these horses was allowed to stand in an open field unprotected from the flies, and his condition became such that everyone knowing of the circumstances began to talk about it. Mr. Pangborn brought the suit in Justice Storms' court, and Becker was fined $50. The fine has never been paid and the Justice has now issued execution papers and the payment of the fine will be insisted upon.

BIG FEES NOT ALLOWED.

MARTIN ACT SEARCHES MUST NOT BE TOO EXPENSIVE.

Newarker Wins a Suit Which will Cover Many Others of the Same Kind in the State.

Money has been easily made by a certain class of Newark lawyers in searching titles of property sold by that city for taxes under the Martin Act. In many instances they have charged what are said to be exorbitant fees, and other lawyers, who deprecate the practice, have expressed a belief that a halt would be called by the court.

Property owners who for one reason or another allowed their real estate to be sold under the Martin act were astonished when they sought to redeem it to find that they would have to pay search fees, which in some cases were four or five times the amount of taxes for which the lands were sold. They protested, but to no avail, and then, rather than indulge in expensive litigation to establish the injustice of the charges, paid up and recovered their property. Recently, however, the Bernard M. Shanley estate declined to pay any more of the unjust fees, and, through Judge Lintott, began proceedings to test the whole matter. The amount of taxes on several pieces of property, together with the search fees demanded by Lawyer Jas. R. Nugent, who is acting for Charles Bierman, the purchaser of the Shanley properties, were paid under protest. Then a writ of mandamus was obtained to compel the acceptance by the city of the amount of the taxes, with interest, assessed against the property regardless of the search fees, on the ground that the latter had not been approved by Mayor Seymour, as required by the Martin act, and could not, therefore, be enforced and collected.

Testimony is now being taken in the case, and Judge Lintott purposes to carry it through every court in the land, if necessary, rather than pay the seach fees demanded.

It is not likely, however, that it will have to be carried very far, as a decision was made a few days ago in the Chancery Court upon a case which is practically identical with the Shanley case.

Arthur Devine was the complainant in the Chancery suit, and Joseph R. Franks, a young lawyer, the defendant. Mr. Devine's interests were looked after by former Senator William H. Francis, and those of Franks by Lawyer James R. Nugent. The facts are that in December, 1896, three tracts of land in the southern section of the city owned by Mr. Devine were sold under the Martin act. On one the taxes due were $10 10; on another $11.60, and on the third $9 33, making a total of $21.03. When Mr. Devine went to redeem the properties he found that he was charged with search fees amounting to about five times the taxes "for perfecting the title." The charges were $45.25, $49.20 and $46.50, respectively, a total of $140.95.

Mr. Devine instructed Lawyer Francis to take legal action for the redemption of the properties with the payment of only a reasonable search fee. The first step was the payment under protest of the full amounts demanded by Lawyer Franks. Then a bill was filed in Chancery "to quiet title," or, in other words, to obtain relief from the excessive search fees which stood as a lien against Mr. Devine's property.

About a year ago the testimony was taken. Lawyer Francis produced proof to show that all three properties could be searched as one, and that $50 would be ample pay for the work involved. He also put forth the fact that the Mayor had not approved the excessive search fees charged by Franks when they were filed, and asked that Mr. Devine be empowered by the court to redeem the properties by the payment of the back taxes, with interest, and not more than $50 in search fees, on the ground that any additional sum for such fees would not come under "necessary expenses in perfecting title," as provided in the Martin Act, because it would be unnecessary and unjust expense.

Nothing more was heard of the case for nearly a twelve-month, the property, taxes and search fees being meanwhile tied up. Last week the decision was given, Chancellor Magie vigorously upholding the conclusions of Vice Chancellor Emery.

RED MEN GATHERED TO GREET WETUMPKAH

Institution Ceremonies of Plainfield's New Tribe Were Held Last Evening.

SEVENTY-SEVEN MEMBERS.

GREAT SACHEM NEWCORN AND OTHER CHIEFS WERE PRESENT.

Wetumpkah Tribe Started its Career in Auspicious Fashion—The Chiefs Chosen for the New Tribe—Collation Followed.

Wetumpkah Tribe of Red Men began its official career last evening when Great Sachem Wm. Newcorn and most of the other great chiefs instituted the new tribe and instructed its braves in the mysteries of the order. The institution ceremonies were held in Red Men's Hall, and were attended by delegations from a number of the surrounding tribes.

There were seventy-seven braves on the charter list of the new organization. They chose their chiefs who were "raised up" by the great chiefs after the initiatory proceedings, conducted by the team from Miantonomo Tribe, had been duly shown on several selected victims. The election of chiefs was as follows: Prophet, Frederick J. Huff; sachem, Francis J. Blatz; senior sagamore, Robert Humphries; junior sagamore, Nathan B. Titsworth; chief of records, Francis E. Whiteside; collector of wampum, William B. Sharp; keeper of wampum, M. Leichentritt. The appointive officers were named as follows: Sannaps, William A. Westphal and Joseph G. Martin; warriors, Daniel Galbraith, Fred H. Firstbrook, Marcus Hoyt and Victor Christofferson; braves, L. A. Clement, Morris Newman, William Waters and John Shirley; guard of wigwam, Walter Gamble; guard of forest, Henry Hansen.

The great chiefs present were Great Sachem William Newcorn, of this city; Great Senior Sagamore Joseph E. Nowrey, of Camden; Great Junior Sagamore Blanchard H. White, of Pemberton; Great Chief of Records Daniel M. Stevens, of Camden; Great Guard of Wigwam E. A. Alderslea, of Trenton; Great Representative Harry E. Mack, of South Amboy; Deputy Great Sachem William Nash, of Bound Brook; Past Sachem George H. Miller, of New Brunswick, of the committee of the great council.

After the institution ceremonies, a collation was served by members of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas. Then followed an informal programme of songs and music and short speeches by Great Sachem Newcorn, Great Senior Sagamore Nowrey and Great Junior Sagamore White. Visiting braves were present from New Brunswick, Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook, South Plainfield, Elizabeth, Camden, Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

The new tribe will meet again next Thursday evening at Red Men's Hall when a regular meeting night will be selected.

Knife May Lead to Identity.

There is a possible clue to the identity of the unknown man who was killed on the Jersey Central Railroad, near the freight house, a few days ago. Yesterday one of the section men found a penknife near the place of the accident, and on one side of it was the name "Wm. F. Bucklen" or "Wm. F. Buckley." The latter part of the last name is almost unintelligible which makes it doubtful whether it is "len" or "ley." Around the knife was tied a small piece of rag and a shoestring. The knife was turned over to Undertaker Cole, who will keep it for awhile.

Repairing East Front Street.

East Front street, between Watchung avenue and Washington street, and between Sandford avenue and Richmond street, is receiving some much needed repairs at the hands of the street department. The top dressing to the roadway had entirely worn away and there were a number of bad holes in the street. The street is now being built to grade. The improvements will be completed shortly and then the street department will turn its attention to the remacadamizing of West Front street.

Paper Read by Mrs. Rockfellow.

The Women's Association of the Congregational church held its first meeting for the fall yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. The attendance was large and there is every promise of an active season. A paper on mission work in Alaska was read by Mrs. George A. Rockfellow. After the meeting an informal tea was held.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

ROSS-MESSERSMITH NUPTIALS CELEBRATED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. C. E. Herring—Bride Well-Known in Musical Circles.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Charlotte Messersmith, daughter of William F. Messersmith, and F. Talmage Ross, son of John H. Ross, of 45 Prospect place, were married at the home of the bride's father, 80 Jackson avenue, in the presence of the immediate family. The affair was a quiet one owing to the death of the bride's grandfather, Nicholas Messersmith. The wedding was to have taken place Wednesday evening last, but the death in the family necessitated a slight change in the arrangements.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Miss Pease, of New York, was the bridemaid, and Edward B. Hoagland, of Somerville, was the best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Carrie Allison, of Brooklyn.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ross took a train for Washington and Richmond, Va., where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return next week Wednesday and take up their residence in the Clifton building, 328 Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross are both popular young people and have a host of well-wishers. Mr. Ross is an employe at the store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, West Front street. Mrs. Ross has for sometime past been prominent in musical circles, having filled the position of soloist at the First Presbyterian church, and she was also a member of the choir at the First Baptist church. A valuable collection of presents were received by the bride and groom, evidencing the high esteem in which they are held.

Union County Union's President Says a Man Started Prayer Chain — Officers Chosen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, Sept. 21.—The sixteenth annual convention of the Union County Woman's Christian Temperance Union convened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Cranford Presbyterian church. The county president, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, delivered an address denouncing the army canteen system and denying that the union was responsible for the endless prayer chain to defeat the re-election of President McKinley. She stated that a man in Sunbury, Pa., had owned up to being the author of the scheme.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. Barick; recording secretary, Mrs. G. M. Mosher; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Cox.

The evening session was addressed by Mrs. A. M. Hummer, of Bayonne.

Select Dancing Teacher.

The general satisfaction, with which the efforts of Frederick F. Dawes in his instruction to his classes on dancing and polite training has been received, promise him many new patrons this year. His classes will be held at Seminary Hall, West Seventh street, this fall and winter, as usual, and will begin Tuesday, October 16. It is extremely desirable that he should receive an early notification from all pupils expecting to enter as the number of his pupils will be limited. Mr. Dawes is still assistant teacher with T. George Dodworth, the well-known New York teacher whose parlors are located at 12 East Forty-ninth street, New York.

ENROLLING NAMES OF ALL REPUBLICANS.

The Names of Only Known Partisians Will be Recorded in Organization Books.

THIRD WARD IN THE LEAD.

THESE REPUBLICANS ENROLLED IN WHOLESALE FASHION.

This Was Done by the Aid of Affidavits—Small Proportion of Republicans Enrolled in Other Wards—Another Chance.

The Republicans of the city began the work of enrolling themselves last evening under the new rule of the Republican city executive committee. In the Third ward the names of all the known Republicans were enrolled in wholesale fashion with the aid of affidavits. In the other wards the enrollment was chiefly confined to those who appeared in person and the work of swearing in those who didn't appear was left until next Thursday.

The plan of enrolling all the Republicans in the four wards seemed to work quite well and there was a fair turnout at all the various ward gatherings. In the First ward there were some sixty odd names enrolled. Next week the leaders will have a list of the known partisans and will swear in the names in one large collection.

Over in the Second ward nearly 100 names were put on the list and the ward leaders planned to see that no good Republican was missed next week.

The Third ward had its list all prepared and the names of the known Republicans were put on the list nearly to the number of 500. Those, about whom there is any doubt, were not enrolled, but an attempt will be made before next Thursday to discover how they stand so that they may be enrolled if Republicans.

In the Fourth ward there was a large turnout but the bulk of the Republican voters will be enrolled in that ward next week, chiefly by affidavit.

THOUGHT IT WAS HYDROPHOBIA.

Symtoms Shown by Thomas Conger Alarmed His Neighbors.

The rather alarming symptoms shown by Thomas Conger, a seventeen year old boy, living at 333 Cottage place, caused the neighbors in that section to believe that he was a victim of hydrophobia. He was bitten by a dog several years ago but no trouble ever came from it.

Last Tuesday night he was sitting on the porch with a comrade when he was suddedly striken with convulsions. Since that time he has had violent periods every evening during which it has been necessary for people to hold him down. He has been able to drink water, however, which does away with the theory of hydrophobia. Dr. W. Kempton Browning is in attendance.

Lost 215 Members at Galveston.

There was a good attendance of members at the meeting of Senate Lodge, Knights of Honor, last evening, including four visiting brethren from Perth Amboy. District Deputy Mahew, of Newark, was also present and gave an interesting address full of encouragement as to the standing of the order all over the United States at the present time. He stated that 215 members perished in the Galveston disaster.

Railroad Company Won.

The case of Frank Vanatta against the Rockaway Valley Railroad was tried at Flemington last week. The plaintiff, who was acting as baggagemaster for the Central Railroad, sued for damages for injuries sustained in a collision at Whitehouse Station, October 14th. A decision was rendered in favor of the Rockaway Valley Railroad, for which Hon. A. A. Clark was counsel.

Joined International Union.

Representatives of the International Union of Master Plumbers were in Plainfield last night and completed arrangements for the attaching of the local union to the National body.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Mrs. Michael Weber, of East Third street, reports a brood of chickens from a pullet hatched last February and another brood from a pullet hatched a week later. It is an exceptional case when a six-months-old pullet hatches a brood, and Mrs. Weber is quite proud of the fact.

* * * * *

It will be eleven years ago the first of next month when the exchange of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company was established in this city. At the time of its establishment there were 124 subscribers on the exchange. Today there are 570. By considerable hustling Manager Charles W. Runyon and his assistants increased the number to 500 with the opening of this year. With the dawn of 1901 Manager Runyon is now expecting to see 600 names on the list. The great increase in the last few years may be accounted for by the fact that the cost of a telephone has been greatly reduced of late. In 1889 the cheapest telephone was $75 a year. Today service that greatly excells that of eleven years ago can be obtained for $30 a year. The latter service is limited to 500 calls. The officials of the company are said to be considering a plan whereby telephones will be put in for even less than $30 with a service limited to 300 calls a year.

COFFEES

We call special attention to our coffee department for the reason that it seems more difficult to please consumers with coffee than any other article used in a household. It is no uncommon thing to have ladies and gentlemen enter our store and ask "Have you good coffee? we have been buying all over town and can't get suited. We will give your coffee a trial." Invariably they will call again and say "Give me the same I have tried; it is excellent." One of the reasons, and perhaps the main reason, why our coffees give such satisfaction, is because they are always fresh.

CONDITION OF TEXAS.

Money and Supplies Still Needed In Many Interior Towns.

HOUSTON, Sept. 21.—Official reports of conditions at interior towns have begun to come in from the agents sent out by S. Taliaferro, Governor Sayers' agent for the relief of the section visited by the storm outside of Galveston and Harris county. Following are summaries of reports so far received, showing the conditions at half a dozen towns on the Santa Fe. There are probably 50 small towns which are in just as bad shape and from which reports have not yet been received, but which are being supplied with provisions, clothing and drugs from Houston by the committees:

At Pearland 50 families are depending on relief committee. Some supplies received, but assistance in other ways than provisions is needed. Families at Erin and Superior are to be supplied through Pearland.

At Algoa 25 families have to be supplied. Enough provisions for the present.

In the town of Alvin and vicinity there are probably six houses on blocks out of a total of 1,000. The population of Alvin now to be fed is about 1,500; Manvel, 250; Liverpool and Amsterdam, 250, Chocolate and Austin bayous, Chigge neighborhood, Dickinson bayou, east and outside, or the surrounding country, about 2,500, making a total of 5,000 people under the supervision of the Alvin committee.

COAL FAMINE NEAR.

Ten Days More of Strike Will Exhaust New York's Supply.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The members of the Retail Dealers' Coal Exchange will hold their regular monthly meeting in the exchange's building, 131 East Fifty-eighth street, tonight, and it has been announced that the present crisis in the local coal market due to the strike in Pennsylvania would be discussed and a course determined on.

"We are exerting ourselves to get all the prominent members of the exchange to attend," said Chairman W. S. Smoote of the board of trustees, "for I assure you the situation is serious—serious in the extreme for us."

This opinion was indorsed by all the large retail coal dealers. "I have been in the business for over 19 years," said a prominent dealer, "and never before has the outlook been so dark for both us and the consumer."

Today the coal question resolved itself more into that of supply than prices, for while there was a general rise of from 50 to 75 cents a ton all along the line to the smaller consumer, that was not by any means the most important phase of the situation. The fact is that if the strike continues ten days longer the local dealers will have exhausted their supply, and they are absolutely unable to replenish their stock.

Cotton Mill Strikers Quiet Down.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 21.—Everything is quiet at the Hamilton and Merrimack mills, where 700 print workers are on strike. The Greeks who are filling some of the strikers' places went to work in the latter mills without being molested by the crowd which was on the scene. They went out to dinner under police protection and returned to work the same way. William Bridges, who was arrested during a riot by two police officers, was discharged in the police court. An order has been issued by Superintendent of Police Davis notifying the people not to congregate around the mills or on the streets in the vicinity. If this rule is violated, officers are ordered to make arrests.

General Corbin Takes Root's Place.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Major General Corbin, adjutant general of the army, is acting as secretary of war for the first time in his long and varied military experience. This comes about by reason of the temporary absence of Secretary Root, ill at his Long Island home, Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn on his way to Nebraska and Lieutenant General Miles inspecting military posts and schools in the west. The president's order designates Lieutenant General Miles to perform the duties of secretary of war, and this officer being absent Major General Corbin, in accordance with the law, is directed to assume the duties of the secretary.

Socialists Want Tariff Abolished.

MAINZ, Sept. 21.—The German Socialist congress adopted by an overwhelming majority the Calwer resolution advocating the abolition of the protective tariff, the adoption of free trade and the imperialization of railways and protesting against "spheres of influence," especially in China. It is well understood among the delegates that Herr Calwer and some others are really in favor of reciprocity and protection, especially with reference to America, but consider it inexpedient to advocate these principles publicly.

Missing Man Found Dead.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The body of Charles W. Sullivan, former alderman in this city, has been found in a ravine west of Ithaca. Sullivan disappeared from home some three weeks ago, and nothing had been heard of him. His body was in a badly decomposed state, and it was apparent that it had been in the ravine for some time. It is possible that he was taken with an epileptic fit to which he was subject. Sullivan was 49 years of age and is survived by his wife and a son and daughter.

Davis Released.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The grand jury failed to find an indictment against Isaac Davis of Setauket, who was arrested at Riverhead, on Long Island, on the charge of manslaughter. Davis was accused of having caused the death of Morris Fachs by striking him over the head with a whip. Davis was released.

Potato Crop a Failure.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The farmers declare that the potato crop of Orange county is a failure owing to the protracted dry weather and heat. It is said that the price to consumers will be double that of last year and the quality inferior.

R. G. Dun Taken Home.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Sept. 21.—R. G. Dun of New York, who has been ill at Dunmere all summer, has been taken to his New York home. He traveled in a private car.

Banker Foote Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Charles B Foote of the New York banking firm of Hatch & Foote, which made an assignment a few days ago, died at Oceanic, N J., yesterday afternoon.

MORE MINERS STOP.

Three Additional Collieries Compelled to Shut Down.

FEAR KILLS HUNGARIAN MINE BOY

Hazleton Ministers Take Steps to Have Settlement Brought About by Arbitration—Violent Scenes Near Lehigh Valley Shaft.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 21.—In the absence of President Mitchell from headquarters Benjamin James, who is next in charge of the strike in this region, issued the daily bulletin from the United Mine Workers' headquarters. It is as follows:

"The reports received at headquarters have been most gratifying. Harwood, Coleraine and the Star washery at Audenreid have shut down. The men at these places have decided to strike with their fellow men. This is a gain for the mine workers.

"At Jeddo, where John Markle tried to influence the men to go to work, they remained firm, evidently realizing the shallowness of the offers made by their employers.

"Eight hundred more men are now on strike in this district.

"The suspension in the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys is now complete, the only mine which worked the forepart of the week being closed.

"Reports from District No. 9 (the lower anthracite) show that there have been large accessions to the strikers' ranks, great inroads having been made on the Philadelphia and Reading employees.

"The situation over the entire anthracite field is such that we have every reason to believe that in a few days the suspension will be general throughout the three districts."

There has been little activity around the United Mine Workers' headquarters, from where the coal miners' strike is being directed. Most of the union officials spend their time in the outlying towns meeting the striking men and giving them instructions. No overtures have been advanced by either side, and there is at present no indication that any will be put forth soon. The strike officials are still at work getting the men out and say they will not cease their activity in that respect until every operation in the anthracite region is tied up. The operators, though badly crippled, are as confident of success as they have heretofore been.

The production of coal in the Hazleton region is growing smaller with each succeeding day. One of the best proofs of this is the report of the superintendent of the Hazleton division of the Lehigh Valley railroad, which handles the coal from all but six collieries in this region. This report shows that the shipments have fallen off to less than two-thirds of the normal quantity during the past four days.

There is no denying the fact that the inhabitants of this region fear trouble. There are very few persons who do not believe that there will be an outbreak somewhere in the region. Most if not all of the coal mines are being protected by extra watchmen. Rumors are afloat that the sheriffs of Luzerne, Schuylkill and Carbon counties, which counties adjoin one another at a point two miles south of here, are swearing in deputies by the score. None of these rumors can be confirmed. When the sheriffs are approached on the subject, they say there is no trouble and that they are not looking for any. Certain it is, however, that these officers are keeping a watchful eye on the situation and that they can be quickly found if their presence is needed anywhere.

No. 40 shaft of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, east of this city, has been the center of numerous petty acts of violence. A handful of Hungarian women wanted to whip three coal and iron poolicemen for persuading breaker boys to go to work. The police, however, managed to get out of their difficulty without a fight. Shortly after that a mine worker says he was shot at by an unknown person, but not hit, while on his way to the shaft. Later in the day an Italian was badly clubbed. Two of the mine workers on their way home from the shaft were also attacked and badly beaten. Aside from these incidents quiet prevailed throughout the region. The striking mine workers say they are doing their best to prevent disturbances.

A 15-year-old Hungarian boy has been found dead in bed in Coleraine. The doctor says his death was due to heart disease caused by fright. The doctor added that the boy had been told that a mob was marching toward Coleraine, and the shock caused his death.

The Lehigh Valley Coal company's collieries, the strikers claim, are being operated with a greatly reduced force of men.

The Hazleton Ministerial association, composed of all the Protestant clergymen of this city, has taken up the strike question and will use all its power in bringing about a settlement of the labor difference on the basis of arbitration and conciliation. All are opposed to the strike, and at a meeting they decided to draw up a memorial appealing to both the strikers and those operators who have not expressed a desire to arbitrate to act fairly with each other and restore peaceful conditions and confidence in the anthracite mining region.

Notwithstanding the announcement made before the strike began that they would not give credit to the strikers the business men of this city are still selling goods to the men on strike on the usual terms.

Superintendent Keith of the Hazleton division of the Lehigh Valley railroad said that he would lay off two coal train crews today. These are the first railroad men in this section to be rendered idle by the strike. It is said that several railroad employees have asked for leave of absence, presumably because they do not care to handle nonunion coal. Their applications were not granted.

Striking Miner Arrested.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 21.—The first arrest in connection with the miners' strike was made when Joseph Begos, a Hungarian of Nanticoke, was taken into custody, charged on oath of Alexander Monsyock with pointing a revolver and threatening to shoot him while he was returning from work. The prosecutor is employed at company work in one of the mines at Nanticoke, and when he started for home he met Begos, who asked him why he was working. Monsyock did not answer and was proceeding on his way when, it is alleged, Begos pointed his revolver. Upon his promising not to report for work Begos did not shoot. The prisoner was brought to this city and in default of $1,500 bail was committed to jail.

Filipino Insurgents In Fighting Array Near Manila.

GENERAL YOUNG WANTS MORE TROOPS

Desperate Fight at Mavitac In Water Waist Deep—Rains Retard Movements—Captain Mitchell Loses One Hundred and Thirty Men.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A dispatch has been received from General MacArthur confirming the report cabled from Manila regarding the activity of the insurgents. The blank spaces are words which could not be deciphered. The dispatch is as follows, being dated Manila, Sept. 19:

"Considerable activity throughout Luzon. Fighting reported vicinity Carig and Estella, Isabella province. Insurgents estimated 500, probably much exaggerated, but sufficient force to make * * * in district heretofore quiet.

"In the Ilocan provinces Brigadier General Samuel B. Young reports numerous small affairs and has called so emphatically for more force that Kingsbury's squadron, Third cavalry, and Borden's battalion, Fifth infantry, been sent him; other battalion Fifth same destination upon arrival.

"Country north Pasig, including all of Bulacan, very much disturbed, and numerous contacts with small parties throughout that district, south of Pasig, including Tayabas province (Luzon) same conditions obtain. This activity has been anticipated and reported upon in letters Aug. 25 * * * and cable Aug. 31. Sept. 16 David D. Mitchell, captain Fifteenth infantry, 90 men Company L, Fifteenth infantry, from Siniloan, Laguna province, attacked insurgent general Cailles, who had 800 men in position at Mavitac, same province.

"Desperate fight ensued, which was pushed from the front with great pertinacity by Mitchell across causeway and through water waist deep; co-operative attack under George F. Cooke, captain, with 40 men, Company K, Fifteenth infantry, and ten men, Company B, Thirty-seventh volunteer infantry, could not reach enemy's position because of high water in arm of lake, which could not be crossed; entire country was afloat in consequence recent rains. This very much impeded offensive action. After hour 20 minutes' fighting command withdrew to Siniloan.

"Upon renewal operations 18th found that insurgents had escaped from Mavitac previous night, most of them no doubt going back into contiguous barrios to appear for time being or until called into field again as peaceful amigos.

"Casualties, which all occurred Mitchell's command, consisted of 130 men, four officers."

TWENTY-FOUR DEAD.

Revised List of Casualties In Monday's Fight With Filipinos.

MANILA, Sept. 21.—A corrected list of the casualties sustained by the American soldiers last Monday in the engagement at Siniloan, at the east end of Laguna de Bay, between a force of 1,000 Filipinos and detachments of the Fifteenth and Thirty-seventh United States infantry regiments, shows that 24 men are dead.

This includes those who have died from the effects of their wounds since the fighting. Nineteen are wounded, including Captain John E. Moran of Company L of the Thirty-seventh regiment. The total number of Americans engaged is now announced as 134. The enemy's casualties have not been reported. The missing have been counted as dead.

McKinley Dines at Country Club.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—President McKinley, Attorney General Griggs and General Corbin, acting secretary of war, took dinner last night at the Country club, a few miles out from the city. There was a further discussion of the German proposal making punishment of Chinese ringleaders in the Boxer troubles a condition precedent to peace negotiations and of our answer thereto. Advantage was also taken of the occasion to discuss other phases of the situation.

Politician Commits Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Martin Van Buren Burroughs, local Democratic politician, was found dead in a boarding house in Brooklyn with a bullet wound in the right temple. A revolver with one empty chamber lay beside him. The man had apparently killed himself while sitting on the edge of the bed, after undressing. Burroughs had been almost a lifelong Third warder and for years acted as a confidential adviser of James Shevlin in district affairs.

Plumbers' Differences Settled.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The misunderstanding which put at variance the plumbers' unions of Hudson county has been cleared. At a meeting of the United Building Trades council in Jersey City a decision was made that the Hoboken and North Hudson unions must recognize the working cards of the council and reinstate members of the Jersey City union who have been compelled to quit work in Hoboken.

The Deweys at Sayville.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Admiral and Mrs. George Dewey are at Sayville, L. I., as the guests of Rear Admiral Ludlow, whose wife is a sister of Mrs. Dewey. A committee of Sayville citizens called on the admiral and invited him to be the guest of honor at a public reception in Sayville. Next Saturday evening was set as the time.

JAMES HOWARD'S TRIAL.

Did He Have a Mustache at the Time of Goebel's Shooting?

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 21.—Cross examination of James Howard, on trial here charged with being a principal in the shooting of Governor Goebel, has been completed. His direct testimony was unshaken.

Did Jim Howard have a mustache on Jan. 30?

On that question in a great measure depends his liberty, perhaps his life. The witnesses for the defense, including the defendant himself, all state that on Jan. 29 and days before his face was clean shaven. Bowman Gaines, Ben Rake and James F. Daly, who have identified Howard as the man they saw on Jan. 30, swear that he had a mustache.

Judge J. H. Tinsley, one of the counsel for the defense in the Powers conspiracy trial, testified for the defendant.

Sheriff Beverly White of Clay county testified that while on his way to Louisville Jan. 29 and 30 Howard accompanied him as far as Frankfort. The last he saw of Howard he was standing in front of the Board of Trade hotel here. Howard was then clean shaven.

Former State Senator Parker testified that he saw Howard a few days before the killing of Governor Goebel, and Howard did not have a mustache. He introduced Howard to Taylor after Goebel's assassination. Howard asked Taylor for a pardon. Taylor said he could not consider a pardon then.

ROME'S ANNIVERSARY.

Thirtieth Year of the City's "Deliverance" Celebrated In Italy.

ROME, Sept. 21.—The thirtieth anniversary of the deliverance of Rome was celebrated yesterday throughout Italy. Everywhere shops were closed and houses and public buildings hung with flags.

In spite of the rainy weather the capital was crowded with enthusiastic visitors to witness the municipality proceed to the Pantheon and place wreaths upon the tombs of Victor Emmanuel II and Humbert I.

The procession then moved to the Porta Pia, where stands the memorial to the Italian soldiers who fell in breaching the walls during the attack on Sept. 20, 1870. Here the mayor read a dispatch from King Victor Emmanuel III.

Later in the day a delegation of officials of the ministry of marine went to the capitol to present to the municipality the flag of the Italian warship Roma, which covered the coffin of King Humbert during the funeral ceremony.

Thrilling Escapes From Fire.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Exciting scenes were witnessed at a fire in Passaic, N. J. The handsome residence of Theodore Vogel caught fire from some unknown cause, and the flames spread with great rapidity. The hallways were filled with choking and blinding smoke, and the inmates of the house, who were on the upper floors, found their escape cut off. Mr. Vogel, his daughter Viola and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kress and J. and H. Mastin, who were guests at the house, lowered themselves by means of a rope from a third story window. They had a very narrow escape, as the room on the third story from which they lowered themselves was on fire when they left it. The damage to the property is about $8,000.

ROBERTS TO LEAVE AFRICA.

Report From Johannesburg Says He Will Start For Home Sept. 29.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A Johannesburg dispatch says Lord Roberts will start for home on Sept. 29.

President Kruger is a great attraction at Reuben Point. He sits on the porch of the district governor's residence and smokes before admiring crowds.

The war office has issued a lengthy report from Lord Roberts on the subject of the Johannesburg plot to overpower the garrison and murder British officers. After reiterating the known facts of the plot the British commander in chief in South Africa says:

"Consuls of America, Germany, France and Sweden, subjects of which nations were arrested, met and fully discussed the case with the British officials. The interview was most satisfactory. The consuls entirely concurred with the British action and promised every assistance."

Lord Roberts adds that he forthwith ordered the deportation of all foreigners arrested in connection with the plot for whose behavior their respective consuls could not vouch. Otherwise very few foreigners were deported, except employees of the Netherlands railway who refused to work for the British and actively participated in the war.

AGREES WITH HOBSON.

Lieutenant Commander Hall Says Dewey Didn't Sink Spanish Fleet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Lieutenant Commander H. T. Hall of the steam engineering department of the Brooklyn navy yard talked about Lieutenant Hobson's interview at Vancouver, B. C., apropos of Dewey's achievement at Manila affecting the Spanish fleet. Hall said:

"When the hulls of the Spanish ships sunk at Manila were raised, they were found to be all right. They were simply water soaked aside from the burned tops of the decks. It seems to me as if the Spaniards, seeing that their opposition was of no use against the United States vessels, took refuge back of a land projection and there sent some of their ships to the bottom. Of course some of the Spanish ships were sunk immediately."

Lieutenant Commander Hall says he personally examined the vessels in question. Hall had a commission with Dewey at Manila.

He was taken to the hospital at Burlington, Vt., and if he survives he probably will be blind in both eyes. His home is in Boston.

PREPARING ANSWER.

Replies to Different Notes of Powers Being Formed.

GENERAL CLEARING UP IS INTENDED.

Minister Wu Has Not Received Notice of Appointment of Viceroys as Peace Commissioners—The Dead Missionaries.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. — The status of the Chinese situation, according to a high authority, is as follows:

There are now before the department of state a number of notes awaiting answer. These include the German note concerning the surrender of Chinese ringleaders, the original Russian proposition for the withdrawal of troops from Peking, which has not yet been acted upon as a finality; a memorandum from the Russian government asking as to the purposes of this government and a request by Prince Ching that instructions be sent to Minister Conger to proceed with peace negotiations at once. In addition there is a verbal inquiry from the French government as to the programme of the United States.

These various communications have accumulated slowly, and an understanding has now been reached by the administration that there shall be a general clearance of the subject. This may be expected very soon. It will clearly enunciate the programme of the United States on the various questions presented.

There will be separate notes according to the character of the communications addressed to this government—that is, the recent German note will be answered by a note, and the memorandum of inquiry from Russia will be answered by a memorandum, while the French verbal inquiry will receive a verbal response.

As to the contents of these several communications the authorities are not willing to give any positive intimations, though as far as the German note is concerned the belief is almost general here that the response of our government will amount to a declination to make the surrender of the offending Chinese a condition precedent to negotiations of any kind. Concerning the Russian proposition for withdrawal it is stated officially that it stands today the same as first presented, there having been no modifications whatever on the part of Russia up to the present time.

Minister Wu has not received the edict reported from Shanghai appointing the viceroys of Nankin and Wuchang as part of the Chinese peace commission. But in view of the dispatch received from the viceroys today the minister has little doubt that they will serve on the commission. He says, however, that it will not be necessary for them to leave their present posts and go to Peking, as the viceroyalties are of too much importance to permit their departure. They will be consulted by telegraph, and their concurrence will be secured in all settlements and their signatures given to the final peace agreement.

Mr. Wu says he is at a loss to account for the published report that his colleague, the Chinese minister at London, denied that Yung Lu has been appointed with Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching as peace envoys. Mr. Wu says there can be no doubt about the matter, as he has received the imperial edict appointing Yung Lu.

The state department has received the following telegram from Consul General Goodnow, dated Shanghai, Sept. 20:

"Killed to date—Rev. and Mrs. Simcox and three children, Dr. and Mrs. Hodge, Dr. Taylor, Rev. Pitkin, Misses Gould and Morrill at Paoting-fu; Miss Desmond, Manchester, at Kuchau; Misses Rice and Huston at Lucheng; Rev. and Mrs. Clapp, Rev. G. L. Williams, Rev. Davis, Misses Bird and Partridge at Taiku; Rev. and Mrs. Atwater and four children and Rev. and Mrs. Price and one child at Fenchow-fu. Have mailed report."

Information received at the postoffice department indicates that a United States postoffice has been opened at Tien-tsin to facilitate the handling of mail matter for the troops in China.

ANGLO-AMERICAN FORCE.

Our Soldiers Combine With British to Attack Pei-ta-chu.

PEKING, Sept. 16, via Taku, Sept. 21.—General James H. Wilson, with 800 Americans and 600 British troops and six guns, marched westward today, and the Germans will move tomorrow to cooperate in taking Pei-ta-chu, where the enemy is supposed to be in large force. The American commander will attack from the west and the Germans from the east. General Wilson will then take the San-hai-tien arsenal.

Possibly this will be the last big expedition, as it is understood that the British and Americans will abandon the former plan of police campaign and will prepare for the evacuation of Peking.

The British have countermanded the orders for winter clothing and, it is reported, will fall back to Wei-hai-wei.

The German legation is expected to withdraw Friday, Sept. 21, and it is generally reported that the Americans will withdraw, but General Chaffee refuses to confirm the rumor.

The Telegraphers' Conventions.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 21.—The annual conventions of the Old Time Telegraphers' association and the United States Military Telegraphers' corps came to a brilliant close in this city with a banquet at the Ryan hotel. Over 200 guests were gathered around the tables when President H. C. Hope of the Old Timers called the convention to order and introduced H. B. Hall, a veteran newspaper man, as toastmaster. The speakers were numerous, and all were brief.

Coal Strike Affects Railroad.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Owing to the coal miners' strike a number of employees of the Ontario and Western shops here were laid off and notices posted informing all employees of the shops that they will be laid off one day each week. Seven idle locomotives are now at the shops. From present indications it will soon be impossible to buy coal here, and people will be compelled to burn wood.

Drowned While Fishing.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Wilson Reed, 30 years old, of Mitchellville was drowned while fishing in Keuka lake off Hammondsport. His boat overturned. Charles Foster and Clarence Clark, who were with Reed, were rescued. Reed leaves a wife and child. The body has not yet been recovered.

A New Democratic Factor.

A new factor in the Democratic politics of Union county has appeared in the person of Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, who made a vigorous but unsuccessful fight for the nomination for Congress at the Eighth district convention last Wednesday. Mr. Park is a thorough-going and loyal Democrat, filled with a desire for partisan success and an ambition to take an active and prominent part in it. It is plainly evident that the Democratic party of Union county is in serious need of such workers as he, and if it is recruited with such men it will not be long before it will give the Republicans a harder rub for supremacy in this bailiwick.

It is true that Mr. Park did not receive the support of a majority of the delegates from Union county in his aspiration to run for Congress, but that fact does not deteriorate from the respect and admiration that is held for him as one whom it is desirable to associate with the party machinery.

He proved himself a hustler in politics at Bayonne, and put up a fight that has won him a recognized place among Democrats of Union county.

The Cuban Election.

The Cubans have asserted their right to independence by choosing a constitutional convention that will be controlled by men who fought for it. Senor Alfredo Zayas, one of the delegates, says:

This convention will not allow itself to be influenced by any representative of the United States. It will adopt and follow an independent policy throughout, in my opinion, refusing to decide as to the relations which shall hereafter exist between Cuba and the United States. This is a matter that should be left to a special commission.

The Philadelphia North American, with characteristic honesty and frankness, says: "That is right," and then adds: "The Cubans are entitled to frame their own constitution, without pressure from the outside. The attempt to dictate to them in advance what the convention should declare as to the Cuban republic's foreign relations was a violation of the spirit of the pledge given by Congress when we entered upon war with Spain for the liberation of the island. That the Cubans should resent the attempt is natural, and that they should have rebuked it at the polls ought to be gratifying to the American people."

In the news columns of today's Press there appears a story of legal complications that have grown out of of transactions between lawyers and purchasers of property under the Martin Act, in which it is alleged that the lawyers have charged excessive rates for the searching of titles of the property bought under this law, which was brought into play in Newark before it was applied to Plainfield. According to the decision of the court, lawyers are restricted to reasonable charges for such services, but some have set what is claimed to be an exorbitant figure for the work. No such trouble has been encountered in Plainfield as yet, but the article will be read with deep interest and its salient points noted by those who may have similar experiences in the future.

Senator Charles A. Reed, as chairman of the Somerset county Republican executive committee, has called the county convention for Monday, October 1st, when an Assemblyman, County Clerk and Coroner will be nominated. The primaries will be held in all the towns of the county, with the exception of North Plainfield borough, Saturday afternoon, September 29th, and in the borough the evening previous. Each town will be entitled to five delegates in the convention, making forty-five in all. This requires twenty-three for a choice.

A Freehold dispatch to the Newark News yesterday said that Andrew Lane, of Somerset county, is the man who is most likely to be nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Third district. A week ago Mr. Lane stated that he was not a candidate, and that the nomination would go either to Middlesex or Monmouth counties. Edward Radel, the trolley magnate, is the Middlesex aspirant for the nomination.

The Somerville Unionist-Gazette is authority for the statement that "at present Frank W. Somers seems to have a clear field for a renomination for County Clerk. W. H. H. Wyckoff announced himself as a candidate, but there seems to be little vigor in his canvass, unless it develops later."

Congressman Fowler is reported to be undisturbed because the Democrats have nominated their candidate in the Eighth district. Mr. Fowler figures on the nominal Republican majority of the district to carry him to victory, added to which he will conduct an active campaign for votes.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

No doubt when the Plainfield census returns are published that city will also be found to have made a splendid growth; perhaps not so marked as that of Elizabeth, for it is somewhat differently located. Yet Plainfield is one of the most attractive and enterprising cities of Union county, and may prove a close second to Elizabeth in its percentage of increase. The probabilities are, however, that Elizabeth will be found to have considerably outstripped the rest of Union county, in the aggregate, and to now contain more than half the population of the entire county. It is not unlikely that the county's population will crowd the 100,000 mark, if it does not a litte exceed these figures. Elizabeth and Union county are both destined to splendid development and rapid growth in the years to come.—Elizabeth Journal.

A Pleasing Entertainment.

A pleasing entertainment was given last night in Mt. Zion A.M. E. church, on West Fourth street, under the direction of Rev. M. Cooper, the pastor, and E. B. Maynard, superintendent of the Sunday-school. The principal feature was the address and vocal solos given by Miss Ida Harris, superintendent of Sunday-school work in the State for that church. Other features were recitations by the Misses Emily and Evilin Wilson, readings by Miss Alice Maynard and Alfred White and violin solo by Edward Blair. Mrs. E. B. Maynard was chairman of the entertainment committee. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the programme.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Gleaned and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 21—It is announced that the last dollar of the personal tax levy for 1899 has been paid in, thus closing up that account for that year. This is commendable and the borough is to be congratulated on this result. It is the easiest thing in the world for a man to skip his personal tax and let it drag for years. The fact that the above has been paid shows that residents of the borough take an interest in its welfare.

A deplorable state of affairs exists regarding the coal situation in the borough. W. H. Cole, the local dealer, has had all his orders returned to him by the big dealers. They cannot furnish him with coal at present and they do not know when they can, hence the return of the orders. Mr. Cole's present supply will not begin to fill his orders, and unless the strike lets up it will not be very long before he will be out of coal altogether.

Under the direction of William Holmes, of Plainfield, the Choral Union will begin rehearsals the first part of next month. It is expected that several concerts will be given during the winter.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 21.—There are rumors that in the near future there will be an exhibition bout between a well-known young man of this place and another young man equally well-known in Plainfield. The New Market man has been in training for several days and it is understood that he is becoming proficient in hitting the punching bag.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 21—The Republican Club met in Excelsior Hall last night to further the plans of the club for the fall campaign. The committee on rooms reported that the rooms of Good Will Lodge, K. of P., had been secured and would be open Monday evening as the regular club rooms during the campaign. The club hopes to be able to secure several good speakers to address the members and their friends. As the rooms are used by several organizations it will be impossible to have them open every evening. So Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings are the only nights the rooms will be open.

The Scribe, that interesting and newsy little paper that was published by the scholars of the public school during last year, seems to have died a natural death, as it is said it will not be published this year. The many friends of the school are sorry to hear this as the paper seemed to fill a space in the life of pupil, parent and teachers that no other paper could fill as it kept right in touch with the many interesting events in school life, both amusing and educational. It is hoped that some one will resurrect the work again during the year.

The topic for the weekly prayer meeting in the Baptist church this evening will be a general review of the Sunday-School lesson for Sunday. Rev. Mr. Shott will lead the meeting.

Mrs. Anna Howard, who has been spending the summer with Dr. and Mrs. James H. Parks at "Home Dawn," has returned to home at Hoboken.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"'Way Down East," which is to be at Music Hall next Monday night, is truly remarkable. Produced in New York during the season of 1898 by Wm. A. Brdy without any great advanced heralding, it leaped into popularity instantaneously, and enjoyed a run of 427 performances in that city. During last season it run the entire winter at the Academy of Music, playing to crowded houses nightly and it was only the warm June weather that ended its prosperous run. It is a play of great heart interest with homely types of rural New England as its characters, presenting every day happenings of that vicinity that one would be likely to encounter. Lottie Blair Parker is the authoress of it; but that skillful actor and playright, Joseph R. Grismér, elaborated and produced it.

Once again the critical theatregoing public of New York have voiced their cordial approval of the artistic methods of Augustus Thomas, playwright. His new play, "Arizona," produced at the Herald Square Theatre last Monday evening, met with instant success. It has been years since a Broadway audience voiced its enthusiastic commendation so effusively as did that which made of "Arizona's" premier a notable event. At the end of Act III. the author and the principals of the company were called before the curtain a dozen times, and Mr. Thomas' graceful impromptu speech was rewarded with an outburst of cheering. "Arizona" is the most distinctively American play that has been produced in New York in many seasons. Its people are western people, a sturdy old ranchman, his homely wife, their two charming daughters, a colonel, a captain, a sergeant, a doctor and two gay lieutenants of the 11th Cavalry, Mexican vaqueros, cowboys and soldiers, and other real folk of the picturesque southwest.

All the world loves a gallant fighter whether he commands a squadron, leads an army or alone and single handed knocks out victory and personal encounters within the rope arena of a boxing club. James J. Jeffries, who is to appear here as an actor on next Tuesday night at Music Hall in Clay M. Green's new "American play, "The Man From the West," commands admiration because he is an American born of American parents and twice within a year has maintained the muscular superiority of his country against the most powerful and skillful of the pugilistic heavyweights of the world. Fitzsimmons, Sharkey and Corbett each in succession has yielded to his prowess and the list of minor victims whose pride has been humbled is too numerous for capitulation. The American public are just commencing to realize that he is an honest champion who shrinks no challenge and who has never tasted the bitterness of defeat. In fact, he has never been knocked down in a squared circle by an opponent. He stands now as he always has ready to defend his title and all this talk of other athletes who are seeking notoriety can be stamped as ludicrious. In the performance of "The Man From the West," Jeffries will show several of his athletic accomplishments by bag bunching, boxing and how to train to be a successful athlete. "The Man From the West" is a clear cut comedy drama depicting Western life; several scenes of exciting interest are present, one of the most conspicuous being a fight for life in a balloon in mid-air.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—Neuman Brothers call attention to the fact that they will have a shipment of 250 baskets of fine peaches, both yellow and white, tomorrow.

—The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. L. W. Randolph.

George E. Sanders, who has been in the employ of R. O. Howell, the grocer, has resigned his position, and Monday enters the employ of Neuman Brothers. W. P. Henderson, formerly with J. F. MacDonald, will take Mr. Sander's place at Howell's.

Headache is merely a symptom. It is simply reflected irritation from one organ on another. The cause is deep down. The head is sick, but it is the stomach that is to blame: It is there the trouble lies.

Pain in the brain is the signal of a distressed stomach. That is all. When the distress ceases below, the signal pain is withdrawn from the brain at once; but you can't cure sick headache without removing the cause. You may deaden the pain for a time with opiates or bromides, but the after effects are worse—ten times worse—than the original headache.

The safest, surest and best way is to remove the cause, and to do this there is but one way. Take something that will help the stomach and bowels to perfectly and promptly perform their work. Take Ripans Tabules. They will remove the cause. Sick headache can't stay with you five minutes after your stomach and digestive organs are set right.

Ripans Tabules are a common sense remedy for sick headache, because their action is based on the laws of cause and effect. They do not merely aim at the symptom, but they strike at and hit the cause and remove it; they soothe an irritable stomach; they rid the stomach of offending matters whether food or bile; they strengthen and revive the overworked digestive organs. Then again Ripans Tabules do their work in such a gentle, coaxing way that the unpleasant results of common remedies are avoided.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Boyle.

TOPIC.—Tares in your field.—Math. xiii, 24-30, 36-43.

THE PARABLE.

In the parable of the tares Christ likened the kingdom of heaven to a man who planted good seed in his field, but while he slept his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat. The tares, or darnel seed, resembled the wheat and was closely intertwined with it in growing. It was only when the ripened grain appeared that they could be easily distinguished the one from the other. The fruit of the tares was injurious, producing vomiting, convulsions and even death. It was not an uncommon thing for one in the east to show his malice and hatred by sowing tares in his enemy's field. When the wheat sprang up, the tares appeared also. The servants, with an unwise zeal, wanted to uproot them, but the owner, with greater wisdom, advised them to wait until the harvest, lest they should uproot the wheat also. Separation was easier and accomplished with less risk at the harvest.

THE INTERPRETATION.

Christ interprets this parable Himself. The sower is the Son of Man; the field, the world; the adversary is satan; the harvest is the end of the world. Two questions have been much discussed in connection with this parable: (1) What does the world as the field represent? and (2) Does Christ mean to teach that there is to be no discipline exercised in His church on earth? The world must mean the visible church in the world, and Christ cannot mean that the visible church is to exercise no discipline. He simply lays down here the principle of caution in the exercise of discipline. He presents the fact that both good and evil will be found even in His church and the serious danger of unwise zeal in attempting to purify the church and further emphasizes the fact that at the end of the world God will make the just and final separation between the two classes. The history of the Christian church proves the importance of Christ's caution. Excessive zeal in the matter of discipline has repeatedly done more harm than good.

THE APPLICATION.

This parable may be pressed home to the heart of every Christian Endeavorer with great practical force. It teaches us several great and important truths; but, passing these, may we not apply it more personally? We are in the church. Are we wheat or tares? Are we serving the Son of God or are we fulfilling the purposes of satan, the adversary? To be with the wheat does not necessarily mean that we are wheat. We may resemble the wheat, we may be intimately associated with the wheat, but if we are not wheat the day of separation will surely come. Man may never separate us, but God surely will. In the last day the wheat will be gathered into His garners, but the tares will be cast away. Cast away from God! What an awful thought! It need never be. Christ can turn tares into wheat. He can cause good fruit to grow where now there is only evil. Let us accept Him and consecrate our lives to Him, and in the day of judgment we shall be gathered with the wheat into His heavenly garners.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Let the leader explain the parable and then have voluntary participation on the topic.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. cxix, 9-16; Jer. viii, 18-22; Joel iii, 11-16; Matt. iii, 11, 12; xxiv, 14-31; xxv, 31-46; II Pet. ii, 1-3; I John iii, 8; Rev. xiv, 15-20; xxi, 27.

Christ's Second Coming.

Many years ago, in the state of Connecticut, there came what has there been known ever since as "the dark day." Suddenly a thick darkness came on, owing, no doubt, to some abnormal atmospheric condition. The colonial legislature was sitting at the time, and, being more superstitious than we are in our day, some of the members concluded that the day of judgment was come. In the legislature in those days in Connecticut the people all belonged to the Puritan church. The cry went forth: "It is the day of judgment! Let us go home and get ready!"

Then an old deacon of the Congregational church who was in the legislature rose and said: "Brethren, it may be the day of judgment. I do not know. The Lord may come, but when He comes I want to be at my post doing my duty up to the last moment. Mr. Speaker, I move that the candles be brought in and that we go on with the business of the colony."—Wesleyan Herald.

Living to Please God.

Every one who lives wholly to please God has a right to claim His protection, His direction and His help, not every hour only, but every moment of his life. It is more than mere sentiment to live. It is a serious reality, in which the hand, the head and the heart are all enlisted. The only way, therefore, for the Christian is to "commit" himself habitually, sincerely, unhesitatingly and with godly trust into the hands of Him who has warranted us in believing that all things have worked, do now work and will work in the coming days for our good.—Christian.

Oblivious of the Weather.

The minister who prepares his sermon for the people may fret because the storm is certain to keep the very persons from whom he hoped to extort praise away, but he who prepares his sermon for the Lord knows that the Lord can send the precise kind of weather which is best, and the very persons who should hear the Lord's message can come even through the storm. Perfect restfulness in the will of God is one of the characteristics of perfect love.—Wesleyan Methodist.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 23, "Tares In Your Field"—Text, Math. xiii, 24-30, 36-43.

"His enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat."

The conditions of life are exceedingly complex and the possible combinations of circumstances infinitely varied. So there are many sides from which it can be viewed. To understand with any degree of clearness we need to study it from many positions. Jesus in this lesson presents a view of evil which is deeply instructive.

The Kingdom of Heaven.—Whatever the term may mean in other places it must in this passage refer to this present world and time. It is not the Christian church, but the whole body of mankind under the privileges of the gospel dispensation. The Son of Man has offered salvation to all. Some accept and become the good seed which springs up and grows in power and productiveness through successive ages.

Tares Among the Wheat.—Evil men have ever lived and been strong in the affairs of business and society. The church itself has not been free from their presence, nor is there hope that good shall ever so prevail that the evil shall become extinct. No community can be so formed as to be permanently pure from the presence of wicked men. It seems a sad outlook. It chills the zeal and enthusiasm of those who are looking for a short campaign and speedy appearance of earthly glory and peace. But sober truth is needful even if it forces us to reconstruct our theories and plans.

Until the Harvest.—They are to grow side by side, roots and leaves intermingled, until the end of this world age, whenever that may be. Then comes separation. No evasion can turn the keen edge of this statement. As surely as wicked and good men live side by side now, meet and measure strength and oppose each other, as surely as there is a difference in nature between vice and virtue, piety and profanity, chastity and unchastity, here and now, so certainly shall there be hereafter a separation between the different classes of persons according to their natures as good and evil. It is certain that just condemnation of the bad is not shown in this present world of natural calamities. Some sins seem to flourish unpunished. But wait awhile. There is a day beyond tonight. Watch! God shall vindicate His own. Wheat shall appear wheat and be eventually winnowed, however luxuriantly tares may crowd and overshadow for a time.

Remember also tares never turn to wheat, shall not abide with wheat, shall not "shine as the sun," but shall burn as "a furnace of fire." Don't fret about the tares, but take care to be A1 wheat.

Assistant Secretary Penn.

Irvine Garland Penn is probably the most widely known colored layman of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is 34 years of age. Born in Virginia, educated in Lynchburg, in whose schools he afterward became principal, he first came to prominent public notice in

I. G. PENN, A. M.

1895, when he was appointed by the president as national commissioner of the negro exhibit at the Atlanta exposition. This was the most impressive object lesson of negro progress and capability ever given.

He has written much for the press. His most important book is "The Afro-American Press," which has had the largest sale of any race book ever issued.

He has been a member of the general conferences of 1892, 1896 and 1900. In two of these he was secretary of the standing committee on Epworth League. Rust university conferred on him the degree of master of arts.

He is secretary of the league for the colored conferences and resides in Atlanta. As we have now no Episcopal residence in the south, that at Chattanooga being the nearest approach, Mr. Penn's position assumes greater importance than ever. His ability and level headedness make him influential among the people of his own race as well as in the church at large. He is certainly one of the "coming men" of the denomination. Fidelity in his present work will fit him for broader usefulness in a more exalted place. When the right man appears, the church is not slow to recognize him.

The international convention of the Christian Endeavor society held at Alexandra palace in London in July last was a remarkable gathering in many ways. The attendance was immense, the enthusiasm as great as the heat. These assemblies are in no way legislative, but inspirational. Much depends in them upon numbers, and in this respect they have been among the most noted of gatherings ever brought together by the Christian church.

MONSTER PHONOGRAPH.

It Shouts So Loudly That Every Word Can Be Heard for a Distance of Ten Miles.

The latest monster phonograph is the one at Brighton, England, that shouts so loudly every word can be heard at a distance of ten miles away.

You can whisper a sentence into the machine's small, funnel-shaped mouthpiece and it will repeat it in tones that are more deafening than the shrieks of a liner's steam siren. Yet every word is perfectly articulated, and a shorthand writer ten miles away can take down the message as easily as if you were dictating to him in a small room.

The machine is the invention of Horace L. Short, of Brighton. In appearance it is merely an ordinary phonograph, with a large trumpet measuring four feet in length. Inside this trumpet there is a small and delicate piece of mechanism that looks something like a whistle. This is the tongue of the machine.

Instead of the "records" being taken on wax in the usual manner, a sapphire needle is made to cut the dots representing the sound vibrations on a silver cylinder, and when the needle travels over the metal a second time the vibrations cause the whistle to produce a series of air waves, and the machine thus becomes a talking siren which transforms the human voice into a deafening roar.

The experiments were made near the Devil's Dyke, Brighton, where the inventor had his workshops. The instrument was placed on the roof of the laboratory, and was made to repeat a number of sentences. At a distance of ten miles the sounds were plainly heard by a large number of people, every word being perfectly distinct, and at a second trial with a favorable wind it was found that an unknown message could be taken down in shorthand at a distance of 12 miles. Over the water the sounds will carry still further, and under favorable circumstances they might easily be heard by persons on a vessel 15 miles out at sea. Placed on a lighthouse or lightship the phonograph would give a verbal warning that would be infinitely more effective than foghorns and detonators now in use.

The possibilities of the machine are practically endless. It will render loud selections in the open air that can be listened to by thousands of people, or it will shout news messages that could be heard high above the roar of the traffic and the noises of a big city.

THE TELEPHONOGRAPH.

An Instrument That Records Messages Received During the Operator's Absence.

A Dane of the name of Paulsen has invented what is called the "telephonograph," designed to record messages received during the absence of the operator. The person called up has only to hold the trumpet to his ear upon returning to the office, even after an obsence of days, to receive the message. In the past inventors have tried to effect such a combination, but all failed on account of the difficulty of transferring the message to a wax cylinder. Instead of a wax cylinder Paulsen used a flexible steel band in his phonograph, which is said to be much simpler in construction than the Edison phonograph. Messages are much more easily removed from the steel band than from the wax cylinder. It is wound on two spools, moving quickly from one to the other and coming in contact with a very small electro-magnet, switched into the circuit, which affects the steel band in such a way as to record on it any sounds that may penetrate to the phonograph. It is only necessary to cause the steel band to repass the magnet in order to have the sounds repeated. Each vibration of the electro-magnet produces a corresponding vibration of the steel band. In order to remove a message from the steel band a magnet is passed over the surface on which the message was recorded.

The machine has been tested by practical men and scientists, with excellent practical results. Experts declare that with a few minor improvements the machine will repeat a message as clearly as it can be heard through a perfect telephone.

Measuring a Lightning Flash.

The width of a flash of lightning has been measured by Mr. George Rumker, of the Hamburg observatory. A photograph was secured last August as lightning struck a tower a third of a mile away, and from the distance of the tower and the focal distance of the camera objective it was possible to calculate the breadth of the discharge shown in the picture. It has been determined that the flash was one-fifth of an inch wide. Ramifications shown in the photograph on each side of the main discharge are attributed to the strong gale that was blowing, the phenomenon appearing like a silk ribbon with shreds floating in the wind.

Women Who Play Golf

Something About Those Who Have Captured Enviable Places in the Big Games

IN MISS FRANCES GRISCOM, of the Merino Cricket club, Philadelphia, the United States has a golf champion whose style of play and efficacy of execution will compare most favorably with that of the women golf champions abroad. When Miss Beatrix Hoyt was golf champion of the United States, critics devoted a great deal of time to descriptions of her golf but tinging all the criticisms was the expression of doubt that she was as good a golfer as the best of the foreign players. Subsequently when Miss Hoyt demonstrated her ability by taking the championship two more times, the critics announced that Miss Hoyt was in a class by herself in this country, but not quite the equal of the best women golfers of Great Britain. Those who followed golf carefully wondered what these good critics wanted—how much superiority they must see before they would "own up" that an American-born woman might be one of the greatest golfers of the world.

But the new champion who earned her honors on the sandy course at Shinnecock hills, Long Island, is no stranger to tournament golf, and her style has been variously criticised as good, excellent and "without a peer." Three times did Miss Griscom essay to reach the finals and take the trophy, only to meet with some hard luck in a championship. But she was one of the first women in the big cricket club with which she was affiliated to take up golf, and was intent upon showing that a woman might play just as careful and steady a game as Champion Walter J. Travis, shunning the so-called brilliant golf and win high honors. She went to the old country and played on the North Berwick links and met the women golfers of Scotland and England. The style of the game of the latter was investigated and primed with considerable information about the game of the women golfers abroad, Miss Griscom decided to await her chance for the United States championship. There was one rival in the way, however, and Champion Miss Griscom might not have been to-day the holder of the highest honors for women in the golf world of this country had not Miss Beatrix Hoyt been removed from the championship by Miss Margaret Curtis, a Boston girl.

Miss Griscom was in Europe about to conclude a tour of Turkey and make an extended visit into Asia when she suddenly recalled that she would have to represent the Merion cricket club in the national championship at Shinnecock, and cut her trip, immediately arriving home in time to start.

The road to success through a long and hard tourney is sometimes more fatiguing than a big strong man can stand. At Shinnecock the weather was oppressive and the contestants were—in the match play rounds—about on an equal plane in the matter of high-class golf. But Miss Griscom seemed to like the conditions. She always returned from the play victorious, and ready to play another round if necessary. Her final victory was a triumph of scientific golf and hard work, and was in no wise due to luck. The new champion prefers precision and certainty of accomplishment to taking any unusual chances. If a golfer were to see only her shots and not the player, he might say that he was watching a finished player like Travis—of course the long game of the woman champion would not compare in distance to that of Travis, although the latter has frequently said that he knew he never would be able to put up such a brilliant long game as did his greatest rival Findlay Douglas, but he would be satisfied if he could play his game as one plays chess.

Furthermore the Shinnecock hills course is one of the trickiest in the country, and Miss Griscom made but two faulty strokes in her tournament play, one a topped brassey shot and the other a sliced drive into the long grass.

It need surprise no one if Miss Griscom should win other tourneys this fall and retain the title next season. She is an athletic woman, and the championship is indeed in good hands. At her beautiful home at Haverford, Pa., she is revered by all because of her vivacity, her good nature and solicitude for the welfare of those who need a cheering word. It has been a struggle with her to learn when to stop out-door athletics. For years she was an ardent follower of tennis, and few women can ride horseback as well as she does. Her father is Clement A. Griscom, president of the International Steamship company known as the American line, and thousands will recall her brother Lloyd C. Griscom, charge de affairs at the American legation at Constantinople, and the man who has conducted the simple but emphatic negotiations between the United States and the sultan of Turkey regarding the demands of Uncle Sam for indemnity.

Miss Margaret Curtis, who was the runner-up in the championship, plays good golf, but it is of a different style than that exhibited by the champion. She might make a record for a course at medal play one day and be beaten in a match the next by several strokes around. Her game in the finals with Miss Griscom showed one of those sudden collapses that made the Boston critics busy hunting up excuses. That Miss Griscom played much the steadiest game is apparent from the cards of the final match. Not once did the winner go above a six for and hole at the eastern course, and five of the 14 holes were made in five each. The seventh hole was negotiated in four Miss Curtis on the other hand had five sevens, one eight, four fives, two sixes and one three. Miss Griscom won the match at the fourteenth hole by six up four to play.

Doubtless there will be comparisons between the work of the new champion and the women of the west who have captured western championships and won tournaments. Western Champion Miss Bessie Anthony, of the Evanston Golf club, will be eliminated immediately by the critics, as she entered the Shinnecock contest and failed to qualify. Of course Miss Griscom qualified and continued in the match play until she had won Miss Ruth Underhill's title of champion. The next logical woman golfer to come up for champion is Mrs. J. M. Cutter, of the Exmoor Country club, who was defeated in the finals for the governor's cup at Onwentsia by Miss Anthony. With the latter victory over Mrs. Cutter went western championship honors, as the governor's cup has been generally accepted as an open event of sufficient scope to stand for a championship. However, many of the western golfers have asked what steps the Western Golf association intends to take to offer a separate cup and championship to be decided just as the western championship for men is decided.

Miss Cutter played through a long tourney at her home links for the Exmoor cup at the same time that Miss Griscom was negotiating the Shinnecock hills golf course for her high honors and easily won a place in the finals when she met Mrs. W. A. Alexander, also of Exmoor. Although Mrs. Alexander had won the club championship and had defeated Mrs. Cutter upon many occasions, the game of the little woman was so steady that day that Mrs. Cutter won three up two to play, after once having her opponent four down. Some mistakes by Mrs. Alexander, combined with a sufficient amount of hard luck in encountering every prominent bunker on the course threw her out of the contest. It is doubtful, say the friends of Mrs. Cutter, whether she could have put up so good a game against Miss Griscom as did Miss Curtis. But one other woman in the west, aside from Mrs. Alexander, could come anywhere near the high class golf that Mrs. Cutter has shown. She is the former western champion, Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor. Unfortunately for comparisons of golf, the latter was engaged with her husband in entertaining Duke and Duchess De Arcos at the time the Exmoor tourney was on, and had to refrain from contesting.

In sober truth it must be said that western women golfers will have to play more golf and better golf to rank with the eastern women.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

North Plainfield will have an eleven on the gridiron this fall which will play under the name of the North Plainfield High School, although the team will not be confined strictly to the boys from the borough school. Walter Hamilton is captain and he expects to have quite a team. They will open the season Saturday morning, September 29th, with a game with the Plainfield High School on Martine Common.

The football season is to be opened in Plainfield tomorrow afternoon with a match between the Alis A. A. and the Plainfield High School eleven on Martine Common. The game is called for 4 o'clock. The lineup of the Alis team has already been published. The High School boys will play as follows: Right end, Ughetta; right tackle, Meeker; right guard, Pond; centre, Cubberley; left guard, F. Mason; left tackle, L. Tweedy; left end, Rocap; quarterback, VanAuken; right halfback, M. Tweedy; left halfback, T. Mason; fullback, Davis.

The opening of Rutgers College finds nearly all of the football team back at their studies and in readiness for football practice, which has already been begun by Captain Mann. For nearly a week the men who are anxious for a place on the 'Varsity eleven, together with the old men who were in town have been practicing. The first game will be played with the College of the City of New York, on the home grounds September 26. Captain Mann has displayed his fitness for the place and the men have shown marked improvement under his instruction. He has introduced some new features in the game, and the men are heartily in accord with him in his course. Several new men are trying for positions on the team, among them being Kip, '02; Tobish, '04; VanHoevenbergh, '03, and Wyckoff, '02. Rapalje, who was right end last year, will assist Captain Mann in training the team for the next ten days.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Four thousand dollars are hung up by the Inter-State Fair for trotters and pacers to make a new half-mile track record. On Wednesday next the following trotters will make the most sensational race of the year for the world's record and the big money. "Big Star," 2:08; "Almedia," 2:09¼; "York Boy," 2:09¼; "Oriana," 2:12¼; "Big Timber," 2:12¼; "St. Andre," 2:13¼. The half-mile track trotting record is 2:10¼. It is said the Philadelphia mare, "Bay Star," is good enough to beat that by a second or more. On Thursday the great pacing contest occurs for a record and $2,000 in money, and the flight will take in "Prince Albert," 2:02; "Choral," 2:06¼; "Democracy," 2:07¼; "Patsy K.," 2:07¼; "Clinton B.," 2:08¼; "Joe Pilot," 2:09¼, and "Ambulator, 2:10. 2:04¼ will win the bonus of $1,000. It looks as if "Alert" or "Choral" will collar it. The great double team race race also comes off on Thursday. The three Philadelphia teams owned by Wm. Disston, Frank Bower and C. E. Titman are in it, and the Lancaster team owned by Charles Mullen. This will be the greatest double team event for years. These gentlemen are all wealthy and its a race for glory.

CONCEALS IDENTITY.

Farmhand Doyle Left a Good Home, He Says, and Led a Wild Life, But Will Not Tell Who He Is.

The identity of "Thomas Doyle," who shot Farmer Horace Baldwin in Unionville on Tuesday night and in turn was shot by Baldwin, puzzles the police and the hospital authorities.

He admitted yesterday in the Newark City Hospital that "Doyle" is an assumed name.

In answer to all questions he said:

"My real name, or that of my family, will remain a mystery. If I die unknown they will not hear of it and consequently will not grieve after me. I left a good home many years ago and have since led a pretty wild life."

The authorities believe that Doyle, who is bright and intelligent, came of a good family. He worked for Baldwin for two months as a farm hand, until his love making with Baldwin's twenty-year-old daughter, Grace, caused his dismissal. Doyle's condition is critical. Baldwin is slowly improving.

Fanwood Children Interested in the Relief of Sufferers at Galveston.

The children's league, an organization formed to interest little folk in relieving suffering, sent $10 by telegraph to the Governor of Texas to help Galveston victims.

The league was established at Fanwood, by Mrs. Louise E. Hogan, and it was its first chapter that sent the donation.

The children of the Sunday and public schools at Fanwood are taking enthusiastic interest in the work, and are making plans to secure further contributions.

Mrs. Hogan believes that the millions of children in this country may be organized into a splendid charity body. Children are always ready to contribute to a good cause, and they do not ask questions at a time when nothing is needed but contributions.

NO DIVORCE FOR POOL.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens Discredits Testimony of the Complainants Daughter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 21.—Charles L. Savidge, counsel for Mrs. Augustus G. Pool, received a memorandum from Vice-Chancellor Stevens yesterday, stating that the latter had decided the suit for divorce brought by former Alderman Pool, of this city, against the petitioner.

The memorandum states that the testimony of the complainant's principal witness, Carrie Pool, his daughter, was discredited.

The cross suit brought by Mrs. Pool will now be tried.

The case of Pool against his wife was heard in chancery chambers in Newark, and was most sensational.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

The Prohibitionists of the Eighth congressional district met in convention Monday night for the purpose of electing a delegate to the State convention. Upon the adjournment of the convention the Union county Prohibitionists met in convention, choosing Edward L. Massett, of Summit, and Lewis C. Long, of Elizabeth, as chairman and secretary, respectively. The following named persons were nominated for Assembly: Aaron B. Kasner, Plainfield; Joseph F. Heller, Elizabeth. James T. Syers, of Elizabeth, was nominated for coroner.

The Democratic State committee intends to have at least one large mass meeting every night from now until election day. The entire situation was thoroughly discussed at an informal talk between Chairman Gourley, William J. Lanning, of Trenton; Samuel S. Childs, of Somerset, who is one of the Democratic electors; Colonel C. Meyer Zulick, J. T. Turner, of Trenton, the colored State committeeman, and Peter Bonnett, of Elizabeth. Ex-Senator Allan L. McDermott is booked to speak at least once in Newark and Patterson. Ex-Governor Stone has promised to provide speakers in case the State committee's supply falls short.

A special meeting of the Republican city executive committee will be held this evening at the Republican headquarters. The details of the mass meeting next Wednesday night will be arranged and arrangements made for the opening of a city headquarters. Hon. George L. Barber, who is to speak at the mass meeting, was assigned by the national committee to New Jersey for three speeches at the particular request of Attorney-General John W. Griggs. Mr. Barber is considered by the Attorney General to be one of the best campaign speakers on the list and he wanted his New Jersey friends to hear him. Mr. Barber will therefore make three speeches in this State, one in Trenton on the last day of the campaign, one in Paterson the middle of October and one in Plainfield next Wednesday evening.

LAST SALE UNDER THE MARTIN ACT.

City Buys in $22,000 Worth of Property That is Delinquent for Taxes.

OWNERS MAY REDEEM IT.

TOTAL AMOUNT CLEARED BY CITY IS $65,000.

Only a Few Attended the Sale Yesterday Afternoon, Which Was Conducted by City Collector Smith.

The demands of the city have been satisfied. The last of the property included under the provisions of the Martin Act was sold yesterday afternoon at auction in the office of City Collector Frank H. Smith to satisfy the claims of the city for unpaid taxes and assessments. The property belonging to James E. Martine and to the estates of Daniel Martine and to Anna M. Martine formed the bulk of it, while the city itself was the principal purchaser.

For four years the city of Plainfield has been trying to collect the back taxes which have been on the collector's books for the past twenty years. A commission was appointed under the provisions of the Martin Act and, after some revision, adjusted the claims of the city and put them at a total value of $65,000. Of that amount all but $22,000 was collected by settlement or by the sale of the property.

James E. Martine, with the two estates he controls, was the chief debtor to the city, the claim against him amounting to about $16,000. He appeared before the old Martin Act Commissioners and explained why he had not settled the city's bill. He had been charged with a share in the macadamizing of Park avenue under circumstances which he considered extremely unfair. The Commissioners refused to take Mr. Martine's view of the situation, and he was informed that the taxes must be paid or else the property would have to be sold.

The sale of the Martine property has been put off month after month in order to give him a chance to raise the funds. A month ago the sale was positively announced, but another adjournment was granted at the last moment as there was a prospect that the money might be raised. Yesterday afternoon was the time set for the sale. The indebtedness was not paid off, and so Collector Smith sold the property.

Beside Mr. Martine there was the Elias Cole estate, owning land on East Front street and Leland avenue and John K. VanNest, familiarly known as the "Count," who owned land on the same street, the sale of whose property was delayed until yesterday. Their land was also disposed of.

There wasn't a single contest in all the bidding. For two lots the First National Bank, represented by W. M. Stillman, was the purchaser. E. C. Maltby, through J. B. Coward, bought in another property. They were the mortgagees of the properties they bid in. In all other cases the city bought in the property to cover the amount of the lien. The city's purchases amounted to nearly $21,000, and the property will be held and the incomes therefrom collected until the former owner reimburses the city for the amount due on the property together with interest up to that time. The city already holds a number of other properties bought in at previous sessions of this Martin Act sale.

There was a very small group in the City Collector's office yesterday afternoon at the time set for the sale. None of the three chief debtor or their representatives were present. Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh was present to represent the city. The sale was conducted by Collector Frank H. Smith.

The first property to be disposed of was that belonging to "Count" J. K. VanNest, on East Front street. The two parcels of land went to the city on a bid for the amount of the city's lien, $700.13. Then came the property of the estate of Elias Cole, which was sold to the city to satisfy a claim of $5,21.66. Three lots on Raymond avenue, belonging to unknown owners, went to the city for $21.01 each.

The first of the Martine property to go was the old-fashioned homestead, which sits way back from Watchung avenue in a grove of trees, and the property immediately surrounding it. The city's lien on that particular lot was $100.43. Then came the rest of Cedar Brook Farm with the building lots on Watchung and Kensington avenues and the house and lot on Park avenue, next to the Park Avenue

RAN INTO TROLLEY CAR

THRILLING RUNAWAY OCCURRED ON FRONT STREET THIS MORNING.

Horse Belonged to Parrott, of Washington Valley—He Was Thrown Out and Wagon Overturned.

A runaway horse sallied down East Front street to the business section of the city this morning, and but for the intervention of a trolley car would have carried destruction into the maze of vehicles which blocked West Front street at the time. The horse belonged to a man named Parrott, who has charge of Texier's greenhouses in Washington Valley.

Mr. Parrott was driving north on Watchung avenue when the horse took fright and bolted. Parrott successfully passed the trolley cars on the switches at North avenue and finally turned into East Front. He then had then had the horse under control. Keeping on the left he passed the trolley car coming from Dunellen. The horse made another spring forward and went toward Park avenue at a mad pace.

The driver tried to guide the runaway past the many vehicles. Car No. 4 was just turning into Front street from Somerset street. The horses passed the car in safety but one hub struck the corner of the car and the buggy described an ace and landed wrong side up while Mr. Parrott landed on his face on the hard roadbed. His only injuries were the severe shaking up and a slight cut over the eye. The wagon was damaged a trifle. The horse left vehicle behind and continued to run for half a block to be caught and brought back.

Had the carriage passed the trolley car, a collision would have been inevitable as the street was crowded with vehicles of all kinds and there was no room for the runaway to pass. As it was, the overturned buggy fell up against the carriage of Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS.

First Church of Christ Full of Zeal and Enthusiasm.

It is of interest to the church-going people of Plainfield that the First Church of Christ on Grove street finds so much religious zeal and enthusiasm among its members that it proposes to begin Sunday evening to hold a series of evangelical meetings every evening. The services have been under the charge of the Disciples' Mission since last December, and tomorrow evening Dr. Morse will take for his topic "The Repair of the House of God Which the Sons of Athaliah Broke Down," (Chronicles 2 and 7), and will follow this with meetings every evening. According to Bible history the sons of Athaliah broke up religious worship and destroyed it, in much the same way that the history of this once prosperous church has been treated. Hence the manifest appropriateness of the topic, although the work of reconstruction has been going on for ten months, and this new impetus is but the latest chapter in the actual progress of these people from a disheartening experience to a place among Christian workers. All are invited to attend. The church has possessed itself of the true missionary spirit, and it is not content to wait until the January "Week of Prayer" to start special meetings. These will be continued, and it is expected that leading workers in the Disciples' Mission, as well as others, will participate.

Unknown He Will be Buried.

The unknown man who was killed on the Jersey Central Railroad near the freight house a few days ago will be buried this afternoon by Undertaker Cole in the Potter's field on Plainfield avenue. Since the death of the stranger not a single word has been received regarding any information concerning him and there is nothing else left to do but bury the remains.

Transferred to Another Court.

The case in tort of Justice of the Peace W. H. Abbott against John Totten, of Bound Brook, has been transferred from Justice Mattison's court in the borough, to the court of Justice Storms at New Market, it being a case for Middlesex county.

Arrested Brindle Cow.

Patrolman Saffron arrested a brindle cow on West Front street early this morning. The cow wore a melancholy smile when the officer led it to the lockup where it now remains awaiting an owner.

For Galveston Sufferers.

L. L. Manning has sent $5 to The Daily Press to be forwarded to Galveston for the aid of the sufferers in the flood and hurricane.

Mrs. Jessie Lunger and her daughter, Miss Emma Lunger, of Clinton, have been visiting friends in town.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN REPUBLICAN RANKS.

Will Open City Campaign Headquarters in Marsh Building Monday.

WARD CLUBS PLANNED.

GETTING READY FOR MASS-MEETING IN MUSIC HALL WEDNESDAY.

Campaign Committee Appointed—Includes City Committee and Four Others From Each Ward—Other Campaign Business.

The Republicans are fast warming up for the fray. Activity was started along a variety of lines at the special meeting of the Republican city executive committee last evening. The specific object of the meeting was to arrange further details for the big mass-meeting at Music Hall Wednesday evening. When that was done, the committee prepared for the opening of city headquarters Monday and the organization of ward campaign clubs Thursday evening after the general plan of the one organized in the Third ward last Wednesday evening. The advisory campaign committee was also appointed.

Regarding the mass meeting, there wasn't a great deal to do except approve the action of the chairman, Councilman J. B. Dumont, and the secretary, William Newcorn, in securing the chief speaker and the hall for night in question. Hon. George L. Barber, of Hartford, Conn., will be the leading orator of the night while short addresses will be made by Governor Foster M. Voorhees, U. S. Senator John Kean, both of Elizabeth, and Assemblyman Chas. S Foote, of this city. A committee, composed of William Newcorn, Councilman J. F. Buckle and Former Sheriff William T. Kirk, was appointed to look after the mass meeting. The list of honorary vice-presidents for the meeting was prepared and approved;

A communication was received from Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh in which he offered without charge the large hall on the second floor of the Marsh building, corner of Park avenue and East Second street, for city campaign headquarters. The offer was accepted with thanks. It was decided to furnish the hall at once and open headquarters there Monday. The secretary was instructed to engage Frederick J. Huff as assistant secretary of the city committee and place him in charge of the headquarters.

A letter was received from Congressman Charles N. Fowler in which he presented the Republican campain banner, which now floats over North avenue, to the city committee. The secretary was properly instructed to thank the Congressman for his gift.

The city committee decided that the idea of ward organizations was a good one and that a campaign club should be formed in every ward. In connection with the call for the enrollment Thursday evening, it was decided to call a meeting of the Republicans in each ward, except the Third, where there already is a club, for that evening at the same place with the enrollment to organize campaign clubs.

In the spring it was decided to increase the city committee by four advisory members from each ward, the old committee and the additions to form a campaign committee. At the meeting last night, a list of the recommendations from each ward was received and appointed by the committee. These new members will meet with the committee at the regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Man Confined Wants $10,000 Damages From Committing Doctors.

Peter Jones, who keeps an oyster house on Easton avenue, New Brunswick, has brought suit against Dr. Thomas Skillman and Dr. Thomas V. Meacham, of New Brunswick, for $10,000 damages. Jones was working in his place on April 17, 1899, when a constable entered, showed him a commitment to the Insane Asylum at Trenton, handcuffed him and took him to the asylum. His relatives secured his release the next day.

It was found the commitment was regular and had been issued by Judge Strong on the affidavits of Drs. Skillman and Meacham.

The trial was begun Wednesday before Justice Fort. Both physicians are well-known.

ITALIAN ATTACKED WITH CORN KNIFE.

Fellow-Workmen Committed the Assault With Intent of Robbing Him.

THE VICTIM BADLY CUT UP.

THE FRACAS OCCURRED IN NOAH TERRY'S CORNFIELD.

Warrant Out for Arrest of Assailant on Charge of Attempted Murder and Highway Robbery—Culprit Escaped.

Visidor Jantile, an Italian, was nearly murdered late Thursday afternoon by Gaetano Onorato, another Italian, while working in a corn field on the farm of Noah Terry in the Netherwood section of this city. Yesterday afternoon the injured man was taken to Justice Clark's court in Scotch Plains where he swore out a warrant for the arrest of his assailant on the charge of attempted murder and highway robbery.

The two men have been living at the Italian colony and had always been good friends. Jantile was known as very industrous and saving, having accumulated quite a sum of money with which he intended to return to his native country. Onorato was a good worker, but spent his money as fast as he earned it. He, too, was longing to return to Italy, and it is thought that this desire, in face of his impoverished condition, is what led him to commit the assault with the hope of being able to secure the money saved by his more frugal companion.

During this week the two men had been employed by Noah Terry cutting corn on his farm They were furnished with sharp and long knifes used for cutting the corn. Thursday afternoon, while Jantile had his back turned, Onorato viciously attacked the former with his corn knife. Before the victim could defend himself he had been badly cut about the head and face. Cursing and yelling, Onorato demanded that Jantile give him his money, swearing that he would kill him if he did not comply with his demands. Jantile had dropped his knife at the first attack and was not able to recover it. He defended himself as best he could with his hands, all the time yelling for help.

Mr. Terry and his two sons were engaged at work around the house some distance away. They heard the cries and started for the field where the fight was going on. Onorato saw them coming and dropping his knife he ran across the fields and disappeared. Vantile was found to be bleeding profusely and very weak. Dr. Westcott, of Fanwood, was summoned and dressed the wounds.

The warrant for Onorato's arrest was put in the hands of Constable Allen, but he has not been able to apprehend the culprit.

MAY LOCATE AT NEW MARKET.

Jersey City Stove Works May Use the Mahlon Vail Farm.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, September 22.—There is a revival of interest in the proposed location of a Jersey City stove works on the Mahlon Vail property, which is now owned by Mr. Smith. The latter has offered the company fifteen acres of land free upon which to erect its works, and there are now strong possibilities that the company will accept the offer. Shreve Ackerly, industrial agent for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, has been in town for several days and it is believed that he is interested in having the concern build a factory here. If such should be the case it would prove a big thing for New Market, as several hundred men would be employed.

Boys Stealing Grapes.

Of late a number of boys, well known, have been helping themselves to grapes and other kinds of fruit in several yards on Fairview avenue. One grape arbor was completely stripped one afternoon recently, and in several cases fruit trees have been relieved of the best fruit. A complaint has been made concerning the matter and as the boys are all known some action may be taken soon. This is not the first time that residents have suffered from this sort of thing and they are getting tired of it.

Waiting for the Iron.

As soon as the iron arrives the work of building the tunnel under the tracks at the North Avenue station will be started. The other work is being pushed rapidly.

Mrs. J. J. Crouse, of Watchung avenue, has been confined to her home for a week by illness.

BRYAN'S SPEAKING TOUR IN NEW JERSEY

Will be Here October 25th and 26th and Will Talk in Several of the Big Cities.

ELIZABETH TO HEAR HIM.

FORMER SENATOR HILL TO ADDRESS NEWARK DEMOCRATS.

Big Republican Mass Meeting Called Off in Elizabeth—Other Political Notes of Interest in New Jersey.

It was announced yesterday at Democratic State headquarters by Senator Johnston Cornish that William J. Bryan would make a tour through New Jersey on October 25th and 26th. The Democratic candidate for President will deliver addresses at Newark, Jersey City, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Trenton and other smaller places en route. The speakers committee of the State Committee will hold a meeting at headquarters on Monday, when the details for the tour of the candidate will be mapped out.

The nominating petition of Allan L. McDermott for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Seventh District was filed Thursday with P. H. Murphy, secretary of the Hudson County Democratic Committee. McDermott, it is said, will have no opposition at the open primaries.

Col. E. L. Price, chairman of the Essex county Democratic committee, yesterday announced that the date of the convention of the Sixth Congressional District Democrats, Newark and East Orange, had been changed from Oct. 3d to Oct. 5th. Since the meeting of the county committee, at which the dates for the conventions were fixed, Col. Price has been in communication with the National Democratic committee, endeavoring to secure the presence of some of the prominent spellbinders to address the delegates. Former Senator David B. Hill, of New York, was the Colonel's choice, but while he had secured a promise that the New York man would speak, the Colonel was unable to have a definite date set for his appearance. Yesterday morning Col. Price was notified that Mr. Hill would be unable to come to Newark on the night of Oct. 31, but that he would come two days later. The Colonel promptly accepted the offer, and just as promptly changed the date of the convention, so as to conform to Mr. Hill's engagements.

It is now over two weeks since Congressman Benjamin F. Howell was renominated by the Third district Republican convention in New Brunswick, and as yet the campaign has not been opened. This is due largely to the position of State Committeeman Banker. He was a candidate for the postmastership of New Brunswick, but Charles W. Russell was appointed. Since then he has lost no opportunity of declaring that he had a rod in pickle for Howell. "Howell can get along without me after election. Let him get along now without me," is the way Mr. Banker expresses himself. This attitude of the State Committeeman is having its effect. Not a single Republican banner has been raised in the county, there has not been a single meeting of any sort, not a campaign organization has been formed, and not even headquarters have been secured. Something may be done after the county convention, which is to be held during the first week in October.

A joint meeting was held last night of the Elizabeth Republican city committee and the committee on public meetings to make arrangements for a vigorous campaign. The meeting which was to be held on October 19th, and at which Senator Frye, of Maine, was expected to speak, was cancelled, as the Senator cannot get there on that date. The rally of the campaign in Elizabeth has been arranged for November 2nd.

Change of Hours.

The Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church will commence to meet tomorrow in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Preaching services will be held at 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

FILLED LIGHTED STOVE.

A BRIGHT LITTLE BLAZE WAS THE IMMEDIATE RESULT.

Exciting Fire at Home of Mrs. McKenzie, 1109 West Front Street, This Morning.

A bottle of alcohol exploded this morning in the hands of Mrs. McKenzie, of West Front street. She escaped with only a small burn on one hand, but the burning liquid scattered about the kitchen and dining-room and damaged the furniture and rooms to the extent of over $150. The fire department was summoned by telephone, but the fire had been extinguished by the time the firemen reached there.

It was a two quart bottle of alcohol and a little alcohol stove which were jointly responsible for the fire. Mrs. McKenzie carried the bottle into the kitchen and began to fill the stove, which happened to be lighted. Without warning a column of flame sprang up from the bottle, which Mrs. McKenzie hurled from her. The liquid spread over the walls and floor and in the next moment the kitchen was ablaze. A neighbor tried to send in an alarm from box 49, but in her excitement she could not persuade the key to fit.

Joe Batton, foreman of the trolley company linemen, and an employe at the new safe factory, were the first to reach the house. With the aid of others the flames were extinguished. Among the number was Patrolman Saffron, who telephoned to fire department headquarters that the box was out of order. No. 2 hose wagon went to the scene but the fire was out by the time the firemen reached the house. Both kitchen and dining room were badly burned. The house is owned by Mrs. McKenzie and the loss is covered by insurance. The damage to the house will reach $100, and the loss on the furniture is $50.

POSTAL SUB-STATION.

Postmaster Bird Receives Orders to Establish it in the Borough October 1st.

The postal sub-station for the borough will be opened October 1st, on Somerset street, in the store adjoining Sængerbund Hall. Postmaster E. H. Bird received word this morning from the Postmaster General to establish the above station at the place mentioned. It will be known as Postal Sub-Station No. 1, and he has been authorized to place Julius J. Stahl in charge as a clerk at a salary of $100 a year. That will be the salary no matter how much business is done. Mr. Stahl will be under the supervision of Postmaster Bird and from him he will receive all supplies for the station and will make all reports to him.

At the station there will be for sale stamps, postal cards and money orders, etc. It will surely be a convenience for boroughites at whose solicitation the station will be established. It will not affect the delivery of mail in the borough, and the same service will be given. There will be a place to drop letters and parcels at the station from which mail will be collected. In connection with the station Mr. Stahl will conduct a confectionery and fruit store and the combined business will keep Mr. Stahl busy.

THE JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

Democrats Get Together and Form an Organization For Aggressive Work.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN.

SEVENTY-FIVE NAMES ENROLLED ON THE CHARTER LIST.

John O'Keefe Elected President—Age Limit for Membership is Eighteen Years—Resolutions Praising Bryan Were Adopted.

With a charter membership of seventy-five the Jeffersonian Democratic Club of Plainfield was organized last night at the meeting called for that purpose. The meeting was held in the parlor of Reform Hall, and was attended by a crowd of enthusiastic Democrats, many of them not having been previously identified with organization work, but whose interest in the campaign has been aroused and who are ready and willing to do their share in promoting the principles and candidates of the party. It was a representative gathering and was attended by partisans from every section of the city.

The meeting was called to order by W. W. St. John, who briefly explained the purposes that were in view. J. H. Knowlton, of West Fifth street, was selected temporary chairman, and John O'Keefe, of North avenue, as temporary secretary.

The first step necessary to take was the adoption of a constitution. It was stated that a copy of a constitution prepared by the National League of Democratic Clubs had been received and would probably cover the ground in Plainfield. The chair appointed the following committee to go over the proposed constitution and recommend it to the club if it was thought advisable: S. B. Wheeler, Meyer Liechtentritt, John Kenney and W. W. St. John.

After a recess of a few minutes, during which the committee performed its duty, the constitution was reported as being adapted to the needs of Plainfield. Considerable discussion ensued as to the name that the club should assume. It was pointed out that the club was to be made a permanent organization and that as such it would be active not only in the present campaign but in all others to follow. As such some thought it would be best to take a name that would be practical and broad enough to cover Democratic work of any sort. It was finally decided to call the organization "The Jeffersonian Democratic Club of Plainfield."

The constitution was then taken up and adopted section by section. The objects of the society were declared to be success of the principles advocated by Democrats, and "to co-operate with the regular organization of the Democratic party in support of Democratic men and Democratic measures."

Qualifications for membership consist of being at least 18 years old and subscribing and agreeing to support the objects of the club. Regular meetings are to be held the second Thursday of every month, with special meetings as often as thought necessary.

When the constitution was adopted F. M. Bacon made a motion that a committee be appointed to prepare a list of officers to recommend to the club for election. The committee named was J. H. Hillman, F. M. Bacon, Peter Flynn and Patrick Melvin. Another recess was then taken to allow the committee to do its work. After the recess the committee recommended the following officers:

President, John O'Keefe, of the First ward.

First vice-president, Samuel B. Wheeler, of the Second ward.

Second vice-president, John H. Hillman, of the Third ward.

Recording secretary, E. W. Tomlinson, of the Second ward.

Corresponding secretary, W. W. St. John, of the Fourth ward.

Treasurer, John Kenney, of the First ward.

The officers were elected by acclamation, and President O'Keefe called to the chair. He made a neat little speech in accepting the office, assuring the members of his appreciation of the honor and his intention of performing the duties of the office to the best of ability.

A motion was then made that an executive committee of one member from each election district in the city be appointed, as well as committees, consisting of one member each from the four wards, on rooms, meetings

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

INTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Sassy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference Press Readers

—Preparatory service will be held at Marconnier chapel next Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

—The Somerset County Bible Society will meet in Somerville next Tuesday at the Reformed church.

—You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. L. W. Randolph.

—Mrs. George Schoonmaker, of this city, has purchased of Ballentine & VanFleet, of Somerville, through Harry Brokaw, a $350 cabriolet.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. Frank, of New street, has returned from Newark, where she went to attend the funeral of a relative.

Mrs. E. J. Cooley and her mother, Mrs. John Brooks, of Watchung avenue, are enjoying the fall weather at Wappinger's Falls. Later they will go to Boston and vicinity.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Dept. Union County C. E. Union.)

The press committee of the Union county Christian Endeavor Union is glad to announce that, through the courtesy of the editor, it will be possible to present them each Saturday, through the Plainfield Press, Chistian Endeavor news of local and National interest. An effort will be made to empasize the local aspect of the subject, and the correseponeing secretary of each Plainfield society is therefore urged to send to Philip S. Suffern, the committee's representative here, all items of interest in connection with the work of his or her society.

The event in which New Jersey Christian Endeavorers are most interested at present is the forthcoming State convention at Jersey City next month. Delegates from every part of the State will be present, and their comfort and convenience will be the special study of a large and competent committee of Jersey City workers.

The programme committee has worked assiduously and the result is a programme which for speakers and subjects, music and all-around interest has perhaps never been excelled in the history of the State union.

Six preliminary meetings will be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 10th. The convention-proper will open Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and for two days interesting meetings will be held, in the morning at the Bergen Baptist church and in the afternoon and evening at the Bergen Baptist and First Presbyterian churches.

The announcement that among the speakers will be Amos R. Wells, of Boston; H. A. Kinports, New York State's secretary; Rev. Francis E. Clark, founder of the movement; Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps;" Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., and Rev. Floyd M. Tomkins, of Philadelphia; Rev. David J. Burrell, D. D., Rev. Madison C. Peters, D. D., Rev. Charles L. Rhoades, D. D., Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., and Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock, D. D., of New York city; Rev. L. B. Dyott and Rev. A. E. Keigwin, of Newark, and Mrs. Wellington White, formerly a missionary in China, is sufficient to assume a feast of good things.

The music will be a delightful feature. F. H. Jocobs, so well known to all who have visited the summer conferences at Northfield, Mass., will lead the chorus of 300 voices and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jowe, of Philadelphia, will sing at most of the sessions.

Miss Florence G. Hawkins, of this city, will conduct the sunrise service at 6:30 a. m. Friday.

PEI-TA-CHU FALLS.

General Wilson Enters City With Force of Americans and British.

PEKING, Sept. 17, via Taku, Sept. 22.—General James H. Wilson, the American commander second under Chaffee, took Pei-ta-chu this morning. No details of the affair have been learned, but the British officials have received a dispatch announcing that "the temples were taken according to arrangement."

It is expected that General Wilson will move on San-hai-tien and destroy the Chinese arsenal at that place.

The Germans have moved westward, and it is doubtful if they co-operated in the taking of Pei-ta-chu.

Japanese scouts report that the surrounding country is free of the enemy.

No word has been received from the Sixth United States cavalry column which is operating in the northeast.

As already announced in a dispatch received from Peking under date of Sunday, Sept. 16, via Taku, Thursday, Sept. 20, General Wilson, with 800 Americans and 600 British troops and six guns, marched westward that day and the Germans were to move on the following day to co-operate in taking Pei-ta-chu, where the enemy was supposed to be in large force. The American commander, it was added, would attack from the west and the Germans from the east. The dispatch also said that General Wilson would then take the San-hai-tien arsenal.

Li Hung Chang at Tien-tsin.

TIEN-TSIN, Sept. 22.—Li Hung Chang has arrived here and is domiciled in his own yamen under a Cossack guard. His reception here was a repetition of his reception at Tong-ku, only the Russian and Japanese officers calling on him, those of the other nations not taking part in it.

STATE GETS $200,000.

Tax on C. P. Huntington's Estate Gives New York That Amount.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The inheritance tax on Collis P. Huntington's estate will amount to more than $200,000. In an estimate prepared for Comptroller Coler and submitted to State Comptroller Theodore P. Gilman it appears that the transfer charge on specific bequests alone would amount to $90,000.

No appraiser has been named for the huge estate, and the real valuation of the enormous fortune left by Mr. Huntington will not be known possibly for 18 months, the time limit allowed for filing appraisement reports.

It is estimated by those familiar with the affairs of Mr. Huntington that his estate is worth $50,000,000. The widow, Arabella D. Huntington, for her share, will have to pay a death tax of $16,800 if the estimate stands, and Henry E. Huntington, a nephew, about $45,000, his share being assessed at 5 per cent, while Mrs. Huntington's is but 1 per cent.

On the $1,000,000 left in trust for the Princess Hatzfeldt there will be a death tax of $10,000.

Archer M. Huntington, adopted son, will have to pay on the $250,000 left in trust $2,500, while Edward H. Pardee, another nephew, will be charged $5,000 on his share of the estate.

There are seven different legacies in Mr. Huntington's will to various nephews and nieces amounting to $20,000 each. Comptroller Coler's experts have figured that the tax on these items will aggregate $7,000.

Charles H. Tweed, general counsel for the Southern Pacific, who drew up the will, will be taxed $2,500 by the state for his share of the fortune. The principal specific bequests of Mr. Huntington will aggregate $30,000,000.

Barge Sinks; Four Missing.

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 22.—The barge Martin, in tow of the steamer Maurice T. Grover, was sunk in the rapids at the entrance to the St. Clair river by the straight back steamer Yuma, and Captain James Lawless of Lorin, William Ross, mate, of Toledo; Mrs. Bacon, cook, of Toledo, and three sailors whose names are unknown are missing. Gabriel Peterson of Cleveland and George Kyle of Toledo, members of the crew, were saved. The Yuma was bound up and the Grover and Martin bound down loaded with iron ore. The accident occurred just below the sunken wreck of the schooner Fontanel. The Yuma crashed into the starboard side of the Martin at the forerigging, and the Martin went down like a stone.

Major Smith's Case In Court.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The case of Major Smith of the Seventy-first regiment came up before the appellate division of the supreme court, third judicial department. The case appeared on the calendar as "The people, ex rel, Clinton H. Smith, relator, appellant, versus Edward M. Hoffman, et al, respondents; an appeal from an order vacating and setting aside a writ of certiorari." Alexander R. Bacon argued the case for the appellant and Deputy Attorney General Edward P. Coyne for the respondents. The litigation resulted from the dismissal from the national guard of Major C. H. Smith of the Seventy-first regiment for incompetency, etc., by the governor upon the report of a board of inquiry.

General Miles In Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Lieutenant General Miles, accompanied by his chief aid, Colonel Francis Michler, has returned to Washington after an extended trip through the west, during the course of which he inspected many of the army posts. General Miles called upon the president soon after his arrival. In virtue of the order issued by the president designating him as acting secretary of war during the absence of both the secretary and assistant secretary of war General Miles became acting secretary upon his arrival.

Five Tramps Killed.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—In a freight wreck on the Queen and Crescent route at Sadieville, Ky., five tramps were killed and four badly injured. Ernest West and Robert McGee, both colored, of this city are the only ones of the dead that have been identified. The injured are Charles Rowe, James Pearson and Fred Glinke, all of Detroit; Robert Brown of Steubenville, O., and Leonard Tucker of Adams, O. Tucker and Rowe will die.

White Still General Secretary.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—It has been announced that Henry White would continue in office as general secretary of the United Garment Workers of America. White was defeated for re-election at the convention held in Detroit last month by Charles Wehlforth of Buffalo, but Wehlforth refused to move to New York, where the general office is, and White was appointed by the general executive board.

DEATH IN THE STRIKE

Two Killed and Many Wounded by Sheriff's Posse.

URGENT APPEAL SENT FOR TROOPS.

Crowd of Frantic Poles, Slavs and Hungarians of Both Sexes Compel Sheriff Toole and Deputies to Flee For Lives.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 22.—A sheriff's posse fired on a crowd of riotous men near here, killing two persons and wounding seven others.

Sheriff Toole and Deputies O'Donnell and Brenneman were called to Shenandoah to suppress the mobs that threatened mine workers and colliery property. At quitting time the three sheriffs and a small posse whom the sheriff had summoned to the ground went to the Indian Ridge colliery of the Reading company to escort the workmen to their homes. The colliery is located a short distance east of Shenandoah.

The workmen left for home shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They walked up the middle of East Center street and reached the Lehigh Valley railroad station. Here had gathered a large crowd of Poles, Slavs and Hungarians, men, women and children, who lined both sides of the street. A shot rang out from a saloon. This was followed by a shower of stones. Many of the crowd had picked up sticks and stones and were acting in a threatening manner. Seeing this, the sheriff, who had previously cautioned his men to keep cool and not to use their firearms, commanded them to fire. The order was obeyed with terrible results.

The crowd pursued the sheriff and his posse to the Ferguson House, where they took refuge.

Sheriff Toole shortly afterward telephoned to Harrisburg and asked that a detachment of troops be sent here. It was learned that Adjutant General Stewart was in Philadelphia, and a telegram was sent to him there.

Following is a list of the killed: Mike Yuckavage, shot in the eye; a little girl, name unknown, shot in the back of the neck.

The wounded are: Edward Coyle, aged 50 years, bullet wound near the heart; Michael Scanlan, shot in the arm; Anthony Skarnaziez, shot in left wrist by 22 caliber bullet; John Wusdickey, aged 40 years, shot in the hand, married; Peter Stalmocovich, 28 years old, shot in the shoulder at the back; Mike Sazitska, shot in left shoulder; Anthony Axalavage, shot in left side, serious, a 40 caliber bullet removed.

Among those who were injured by the rioters were the following: George Bedding of Ringtown, ugly gash on right forehead, caused by a brick; Robert Edwards, aged 64 years, injured seriously by being hit with stones; Charles Rawland, aged 35, injured on the neck and head by stones.

A late dispatch from Harrisburg says that the Fourth, Eighth and Twelfth regiments, the Governor's troop and Battery C have been called out, with General Gobin in command.

REIGN OF FEAR.

Clash Between Strikers and Deputies Momentarily Expected at Hazleton.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Lehigh region seems to concern itself more about the possibility of trouble than any other one thing. Wherever one went in this district the belief was general that an outbreak will occur. There was, however, no outward evidence anywhere that such a thing is likely. This feeling was no doubt produced by the disturbances at Shenadoah and the arrival in Hazleton and on the north side of large numbers of deputies, who are said to be prepared for any emergency. It was known that all the coal companies in the district had increased the number of watchmen around their collieries, and it was also known that a small number of deputies had been distributed through the south side by Sheriff Breslin of Carbon county, but nothing much was thought of this.

The deputies who arrived at Freeland, 12 miles north of here, from Wilkesbarre are said to number about 200. They were distributed along the public road between Freeland and Jeddo. A carload of them arrived in this city over the Pennsylvania railroad, and later several squads of deputies came into town. They are all being lodged in different parts of the city.

There have been fewer cases of violence than on preceding days, when the mine workers in various parts of this section were attacked on their way to and from work.

The presence of the increased number of watchmen and deputies may have accounted for this improved condition.

This city has been unusually quiet, although crowds of idle men congregated on most of the street corners. They gave no trouble to the city police force, which numbers about eight men.

As to the strike situation itself, there was no noticeable change. Both the operators and the strike leaders claim they have made decided gains on their respective sides. For the first time since the strike was inaugurated President Mitchell has issued figures showing the number of men idle in each colliery in the Hazleton district.

These figures show that out of 17,475 mine workers in the district 13,825 have refused to work. Very few operators live in this section, but those operators and officials who could be reached in this vicinity disputed Mr. Mitchell's figures in so far as they related to their individual collieries. W. H. Smith, superintendent of the Markle mines, said that if Mr. Mitchell's figures for the Markle mines were true the company would be unable to operate any of its collieries.

The superintendent of the Coxe Bros.' six collieries said the figures for those workings were far wrong. Drifton and Stockton collieries, which are claimed by Mitchell to be shut down, are working short handed, he said, and the other four mines which the strike leaders say are crippled are producing the full average amount of coal.

Another official, speaking for the A. Pardee company, said that Mr. Mitchell's claim that only 150 out of the 1,600 men are working in the Cranberry mine is ridiculous. This gentleman claims that the mine was producing three-quarters of the daily average output of coal.

President Mitchell issued an open letter to the public in which he recited the grievances of the miners and the causes thereof and pointed out a way to settle the strike.

DR. DADE IS INSANE.

Physician Who Accidentally Shot Friends Now Raving.

MRS. KERR MAY POSSIBLY GET WELL

Amputation of Right Leg Above Knee Has Warded Off Blood Poisoning—Charles T. Bailey, Other Victim, Is Also Improving.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Salma A. Kerr, the wealthy window, and Charles A. Bailey of Philadelphia, accidentally shot in the Adirondacks last Thursday by Dr. Charles T. Dade of 63 West Fifty-sixth street while in a canoe, are reported to be improving. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Coe, sent a telegram to friends at New Windsor, near Newburg, telling them that there is a chance Mrs. Kerr will recover. The amputation of her right leg above the knee stopped the blood poisoning, and she has rallied considerably under the treatment and care of the physicians and nurses.

Mr. Bailey is said to be well on the road to recovery. The condition of Dr. Dade is nearly as serious as that of the other two. A friend of his said:

"When Dr. Dade learned the damage his bullet had done, he was prostrated. Physicians who are in attendance fear that if he recovers he may lose his mind.

"Dr. Dade raves continually about the shooting. He reiterates continually that he did not see the canoe, that trees hid his victims when he shot at the deer and then breaks out in wild talk about the news affecting his mother and sister.

"'What will they think of me? What will they think?' he asks constantly. The doctors find it necessary to give him anæsthetics in large doses and shake their heads when asked about him."

Charles T. Bailey is treasurer of the jewelry firm of Bailey, Banks & Biddle of Philadelphia. He is a widower, 35 years old, and has two young daughters. Friends of the family deny that he is engaged to Mrs. Kerr.

"It is unjust to both of them," said his uncle, Mr. Weaver. "The Bailey and Coe families have been intimate friends for years, and it was Mr. Bailey's custom to spend part of his vacation with E. Halloway Coe. His father has gone to the Adirondacks to bring him home. The family does not fear that anything serious will result from the accident."

To Boycott Reading Railroad.

SUNBURY, Pa., Sept. 22.—All the Trainmen's Brotherhood men of this city, about 1,000 in all, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company have instituted a boycott against the Reading Railway company. A committee of the men called on all the merchants and informed them that if they shipped goods or received goods shipped over the Reading railroad they would likewise be boycotted. The railroaders have the controlling power in the town, and some of the merchants admit that they will be compelled to submit to their demands. This action on the part of the brotherhood is the result of numerous discharges of union men by the Reading company.

Broker Hart Found Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Andrew Bertram Hart, a member of the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange and a son-in-law of the late Altamont De Cordova, who had been prominent in Wall street for many years, was found dead in a ramshackle old summer house, consisting of four posts supporting a roof, at the end of Noye's dock, at Woodmere, on Long Island. All the members of the Cordova family, with whom the dead man lived at Woodmere, say that his death was due to natural causes and that he had no reason for committing suicide.

Beekeepers Will Appeal.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The case of J. W. Utter of Warwick, against whom a verdict was recently secured by his brother, William Utter, for damages to a peach crop by bee stings, will be appealed by the Beekeepers' Protective association. All fruit growers and beekeepers are awaiting the outcome with great interest. If the verdict stands, the beekeepers fear many demands will be made by fruit growers for damages.

Cuban Chief Justice Resigns.

HAVANA, Sept. 22.—The resignation of Senor Gonzalez de Mendoza, chief justice of the supreme court, has been accepted by Governor General Wood. Although ill health is assigned as the cause of withdrawal, it is asserted in reliable quarters that Senor de Mendoza's act was due to pique at not having been consulted in the new appointments made to fill the vacancies caused by the removal of the associate justices of the Audiencia.

Marshall and Hymes Play Chess.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Marshall, the winner of the third prize in the recent international tourney at Paris, and Edward Hymes, a member of the American cable team, have begun the first of a series of match games at the Manhattan Chess club. Marshall won the toss and selected a queen's pawn opening, which was irregularly treated by Hymes. The latter won a piece for four pawns, and the game was adjourned after 28 moves.

Life Endangered by Heavy Rains.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 22.—The extraordinary rainfall in northern India has not ceased for four days. Half the city of Calcutta is submerged, and even in the northern part the streets are flooded to a depth of three feet. Many houses have collapsed. Thus far there has been but little loss of life, although, as the rain continues very heavy, there is considerable apprehension.

New Zealand Annexes Islands.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 22.—Mr. Richard John Seddon, premier of New Zealand, has announced in the house of representatives the annexation of Cook islands, southwest of the Society islands, with the consent of the Baratonga chiefs. This step is a counter move to meet the French annexations of the Tubuai and Rurutu islands.

Naval Cadets to Study Abroad.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Naval Cadets Guy A. Bisset, John E. Bailey and Henry M. Gleason have arrived here to enter the naval construction school. They were sent by the United States government upon the recommendation of Lieutenant Commander William H. Bechler, United States naval attache in Berlin.

WOODRUFF AT CORTLAND.

The Lieutenant Governor and Other Prominent Men Make Speeches.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, Judge Job E. Hedges of New York, John Barrett, late United States minister to Siam, and Hon. George E. Green of Binghamton were speakers at an enthusiastic opening Republican campaign rally at Cortland. The Opera House, where the meeting was held, was packed to the doors. The lieutenant governor was the first speaker. "I congratulate the people of Cortland," he said, "on this auspicious opening of the campaign. Our only fear has been that apathy, resulting from overconfidence, might prevail. Such apprehension, however, has been dispelled by the meetings I have attended, culminating in this enthusiastic gathering of the Republicans.

"It has been said that the lack of interest thus manifested was due to the fact that the people were too busy to give their attention to political affairs. Four years ago it was different. We were then suffering from a protracted and unparalleled depression in all lines of business under a Democratic administration, and most of the people had nothing to do but attend to politics in the last national campaign. The contest was fought almost solely on the question of sound money. In this campaign the Democratic candidate has undertaken to subordinate that issue by making paramount the issue of what he has pleased to term 'imperialism.'"

Mr. Woodruff touched upon the sound money question and discussed at some length the subject of trusts.

TRAINS NOW RUNNING.

Galveston's Railroad Connection Reestablished—Martial Law at End.

GALVESTON, Sept. 22.—The first train since the storm arrived in this city at an early hour yesterday over the temporary bridge. Trains are now running regularly. More are coming in than are going away. The building of the temporary bridge, 2⅛ miles long, was a remarkable achievement of engineering.

Martial law is at an end.

The conditions continue to improve rapidly. Every one is so busy that there is little time to mourn over one's losses. This is doubtless fortunate for the sufferers, for instead of spending their time in grieving they forget their troubles and lend a helping hand toward the betterment of existing conditions. The number of patients in the various hospitals is much smaller than would have been expected considering the number of dead. This is due to the fact that few who were entirely helpless succeeded in escaping alive. There are several hundred persons who were more or less bruised, but their wounds are rapidly healing.

The general health of the city, according to Dr. Wilkinson, is better than under normal conditions. The number of people leaving the city is decreasing, and there is no longer any necessity for sick and injured to go elsewhere for medical attention.

Commander Selfridge, lighthouse inspector, is in Galveston. He gives official notice that all buoys at the entrance of Galveston harbor are in position.

CONDITION OF TRADE.

Dun's Review Says Big Coal Strike Has Had Widespread Effects.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The strike in the anthracite coal regions, which has involved about 120,000 miners and probably 30,000 others, is the overshadowing influence in business. Reading's collieries are still in partial operation, but coal at wholesale in New York harbor is up to $4.65, f. o. b., net, for stove size, or 65 cents above the official circular still nominally in force. None of the larger companies will sell much at these prices, and consumers in the east are paying more than 50 per cent advance upon prices asked a fortnight ago. This conflict disturbs business and interferes with calculations of merchants over a large part of the Atlantic seaboard and is really the only tangible check to the general recovery which set in with the larger demand for iron and steel products. Outside of the anthracite industry enforced idleness of hands is an exception, and even in the Pennsylvania coal region other employers would gladly take on thousands of the more intelligent miners.

The Doscher sugar refinery closes down on account of the scarcity of raw sugar, of which all refiners are estimated to hold only 40,000 tons, but the Loraine Steel company, idle three months, is starting its furnaces, with others to follow. Hesitation incident to the presidential campaign is reflected in bank clearings, which for New York show 39 per cent and for other leading cities 13.3 per cent loss from last year. Compared with two years ago, New York loses 10 per cent, but other cities gain 12.9 per cent.

Wheat advanced sharply to 83 cents on Wednesday, helped by gloomy reports from growing districts and free purchases at northwestern cities. Sensational gains in price stopped foreign buying, which led to heavy liquidation and a reaction almost as large as the previous movement. Cotton has felt the loss of consumption, declining heavily both in spot quotations and option trading.

SON MURDERS PARENTS.

After Killing Mother and Father William Shepard Commits Suicide.

FOXBORO, Mass., Sept. 22.—A murder of exceptional brutality occurred in this town in the killing of Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis Shepard, who were among the oldest and most respected residents of the town. Husband and wife, who were 81 and 78 years of age respectively, had their throats cut, probably with a hatchet. From the evidence at hand it is presumed that the murder was the crime of William Shepard, a son, 45 years old, whose body was found during the day in Factory pond. It is believed that Shepard, who had been incoherent and mentally unsound of late, took the life of his parents and then committed suicide by drowning.

Lewis F. Shepard, another and younger son of the couple, was the person to discover the terrible effect of his brother's insanity when he called as usual yesterday morning at the homestead for the purpose of delivering a can of milk.

A hunt was immediately made for William F. Shepard, but he could not be located. The fire department was called out, and finally the body was found in the pond. It was evident that his suicide was of the most deliberate kind. He hung his hat and coat on a tree, walked into the water and then lay down on the muddy bottom.

California Banker Dies at Sea.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The Kaiser Frederick has brought into port the body of Louis Jacobs of San Bernardeno, Cal., who died on board on Sept. 18. Mr. Jacobs was about 70 years of age. He had suffered from heart trouble and took a trip abroad in company with his daughter. On the return trip he appeared well and strong, but on the evening of the 18th was stricken with apoplexy just after dinner and died almost immediately. The body was embalmed and brought to port. On the arrival of the Kaiser Frederick at her pier in Hoboken the body was removed to the morgue in charge of Coroner Hoffman pending Miss Jacobs' arranging to have it shipped west. It is thought the severe gale, through which the Kaiser Frederick was passing, contributed to Mr. Jacobs' death.

Schooner Sunk In Collision.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 22.—The schooner Isaac Orbeton of Bangor, Me., Elisha M. Trimm master, was run into by the schooner Leora M. Thurlow of Bath, Me., Alvin B. Hipson master, between Plum and Little Gull islands and sunk in about ten minutes. The crew of the Orbeton escaped in small boats and remained on the Bartlett's reef lightship over night. The Thurlow had her head gear carried away and was brought to this harbor and beached. The Orbeton had 521 tons of coal on board from Port Reading, N. J., and was bound to Bangor. The Thurlow was lumber laden and on her way from Kennebec river to Newark, N. J. The crew of the Orbeton has arrived here. The sunken schooner lies in 27 fathoms of water.

Love Letters Led to Arrest.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 22.—John Nichols of Michigan, aged 19, has been arrested here upon a warrant charging him with burglary and robbery committed in Michigan some time ago. He is alleged to have worked for Edward DeHaven, a farmer near Bangor, Van Buren county, Mich., and to have entered De Haven's house and stolen a large sum of money and a lady's gold watch. Nichols was traced here by means of love letters from a girl living in Kalamazoo.

Attitude Toward China and Powers Finally Decided On.

MINISTER WU APPEARS DISPLEASED

State Department Refuses to Divulge Nature of Replies Sent to Various Governments—Foreign Representatives Equally Secretive.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States government has made full and complete answers to the various important inquiries that have been addressed to it by the powers relative to the Chinese trouble. Moreover, it has gone farther and has made a disclosure of all of its purposes, and, as a member of the administration puts it, it has thrown its hand open on the table. This action was taken after the cabinet meeting, and a luncheon at the White House that followed served to reduce the decision to the ultimate form.

Minister Wu called by appointment on Acting Secretary Hill and was handed a memorandum embodying the response of the United States government to the request of Prince Ching that Mr. Conger or some other person be immediately empowered to begin negotiations with the Chinese authorities for a final settlement. The minister went away with a dissatisfied expression upon his face. Next came M. Thiebaut, the French charge. A few minutes' conversation sufficed to impart to him orally an answer to his own verbal inquiry.

Then Baron Sternberg, the German charge, who had been notified of the readiness of the state department to make answer to the German note, called and was given that answer. He hastened away to cable it to his government.

The department then sent the answer to the Russian inquiry forward by messenger and wired cablegrams containing the substance of the answers to its diplomatic representatives abroad. Thus closed one of the most interesting and important phases of the Chinese entanglement.

The state department absolutely refused to make any statement as to the nature of the answers, taking the ground that to do so would be a violation of the diplomatic proprieties. However, as it was calculated that all of these answers will soon have reached their destinations abroad, it was promised that the text of the communications should be given to the press at the earliest opportunity. The ministers and charges who received the messages here adopted the same secretive attitude. The president himself, it seems, had given instructions that every effort should be made to maintain secrecy in this matter until the official disclosure.

With all this, it is known that the German proposal that negotiations with China be deferred until the Chinese responsible for the Peking outrages have been surrendered to the allies has failed of approval by our government. The declination has been conveyed in a manner that cannot give offense, but it is believed that the United States government cannot recognize the principle that a country may be called upon to surrender its own citizens to a foreign power or powers for punishment. The government does not relinquish the idea of the ultimate punishment of the offenders when they are properly identified, but it does not believe that the pursuit of this object should put a stop to all negotiations.

The idea of a commission to adjust the difficulties with China is again brought forward, and it is suggested that such a commission on the part of the United States may either form part of the joint international commission, which it is hoped will be appointed for this purpose, or in the event of the failure of the effort to secure joint action, then the members can go on and deal directly with China for a settlement. The names of Minister Conger, General James H. Wilson and Mr. Rockhill are mentioned in this connection. It is believed that the outcome, from a military point, of the action will be the withdrawal of all but one regiment of the American troops from China to Manila, where they can be held ready to return in an emergency. General Chaffee probably will remain in China in command of the force there, which will be regarded simply as a legation guard.

One fact concerning the United States' answers that was learned officially is that they contain no new proposition. They simply clear away the debris of unanswered inquiries.

Governor Sayers Thanks Mr. Wu.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Chinese minister, Mr. Wu, upon hearing of the Galveston disaster, telegraphed to Governor Sayers an expression of deep sympathy and accompanied that with his personal check for $100. He has received a telegram from Governor Sayers returning his most hearty thanks for the expression of sympathy and the practical character of the accompanying note. The Chinese consul general at New York also headed a big Chinese subscription for the Galveston sufferers.

Express Collides With a Freight.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Delaware and Hudson fast express ran into an east bound freight at Belden, this county. No one was hurt. The caboose of the freight was derailed and the engine pilot broken. The express was delayed two hours before the track was cleared. The freight was trying to make the next switch to wait for the express, but the latter was nearer than supposed.

Anaconda Breaks, Searchlight Wins.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—Searchlight easily defeated Anaconda in the special match race at the state fair grounds before 20,000 people. In the first heat Anaconda broke 40 yards from the wire and finished four lengths behind. He broke badly in the second heat and was distanced, Searchlight coming under the wire in a jog. Time, 2:12, 2:14.

The Trenton True American thinks that the fuss that is being made about the effect on letter-carriers' salaries over the failure of Trenton to reach a population of 75,000 would be rediculous were it not that it discloses a rank injustice in the postal administration concerning the pay of letter-carriers. The True American argues as follows: If anybody can possibly conceive a reason why letter-carriers in cities of 50,000, 60,000, or 70,000 inhabitants should not receive as much pay for as many hours of similar work as though they were working the same number of hours in a city of 75,000 inhabitants, we would like to hear it. It is easily understood why the larger cities should need a greater number of carriers, but why the number employed as necessary to do the work in either case should be paid pro rata with the population or the number of carriers is inconceivable. The fact is that Trenton has just as faithful, competent and hard-working a set of letter-carriers as any city in the Union. They are devoted to their work and have earned the regard and sympathy of those whom they serve. If they were in New York or Philadelphia they could not do any more, nor do it any better, and they should be compensated for it in parity with what they do.

The fact that the public seldom hears or comes in contact with organized labor except during strikes, leads the uninformed public to regard workingmen's unions as factors seeking only to maintain a high standard of wages for themselves. The public knows but little of the benevolences which are performed by the unions in protecting their members and families from want, which the exigencies of his occupation may bring upon him, through no fault of his own. Appreciating this situation, and realizing to some extent the odium that is wrongly attached to labor unions by the unthinking, Chief Stansby, of the New Jersey Bureau of Statistics, has been devoting considerable attention to the work of learning of the activities of unions in other channels than strikes and disagreements with employers. It is found that the unions are great dispensers of benefits, nearly all maintaining funds for that purpose which are liberally drawn upon by members who have had a run of hard luck.

Once again the Democrats of this city have formed an organization which is planned to become an active factor in not only the Presidential election but in all campaigns that follow—city, county and State. For that reason the organization assumed the title of "The Jeffersonian Democratic Club," a name broad and appropriate enough to cover the political work of its members at any time or in any place. The lack of organization has been a source of much weakness to the local Democracy for many years, especially since the Republicans have maintained one of the most effective partisan machines to be found in New Jersey.

The project conceived in Jersey City, to consolidate all the municipalities of Hudson county into one to be known as Jersey City, is dead, at least so far as the commission created for that purpose by act of the Legislature is concerned. This is stated on the authority of E. A. S. Lewis, of Hoboken, a member of the commission. This failure of the scheme is due to the opposition of other municipalities.

The announcement is made that Governor Voorhees will deliver ten or more speeches in New Jersey during the campaign. The assignment of places where he will speak has not yet been made, but it is said that he will surely be heard in Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Princeton, Trenton and Camden.

The crusade begun in Connecticut by the educational officials against the employment of boys under fourteen as caddies on the golf links at this season of the year seems to be a refutation of the theory of the golf enthusiasts that the game is an education in itself, says the Philadelphia Times.

Spain has apparently already spent the $20,000,000 she received for the Philippines and is now seeking a loan in this country. Unfortunately for her, however, Spanish bonds are selling at 72, with the National credit at such low ebb that the investment is not regarded as inviting.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The Daily Press is in receipt of the following communication from a woman who was in the railroad accident at Bayonne Thursday when a Philadelphia express was derailed. It is as follows:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I should like to correct an error in one of your articles in tonight's issue. The account devoted to the accident on the cars yesterday morning contains the expression: "The women passengers, when the crash was over, ran screaming about the cars, expecting instant death." My daughter and I were on the train, and for a few minutes were expecting instant death, yet we remained in our seats, and not a woman screamed. The men rushed from their seats in quite as excited manner as the women, the only passenger hurt being a man, who would have been unhurt, had he remained in his seat. It has become a stock phrase in all accounts of accidents that "several women screamed and fainted, etc.," but my experience tells me that a woman is not more likely to lose her head in real emergency than a man. A Woman.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 22.—It has been decided that the telephone, proposed for the town, will be located by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company in Clark T. Rogers' place of business. The poles are up and the wires, so far as possible, have been strung. It is hoped that the difficulty between the telephone company and Central Railroad Company will be adjusted very soon.

John Y. Wilson has received seven hundred railroad ties which he will use in building a large dock about his ice houses on the lake front. Everything is being prepared to commence work, so that when the water is allowed to run out of the lake there will be no delay.

It is rumored that a well-known young man in town has lost his job because he traded his employer's horse for another one owned by a Plainfield man. The Plainfield man refuses to trade back, and the outcome will be watched with interest.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 22.—The candidates for the football eleven are practising hard on the gridiron in the rear of the schoolhouse, and it is expected that Scotch Plains will have a strong team in the field this year.

The improvement being made about the Fanwood station are nearing completion and the residents are beginning to believe that the long and slow work will be completed before cold weather.

The coal dealers in town are beginning to feel the effects of the coal strike. Customers are being served with half-ton orders only for the present at C. A. Smith & Co. yard.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 22.—The first game in the series between the Cranford and Westfield baseball teams will be played at Cranford today. Each town has secured the best team possible under the agreement under which the games are to be played, one stipulation being that no player shall play on either team who has not played at least one complete game on the team. The town rivalry runs high, and each town is backing its players with money as well as talk.

Farmers in the vicinity of Westfield complain that they are suffering from apple thieves to a greater extent than ever before. There is hardly an orchard of any size where apples have not been stolen by the wagon load.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway has placed on sale strip tickets of twenty-one five-cent rides for $1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Albert Reeves Shepard, of Chicago, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles Potter, of West Seventh street.

A. M. Vanderbeek, of Duer street, who has been ill for nearly two weeks with neuralgia, is better of that complaint, but is now suffering with heart trouble.

Rev. Daniel Rapalje, wife and daughter, of Fairview avenue, who have been spending the summer in Chenango county, N. Y., have returned to Plainfield and will again become residents of the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Wright, of New York, who left their country home "Road Ending," Plainfield, early in the season to spend the summer in the Adirondacks are visiting their son, J. Dunbar Wright, of Saratoga.

—Pure drugs, popular prices, large experience. Prescriptions promptly attended to at Nagle's Prescription Pharmacy, West Front and Grove streets.

—Morey & LaRue Laundry Company, 19 Somerset street, are artists in laundering. You can trust them with your finest linen. They treat it as if it was their own. Give them a trial.

—Rev. Lemuel Moss will lead the meeting at the East Third Street Mission tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The Sunday-school will resume its afternoon sessions, meeting at 3 o'clock, instead of in the morning.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. THE JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

and naturalization. The president will appoint these committees today.

Before adjourning the following resolution was introduced and unanimously passed:

We, the Democrats of the city of Plainfield, forming ourselves into an organized force under the name of the Jeffersonian Democratic Club of Plainfield, desire at this, our initial meeting, to express our great admiration for William Jennings Bryan and the true American principles which his candidacy represents. We recognize that this campaign marks a critical period in the life of the Nation, since the policy of the Republican administration is not one in sympathy with the ideas upon which the Republic was founded and been recognized by all good citizens as typical of a free and independent people aiming not only to secure for themselves the eternal pursuit of life, liberty and happiness, but also holding out encouragement and a helping hand to such people as have been suffering from a policy of monarchism and imperialism.

Believing that we appreciate the disaster which is in store for our beloved Government if the Republican party triumphs in this coming election, we pledge our honest, persistent and loyal energy and activity to do all in our power to promote the election of Bryan and Stevenson and all other Democratic candidates as the only practical and effective manner in which to crush the policy which was not conceived or is being conducted as representative of a Government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

The meeting then adjourned.

LAST SALE UNDER THE MARTIN ACT.

Baptist church.

The vacant lot commonly known as Martine Common went for the amount of the city's claim, $3,797.50. There were also some building lots and other occupied lots on Prospect and Martine avenues and the portions of Cedar Brook Farm bordering on those two streets, Hillside avenue and Park avenue.

The First National Bank bought in the house and lot on the point of land formed by Prospect avenue and East Ninth street. Its bid was $584 65. The bank also bid in the old Harned Academy building, the owner of which was announced as Helen G. Harned, but which is controlled by Mr. Martine. The price was $682.54. E. C. Maltby became the owner of the house and lot on the northeast corner of East Ninth street and Third place. The last property to be sold was the store on Park avenue, near Fourth street, of which the city was the purchaser.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—One of the cheapest places in the city to purchase fruit, vegetables, etc., is at the Seawarren Fish Company's place, 124 West Second street. There will be a special sale of watermelons this evening.

—High grade meats, genuine Jersey spring lamb, all kinds of meat, fresh, tender and palatable at low prices. Try a rib roast for Sunday dinner, to be found at Fred Endress', 131 West Front street.

—The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. L. W. Randolph.

OLDEST ROYAL DIADEM.

Italy's "Iron Crown of Lombardy" Was Made in the Sixth Century.

Humbert's death at Monza was near a shrine to which all his life he had shown patriotic devoton. It is the iron crown, the oldest in Europe. The king often recited the history of the crown, and is said to have seen it more frequently than any other person in modern times, says the Kansas City Journal.

For 1,300 years it has been the symbol of a living power among the nations of Europe. It was formed by the skillful hands of Roman goldsmiths early in the sixth century, and sent by Pope Gregory the Great to the Gothic Queen Theodolinda when she had freed Lombardy of the Arian heresy. The outer circle is composed of six equal parts of beaten gold, joined together by hinges and set in rubies, emeralds and sapphires uncut, as they came from the mines, on a ground of blue and gold enamel. Within the circle is the iron band which, strangely enough, despite its age, does not bear a single speck of rust. In this great store is set by its admirers, for the iron band, so tradition has it, is formed from a nail that was used at the crucifixon. This band is three-eighths of an inch broad and one-tenth of an inch thick, and from it the crown derives its name. The celebrated iron nail in original form was given to Constance by his mother, Empress Helena; thence it found its way into the possession of the highest rulers of the church, at whose direction the crown was made. In later years it was used as the coronation of Lombardic kings, primarily at that of Agilulphus at Milan in 591.

The last sovereign who wore the crown was Napoleon I. In May, 1805, he assembled at Milan the dignitaries of the empire, the representatives of his royal and imperial allies, and a splendid circle of marshals and generals, and in their presence placed it on his head, repeating the motto of the "iron crown:" "God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it." This same jeweled emblem of might and power graced the front of Charlemagne and a long succession of German emperors, ending with Charles V. It was once removed from the cathedral at Monza by the Austrians while they were retreating from Lombardy in 1859. They took it to Mantua and subsequently to Vienna. There it remained until the treaty which ceded Venetia to Italy in 1866, when it was restored to its old home in the Monza sacristy, and there it rests to-day amid the other treasures of Theodolinda, her jeweled comb, her golden hen and seven chickens, the symbols of Lombardy, and its seven provinces, and the crown of her husband, Agilulph.

King Humbert liked to repeat the inscription on the iron crown of Lombardy:

"God has given it to me; woe to him who touches it!"

In his speeches he frequently quoted the epigram of Gregory the Great on the crown:

"No one opposed to the doctrines of the Roman Catholic church may gaze on the iron crown and live."

Waltershausen. Dem in der Polack'schen Gummiwaarenfabrik beschäftigten 24jährigen Johannes Wilhelm aus Friedrichroda war sein Portemonnaie in einen mit Gummimasse gefüllten Kessel von über 60 Centimeter Höhe gefallen. THE ENGLISH WOMAN.

How She Differs From Her French and American Sisters.

BY MRS. E. A. CONNER.

The Frenchwoman declares that the English woman is masculine. It is a mistake. The British matron and maid are as gentle and womanly as any of the sex. The Frenchwoman asserts that Mme. English walks with a mannish stride. The lively, artistic Gallic imagination supplies the rest, and the statement is freely made that English ladies are uncouthly mannish in their ways and aspirations, very poor imitations of men in the bargain.

The real truth is that when you know her as she is you find there is no more refined, lovable, agreeable lady on the earth than the well bred English woman.

The adjective "well bred" applies in a wide sense too. Housemaids and shopgirls speak to you in the soft, musical tones of a cultivated person, even when they murder their grammar and dislocate their h's, tones that many a transatlantic millionairess envies and imitates in vain. Even if the English woman feels that dreadfully burning curiosity as to your age and whether you have dentist's teeth and who calls on you and how late he stays, likewise what you paid for things, she does not boldly and coarsely ask you point blank about these matters so vital to her well being, but quietly though firmly endeavors to find it out behind your back. For this let us give her due credit.

Another characteristic of the English woman which the French ridicule is her teeth. Through some curious vagary of heredity now lost in the obscurity of overlying ages many Britons of both sexes really have long, prominent and rather irregular front teeth. The French caricaturist makes the most of this and calls the Englishman "Mr. John Bull of the long tooth." The blemish is of course more noticeable among women than men because of the greater delicacy of feminine features. Yet, as if nature meant in some way to make up for this unkindness, she has sprinkled fine complexions more liberally in Great Britain, alike in England, Scotland and Ireland, than in France or America. They are not either of the ruddy, apple cheeked variety that we are accustomed in our minds to associate with English women. It is true that many British women are stout and rosy, but not the average of them. The prettiest girls I saw in England were the young shop women and nurses. They are tall, graceful and slender, with low, musical voices. In particular I never wearied of looking at the dazzlingly clean nurses in their neat and pretty uniforms.

The English nurse's street uniform is so tasteful and becoming that I wonder all womankind does not adopt it for outdoor wear in a city. Hundreds of these attractive looking girls had beautiful skin, white rather than ruddy, and they presented often a delicate, almost fragile, appearance that was surprising after all we have been told of the healthy look of the English woman. As an actual fact she is not as robust looking today as the American.

The British woman, like her sex the civilized world over, is in a curious transition state. It is altogether more common for women to smoke cigarettes in Great Britain than in America. Yet the English woman is apt to be quite scandalized at the shortness of the American woman's bicycle skirt, though one would think a lady who could go in for tobacco smoking would not be shocked even at knickerbockers, but so it is. There is no accounting for taste.

The wave of feminine progress now sweeping through the world is manifestly shoving our English sister forward upon its crest. In 1882, when I visited London the first time, no ladies would ride on top of an omnibus except Americans, who defied precedent and prejudice. Now quite as many British women, old and young, ride on top as inside, climbing up the steep and clumsy stairs and skipping on and off the moving vehicles with an agility limited only by their tiresomely long skirts.

For another thing English women are really not so mad over clothes and fashions as Americans or French, which is greatly to their credit. This to me is one of the most hopeful and promising of indications among British women. Not spending their time so much over foolery which perishes so soon as it is made, their minds are freer to receive matters of genuine moment. There are a few lady physicians in regular practice in the isles, but not many. The solid old British conservatism is hard to melt. I only heard of one woman lawyer.

In the ordinary ranks of industrial employment, however, there are proportionately at least four times as many women engaged as in the United States. They are at the head of tiny circulating libraries, small tobacco and ale shops, retail stores and every sort of little pin and needle businesses.

In the larger establishments and good paying enterprises, however, they are not found, except as poorly remunerated hirelings. In the British postoffice department it must be mentioned that there are no less than 14,000 women employees.

In one respect Great Britain resembles the United States, and that is that there is no peasant type of woman. It is the only country I have visited in Europe of which this is true. In all the rest there is a broad, short, clumsy style of woman that endures from generation to generation, a kind bred by long labor in the fields. It is odd to note that even when these come to America their daughters and granddaughters draw out tall and slim and graceful. The same evolution seems in a great measure to have taken place in England.

There are apparently about four women to every man in England. Nothing impresses an American more oddly than this. One evening at a social gathering I noted nine women and one man. A few evenings afterward I was at another place where there were seven women and one man. In the towns of the islands this discrepancy is most notable. The young men so soon as they are old enough flit away to London or to the colonies to enter active life. The young women stay at home.

The disparity in the sexes works against women quite as much as for her. While on the one hand she is forced into paying occupations to earn her living, on the other hand, because men are so scarce, she comes to idealize and look up to them quite beyond their merits. The hero in "Patience," with 40 women upon their knees, their hands clasped, gazing up into his face with adoration and appeal, naturally took his rise in England. Women will defer to their clergyman as though he were a demigod, not because he is anything in the least uncommon, but because men are scarce.

In the average English family half a dozen daughters are as nobodies, the one son is all in all. Everything must be done for him, no pains or expense must be spared on his education, though the girls go without any. Men are petted and waited on by women beyond all reason. A woman of the lower middle class considers it degrading to her husband to clean his own boots, but not degrading to her to clean them for him, and she does it if they have no servant. I do not understand how a man can have any respect for the woman who cleans his boots, even though she is married to him.

The result of this spoiling and petting by women is that many otherwise thoroughly sensible Englishmen become insufferable cads. However highly the Briton esteems his women folk morally, he has rather slight respect for them intellectually, that, too, though English women are nobly endowed mentally. I speak now of the average British masculine. Of course there are many exceptions. English women themselves are much to blame for the sublime self conceit of the men of their nation, a conceit which current events are at present happily knocking out of them to some extent.

Upon a woman's burial tablet in a certain famous English abbey I read this inscription:

HER SOLE EFFORT WAS TO PLEASE HER HUSBAND.

Whether the fact was recorded because it was so commendable or only because it was so uncommon, one cannot say. In any case it was a tremendous exertion for a comparatively small result.

DOES NOT LIKE BALL VALVES.

Old Detective Tells How One of Them Figured in His Prisoner's Escape.

"I never had but one prisoner escape from me," said an old railroad detective to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "and that was under very peculiar circumstances. In 1882, when I was working for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, I captured a fellow named Jim Lake, who was wanted for robbing freight cars. I got him near Trinidad, Col., and after securing the requisition papers started east with him for Kansas City. Lake was a little, consumptive chap, frail as a woman, and I didn't consider it necessary to even put the handcuffs on him. With one twist I could have broken him in two. Besides, I didn't care to cause him needless humiliation before the other passengers in the role of a prisoner, so we simply sat side by side, like two fellow tourists, and nobody in the cars had any idea he was under arrest.

"Naturally we did a good deal of talking, and at about dusk of the first evening out Lake turned the conversation to curious mechanical contrivances and described several remarkable machines he had seen. He had been a skilled engineer earlier in life and, being a good talker, soon got me deeply interested. Among other things he told me about an air pump with a singular ball valve. 'The ball lies in a socket, and the greater the air pressure behind it the tighter it sticks.' To illustrate, he twisted an old envelope into a cone and dropped a paper wad into the mouth. 'Now, when I blow,' he continued, 'you'll see that the wad stays right where it is.' Like a fool, I stared at the thing, and he blew violently into the little end. At the same instant I felt as if a raging furnace had suddenly belched its flames right into my face. I couldn't see, I couldn't breathe; for a moment or two I couldn't even move. My throat and nostrils were on fire, and I felt sure my eyes had been burned literally out of their sockets.

"What had happened was simply this: The envelope was full of red pepper and I had received the charge point blank, at about six-inch range. While I was gasping the scoundrel ran to the other end of the car. 'My friend has a fit!' he shouted; 'I'm going after water!' Of course, he jumped off, and that was the last of him. He was never caught. The other day a man tried to sell me a lawn sprinkler. 'It has a patent ball valve,' he said. 'I don't want it,' I replied."

JUGGED MUTTON.

By Closely Following Directions One Will Find It Palatable and Nutritious.

Cut some moderately thick slices (sufficient for a dish) from the remains of a leg of roast mutton and place them for an hour previous to cooking in a pickle composed of two tablespoonfuls of salad oil, one and a half teaspoonfuls of vinegar, a sliced onion, a saltspoonful of black pepper, a small bunch of parsley, which has been bruised, and three cloves. Rub an earthen jar over with clarified dripping and put in the slices of meat, an onion, and a carrot cut into rather thick slices, a few pieces of celery, a saltspoonful of black pepper, a dust of cayenne, a little salt and a small blade of mace, says the Washington Star.

Pour in enough brown stock, which should be hot, to entirely cover the meat and put the jar into a saucepan containing boiling water and let the meat cook for two and a half hours. At the end of the time take the jar out of the saucepan and put the meat on a hot dish in the oven for a few moments while the sauce is made. Strain the stock in which the meat was cooked into a saucepan in which a small quantity of melted dripping and flour (use in the proportion of one ounce of each for half a pint of liquid) have been cooked together until lightly browned and stir quickly until the sauce is smooth and thick; add a few drops of browning if necessary to make the sauce a rich brown, a teaspoonful of red currant jelly, a small quantity of mushroom ketchup, a few drops of lemon juice.

Pour the sauce through a strainer over the meat and garnish the dish with little sippets of fried bread.

Fried Bread Dough.

When your bread is ready for the baking pans reserve a quart of the dough; cut it into 12 thin, oblong pieces, putting them on a well-greased platter, some distance apart. Let the dough get very light. A few moments before dinner is served put two tablespoons of lard into a skillet and heat very hot. Drop the pieces of dough into the lard and fry a delicate brown on both sides. Serve immediately and you have a dish that will bear repetition. It may be eaten with sirup or a fruit sauce or without either. Whole wheat bread dough is nice served in this way.—Ladies' World.

To Clean and Polish a Piano.

In cleaning and polishing a piano go over the woodwork with a cloth wet with paraffine oil, being generous with the oil where the woodwork is very much soiled. Let this remain two or three hours; this is to soften the dirt. Then wash with soap and water and a soft cloth, being careful not to let any water touch the works inside the piano. Use a good white or a white Castile soap. Wipe dry with a soft cloth and polish with soft old linen or chamois leather.—Ladies' Home Journal.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

General Knowledge Relating to It Is Decidedly Defective.

Some Incongruities and Absurdities of the Civil Service Law Now in Force—Ramifications of Our Government.

[Special Washington Letter.]

JUST as constant dripping of water will wear away a stone, it is probable that iteration of facts on one subject may wear away the concrete error of public thought.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow to-day said: "My experience here in Washington is of value to me far beyond the salary of the office which I hold. When the subject of holding office was first mentioned to me I shrank from it, because it would take me away from my business for four years. I am glad now, however, that I accepted office and left my Kansas home for that purpose.

"The principal reason why I am glad to be here is that my education has been greatly increased; my education concerning my country and its institutions. I had no adequate idea of what the general government of this republic is. Nobody can understand it who has not been actually in contact with it, or become a part of it in some capacity. Some good newspaper man who knows the national capital thoroughly and in whom the people have confidence ought to write a comprehensive series of articles on the government of this republic and tell the people about its wonderful ramifications.

"I do not mean that one should tell in detail all about the army and navy, except in a general sense. But what the people ought to understand is the actual condition of the civil branches of the government—the legislative, executive and judicial functions—and how they are administered. If the people could have a clear idea of the executive branch alone, over which the president has directive power, they would be amazed at its vastness and its great responsibilities. Although I have had something to do with political affairs for many years, I had no comprehensive idea of the federal government until I became a part of it and was charged with a portion of its responsibilities. That is the reason that I believe the people would be interested in the story of our government, because the great majority simply attend to their business affairs and have no opportunity to know their government intimately."

The suggestion of Gen. Bristow is a good one and is in line with an idea which a veteran newspaper correspondent has had in contemplation for some time. Readers of these letters have been told that some intelligent visitors to the national capital have seen the senate chamber, have seen the senators in debate and have then asked their capitol guides: "Where is congress?" That is a very common question, and the guides never express astonishment, but take it as a matter of course, while they go on to explain that the congress consists of two bodies, the senate and the house of representatives, and that when the visitors have seen the senate they have seen just one half of the congress.

Gen. Bristow knew that much and a great deal more, and yet he was surprised with the vastness of the federal government when he became a prominent official. He was not selected for the office because of his special fitness for it, because he knew nothing practical of its workings. He was selected because he had been prominent in political affairs. That is the way all of our prominent offices are filled. In each and every case the duties of the office have to be learned, and hence every new official is about as much surprised with the vastness of his government as Gen. Bristow was when he was called to high office.

The plain people know very little of their civil service; and, knowing little of the civil service, they know little of the civil service law, except in a general way, and therefore their knowledge is defective. The wise men and women are willing to admit that fact and are anxious to ascertain what there is to be learned, only the unwise and superficial assuming that they know what they do not know and declining to receive information which conflicts with their preconceived notions.

One of the most surprised men ever in high office was Postmaster General Bissell, who was called into the cabinet of President Cleveland at the beginning of his second term, March 5, 1893. He issued an order that no information should be given concerning the dates when the terms of postmasters appointed by the president would expire. He said that he would discharge any clerk who would give such information to any newspaper man. It was believed by the postmaster general that the publication of such information would largely increase the correspondence of the department.

There happened to be a newspaper correspondent anxious for that information, and he knew how to obtain it, because he had formerly been a clerk in the post office department. He obtained all the dates required for certain northwestern newspapers, and as the lists were published he showed them to the postmaster general, who became very angry and instituted an official inquiry in order to ascertain which one of his clerks had been giving away the prohibited news. Finally the correspondent came to him and said:

"Mr. Postmaster General, all of your clerks have been loyal and have obeyed your absurd order. The books of the auditor of the treasury department show all of these postmasters, when they were appointed, when their terms will expire, and what their salaries are; because the treasury department must have such books in order to keep accurate account of the money. I obtained my information from the treasury department. As you study this government of ours you will find that it ramifies considerably, and that no one cabinet officer is 'the whole thing.'"

This vast government machine is conducted under a civil service law which prevents the president and members of the cabinet from selecting suitable men for important and confidential positions. The general impression throughout the land is that the civil service law prevents the discharge of clerks for political causes. That is a great mistake. The civil service law does not prevent clerks from discharge. It simply hampers the president and cabinet officials in matters of appointment.

For example, the president, with all of his power in this republic, and the postmaster general, with all of his power over the postal service, have been unable to secure the appointment of a man whom they both desired to appoint only a few weeks ago, to an important position in the postal service. Civil service commissioners said that although the man whom the president desired to have appointed was undoubtedly especially well fitted for the position because of his wide experience in public affairs, and particularly with postal laws and regulations, inasmuch as he had been out of the civil service for more than a year he could not be appointed.

Could anything be more absurd? Suppose that the general superintendent of the best railroad in the country should go to Europe for his health and remain abroad a few weeks more than a year, and suppose that his eminent fitness for his life work were conceded by all railroad men, would it not be supreme folly for any board of officials to say that the corporation should not have the benefit of his services because he had been abroad for a little more than a year? And yet that is just what the civil service law enables the civil service commissioners to do.

The civil service law as it exists, and as it is administered, is simply to keep good men out of the service, instead of retaining good men in the service. Moreover, it enables senators and congressmen to get rid of their constituents, as the following example will demonstrate:

There came to the capitol a polite negro to see Congressman Allen, of Mississippi, and when the congressman came out into the corridor the colored man, smiling blandly, said: "Sah, I is one of yah constituents. Brown is my name, sah — Hiram Brown, sah."

"Well," said the congressman, very austerely, "what can I do for you?"

"I wants to git a position, sah, an' I come all de way to Washington, sah, to see you, sah, and try to git a place in de civil sahvice, sah."

The congressman withered him by saying: "Do you know anything about astra-physiology, meteorology, conchology or biology? Can you go back to the paleozoic age and demonstrate in technical terminology the anthropology, fauna and zoology of that period? Can you dissect the pterodactyl or the ichthyosaurus? Can you do these things off-hand on examination without drawing a breath or stopping to think?"

The old man looked scared and awe-inspired. Pulling a red bandana from his pocket he wiped the perspiration from his ebony face and stammered: "I guess, sah, dem questions was made foh college boys, sah. I guess I was bawn too soon." And making a profound bow he slowly sidled backward until out of sight.

The civil service law is a good thing to study close up, with the microscope of practical experience.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The green committee challenge trophy will be played for this afternoon on the links of the Park Golf Club. W. J. B. Thiers was, up to Wednesday, the holder of the trophy. Then he left for the south to be gone until Monday night. He left the trophy behind to be forfeited if his match with the next challenger, W. de la R. Anderson, could not be postponed until some afternoon next week. Mr. Anderson was perfectly willing to have the match postponed but his business duties in New York are such that he cannot get off to play any time except Saturday afternoons. It meant that either Thiers must forfeit the trophy or Anderson lose his chance to play for it. As it was manifestly unfair for the latter to loose his chance to play when he was ready at the time regularly fixed by the rules of the contest, the green committee has decided that the trophy has been forfeited to Anderson and he will play the next challenger, Morgan T. Townsend.

BERGEN FOR CONGRESS.

HE WILL BE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE IN THIRD DISTRICT.

Somerset and Middlesex County Delegates Decide to Vote for Mr. Bergen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, September 22.—This city is alive with Democratic politics today owing to the convention of the Third Congressional district being held here to nominate a Congressman to oppose the re-election of Howell, the Republican nominee.

Much to the surprise of nearly everyone, a new candidate for the honor appeared in the field this morning in the person of Former Assemblyman James J. Bergen, of Somerville.

The Somerset and Middlesex county delegations both caucused before the convention and decided to nominate and support Bergen, which assures his nomination by the convention. The unit rule will prevail.

Monmouth county delegates decided at first to support Judge Conover, of Freehold, but later determined to go into the convention unpledged.

The convention was called to order at 1 o'clock this afternoon by Hon. Aaron B. Johnson, of Freehold, who was the permanent chairman of the last convention, which was held at Freehold.

The convention will have the pleasure of listening to an address by Colonel Homer B. Sprague of New York city, the well-known lawyer and orator. Colonel Sprague, is an able and vigorous speaker and will give his hearers something good.

FOR THEATRICAL TASTES

ATTRACTIONS BOOKED FOR MUSIC HALL PATRONS.

"Way Down East" and James J. Jeffries Monday and Tuesday—"The Brownies" Coming, Too.

There will be some good attractions at Music Hall the coming week, and Manager Maze Edwards' first offering for Monday night is the famous play of "Way Down East," which for seven months crowded the Manhattan Theatre, New York, and later paid a six months' visit to the Academy of Music, testing the capacity of the latter house nightly and its success in the metropolis has been endorsed by all classes of people, seems to possess a special fascination for women, and is in receipt of enthusiastic praise from clergymen, school teachers and, in fact, many people who are not theatre-goers as a rule. It is a play of rural New England, bringing to the fore in a quaint manner the new types of character which exist only in the districts where these scenes are depicted. It is said to be a combination of the domestic and the dramatic, a plain story of plain people. The theme, full of human interest, and the personages drawn with no little skill. Many have likened it to "Shore Acres" and "Old Homestead," and declared it superior to either. The moral it teaches is not hung up like a signboard, but is left for the auditor to deduce with a desire that he enjoy the methods which lead to conclusions, customs and speech are reproduced without exaggeration, characters are individualized, and so far as appearance, manner and dress are concerned, it is said they might be transferred to any little village of the region where the scene is laid without exciting remark.

On Tuesday night, James J. Jeffries, is to appear in the leading role of "The Man From the West," a play written for him by Clay M. Greene, the well-known American playwright. Those who have seen Jeffries in his new field, announce a surprise and delight and prophecy that he will demonstrate in a very brief time that he is not only the champion pugilist of the world but that he is the best actor who has come from the ranks of pugilism to the stage. "The Man From the West," in which he is to appear, is a play that not only permits of an opportunity to see the champion at his best in depicting the scenes of the ring, but also requires that he possess ability as an actor and that he must demonstrate that he has talent that will place him among the successful aspirants to stellar honors in the world of the stage. From every side come words of praise for the champion as an actor.

Palmer Cox's "Brownies" personated by boys and girls of Plainfield, under direction of Malcom Douglas, who composed the music, and Miss Edith Pond, will be seen Friday and Saturday nights and at a matinee Saturday afternoon.

"The Brownies in Fairyland," is very amusing and entertaining. It may have been prepared for the edification of the youngsters especially, but it does not lack appreciation from those who are older, and Music Hall ought to be packed at every performance.

The play is presented in a thoroughly professional manner. The staging, scenery, costumes and make-ups are all worthy of praise. "The Brownies in Fairyland" has a good plot and abounds in bright lines, some of which, perhaps, demand a maturer comprehension than the average child's. The book is not confined to fairy stories of old, but is quite up-to-date, even alluding to the British war in Africa.

Musically, too, the play is exceptionally good, many of the numbers being rich in jingle, melody and rhythym. There are many taking songs and a variety of picturesque dances, most noticeable among which is the Irish step dance and the cake walk.

All in all "The Brownies in Fairyland" may be recommended as a pleasing and healthful diversion for young and old.

During the week beginning Monday October 1st there will be two fine plays, "Uncle Sam in China" and "The Slaves of the Orient" which have made great "hits" at the Star Theatre the present season, and in the following weeks other good novelties in the dramatic line will be presented.

MANY PLAYED GOLF ON PARK CLUB LINKS

Morgen T. Townsend Won the Green Committee Trophy From W. de la Anderson.

LEADS FOR THE TROPHY.

FEW SCORES WERE TURNED IN ON WEEKLY COMPETITION.

Thiers Defaulted His Match for Challenge Trophy to Anderson Who Lost, in Turn to Townsend, Seven Up and Six to Go.

The delightful golfing weather of Saturday attracted a good crowd of players to the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. The course was in fine shape and the greens fast. The usual weekly competitions were held but many of the crack players were absent.

W. J. R. Thiers forfeited the green committee challenge trophy to W. de la R. Anderson, who was the next challenger on the list. Thiers could not play Saturday while Anderson could not be on hand for a match any week day so the trophy was passed over without a contest. The next challenger, Morgan T. Townsend, played Anderson for the trophy and defeated him 7 up and 6 to go. Townsend was in good form, making a 90, while Anderson was way off his best game, only making 102. Otherwise the contest would have been more even.

Nearly twenty members registered for the president's cup competition but only four cards came. While the conditions at the course were condusive to good playing, everybody except Townsend and William M. McCutchen seemed out of form. The scores turned in were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
William M. McCutchen	94	6	88
Morgan T. Townsend	90	0	90
Samuel Townsend	112	15	97
W. de la R. Anderson	102	4	98

As a result of Morgan T. Townsend's good game, he is once more in the lead for the president's cup. The two points he scored, by getting second honors, was enough to advance him from third place, where he was tied with Allan B. Laing, to first. William R. Faber is now second with Edgar I. Serrell third. The leaders are so well bunched, however, that any week's play is apt to give any of the first five the lead. McCutchen came to the front by his victory, but he is too far back to become a prominent factor in the contest.

The standing for the cup is as follows:

Morgan T. Townsend	9½
Wm. R. Faber	8½
Edgar I. Serrell	8
Allan B. Laing	7½
George T. Rogers	6
Meredith Dryden	6
S. St. J. McCutchen	5 5-4
Charles A. Reed	56
W. J. R. Thiers	5
Gustavus W. Faber	4½
W. de la R. Anderson	4
Wm. M. McCutchen	4
H. D. Hibbard	3
Samuel Townsend	3
George C. Werth	3
Herbert S. Rogers	3
J. H. Simpson	3

Scattering—Henry C. Wells, Gustavus W. Faber, Donald A. McGee, Charles B. Morse, J. D. Sandford, Townsend Rushmore, Charles Dupee and Frank Rogers.

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is as follows:

W. J. R. Thiers	9
Morgan T. Townsend	5
Gustavus W. Faber	2
W. de la R. Anderson	2
Fred P. Taylor	1

Coal at $6 50 a Ton.

The advertisement with above head found in another column is especially interesting with coal going up 50 cents and $1 a ton at a jump. The saving guaranteed may be a big item to Plainfield householders before the coal strike is settled. Mr. Evans is not at liberty to publish the names of those who have already given orders, but his list shows the very cream of Plainfield householders, and including the few equipments made this spring comprises over 100 installations in town. Certainly there is no fairer proposition than the one made, as the householder is under absolutely no expense or obligation until thoroughly satisfied with the results. It will be well into October before the orders now on hand will be disposed of, and those anticipating having the apparatus installed must place orders at once to insure the work being done before November. October orders cannot be guaranteed installation before well into November.

POLL PARROT WAS GONE

FANWOOD MAN'S EXCITING TIME IN TRYING TO GET IT BACK.

After a Desperate Fight the Bird Was Found Secreted in Charles Kramer's House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, Sept. 24.—Two weeks ago John H. Thompson mysteriously lost a pet poll parrot. A diligent search for the parrot failed to locate it anywhere in the community until, a few days after, the children of Charles Kramer, a German living on Midway avenue, commenced to tell their school companions about the "funny bird" that they had at home. Thompson heard of this incident and he concluded that, perhaps, his parrot was being held by Kramer.

Thompson appeared before Justice Clark and swore out a search warrant against Kramer. The warrant was put in the hands of Constable Allen, who made an unsuccessful attempt to get into the house a week ago. During the past week Thompson received word that convinced him that Kramer had the parrot. Last Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Constable Allen, Thompson went to Kramer's house and demanded that the parrot be given to him. Kramer denied having the bird, and forbid the constable to enter his house under the power of the search warrant.

The constable went ahead, however, but just as he got inside the door Kramer pounced upon him. There was a lively scrap, and, it is alleged, Mrs. Kramer appeared on the scene with a revolver with which she threatened to kill Thompson and the constable. Kramer was finally overcome and his wrists placed in handcuffs, and the revolver taken away from Mrs. Kramer.

Then Thompson rushed up stairs where he found the parrot chattering away. He found the bird in a closet, and took it away with him.

Kramer and his wife were taken before Justice Clark and arraigned on the charge of resisting an officer and detaining property unlawfully. As Thompson was satisfied to get his parrot back, he declined to push the charge, as also did the constable.

TROTTING HORSE SALE.

At Round Top Farm, Bernardsville, N. J.

F. P. Olcott will hold his annual sale of trotting stock on the training track at his handsomely-equipped farm at Bernardsville, Saturday, September 29th, on which occasion Auctioneer Peter G. Kellogg will sell to the highest bidder, without reserve, every animal foaled at the farm in 1898 and 1899, all of which are broken to harness.

There are thirty-nine head by "Athel," brother to "Arion," 2:07¼; "Palatka," by "Nutwood," out of Atalanta" (dam of "Early Reaper" 2:09¾) by "Alcantara;" and "Lord Eldon," sire of "Cute," "Mrs. Jo," "Possibility" and other fast ones that were bred and sold by this farm.

So well reared is the stock bred by Mr. Olcott that some of the two-year-olds are close to 16 hands high and yearlings 15 hands, which with corresponding muscular development enables them to make speed young. A yearling bought in the sale of 1898 by E. F. Oneil, of Bloomfield, for $170 racing stable, where, preparatory to next year's campaign, he is trotting easy work-outs in the twenties, as a three-year-old.

Mr. Olcott abolished his training stable some years ago and sells his whole crop of youngsters at auction; none privately, giving the bidders every advantage.

W. B. Chamberlain will join the sale with an offering of young trotters from his stock farm at Torresdale, Pa.

Meeting Led by Mr. Edsall.

The W. C. T. U. 4 o'clock meeting yesterday afternoon was of exceptional interest. Seely Edsall led the service and there was special music on the violin by Robert W. Barnes and Robert Spear. Several pleasing selections were rendered, and they also assisted with the congregational singing.

Mrs. Antonia Caneva, widow of Michael Caneva, aged 66 years, died yesterday. The funeral services will be held from the residence of her niece, Mrs. Theodore Gray, 678 West Front street, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

LOCAL ELEVENS MET FOR OPENING GAME.

Season Begun on Martine Common With Game Between Alis and High School.

ALIS' BOYS WON 29 TO 0.

STRONG SHOWING MADE BY PLAINFIELD'S LEADING FOOTBALL TEAM.

High School Boys Were on the Defensive Most of the Time, but They Did Good Work Considering the Strength of Their Opponents.

The football enthusiasts of the city, to the number of several hundred, gathered on Martine Common Saturday afternoon to witness the opening game of football for the season. A practice game was played by the elevens of the Alis A. A. and the Plainfield High School, the Alis boys winning by a score of 29 to 0.

No one expected the High School to win. It was only a question as to the amount of the score. The school boys were fairly outclassed, but once they made a stand and held their surprised opponents for downs. Most of the game the ball was in the hands of the Alis eleven.

Alis had the kick-off and Phillips sent the ball to within three yards of the High School goal where Davis, the High School full back, finally fell on it. The High School team then carried the ball back for seven yards to lose it on downs. On the first play Woolston carried it over the line for a touchdown. Phillips kicked the goal.

After that the school team played chiefly on the defensive, Phillips punted frequently but Alis soon recovered the ball on downs or fumbles. At the end of the first half the score was 18 to 0. It was too warm for football and the Alis boys did not play their hardest else the score would have been larger.

The Alis boys played well. Houson, the new quarterback, who comes from Cranford and played quarter on the Berkley School team two years, did very well. The other backs were quick and sure, only two fumbles being made throughout the game. The line held well but showed the need of practice. The prospect of a strong team is excellent.

The High School boys were strongest on the defence. Buckley and Ughetta, the ends, covered themselves with glory by their clever tackles. VanAuken at quarter was slow and lacked experience. Townsend Mason and Mellick Tweedy both did excellent work. Davis played well but showed the need of experience in directing the team. With good coaching, however, the High School team will undoubtedly prove a formidable antagonist for the other scholastic elevens of this section.

The line-up was as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL.		ALIS A. A.
Ughetta	right end	T. Smith
Brakeley	right tackle	Radford-Beard
Pond	right guard	Pike
Cubberley	centre	G. P. Smith
F. Mason	left guard	Long
L. Tweedy	left tackle	Taylor-H. Smith
Buckley	left end	H. Smith-Wittke
VanAuken	quarter back	Houson
M. Tweedy	right half back	Woolston
T. Mason	left half back	Cuming
Davis, captain	full back	Phillips, captain

Score—Alis A. A., 29; Plainfield High School, 0. Touchdowns—Woolston (2.) Cuming (2.) Wittke. Goals from touchdowns—Phillips (4.) Time—Two fifteen minute halves. Referee—Roger Erickson. Umpire—A. Willis West. Timekeeper—M. Slater.

HORSEPLAY AT RUTGERS.

Freshmen Rush Sophomores and Take From Them Their Proclamations.

College horseplay at Rutgers, New Brunswick, started Thursday with the beginning of the college year. The freshman class is the largest that ever entered the institution and outnumbers the sophomores two to one. As a result the freshmen are overthrowing precedents by making it hot for the sophomores.

Last Wednesday night the sophomores prepared to paste the usual proclamations laying down rules for the government of "the freshies" during the year, but a band of freshmen rushed the sophomores and captured every proclamation. The freshmen have announced their intention of wearing high hats and carrying canes at once, violating the unwritten law of the college providing that such hats must not be worn or canes be carried before Washington's Birthday.

DODD STRUCK DOWN BY EXCITED ROOTER.

Pond's Shortstop Was Knocked Out During Dispute in Hard-Fought Baseball Game.

JOHN KING STRUCK BLOW.

THE GAME WAS DECIDING ONE IN SERIES—FEELING WAS HIGH.

King Was Arrested at Once—Held Under $1,000 Bail—John Newman Charged With Having Kicked Dodd—Dodd's Cheek-bone Fractured

A blow from the fist of John King, a local pugilist of some reputation, caused a sudden and unexpected ending to the third and deciding game between the baseball nines of St. Mary's and the Pond Tool Works Saturday afternoon. The blow landed on the face of William J. Dodd, shortstop and one of the best players of the Pond Tool Works team, and completely knocked him out. For twenty minutes he lay unconscious and is now confined to his home with injuries which, if he recovers from them, will leave marks that he will carry to the grave. King is held under $1,000 for his appearance before Justice Huff Thursday afternoon to answer to the charge of assault and battery. John Newman, who is charged with kicking Dodd after he was knocked down, is held under $500 bonds for a hearing at the same time. The testimony of most of those who saw it is that it was an atrocious thing, utterly unprovoked and given without warning to the victim.

There was considerable feeling on both sides when the two teams started to play their third game Saturday on the old golf grounds, corner of Plainfield and Sherman avenues, a neutral battle field. Nearly a thousand people assembled to witness it and considerable money was wagered on the result. Jeers of a personal character began to fly as soon as the game was fairly under way.

In the third inning Dodd, who was playing short stop for Ponds, dropped an easy fly when there were men on bases and tried for a double play. There was a long dispute and it was finally settled by only calling the batter out. After that the rooters for St. Marys had it in for Dodd.

At the beginning of the sixth inning the score was 8 to 6 in favor of St. Mary's team. Ponds succeeded in getting two runs, tying the score. Charley Mumford was on base. He tried to score on a throw-in to home plate. He crossed the plate in safety, but the catcher of St. Mary's claimed that John Owens, who was coaching for the other team, had interfered with him while trying to field the ball at home plate. There was a kick immediately.

James Moynihan, manager of the St. Mary's team, was arguing the point with Dodd when King crawled out under the ropes and stepped up. King says that Dodd was arguing with him but the testimony of disinterested witnesses of the affair is that Dodd never saw him at all. King's fist shot out and caught Dodd on the right side of the face. Dodd went down in a heap and then rolled over on his face. A crowd collected in an instant and, it is alleged, John Newman, another spectator, kicked the fallen man.

Special Officers Aaron Mattox and Galleghar were on duty. Patrolman Lunger was in the crowd. Mattox and Lunger both started for King the moment the blow was struck and Mattox placed him under arrest. He was taken to police headquarters and locked up.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan was in the crowd and he brought Dodd back to consciousness. Dodd was taken to his home on East Fifth street and Dr. Clawson subsequently took charge of the case. The right cheek bone was fractured and forced back half an inch. Dodd's lip was split. There were a number of bruises on his body. While Dodd's injuries are not fatal, his face will be disfigured for life.

Chief Kiely and Justice Huff went to Dodd's home Saturday night and complaints were sworn out against King and Neuman. Neuman was arrested on West Third street at 11 o'clock by Sergeant Frederickson and Patrolman Myers. Thomas King, father of John King, and Cormack Caufield gave $1,000 bail for King and he was released late in the evening. Neuman was released at midnight after James Day and Daniel Galbraith had furnished $500 bail for him. The hearing of both men was set for Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Dodd is on duty at night at the big electric crane in Ponds. King is em-

The only attraction for Saturday afternoon was the team match between Hillside and New Brunswick. The home team sent their opponents away with a defeat, as was expected. They were not in it from the very start and it was only a question of how large a score the Hillside team would make. The visitors took their defeat good naturedly and are hoping for an opportunity to pay the Hillside team back in their own coin. Below is the summary:

BERGEN GOT IT EASY.

Congressional Nomination in the Third District went to Somerset County Man Without Contest.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 24—The Third Congressional District Democratic convention was held in Columbia Hall here Saturday, and James J. Bergen, of Somerville, formerly speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, was nominated for Congress. The Somerset county delegates in caucus decided to stand by Mr. Bergen if he were named, but expressed themselves as being willing to refrain from presenting him if Middlesex or Monmouth had a candidate. Middlesex endeavored to secure the consent of Senator James H VanCleef to accept the nomination, but the New Brunswick man absolutely declined to run, and Middlesex named Mr. Berger. Monmouth county made no nomination.

George S. Silzer, of this city, was made both temporary and permanent chairman of the convention, the same honors being bestowed upon R. V. Lawrence, of Somerset, as secretary.

Middlesex county, being first in the roll call, named Mr. Bergen. Somerset seconded the nomination, Monmouth not naming anyone. The nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Bergen accepted the nomination in a short speech. Colonel Homer Sprague, of New York city, also addressed the convention.

The platform adopted supported Bryan and the Kansas City platform, and denounced President McKinley, imperialism and trusts. The 16 to 1 question was not touched upon.

SEATS FOR "THE BROWNIES."

The Elaborate Production to be Given Friday and Saturday.

Seats are now on sale at Music Hall for "The Brownies in Fairyland," Palmer Cox's immensely successful big production, which will be seen for the first time in Plainfield Friday and Saturday nights of this week, with a Saturday matinee. Prices are only 25, 35 and 50 cents, and judging from the interest already shown there will be crowded houses. Among the many features of the big spectacle will be the comical Brownie cake-walk, the funny specialty of the Italian organ-grinder and his trick bear, the beautiful flower dance, etc. All the funny Brownies, the dude, policeman, Chinaman, Indian, Irishman, Dutchman and the rest will appear. Over 100 will be in "The Brownies in Fairyland," and the big production will be under the direction of Edith Pond and Malcolm Douglass, composer of the spectacle.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

Difficulties Between the Plumbers and Dennis J. Galbraith Adjusted.

Saturday evening a committee of the Master Plumbers' Association, consisting of John H. Carney, president; George J. Tobin and C. W. Krausse, met a similar committee from the Journeymen Plumbers' Union, consisting of John Moran, president; James Harper and William Vanderweg, to settle the difficulties between the journeymen plumbers and Master Plumber Dennis J. Galbraith. The result of the conference was that the boycott is taken off and all is harmony again. The meeting was held in the Board of Trade rooms, and the session lasted until nearly midnight. Slight concessions were made upon both sides to bring about the above results.

Lighted Lamp Exploded.

A rather serious fire occurred at the residence of George Moore, of West Fourth street, last evening, but was put out without calling the department. A lighted lamp fell from the hands of Mrs. Moore in an upper room and exploding, set fire to a bed. It sprang into a blaze and but for the prompt arrival of Mr. Moore would have spread to the room. With the assistance of several neighbors the blaze was extinguished, but not before the bed had been entirely consumed.

18-YEAR-OLD GIRL ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Gertie Coddington Tried to Kill Herself by Drinking Carbolic Acid.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

RECKLESS GIRL TOOK THE POISON ON SOMERSET STREET.

Her Lover Refused to Come to Her When She Wanted Him to and as Result She Committed the Desperate Step.

Angered because her lover would not come outside of a saloon and speak to her, Gertrude Coddington, an eighteen year-old girl, drank four ounces of carbolic acid Saturday night with suicidal intent. But for her prompt discovery and subsequent arrival of a doctor, the dose would have proved quickly fatal. As it is the chances of her recovery are about even. The deadly acid has greatly congested the mucous membrane from the mouth to the stomach, causing the girl great agony. She now lies at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moore Coddington, of Somerset street.

Gertrude, who is well known about town, appeared on Somerset street about 11:30 Saturday night in the vicinity of the bridge. She sent word into Sissor's saloon that she wished to speak to a well known young man, with whom she has been keeping company and who was inside. The young man refused to come out, however, and she became angered. A few moments later she staggered across the street from the vicinity of French's mill and entered the side door of the saloon. She was met by the proprietor, William Sissor, to whom she again enquired for her lover. Sissor at once noticed the acid on her mouth and smelt the ordor. He immediately secured assistance and the girl was taken to her home, but a few doors away.

Dr. Pittis had been summoned and arrived soon after. He saw at a glance that prompt action was necessary and applied the stomach pump. At least two ounces of the acid were removed, but on account of the large amount taken, the throat and stomach were badly burned. The doctor worked unceasingly for the remainder of the night, but the girl is by no means yet out of danger. Five minutes delay on the part of the doctor and his efforts would have been useless.

The girl declares that she has had the acid for some time, but where she purchased it and for what reason she refuses to state. She also refuses to make any statement regarding her act.

TO INCREASE EMPLOYES' WAGES

Owners of Fandango Mills Arrange for Alterations in Their Plant.

The owners of the Fandango Mills, of Millburn, who are extensive manufacturers of binders' board, have awarded contracts for the erection of an addition to their plant. When the proposed changes are completed the output of the mill will be increased from four to five tons in twenty-four hours, which is made necessary to meet the increasing demand of the trade. The wages of the employes of the company will also be increased 25 per cent. over the present scale. No extra hands will be employed, but the present force will be required to do more work.

The mill gives employment to twenty-four men, the day shift being finished at 3 o'clock p. m., and that at night at 1 o'clock. Supt. George Berstles, of the mills, said that under the new wage scale the men would be paid from $1.37 to $2 75 per day. The company is a large manufacturer for the Government, besides furnishing for New York and western houses.

About Stylish Millinery.

All women want to wear stylish hats and it is possible for every woman to do so, at a moderate expense, as it is not always the highest cost materials that make the most stylish hats, but as Bonn, the milliner, says it is the design and artistic touch and finish, with a view to its becomingness to the wearer that makes the perfect hat or love of a bonnet. Miss Fouble, Bonn's new designer and trimmer is fertile in ideas, has had remarkable success, and a long experience trimming for the most exacting clientile in New York.

WAGE SCALE SIGNED.

Iron and Steel Mills to Resume Operations.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24.—The conference committees of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and of the manufacturers after an all night conference signed the wage scale that will be effective until July, 1901.

It is what is known as the yearly scale, which takes effect usually in July. Owing to the unusual fluctuations of the market the new scale had not been signed when the mills shut down June 30, and the conditions have been unfavorable ever since June, so that the mills have been idle for almost three months. As soon as the scale was signed messages were sent in every direction before the conferees breakfasted. Some mills started this morning, and all others will resume as soon as possible. This decision means employment to over 60,000 workmen who have been idle since June.

In endeavoring to arrive at this agreement the wage conference committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers has had five different conferences with the manufacturers, meeting in New York, Detroit, Indianapolis and Youngstown as well as here. They met in conference here and determined to sit until they got together or agreed to disagree. While neither side got what it wanted, yet both sides felt relieved when the scale was signed after an all night session, and most of the conferees left the city without sleep.

President Schaefer, Secretary Williams and others remained to arrange some details with Commissioner Nutt, but the others did their sleeping on the trains en route to their homes.

The reasons for the delay in adjustin, the wage scale as well as for the frequent prolonged conferences are found in the slump in the market and the fluctuations during the past year from the highest to the lowest price. The workers wanted $5 per ton, based on 1 4-10 card rate. The manufacturers offered $4.50 per ton on a 1 cent card rate for boiling, and the differences were in about the same proportion in other lines.

Valuable Collection For Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 24.—Morris K. Jesup of New York city has given to Yale university the collection of Arabic manuscripts made by Count Landberg, a distinguished Swedish collector and traveler. His library of Swedish literature was purchased last year by Harvard university. The Arabic collection, which will arrive in this country within a month, consists of some 800 manuscripts, four-fifths of which are rare and over 200 without duplicates. They cover the whole range of Arabic history and literature, and many of them are dated back to the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. Law, philosophy, poetry and theology are well represented. The collection was purchased at a cost of about $20,000.

Cloudburst In Texas.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 24.—A cloudburst in the valley of the Neuces river has done much damage to property and also, according to reports received here, has resulted in loss of life on the ranches in that vicinity. The Neuces at Uvalde rose 25 feet in two hours' time and broke telegraph communication. A number of ranches were inundated, and one English sheep man, Ethelbert McDonald, together with some Mexican sheep herders, are said to have lost their lives on a ranch in the mountains near Brackett. From reports of a colony of nomadic Italians it is thought that two lost their lives in the flood that went down the Neuces.

Trying to Effect a Fusion.

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 24.—The members of the Populist executive committee, some of the candidates and a number of the leading Democrats have again gathered here for the purpose of endeavoring to push the fusion programme through. Ex-Senator Dubois is also here. The Populists some days ago filed their ticket as nominated, but they have not filed any resignations, consequently no Democratic names have yet been put on. It is understood that there is no hope that complete fusion will be effected. Texas Angel, candidate for supreme judge; M. F. Eby, for secretary of state, and C. M. Mullen, for elector, have refused to resign.

Mammoth Fossil Remains Found.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Elmer S. Riggs, assistant curator of the Field Columbian museum, has returned home from his fossil hunting trip in western Colorado, during which he found the fossil remains of the largest animal which ever lived on this earth, according to all scientific records. The scientific name of the animal is Brontosaurus excelsis, and it is commonly called a dinosaur. The specimen of which Professor Riggs found a part was, according to scientific calculations, about 75 feet long and 20 or 21 feet high. The next largest specimen of this creature ever discovered was estimated to be 65 feet long and 18 feet in height.

Many Damaged Vessels.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 24.—Damaged vessels continue to make this port from the Grand Banks. One reports a collision between two French fishing schooners during the gale, carrying away the masts of both. They were driven out of sight, and it is feared that they foundered, which would represent a loss of about 40 lives. The crew of the schooner Kestrel has made land. The ship rode out the gale, but was so leaky that she sunk while endeavoring to make the land, the men making shore in boats.

Big Trainload of Cotton.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—The largest trainload of cotton ever shipped from St. Louis left the city last night over the Chicago and Alton railroad for Boston. The train consisted of 30 cars of cotton from connecting lines destined to the seaboard for export. The cotton is from Texas and Oklahoma and is the first large shipment of the season. Arrangements are being made for the shipment of a trainload each week from now on. The run from St. Louis to Boston will be completed in four days.

Roosevelt to Speak In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24.—It is announced that Governor Roosevelt will make four speeches in Ohio. He will speak at Dayton in the afternoon and at Columbus in the evening of Oct. 16 and at Toledo in the afternoon and at Cleveland in the evening of Oct. 17.

Wittig Will Probably Recover.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Fritz Wittig, the Rutgers college freshman who was injured Saturday in the cane rush and who was thought to be dying, has recovered consciousness and is now thought to be on the road to recovery.

TROOPS GUARD MINES

A Quiet Sunday, but Further Trouble Feared.

STRIKERS URGED TO STAND FIRM.

Mine Operators Claim Many Hands Are Willing to Work, but Fear Violence—General Gobin Assures Protection.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 24.—An air of expectancy is noticeable among the people here, and, although it would be difficult to find a more peaceful community, the opinion is generally expressed that a renewal of the riotous scenes of Friday will yet be witnessed.

Sunday was very quiet. It was not until afternoon that there was any noticeable activity on the streets. In the morning churches of all denominations were crowded, and the strike was invariably the subject of the discourses. Rev. O'Reilly, the rector of one of the prominent churches, told his congregation that the miners could not win. He advised them to refrain from acts of violence.

Father Peter Abramaitis of the Lithuanian church of St. George said that if the men expected to win perfect organization was necessary. He believed if they were undivided the struggle would meet with success.

During the afternoon demonstrations were made by the Governor's troop and Battery C, who marched through the streets. Representatives of seven collieries visited General Gobin in a body to arrange for the protection of their workmen on their way to the collieries. District Superintendent Boyd of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company's workings informed General Gobin that he had assurances that many of his employees remained away from the collieries only through fear of mob violence.

General Gobin early in the day drove through the district, and after his conference with the mine superintendents he completed his plan of action.

During the afternoon Captain Daniel Christian of the coal and iron police and W. H. Richards, superintendent of the Reading company's collieries at Mahanoy City, called on General Gobin and asked for troops. Captain Christian said the situation at Mahanoy City differed from that at this place in that the foreigners were willing to return to work, but were intimidated by the dissatisfied English speaking employees. Eighty per cent of the foreigners, Superintendent Richards said, were in favor of remaining at work.

Major W. A. Miller, brigade inspector, was detailed by General Gobin as provost marshal, and he established headquarters in the postoffice building. The guard is composed of over 100 men of the Eighth infantry. Guards are located at all street corners in the central part of the town, and, while the soldiers are not expected to do police duty, they have been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for disturbances. Chief Burgess David Brown has caused to be posted throughout the town proclamations prohibiting the assembling of crowds on the streets and calling on the citizens to preserve order.

Organizer George Harris of the United Mine Workers arrived here yesterday and addressed several miners' meetings.

LEHIGH REGION QUIET.

Troops Ordered to a Position N Hazleton.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 24.—There is absolutely no change in the coal strike situation in the Lehigh region, and the customary Sunday quietude prevailed yesterday.

In the afternoon the employees of the Calvin Pardee mine met at Lattimer, and the United Mine Workers held mass meetings at both Epley and Beaver Meadows. At night the presidents of the three anthracite districts comprising the entire hard coal field of Pennsylvania had a conference with President Mitchell for the purpose of discussing the situation as it now prevails in the anthracite region.

During normal times a colliery here and there works on Sunday, but yesterday not a pound of coal was mined in the Hazleton district. Every one of the 25 or more towns in this region was quiet.

All the mining towns had their full quota at the churches, and it was a subject of remark by strangers now in the region that an unusually large proportion of the population attended church. The women and children, however, were in a vast majority. The Catholic faith is the dominating denomination in the coal region.

A delegation of South Side operators went to Shenandoah, where they met Sheriff Toole of Schuylkill county and General Gobin, and after a short conference General Gobin decided to send a battalion of infantry to McAdoo at once. The object in placing troops there is that in case of trouble in Hazleton which the sheriff of Luzerne county could not quell the soldiers would be thrown into Hazleton in less than an hour. The railroad cars will be kept in readiness for a quick move.

Railroads May Be Tied Up.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 24.—It now begins to look as if the strike would extend to the railroaders, at least in this region. The switchmen have had another conference with their national officers, Grand Master Frank T. Hawley and Grand Secretary John E. Tipton of Buffalo, to discuss the request of the striking miners that they refuse to handle nonunion coal. Nothing could be learned of what was done further than that the national officers and a committee of the local switchmen would go to New York and that on their return something definite would be done.

Situation Satisfactory.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 24.—The situation in the Schuylkill strike region is very satisfactory to the officers on duty at the national guard headquarters in Harrisburg. Their advices from there were that everything was quiet, and no serious trouble was anticipated. Adjutant General Stuart was at his office all day in close communication with the troops in the field. Governor Stone is taking an active interest in the operations of the soldiers and is being kept fully advised of their movements. The aggregate strength of the three regiments of infantry, the troop of cavalry and one battery of artillery in the field is not over 2,000, and unless there is another uprising no more troops will be called out.

OUR POLICY FEARED.

English Regret America's Stand on Chinese Question.

IMPERIAL PALACE DESECRATED.

Empress and Emperor Will Not Return to It After Barbarians Have Entered It—Great Leniency For Boxers.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The morning papers are too fully occupied with the general election campaign to bestow much attention upon the Chinese problem. The Standard, which discusses editorially the replies of the United States government, says:

"The policy thus laid down implies the existence at Washington of a very exaggerated estimate of the good will of the Chinese rulers. It is to be feared that the action of the United States will tend to weaken the moral influence of the allies, and for this reason it is to be greatly regretted."

According to the Peking correspondent of The Daily News, wiring Sept. 16, the Chinese declare most positively that the empress dowager and the emperor will in no case return to the imperial palace in Peking, as they hold that it has been desecrated by the intrusion of barbarians.

This irreconcilable attitude receives confirmation in many reports emanating from Shanghai. One of these is that, as a reply to the denunciation of Prince Tuan and others by the viceroys, an imperial edict dated Sept. 17 deals most leniently with the Boxer movement and reminds the people that both the Boxers and Chinese Christians are Chinamen who shall receive imperial protection if they quietly disperse to their homes. The edict points out that it is impossible for the imperial government to distinguish between good and bad Boxers. It says, however, that if the rebel Boxers still continue to assemble they will be dealt with summarily.

Another report asserts that the edict frankly declares that no executions can be sanctioned until an adequate inquiry has been made.

Dr. Morrison, the Peking correspondent of The Times, wiring Sept. 19, protests against what he calls "an unworthy act of vandalism on the part of General Wilson's expedition"—namely, the "attempt to destroy the superb white pagoda in the temple grounds at Pei-tai-chu." Fortunately, says the correspondent, the masonry was too solid.

Dr. Morrison adds:

"It is expected that the orders sent to M. Pichon, the French minister, to withdraw will be countermanded.

"Communications are still deplorably bad. Many telegrams are never sent at all, some being destroyed after they have been accepted.

"General Yung Lu is returning here to assist in the peace negotiations, although the foreign ministers have protested against his participation."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Times confirms the statement that the foreign ministers in Peking are protesting against the appointment of Boxer leaders to high positions.

Further indications that Prince Tuan has resumed his former ascendency are found in the Shanghai reports of his promotion and in the statement from the same quarter that General Tung Fuh Siang has been appointed generalissimo of the northern Chinese armies and Prince Chaung, deputy commander in chief of the Boxers, has been made a grand councilor. It is also reported that Loh, former governor of Kiangsu province, a Mantchoo and bitterly antiforeign, has been appointed to succeed Li Hung Chang at Canton.

According to various accounts of the Pei-tang affair, the Chinese had anticipated that the allies would attack in force. The Britishers and others who left Tien-tsin with the intention of cutting off the retreat of the Pei-tang garrison arrived too late. They were only half way to their destination when the forts were captured.

The Tien-tsin correspondent of The Standard explains that the Russians refused to provide trains for this force, but gave the Germans and Austrians ample notice and railway accommodations. Advices to The Standard from Shanghai place the losses of the allies before Pei-tang as 300, principally due to the explosion of mines, one of which, 200 yards long, exploded like an earthquake, killing and wounding large numbers and literally blowing two mounted officers to pieces.

Rockhill to Advise Withdrawal.

PEKING, Sept. 19, via Taku, Sept. 24—Mr. William Woodville Rockhill, special commissioner of the United States, has already conferred with Mr. Conger the United States minister, but he has not yet met Prince Ching. It is understood that he will advise Washington to withdraw the American troops as speedily as would be safe. The plan to withdraw the German legation from Peking has been temporarily abandoned pending the receipt of further instructions from Berlin. The Russians report a Boxer demonstration against the railway, and the Germans are discussing an expedition to Pao-ting-fu after the arrival of their main force. General Chaffee will go to Tien-tsin soon.

Missionary Refugees Murdered.

PEKING, Sept. 19, via Shanghai, Sept. 24.—A native who has arrived here from Shansi brings definite and reliable news of the massacre of China inland missionaries. The entire number at Tatung-fu and Seping-fu, west of Peking, were killed while attempting to reach Kalgan. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Blomberg, Mr. and Mrs. Couldberg, E. K. Jacobson and two young ladies.

Promotion For Prince Tuan.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 24.—It is believed in official circles here that Prince Tuan has been or will be promoted to membership in the grand council and that the taotai of Shanghai will be appointed provincial judge, with the notorious Boxer Kang Yi as his deputy here. The foreign officials are understood to be protesting to the Yang-tse viceroys against these appointments.

The Lawton Off For Nome.

SEATTLE, Sept. 24.—The transport Lawton has sailed for Nome with a cargo of quartermaster's supplies. Returning she will bring destitute miners from the northern camps. Major Hodges and 20 men go on the Lawton to preserve order.

BRITISH POLITICS.

Salisbury Defends, Morley and Rosebery Score the Government.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Lord Salisbury's manifesto to the electors of the United Kingdom in anticipation of the parliamentary general elections emphasizes the necessity that the queen's government should be supported by a strong parliamentary majority as "the only means of convincing the inhabitants of the conquered South African territories that there is no hope of diverting the government from their policy by persistent resistance or agitation."

After remarking that "all the recent troubles in South Africa have been due to a shift of parliamentary opinion at a critical moment" the prime minister goes on to say:

"It will depend upon the disposition and conduct of the Boers how long an interval is to elapse before their full position as a British colony is attained. The brilliant success of Lord Roberts' army must not blind us to the imperfections disclosed in our own defensive armor, imperfections which but for the war might have remained unnoticed. It will be the urgent duty of parliament and the government to remove these defects, a duty which certainly could not be discharged by a ministry depending upon a broken party."

In conclusion Lord Salisbury refers to China as "a difficulty, among others, confronting the government and requiring that the government should be armed with a strong majority in the house of commons."

Mr. John Morley, Liberal, member for Montrose Burghs, in his manifesto declares that his opinion has not changed that everything might have been attained in South Africa without war. "In a single year," he says, "the work of a generation in uniting the Dutch and English in South Africa has been undone, and not even in Ireland has the difficult race problem been more miserably mishandled."

Mr. Morley admits, however, that it is impossible to revoke the proclamations of annexation.

The Earl of Rosebery, issuing a manifesto in the form of a letter to a Liberal candidate, says:

"In the present situation of the world I would vote for almost any strong administration, but the present government is strong only in votes. In other respects they are the weakest government I can recollect."

After enumerating the government's "failures at home and abroad" Lord Rosebery criticises the conduct of the South African war, declaring that it has "exposed England to humiliations unparalleled in our history since the American war."

He declares that nothing can be hoped for from the government either in the matter of urgent domestic reforms or the reform of the war office.

Dowieite Elders Mobbed.

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 24.—A mob formed here yesterday, and the Dowieite elders, Ephraim Bassinger of Bluffton and Silas Moot of Lima, were its victims. The two elders came in on an Erie train unknown to the authorities. They were recognized by a small crowd at the depot, which refused to let them enter a cab, then followed them up the street and surrounded them near the center of the city. They were then taken by the mob to the Richland Buggy works, where Bassinger disrobed, but the crowd tore Moot's clothing from his body, as he refused to disrobe himself. A paint bucket and a brush were then secured, and a smokestack varnish, a tarlike substance, was daubed over them from head to foot. It was matted in their hair, and no part of their bodies escaped but their faces. Their bodies were then partially covered with their clothing, and the elders were marched to the home of E. H. Leiby, a Zion follower here, who was driven out of the city last week. There they promised not to return to Mansfield, but later they said they agreed not to return unless Overseer Piper ordered them to come. They were then marched to the city prison and locked up. By applications of lard and benzine the black varnish was cut, and after new outfits of clothing were furnished they were deported on a Pennsylvania train at noon.

Mending the Dewey Arch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The Dewey arch is to be repaired again this week. The remainder of the $1,500 appropriated by the city to take care of the structure is to be expended. For 14 feet above the ground the structure is in wretched shape. Vehicles of every kind have been striking the sides of the arch and columns until the wood is bared in many places. Commissioner Kearny has ordered a set of iron corners for the arch and columns to be cast. These will be put in shape this week, and plaster will be put on wherever needed. The committee on the permanent Dewey arch has not given up its efforts. Plans are in prospect for securing many additions to the $200,000 already raised, and a meeting of the committee will be called very soon to take measures for adding still more to the fund.

A Gas Well Gusher.

BIRMINGHAM, Pa., Sept. 24.—A gas well gusher has been struck at Lane's Mills, six miles from this city, at a depth of 3,000 feet. The well was drilled by a local company, and when the drill struck the vein the gas, coming to the surface with terrific force, blew tools and rocks over 100 feet in the air. It is estimated by experts that the well is good for 3,000,000 feet every 24 hours. The well is in an entirely new territory and will come into direct competition with the Standard Oil company, whose wells supply this city and neighboring towns and are located 25 miles from here.

Dominion Steamer Wrecked.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24.—The Dominion government steamer Newfield is ashore and will be a total loss at White Cove, Digby Gut, on the Bay of Fundy. The captain has decided to abandon the steamer. The Newfield was engaged in the lighthouse service and went ashore on Saturday during a dense fog and firmly wedged herself between two huge bowlders.

SAW A STRANGE SIGHT.

A Submarine Volcano Discovered Near Gulf of Mexico.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Captain Liddle of the British steamship King Bleddyn, which has just arrived here, brought in a tale of the discovery of a submarine volcano on the northeast edge of the Campeche bank, at the mouth of the gulf of Mexico. Every man on the freighter corroborated the captain. The location by observation made by the captain was 102 miles north of Cape Taoche, the nearest point of land.

The captain says that late in the afternoon of Sept. 16 he saw a great volume of vapor one mile away. It seemed to cover a space at least 100 feet square. The air was clear and the sun shining at the time. He could see the vapor plainly. It arose like a thick cloud of steam 60 or 75 feet in the air. The water around or near the space seemed to be perfectly clear.

"Occasionally the vapor would clear," said the captain, "and then we saw the water froth and break as if over a shoal. Now, it is impossible that any shoal exists there, and if it did that would not account for the vapor.

"The chart shows 41 fathoms, or 246 feet, of water near this point over the Campeche bank, and just to the eastward off the bank it deepens to 306 fathoms, or 1,800 feet.

"We watched that vapor and the occasional boiling of the water for nearly an hour, and the disturbance was still going on as lively as ever. It certainly looked like a volcanic disturbance to me. The mate at first was inclined to think it was a spent waterspout, but if that was the cause the vapor would have cleared and the water would not have been alternately smooth and then burst into waves, as in this case."

Captain Liddle took an observation and marks the spot as being latitude 23 degrees 14 minutes and longitude 87 degrees 7 minutes.

YELLOW FEVER INCREASES.

New Cases Reported In Cuba—Porto Rico's Queer Demands.

HAVANA, Sept. 24.—Thirty-one new cases of yellow fever have been officially reported since Friday, making nearly 100 now under treatment. Captain George S. Cartwright, Twenty-fourth United States infantry, quartermaster's department, who was taken down with the fever last Monday at Camp Columbia, is dead. Robert Thomas and Alfred Kilbourn, Second United States artillery, were attacked yesterday.

Porto Rico's demand on Cuba for the repayment of more than $2,500,000 advanced to Spain to conduct military operations against Cuba has been the source of considerable amusement. Cubans are asking why they should repay funds lent to the enemy for the express purpose of subduing them.

General Wood will return the documents forwarded from Washington to Governor Allen of Porto Rico, together with a memorandum couched in diplomatic language pointing out that he is unable to take any action in the matter.

Great Crowd Greets Sousa.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—John Philip Sousa and his band opened their season last night at the Metropolitan Opera House, this city. The consensus of opinion of the great crowd of admirers who heard the famous band was that in tenderness, color and experience it has advanced rapidly since its visit to Europe. The programme was printed to include only two of Sousa's own compositions, a soprano sung sweetly by Blanche Duffield and entitled "Maid of the Meadow," which is a pleasant pastoral, and his new march, "Hail to the Spirit of Liberty," a stirring score in the familiar Sousaian strain which aroused the customary enthusiasm. But before the evening was over Sousa had delivered almost all his famous compositions, including his impressions of Paris.

Insane Negro Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—Edward Gurley, an insane negro giant, was killed in Algiers after a thrilling hour. He woke up his black roommate, forced him to strip and cut his throat, saying he was going to die and wanted to take Montgomery along. The negro was pursued by Corporal Coman and the police, but when an attempt to capture him was made he took the officers' clubs away from them and made a furious onslaught, nearly killing the corporal. The police used pistols, but the bullets missed. With the aid of citizens they beat him with clubs and other weapons until he was pounded to death. His negro victim and Corporal Coman will recover.

To Greet Greek Warship.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The Greek colony in New York is preparing to give a hearty welcome to the officers of the Greek warship Navarchos Miaoules, which is due to arrive here today. The vessel is the first warship of that nation to visit America, and the first port she stopped at in the United States was Philadelphia. After her visit here she will proceed to Boston. Several dinners and receptions have been planned for the entertainment of the visitors, and at one of them a silver vase costing $400 will be presented to the ship by the Greeks living in America.

Accidentally Shot.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 24.—William Hammers, aged 20 years, was shot and instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of his cousin, Harvey Myers. The revolver was self acting, and while replacing it in his pocket after firing it in the air to frighten another young man he accidentally pulled the trigger. The 38 caliber ball lodged in the right temple of young Hammers. The young men had been intimate friends all their lives and were on their way home from a neighbor's, where they had spent the evening.

Postoffice Robbed.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 24.—Four burglars entered the postoffice at Bergen and blew open the safe with a powerful explosive. The terrific explosion aroused every one within a quarter of a mile. The office was completely wrecked. The robbers secured a large quantity of stamps and quite a sum of money, the exact amount of which is not yet known, and escaped.

AMERICAN LOSS ONE HUNDRED MEN.

Renewed Activity of Insurgents Ordered From Hongkong—Aguinaldo Declines to Consider Peace Proposals.

MANILA, Sept. 24.—The insurgent demonstrations last week prove to have been more extended than was at first reported. From Cagayan and Isabela provinces and the northwestern districts of Luzon come accounts of insurgent operations and American precautionary measures. Merchants in the province of Albay are getting their hemp to Manila as rapidly as possible, fearing that otherwise it will be burned by the insurgents.

At Iloilo there was considerable anxiety lest an uprising should occur, but the insurgents there are ceasing their activity and returning in white clothing to the garrisoned towns of the district. As a resumption of insurgent operations is considered quite probable the Americans there are taking the necessary steps.

The American casualties in killed, wounded or missing during the last ten days approach 100, including those at Siniloan, at the east end of Laguna de Bay, where the insurgents after the engagement delivered ten bodies of our dead.

Documents captured in Manila show that the insurgent activity in this vicinity was ordered by rebels here, following instructions from the Hongkong junta.

Senor Buencamino has received from Aguinaldo an answer regarding his peace proposals. Aguinaldo declines to consider them and declares that he is unwilling to agree to a compromise.

Archbishop Nozaleda, with Bishop Hevia and ten friars, will leave for Spain Tuesday. He goes to render his decennial religious report. He says he expects to return here. During his absence the affairs of the archdiocese will be administered by Mgr. Chapelle.

The amnesty expired Sept. 21, and the conditions that existed previously have been resumed.

An insurgent proclamation, signed last month by Aguinaldo, directing that American prisoners be set at liberty, that good treatment be accorded to captives and that $40 be paid to each American surrendering, has reached Manila. Few prisoners were released under the proclamation. Two who have just arrived from the Cailless district report that the insurgents in that locality are in "better spirits" than they had displayed at any time before since April.

The insurgents recently murdered ruthlessly three persons in the Lukban district.

Guiana Goldfields.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—George H. Moulton of Colorado, United States consul to Demerara, in British Guiana, has arrived in New York, being on leave of absence. In discussing affairs in British Guiana Mr. Moulton said: "The rush to the goldfields of British Guiana and Venezuela, which was expected to follow the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary dispute, failed to materialize. The new boundary fixed by the arbitration court is quietly accepted by the people of British Guiana and Venezuela, and no further dispute is likely to arise. Gold mining is still being prosecuted in the British Guiana goldfields, and there are a few Americans who are trying to make their fortunes. The yield of these goldfields is about $2,000,000 a year. All the gold obtained is secured by placer mining. No shafts have yet been sunk for lode mining. Mining in British Guiana is attended by the greatest difficulties and hardships, and there is also some danger to life and limb. The goldfields are all at some distance in the interior. To reach them the miners have to travel through swamp lands and dense brush, which are infested by alligators, enormous reptiles and wild beasts."

Mr. Bryan's Hurried Trip.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 24.—Hon. W. J. Bryan left here for Chicago last night over the Burlington railroad. The trip was suddenly decided upon and will be hurriedly made. It is Mr. Bryan's intention to leave Chicago this evening on his return trip, reaching Lincoln early tomorrow morning. In reply to a question as to the reason for the hurried visit Mr. Bryan said it was to confer with Chairman Jones and other members of the national committee concerning the campaign and especially with reference to his future movements.

Socialists In Congress.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The international Socialist congress opened yesterday in Wagram hall in this city. The proceedings were far from harmonious, owing to a bitter disagreement between the Socialist supporters of the French government, headed by M. Jaures, and other French factions following MM. Guesde, Vaillant and La Farge regarding the election of officers. Language more picturesque than polite was exchanged between the rival sections.

Large Coal Deal.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 24.—A large coal deal has been completed by the purchase by Coleman & Liggett, real estate brokers, representing local capitalists, of 2,500 acres of coal lands at Houstonville, on the Panhandle road, for $200,000. The purchasers have already formed the Hickory Coal company and will develop the tract at once. It has a six inch vein, and the mine when opened will have a capacity of 3,000 tons daily.

Mr. Martine and the Martin Act.

The result of the Martin Act tax sale in the case of James E. Martine is the culmination of a long contention in which there are decidedly two sides.

Several years ago, when it was decided to extend Park avenue from Seventh street through to the city line at the edge of Middlesex county, an ordinance was passed condemning the necessary land for the proposed improvement. The proposed new street passed a long distance through land owned by Mr. Martine. His property was taken for the street and also a levy of $2,000 was made on him. He gave up his property without an objection and also promptly paid the $2,000 assessment. After this the city passed an ordinance ordering that it be graded to city grade and telford paved. Notice was given that if the improvements were not done in sixty days the city would do the work and assess the expense against the property. Mr. Martine was the first to respect the city's behest, which involved an expense of $8,500. His adjoining neighbors, Clawson, Randolph and Stelle, refused to do the work. The city then carried out the improvements and assessed the cost against the property.

The opponents were determined not recognize the authority of this city in this respect, and they engaged the legal services of William J. Magie, now Chancellor of New Jersey, and through his argument and presentation the ordinances passed by the city were set aside as illegal. This resulted in the cost of the improvements being assessed on the whole city, Mr. Martine being compelled to pay his proportionate share with the rest of the taxpayers.

Now Mr. Martine's contention has been and is that he should be placed in the same position as his neighbors, and that he was and is entitled to have the sum he expended under an ordinance, afterwards declared illegal, returned to him or else allowed as an offset. In his efforts to have this action taken he failed, though it would seem that justice and equity demand that it should be allowed.

The property owned by Mr. Martine and the estate he controls, which was sold under the Martin Act, is worth many times the sum involved, and will now soon be settled and Mr. Martine will lose none of his holdings.

Mr. Martine has always had the reputation of being one of the most liberal and progressive citizens of Plainfield, and has done more than anyone else in Plainfield in developing for residential purposes the property involved under the Martin Act. One of his most notable public acts was the donation of the lot to the Park Avenue Baptist church, on which its edifice now stands. The lot cost Mr. Martine $6,500 in cash but a short before he gave it to the church.

The Nomination of Mr. Bergen.

The nomination of Hon. James J. Bergen for Congress in the Third district by the Democrats comes as a great surprise, as his name had not been associated with the candidacy in any way previous to the gathering of the delegates at the convention held in New Brunswick.

The Third district has been considered one of the close districts in New Jersey, where the Democrats have a good chance of winning. Mr. Bergen has spent many years of his life in the performance of public duties and is an experienced campaigner who should bring a vigor and ability to the candidacy that will prove effective in the battle for votes.

Four years ago it is true that Mr. Bergen was in open opposition to many of the factors in the Democratic party that are still dominant, but, like thousands of other Democrats who bolted Bryan in 1896, Mr. Bergen has seen "the error of his way" from a partisan standpoint, and now appears deeply interested in the success of the principles and candidates of the Kansas City convention.

His acceptance of the nomination for Congress means that he will enter upon the campaign with the purpose of defeating, if possible, the aspiration of Congressman Howell to be returned to the National halls of legislation. In this intention he possesses many winning qualities.

Mr. Bergen is a native of Somerville, having been born there October 1, 1847. He has been signally honored by his townsmen many times, and is regarded as one of the most substantial and capable citizens of the community. For many years Mr. Bergen has been closely identified with the local government of Somerville, and much of the present admirable condition of affairs in that municipality is due to the attention and work Mr. Bergen has given. He has served several terms in the House of the Assembly in the State Legislature, one of them being as Speaker. There he was recognized as one of the best and most experienced legislators.

The Newark News says it is not easy to see what excuse there is for the increase in the retail price of coal at the present juncture, and then says: "The coal for which $6 a ton is charged today is a part of the same stock which a few days ago was sold at $5. It was all purchased months ago and at the low summer figure. Retail dealers all make it a point to lay in big stocks in the summer months in readiness for the fall and winter trade, and it is extremely doubtful if there is one in this vicinity who has not enough on hand to supply his customers for months. It ought to be time enough to raise prices on consumers when the dealers are compelled to pay more for their stocks."

The Daily Press is in receipt of a letter today from W. H. H. Wyckoff, of Raritan, to the effect that he has decided not to be a candidate for the nomination of County Clerk of Somerset county at the hands of the Republican convention. He says: "I am now, as always, most deeply interested in the welfare of the Republican party and shall do my utmost for the success of the whole ticket."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The tiniest mite of humanity in New Jersey, perhaps, is the new born baby boy of Mrs. Wm. Leighman, of Cedar Brook, about five miles from Glassboro. Though a physically perfect child, with fully developed power to emphasize its feeling in the way that babies do, this newcomer weighed two ounces less than two pounds when he was ushered into the world. An ordinary teacup engulfed his tiny head and his mother's wedding ring made him a bracelet, which lay loose about his arm above the elbow.

ployed in the foundry at Ponds but has been backing the St. Mary's team. Dodd is married and has one son and is the son of Warden Chas. W. Dodd, of the county jail at Elizabeth.

King and Newman have retained Lawyer Wm. Newcorn to represent them in the case. King claims that he accused Dodd of playing "dirty" ball and that Dodd made a pass at him. So King says he struck back. At the same time somebody else struck Dodd and after the latter fell he was kicked by somebody in the crowd.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

A dispute between two prominent residents over the ownership of some apples on the Eisenman property came near causing a tragedy last Saturday. Each man claimed the apples had been given to him by Mr. Eisenman's gardener, and insisted on picking them up. Blows soon took the place of words and one of the men was having decidedly the worst of it when he ran to the house and secured a revolver. The victor immediately took to his heels and fled before the angry man could get a chance to fire upon him. Both belligerents appeared before Justice Storm a few hours later to take out warrants, but the matter was finally patched up to the satisfaction of both without issuing any. The men are now the best of friends and the apples will be divided between them.

PLAINS AND PANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 24.—The question that is agitating a number of the residents of the village is, was Henry C. Meyers' house visited by burglars on Friday night about 12:30? Three reliable witnesses say it was. While the three in question were standing on Park avenue talking on Friday night at the above hour a stranger was seen approaching from the direction of the trolley. When he saw the three standing in the street he started to stagger as if drunk and rather than pass them turned down Bartle avenue. This aroused the curiosity of one of them and he concluded to watch the man's movement. The stranger as soon as he was in the shadows of the trees sobered up and very nimbly jumped the fence surrounding Mr. Myers' property on the corner. As this was rather suspicious at this time of night, he concluded to go back to his companions and tell them. It was decided that the three should investigate, so they went down Bartle avenue as far as the place where the man was seen to jump over. As they were looking for some signs of him, one of them saw a light on the lower floor of Mr. Meyers' residence. Their one thought then was of burglars and they proceeded to lay plans for his capture. The house was surrounded as best they could. Unfortunately one of the watchers made a slight noise. This sound was heard by the fellow and the light disappeared at once. After waiting for some minutes for the fellow to appear it was decided to awake Mr. Meyers and make a search of the house. This was done but no signs of the burglar could be found. Not a thing was missing and every door and window in the house was securely locked. The story is told by three reliable men and each one declares that they saw the man on the street and saw the outlines of him through the light window curtain.

TRAFFIC IN WOMEN

Queer Relic of Barbarism Among Indian Territory Wards.

Indian Maidens Knocked Down to the Highest Bidder—Mercenary White Men Are Striving to Control Their Lands.

There is a queer relic of barbarism in Oklahoma and the Indian territory—a legalized traffic in human beings, the pretty daughters of the "noble red men." For Indian maidens are often pretty and occasionally beautiful, although few of these descriptions are seen in the east. The regions named are inhabited chiefly by the Creeks, Choctaws, Chicasaws, Kiawas and Comanches, with a few Apaches thrown in to lend spice to the agglomeration. They live in peace, but not together, as each tribe has its allotment of land and trespassing is strictly forbidden.

Many of the Indians on these reservations are wealthy. Their lands, which are allotted to them in severalty, are fertile and valuable and each head of a household is usually possessed of flocks and herds that render him independent of the rest of the world. Yet some of these aborigines are not satisfied with the products of their farms and ranches and not infrequently seek to add to their incomes by selling their daughters who have arrived at marriageable age to the whites who may be willing to form such alliances.

Various means have at times been adopted to check this evil and to reserve to the red man not only his lands and cattle, but his women as well. Some years ago the legislature of the Indian nation passed a law requiring that a fee of $1,000 be paid by those desiring to contract a mixed marriage. But there were plenty of white men on the border who were willing to pay that amount for a bride as long as there was a certainty that she would bring to him ten times that sum. And so for a long time past there has been maintained a disgraceful traffic in brides. Beautiful young squaws have been placed upon the auction block and knocked down to the highest bidder. Oftentimes they thus become the unwilling brides of worthless husbands. The barbarous custom has drawn many white adventurers, attracted merely by pecuniary gain, for many of the squaws have a headright worth $5,000 or more. The consideration for a bride is usually ponies valued at about ten dollars each. At a sale last January a pretty member of the Osage tribe was sold for 283 ponies, or $2,830.

GIRL SOLD AT AUCTION.
(Custom That Prevails Before Many Indian Weddings.)

It is not the whites alone who purchase wives at these auctions. Quanah Parker, chief of Comanches, is a pronounced polygamist, he being credited with no less than eight wives purchased at the auction mart. Ten years ago the young warrior became smitten with the charms of Too-nocey, an unusually attractive and well-educated maiden. The father strongly favored Parker's suit. The girl's wishes were not consulted. She was commanded, however, to encourage the young warrior's advances. There was brisk competition at the sale, at which Too-nocey's father officiated as auctioneer. Chief Few Tails was Parker's closest rival. His first bid when the auctioneer cried: "How much am I bid for the pretty squaw?" was 50 ponies. Parker raised him 50 more. Few Tails promptly followed with the offer of 250. Then they began to raise each other by small numbers until Parker finally squelched his rival by bidding 500 ponies, which was more than he possessed and quite out of Few Tails' reach. Parker satisfied the girl's father that he would make good the deficit and Too-nocey became his first bride. He worked long and faithfully to pay for his wife and was soon made chief of his tribe, since when he has been industriously adding to his harem.

The Osages do not let a bride go on a "stand-off." The consideration must be forthcoming at once. The weddings of this tribe are gay affairs. A number of bucks race for the bride's pony and maiden squaws compete in the same way for her robe. During the festivities the bride, elaborately gowned in a white robe of buckskin covered with silk and adorned with many ornamentations, including costly diamonds, emerges from her wigwam. During the race for her pony the bride's mother divests her of her beautiful wedding garments, leaving her clad only in a night-robe. Then the bridegroom runs from his wigwam, throws his blanket around her and carries her off to his happy home. No word is spoken throughout the ceremony. After the wedding the guests assemble in another part of the town and feast on boiled dog, fried dog, canned dog and dog soup.

My wife, who was troubled with headache, tired feeling and colic, says she felt better after taking the very first Tabule."

THE CAMPING WOMAN.

Some Timely Suggestions From One Who Has Been There.

—BY ELIZABETH LYON.—

The season for camping is now on, and camping parties are being organized in all parts of the country for the regular summer outing. That woman has until within a year or two been considered a luxury in camp life rather than an essential part of it is shown by the considerable masculine monopoly in the literature of camping as truly as in the camping itself. But there is no good reason why women should not share the pleasures and benefits of weeks in the woods or "roughing it" on the brinks of lakes and streams as well as her men friends.

The term "camping out" has an extended range of employment. People use the expression to include every form of outing from a season in the most virgin form of wilderness to weeks passed on their own farms, where friends may drive out and where mail and supplies are to be had every day.

But camping as it is known to the man of the woods is what the woman of the day should learn to share with all the rest of her hardier relatives. A refuge in the woods far enough away to be beyond the reach of friends and unwelcome visitors, really away from the world, preferably without communication except when you seek it yourself, where at least a paddle across the lake is necessary to reach supplies and mail, this is the place that I would suggest for women who want to enjoy camp life as the men know it.

For the woman who is not behind the times it does not matter much whether the camp is to be in the woods, on the seashore or the mountains, but there is one feature of the life that does matter, and matter very much, and that is, as she herself would put it, "What shall I wear?"

In camping out the dress question is bound to be reduced to the minimum. There are two sorts of women who join the camping parties. One appears on the scene with trunks full of clothes, armed with ruffles and flounces for the summer siege upon masculine hearts. The other makes her first appearance in shirt waist and short skirt, and her last appearance, after all the baggage has been packed and sent ahead on the homeward trip, is in the same costume. The first is a summer hotel girl in the wrong place, and the last is the camping girl.

Men would be glad to take the ladies along on their enviable outings into the woods if only they would show common sense enough to leave their frou frous behind. To become popular in a camp leave your dressmaker's "creations" at home, take a half dozen thick plain shirt waists of pique, gingham or percale, several golf skirts and possibly a white duck skirt and a pretty shirt waist for dress occasions. The sensible woman who can afford it will add a couple of khaki skirts to her wardrobe this year, for that material has found its level in the camp in the woods.

A rubber covering of some sort is an absolute necessity when camping, and in this connection I wish to offer an original suggestion which has been tried by my own party and been declared a great success. In my early experience in the woods, in common with others, I carried a mackintosh. Its uses are limited, however, and at best it is a hot, uncomfortable cover. The many occasions which called for a rubber covering suggested an idea to me, and as a proof of its success I can only urge you to try the arrangement and see for yourselves that it is even better than I claim.

Get three yards of rubber cloth from a dealer in carriage goods. It will cost 40 cents a yard and comes 50 inches wide. In the center of the goods cut a lengthwise slit just long enough to admit of the head being put through. That is all there is to it.

If you should happen to be in a canoe or rowboat and a storm comes up, slip your head through the slit, draw the rear end under you and sit upon it, spread the front end over the body and legs, and you may defy wind or rain to penetrate the covering. The sheet is sufficiently wide to project well beyond the body, giving perfect ventilation and the free use of the arms.

For general wear golf shoes are the best, or at least those having thick soles and stout uppers, while a pair of rubber boots should be in every woman's trunk when she starts out to camp. Heavy flannel underwear and a loose jacket, preferably Norfolk style, are absolutely necessary.

With such an outfit a woman is ready for cold and wet days that sometimes come to make the pleasant days in camp all the more enjoyable by reason of contrast, and besides she stands on a secure footing with the man who knows how to dress in camp, which, after all, is no small part of her happiness.

The woman who has been on camping vacations soon learns many little tricks whereby she can make her tent comfortable and pretty without the inconvenience of many trunks and much baggage. One trunk should be the limit of every member of the party, and when two or three members of one family camp together in one tent a single trunk should answer for the three.

The sort of trunk taken has much to do with the attractiveness of one's tent. The one having a drawerlike arrangement of the trays is by all odds the best. It becomes a simple matter to get one's belongings, and the trunk may be made into a sort of dressing table.

A convenient centertable can be made by passing the central pole of the tent through a barrel. When covered with a couple of yards of pretty cretonne, this makes an attractive addition to the tent's decoration.

Portable frame cots are desirable if the camp is convenient to passable roads, but when much of the baggage has to be carried by hand a half mile or more it is a case of the less baggage the better. To those who object to sleeping on boughs upon the ground an easily portable bed is to be recommended. Such a one is made from a strong piece of canvas about 7 feet long and 6 feet wide. The long edges are seamed together, making a bag with both ends open. To make the bed two light poles are run through the bag, the ends being supported in crochet sticks driven into the earth. Short pieces of wood of proper length are placed between the ends of the poles to keep them apart. This makes a comfortable spring bed, which can be taken down and put up each day. If desired, the bag may be filled with hemlock boughs, making a stuffed couch. Frame cots may be transformed into attractive couches for day use by covering them with rugs or whatever is most convenient. The heavy green or dull red blankets which are sold for camp use make the most desirable covering for cots.

When a camp fire does not supply sufficient light, the bicycle lamp finds a place of usefulness. It fits the front pole of the tent as it once fitted the front of a bicycle, but a commonplace tin candlestick with a candle and a glass chimney beats it.

The camp refrigerator is an ingenious device. Even where there is a general mess inhabitants of each tent insist on individual supplies for the sake of entertaining now and then. A barrel sunk into the ground at the back of the tent makes the finest kind of refrigerator for keeping supplies. Women generally like to make their own coffee, because it is pleasant to make it in the tents after supper and because, too, it preserves the little formality which keeps one from becoming wholly uncivilized. Condensed milk, sugar and a small oil stove go hand in hand with camping out in a civilized fashion.

When woman goes in for hunting camps and for life in the wilds, she throws all such compromises between town life and wood life to the winds. The bed of boughs is good enough then, and the flames of the fire are better than the bicycle lamp with its insistent smell of kerosene. Even in camping there are degrees.

For the benefit of the uninitiated let it be said that there are two classes of people who should not go camping, invalids and small children. Only those in sound health should venture the exposure that all campers must take. While life in a tent is well calculated to reinvigorate the city toiler worn out by nervous strain and overwork, it is not at all suited for persons of delicate constitution.

The Cat and the Queen.

Pussy cat, pussy cat, where hast thou been?
I've been up to London to look at the Queen;
Pussy cat, pussy cat, what did you there?
Climbed up on the 'busses to wonder and stare.
Went into places and came out again;
Purred for the women and "s-s-ppt!" at the men;
Got myself lost among people and things;
Climbed over tombstones of duffers and kings;
Watched the procession and followed the band,
And kept my own fur in a furriner's land.

He Takes a Turn Around London and Tells What He Sees and Hears

(Copyright, 1900, by Robert J. Burdette.)

LONDON is the only city on earth so big that it doesn't have to care about it. It is larger than Chicago, but not so big as the whole state of Illinois, so there is yet hope for Chicago. None, however, for any other city in America. Which is all right; no other city in America ambitious to pass London. Good city for correspondent. Feel good-natured; praise everything in London up to skies; Londoners don't care a ha'penny; not at all grateful; knew it all before. Correspondent in evil mood; got mixed up in English money and "done himself up" in making change; or got mixed up with cab driver, and got done up in other fashion; takes it out of London generally; rakes town fore and aft; calls bad names and uses harsh language; empties vials of wrath and whole carboys of sarcasm; Londoners do not mind it; just as pleasant to him as ever; will read his letter if he shows it to them; enjoy it with him, very likely; see no reason, however, for making row about it. Correspondent, therefore, rejoices that has made mighty spicy reading for home consumption, and nobody's feelings hurt. Everybody happy.

This capital of oppressed and enslaved people—who do not seem to know it—has very deep convictions on subject of free speech. Man being Briton, born under weight of crown and scepter, has a right to say what he thinks, and say it out of doors, in open air, very loud and with skirmish lines of "H's" mounted on disappearing carriages making speech vividly picturesque. Last Sunday afternoon heard dozen speakers in Hyde Park orating and preaching on politics, mostly "agin the government;" socialism, exclusively against government, and six or eight different kinds of religion—not one being the established kind. Not long ago, however, several fervent street preachers were arrested and cast into prison. This shows that the heavy hand of monarchy and the iron heel of despotism has—come to remember, however, those arrests of Salvation Army street preachers were made on Boston Common, which is quite altogether another thing. Cradle of liberty too old to rock all sorts of babies in, however. One thing to be said about preachers in Hyde Park, however. They have freedom to preach. Haven't heard any of them smiting Sabbath stillness with loud-sounding cymbal and resonant bass drum.

Used to think fondness for oratory strictly American characteristic; it is inherited trait, however. Our cousins very fond of making speech on every possible occasion. Rather given to great length, however, exhausting subject, speaker, audience, in inverse order. But they are excellent listeners, as well; Hyde Park speakers seem well informed; very ready, quick, and usually very apt with reply to any interrupting question, but in such deadly, intense, serious earnest. Those I have heard are mostly utterly humorless. I mean, in their speeches. They have never "frivoled" in my hearing, and I have wondered much how they held so well the audiences they gather so quickly around them. They discuss everything that is debated in parliament, and, as a rule, with a little more fluency and ease of delivery.

If you want to hear the British "er—er" in its perfection you must shun the Marble Arch and attend a session of parliament. I will admit that my countrymen do talk through their noses, but we do not tie our words together with irregular links of "er—ers." English preachers do not do this. But appears to be unwritten law compelling parliamentary orators to do so. To err is not merely human; it is essentially English. To forgive the errers is divine.

"Where Did You Get That Hat?"

All sorts and conditions of men and male children in our mother country wear the top hat—the high, slick, shiny "chimney pot," stove pipe hat of our own beloved land. The hat which with us is sacred to funerals, weddings, St. Patrick's day, a few political clubs, now and then a commercial traveler, who wears it with a sack coat and tan shoes, and full dress occasions east of the Mississippi. But here the venerable helmet goes with everybody and everything and on every occasion. Sundays the bus drivers wear it. School boys from the age of nine and upwards—I have lost my notes and that nine may really be a six—I think it is; and it goes with any kind of a coat, though I think a Prince Albert coat, a circus waistcoat, striped trousers, colored shirt, white collar, red necktie and tan shoes seems to be about the commonest combination during business hours. In fact, I think an Englishman's headgear—next to his shoes, which are sometimes heavier and clumsier than those our plowmen wear, is one of the most striking things in all his apparel. Anything that will go on his head will do.

And on hot days—or rather, on the days that he calls hot, he wraps a puggaree, or a handkerchief, or a lawn scarf, or any old pennant or streamer about any sort of hat he happens to be wearing, and sails around in it with all perfection of gravity and unconsciousness. He used to play cricket in a top hat, but for some inexplicable reason he has given it up. It was certainly heavier and more inconvenient than anything he has substituted for it. However, a man with a good hard English head on his shoulders has a right to wear any sort of covering for it that his fancy may suggest, or the unwritten law of centuries of tradition command. And they are both the same thing to him.

A Mild Mannered Roar.

The "roar of London" was another of the vanishing wonders of Carcasonne. 'Tisn't any noisier than New York. Not so noisy—not nearly, because of its superior pavements for one thing, and the absence of the whirring, rushing, clanging trolleys for another. If, among the other delights of what Byron called this "dear, damned, distracting town," you want your senses thrilled with the fabled "roar of London," you will do wisely to get that thrill before you sail. London never sleeps; there is a certain grind and hum of life and traffic that goes on incessantly, save perhaps in the early morning, for London is a late riser—but it roars you as gently as any sucking dove compared with the crash and clatter of the New York pavements. The street traffic of London growls and hums, but it doesn't roar. The "roar of London" differs from that of any great American city in quality. It certainly is impressive, this steady hum like a great mill or a mighty cataract. Minnehaha falls makes a sharper, keener, more distracting "splash" than Niagara. In fact, the mighty cataract doesn't make any "splash" at all. Well, the "roar of London" is Niagara, and it impresses you much in the same way.

The other night we stood to see the mob go past, hearing a wild whooping and shouting coming down the street. It was a detachment of the fire brigade on its way to a fire, whooping at the vehicular traffic to stand still or get out of the way. At home a clanging gong, with terror in its sharp detonation, would have cleared the way. I have been told by some liars of good repute that the roar of London could be heard clear across the English channel. On clear days, they said. Long before I set out on this journey to Carcasonne I quit believing one-half the things I was told by serious and sincere minded people. Trouble is, I quit on the wrong half. Now I'm going to begin on the other half.

And then, again, London isn't cursed with the juvenile street cries that add to the beclam of American city streets. Not that it has no street cries; there are plenty of them. But they are mainly made by grown-up men, and the carrying power of the mature voice is a poor weak thing when it lines up against the shrill treble of neglected and ill-fed childhood. An American newsboy, seven or eight years old, by slightly corrugating his brows and opening his mouth till it hides the rest of his face, can shriek: "Pa-piz! pa-peez!" until he can be heard across Lake Michigan. In the narrowest part, of course; the narrowest part. Whereas, the newsboy on our street in London is a youth of 35, with a deep gutteral voice which can just carry across the street his one exchanging slogan of "Late special! 'Eavy fightin'!" which grumbles to our ears evening by evening, just as the long procession of street musicians has tinkled, roared, tankled, wheezed, whistled and tooted by.

Did you ever think what would happen if the human voice grew and developed with the rest of the human body and the functions thereof? Just listen some time to a baby 14 months old, preaching anarchy in its native language, and at the top of its undeveloped voice. Then figure up, in ohms, volts and ampheres and volumes, what that voice would be at 21 if it kept pace with the human's physical growth. The result would be something too awful to contemplate.

I have read that Charles Wesley could preach to an audience of 1,000 people in the open air and make every one of his auditors hear him. I never believed the story—and won't believe it now, unless I am permitted to qualify it with the explanatory clause that he was only five years old at the time. Then it goes. I don't know how they keep the newsboys so quiet in London; they permit everybody else to make all the noise they please. For one thing, the kid carries with him, as a substitute for his voice, a printed bill with the necessary "scare heads" emblazoned thereon, which he may read that runneth. It sells the passer-by what there is in the news, but it adds nothing to the city roar. As there are over 500 papers published in London, one can see that it is well they couldn't all shout at once. Nor shout the same thing. Which they certainly don't.

Two Bob and a Tanner.

Have been inoculated for English money, and it appears to be taking nicely. No longer expect 20 cents change when bus conductor takes two pence out of a shilling. Shilling looks enough like quarter to be one, so called it that for convenience—or inconvenience, rather. Find that English money is as painfully exact as it is excruciatingly cumbersome in its computation. Is believed to have been invented as one of the tortures of inquisition. Don't know of anybody who believes it except myself, but that is sufficient to establish theory. Man who invented system must have had brain shaped like a pretzel. Have to know what a "pound" is by intuition. Not a sign on it to tell what it is. Even the appellation is not inevitably suggested, for it is sometimes called a sovereign (pronounced suvvering and sufferink, impartially).

A Mean Tip.

Speaking of pence, the other day I gave a man tuppence for a tip at a booth of some sort. I had used sixpences and shillings for this purpose until an English friend assured me that a silver contribution wasn't always necessary or expected. A Californian has no use for a cent, anyhow, except, of course, on the Sabbath day. Then to be sure, his heart swells with generous emotion and Christian sympathy, in common with the deep religious sentiment of that Sacred day all over the Christian world. The Californian may be a little frank and outspoken in his wickedness, when he is sinful, and his stardards of morality may not measure up to the austerity of New England on all occasions. But he is no heathen, and when the plate is passed around in the Sacred edifice—sometimes profanely called a church, or meeting house—he rises to the support of the Gospel on the same plane of lofty giving and self-denial that usually thrills the assemblages of the saints, and feels around among his gold and silver coin for a penny as deftly as any deacon in all the country east of the Rockies. I meant, of course, that he had no use for a cent during business hours. That's different. The Sunday collection is indifferent.

So when it came to giving a grown man four cents, I had to find fault with the service, which was perfectly satifactory, to nerve myself up to it. But when I did this the man apologized and seemed so genuinely sorry and tried so eagerly to make good the imagined and invented neglect, that my face grew hot. I told him, very shortly, that I wanted to hear no more about it and to bring me my bill. He told me the amount, but said if I was dissatisfied—and he looked at me so appealingly and aches for the duke, who has to keep the tale of his millions in L. S. D. Poot duke! And I always accept a ha'penny for a penny, although I am too honest to pay it out as such. Yes, I am (accent heavy on the "yes").

AN ENGLISHMAN'S HEADGEAR IS ONE OF THE MOST STRIKING THINGS IN HIS APPAREL.

Then there is a silver crown, which is worth $1.20, and looks it, and a half-crown (pronounced arf-crown), which is a fair twin to our own half-dollar, and is worth more, and the florin, which is worth but 48 cents but looks so much like the "arf-crown" that you invariably receive it as such, but never under any circumstances do you pay it out at the same fictitious appreciation.

Then there is the shilling, which is worth 25 cents, but is reckoned at 12 pence for no reason under heaven but to confuse the American traveler, whose loyalty and love for the mother country is thereby sorely tried. Then the sixpence, which you spend for a dime every time you look at it, thus shaving yourself two cents.

At first I thought the simplest and easiest way to learn the currency was always to give the man a piece of money beyond the value of article or service, and then count up the change at my leisure. But when I struck a trial balance at the end of the first week I discovered that my secret was no longer my own. The entire British empire was onto me, and I was drifting with fearful rapidity toward the shoals and quicksands of bankruptcy. Then I had all my money changed into pence and carried it around in a hand bag, but this wore me out. Then I undertook the plan of challenging the accuracy of the change every time, and defiantly compelling the man to count it over for me, while I fixed him with a Sherlock Holmes stare. But he always counted it over with lightning rapidity and in the language of the country, and I invariably discovered that he "'ad given me thrippence hover," which he pocketed with a touch of the hat and such a hearty "thank you, sir," that I couldn't contradict him again.

Finally I sat down at odd times and played solitaire with all sorts of British coin, cheating myself outrageously every time both in paying out to myself and making change to me until I learned all the values accurately, got the official and popular names for all the coins, learned all the patter and manipulation of it, and it's just as hard to do now as it was the day I landed. I look with longing envy upon the crossing sweep and the street musician at London with all their little fortune in convenient pennies, and my heart glanced toward the cashier's desk so apprehensively, that my fingers rebuked my head and closed upon a shilling instead of the cumbersome two pence. The man's grateful "thank you" made my heart warm as I passed out of the door, and the glow lasted pleasantly until I discovered that instead of a shilling I had given the villain a florin. That made me hot, heart, head, lungs, liver and bacon. Just my luck.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

ORIGIN OF THE JAPANESE.

Descended from a Race That Wandered from the Western Part of Asia.

The origin of the natives of the mikado's empire is not known. There exist, however, strong proofs that their forebears emigrated to Japan some centuries before the birth of Christ, relates the New York Press. The investigations of Gowland strengthen this belief. This explorer has examined the still existing ancient stone quarries of Japan, and concludes that they were the work of the present race. Long ago the whole island empire was populated by "Ainos," of whom a few still live in the northern part of the Island Saghalin, having been forced northward by a stronger race. Their origin can be learned only by their customs, their stone quarrying and the building of huge stone monuments. These stone monuments are found also in northern and western Europe, and are known as dolmes, and it is noteworthy that these old emblems of Europe and Japan are similar. There is none in China, and those in Corea are dissimliar to those of Japan. From this the conclusion is drawn that the Japanese were descended from a race that wandered from the western part of Asia until they reached the island of Japan, and there settled. According to Gowland these stone works were begun in 200 B. C. and finished about 600 or 700 A. D. This race must have reached a stage of civilization and culture.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

James J. Jeffries the preminer-pugilistic star of the squared circle has scored a huge success in Clay M. Greene's new American play "The Man From the West," which will be seen at Music Hall tomorrow night. He is said to be a better actor than James J. Corbett whom everyone must admit did very well. The art of self-defence, bag punching and training exercises for physical developments are vividly illustrated in the new play "The Man From the West." The genial Champion has surprised his most sanguine admirers by the histrionic abilities he has displayed in this melo-drama of western life. A car load of scenery is utilized in the presentation of the play. Manager William A. Brady, who made an actor out of Corbett, is exceedingly sanguine that Jeffries will discount him. So satisfied is Mr. Brady with Jeffries' histrionic abilities, he is contemplating an early production of "Othello" and "The Gladiator." From a physical standpoint there is no doubt but that Jeffries will be eminently successful.

* * * * * * *

An altogether too brief engagement of that great drama "'Way Down East" is announced for tonight at Musich Hall. It is too brief, because if one is to believe what is said of the success of this famous play elsewhere, it is sure to create a senation. It is a story of New England life under the direction of William A. Brady, who is responsible for the metropolitan production of the same play. For thirteen months it delighted New Yorkers, and surely can repeat its former successes when it returns to the metropolis again. It has a special appeal to any one morally inclined who can grasp an excellent lesson, exquisitely and refreshingly told. A person who has gone to see "'Way Down East" will want to see it again, and will want to see another play of the same tone. The motive and the atmosphere of the play evidence a master mind in construction. It is wholesome, elevating in tone and at all times unobjectionable. The rural atmosphere is cleverly maintained and the characters convincing and interesting. There is an old New England farmer, a manly hero, an eccentric constable, a physician, an absurd professor, a delightful heroine, a gossipy old maid, a dainty ingenuous little miss and other very quaint and yet life-like characters, the village choir and a score of other features that seem slight in themselves, but all serving to make up a most inviting and pleasurable whole.

"Uncle Sam in China" is the title of a new play to be produced at Music Hall, Tuesday, October 2d. The play is said to be very sensational, the scenes and incidents being based upon the principal events of the present Chinese War. The siege of Tien-Tsin and the blowing up of the gates of Pekin are prominent features. The play was a great success at the Star Theatre, New York, recently.

THE CATHEDRAL AT MONZA.

Curious Relics in the Town Where the Late King Humbert Was Killed.

The cathedral dedicated to St. Giovanni is undoubtedly the chief object of interest. It was built in the fourteenth century, the architecture being in the Lombard-Gothic style. Marco da Campione, who deservedly won much fame for the artistic nature of his work, was the designer of this handsome edifice, which he built on the site of a church founded in 590 by the famous Lombard queen, Theodolinda, says the London Mail.

The cathedral has double aisles and a transept, and is flanked on both sides with chapels. Should your eye chance to rest above the portal you will notice a very curious relief, which represents Queen Theodolinda amid her treasures, while below is a design portraying the baptism of Christ.

In the east transept is a relief representing the coronation of Emperor Charles IV.

The celebrated iron crown with which the German emperors were crowned as kings of Lombardy is preserved in the chapel to the right of the choir. This is the identical relic which was used at the coronation of Emperor Charles V. in 1530, of Napoleon in 1805 and of Emperor Ferdinand I. in 1838.

It consists of a broad hoop of gold adorned with precious stones, round the interior of which is a thin strip of iron, which, tradition says, was made from one of the nails of the cross, which was brought by Empress Helena from Palestine.

It is interesting to recall that it was used as the royal crown of the Lombards from the time of Theodolinda onward, through its present form is probably of the twelfth century.

It was carried off by the Austrians in 1859, but after the peace of 1866 was restored, and since then a charge of five francs is made for viewing the venerable relic!

The visitor to the cathedral should certainly see the treasury, which is a veritable repository of objects of historic interest. To begin with, there is a hen with seven eggs in pure gold—the idea being one of Theodolinda's to symbolize Lombardy and its seven provinces.

There are a couple of silvered loaves presented by Le Petit Caporal after his coronation, and the cross which was placed on the breast of the Lombard kings at the moment of their coronation, to say nothing of "ampullae" from the Roman catacombs—strange vessels with a dark red deposit which is supposed to be the blood of martyrs.

Treatment That Is Said to Be a Cure for Brain Fag.

Backward University Students Helped Along by Electricity—Years of Study Preceded the Application of the Current.

President Jordan, of Stanford university, California, is a hard worker himself, and has but little patience with a person of indolent habits. He has always encouraged his thousand or more students to put in their best licks while at the university, never letting them forget that success can only be won by hard work. To this unremitting industry on his part and to faithful imitation on the part of his young charges can be traced the fact that in the short space of nine years Stanford has taken her place among the leading educational institutions of the land. In spite of everything, however, the tasks imposed on the youths under his care have proven too much for them. Here and there one or two would drop out of the race and were soon forgotten by almost everybody at the university. These fallings by the wayside were the subject of frequent thought on the part of John J. Lewin, chief electrician at the university, whose misfortune it was to have a special friend drop out through inability to maintain the pace. Mr. Lewin set himself to the task of discovering some way of giving backward students such aid as would prevent them from falling behind. That was five years ago, and Mr. Lewin is now ready to give the necessary stimulant in such cases. His investigations have convinced him that electricity is a sort of elixir of youth; that it is a sure cure for brain fag, and that it will nurture the mind of youth and stimulate the wisdom of age. Mr. Lewin has ponderous and exact ways of describing just how all these miracles may be performed, but the young men at the university express the same ideas when they refer to the treatment as "hitting the brush." They unanimously agree that by following the electrician's instructions the human brain's ability to withstand the fatigue of labor is vastly increased. Those who have taken the treatment are also as one in the assertion that no harm comes therefrom.

"HITTING THE BRUSH."
(The New Electrical Cure for So-Called Brain Fag.)

Mr. Lewin has this simple method of explaining the workings of his invention: The action of electrical influences on the particles that compose the brain centers excites the nervous action controlling the flow of blood, in that way enabling the mind to do more work than would be possible for it under normal conditions. Added to this is the fact that the atomic action of the brain cells is rendered more controllable and facile, so that the usual exhaustion from long continued brain work becomes merely a mental recreation that neither drags nor worries nor exhausts. In Encina hall, the largest dormitory on the college campus, where some 3,000 freshmen have during the last few years been introduced to student life at the university, Mr. Lewin first placed his invention. He did it by way of an experiment to see how it would be taken up by the inhabitants of the hall. He well knew that to be acceptable it must be harmless looking, and he made it so.

It is a simple thing to look at—a small box of light oak wood with two small handles attached, one at each end, an electric switch and arrow indicator (the whole bound, screwed and bolted tightly together)—that is about all there is to look at. A simple thing on the whole, this mystic machine, on which you press a button to make it "alive," and to throw an unknown quality of electricity into a common metal brush attached to the box by a wire, a brush that stings when you brush your hair, giving you an uncanny sensation. That is the kind of machine Inventor Lewin placed in Encina hall.

To "hit the brush" became a byword. That was some months ago. Then Inventor Lewin told what it was—this electric machine of his—but one thing he did not tell and that was the quality of the current he uses. This secret he has patented, for in it lie all the wonderful powers with which it is claimed this invention is endowed. President Jordan is pleased with results so far, but with commendable caution thinks the time has not yet quite arrived for such unequivocal indorsement as the idea seems to deserve.

Saloon Men Uneasy Over Indictments.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 25.—Saloon keepers of New Brunswick are greatly concerned over the report that twenty indictments have been found by the Middlesex County Grand Jury. An Anti-Saloon League was formed in this city last spring, but when the summer season came on those prominent in the league went away on their vacations. The saloon men thought there would be no trouble, and the Sunday excise laws were violated with impunity. Two New York detectives had been employed by the league, and had been industriously at work collecting evidence, which was presented before the Grand Jury, with the result, it is said, that a score of indictments were found.

LEAGUERS TO MEET.

District Convention to be Held in Elizabeth on October 25th.

The tenth annual convention of the Epworth League of the Elizabeth district will be held Thursday, Oct. 25th, in St. James M. E church, Elizabeth.

The speaker for the morning meeting, which will commence at 9:45 o'clock, is Hugh R. Munro, vice-president of the Niagara Lithographing Company, of New York. In the afternoon Rev. T. B. Neely, corresponding secretary of the Sunday-school Union, and J. H. Thompson, State superintendent of Junior League work, will give addresses. The address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. Allan McRossie, of Brooklyn, and will be followed by a consecration service led by Donald McColl, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The Elizabeth district comprises all the Epworth League chapters in the Elizabeth district of the Newark conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. This district is a large one, and contains 56 leagues.

TO PROMOTE BIBLE STUDY

MR. SHELTON TALKS OF OPPORTUNITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES.

Conference Held at Y. M. C. A. Rooms Last Evening When Plans Were Made for the Proposed Meetings.

Don O. Shelton, who is working under the direction of the International committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, will address meetings in this city this evening and Thursday evening, and preliminary to them a conference was held last night with the pastors, directors and committeemen.

After supper Mr. Cahoone, president of the association, made a brief address in which he referred to the opportunity of Bible study. He was followed by W. D. Murray, who made a good address on "Why the Bible Should Be Studied." He referred to two dangers which existed. First, the danger of neglecting the Bible, and secondly, the danger of worshipping it. That of making a fetish of it.

Don O. Shelton then spoke on the opportunity and responsibility of the Y. M. C. A. for the promotion of Bible study among young men. He said in part: "No organization in the world at the present moment has a finer opportunity for the promotion of Bible study. The Y. M. C. A., that is, the North American Association, has 255,472 members, and this 10,127 or a trifle less than four per cent. are in Bible classes. The 245,000 men, who are therefore not in association classes, offer the association an unsurpassing opportunity for usefulness. But great as this opportunity is there is danger that we minimize it. There is first of all the temptation to slackness which comes from association with Christian men, who are good, but who are apathetic and cold. Another temptation to relaxation of effort come through the indifference of those whom we are seeking to help. We must put the same energy into Christian work that men are putting in the great business interests. This point was dwelt upon and illustrated. There is a tendency existing in accordance with the spirit of the age, to set the affection on things beneath rather than on things above."

Pleased With Plainfield.

William Knole, Frank Huhnond, Miss Knole and Miss Graham, all of Brooklyn, spent a very pleasant day in Plainfield Sunday as the guests of R. B. Rogers, of Westervelt avenue. Mr. Rogers drove the party about the city and concluded with a trip to Washington Rock. They were greatly pleased with the many beautiful spots about Plainfield and were particularly enthusiastic over the view from the Rock. They remained until late in the evening and promised to make a return visit in a short time.

The New Light.

V. W. Pelletran, who has a country residence at Long Hill, near Plainfield, has used a Bouronville acetylene gas generator over three years ago. He says the machine has not cost one cent for repairs, the light is more brilliant than city gas, does not flicker, is cheaper and a ten year old boy can run it.

Auction Sale of Valuable Property.

SICK UNTO DEATH, THEY WERE ALONE.

Pitiable Condition of Young Man and Woman Who Are Now in Muhlenberg Hospital.

DEATH HAD ENTERED HOUSE

OLD MAN WITH WHOM THEY LIVED DIED A FEW DAYS AGO.

Though Very Sick it is Believed the Patients Will Recover—Without Medical Aid for Several Days.

Robert Porsmann, aged 19 years, and Daisy Semons, aged 16 years, of Ashbrook, Fanwood township, were admitted to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon on the certificate of Dr. Westcott, county physician. They are believed to be suffering with typhoid malaria, although in the opinion of some their illness is thought to be watermelon poisoning and typhoid fever, caused by drinking infectious water from a well.

Last Saturday night David Long, with whom the boy and girl lived, died. The cause is said to have been typhoid fever. W. H. Terry, town committeeman of Fanwood township, stopped at the Long farm a few days ago and learned of the sickness. He reported the cases to Dr. Westcott and the latter upon visiting the place learned that the boy and girl had been confined to the house without any medical aid or treatment. Dr. Kinch, of Westfield, it is said, called once to treat Mr. Long. Dr. Westcott had the boy and girl transferred to Muhlenberg Hospital, where they are under treatment and are doing very well.

Daisy Semons was a bound girl and Robert Porsmann hired with Mr. Long by the month. They had been with their employer for some time past. Mrs. Long died about a year ago, and since that time most of the household work was performed by the young girl. Mr. Long was ill only a week when he died, and the illness of the boy and girl was of about that duration when they were discovered. When brought to the hospital, the girl's illness was pronounced to be typhoid fever and that of the boy typhoid-malaria. They are very ill, but are not considered critical. The boy is conscious only part of the time, while the girl is conscious most all of the time.

A report was in circulation that Mr. Long was in destitute circumstances and had no means of obtaining proper treatment. This is denied by one of the county officials, who says that he had means, and that he leaves a sufficient amount to care for the boy and girl. The drainage on the farm is very poor and the water in the well used is low. There is every reason to believe that the boy and girl are subjects of severe attacks of typhoid-malaria for the reasons stated. At the hospital it is believed that the patients will live. It has been learned that the boy is a nephew of Mr. Long.

NATIVE OF JERUSALEM TO SPEAK.

Dr. James Rosedale to Open Winter's Work of Christian Endeavorers.

The Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will begin its winter's work with a public meeting under the direction of the missionary department, Thursday evening, October 4th, at 7:45 o'clock, in Trinity Reformed church, when Dr. James Rosedale, a native of Mount Zion, Jerusalem, will deliver his lecture entitled "Comicalities and Realities of Eastern Life."

Dr. Rosedale, who is a Karite of the tribe of Levi, has delivered his lectures in many large cities and towns of almost every State of the Union, as also in Canada, England and Germany. Being a native of that ever interesting city, Jersusalem, Dr. Rosedale is well qualified to portray the customs and manners of his countrymen, and those who have heard him agree that his lectures, so vividly given, are a benefit to the Bible scholar as he often explains some obscure passage of Scripture. Dr. Rosedale will be assisted by his wife and daughters, all in native costume.

A collection will be taken to defray the expenses of the evening.

In St. Joseph's Church.

An error was made in the Press yesterday in stating that the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Muldowney and Thomas Eganey would take place in St. Mary's church, It will be in St. Joseph's church at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Excellent Progress.

Excellent progress is being made in the erection of the manual training school in the borough. The second story has been reached and the building will soon be enclosed.

DECLARES IN FAVOR OF BERGEN'S ELECTION

Former Mayor Saunders Says That Representative Howell is Not Good Congressman.

OTHER POLITICAL NOTES.

JAMES E. MARTINE HAS SEVERAL DATES FOR SPEAKING.

Senator Reed Advertised to Speak at Bernardsville This Evening—Congressman Salmon Will Probably be Renominated.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of Washington Park, a pronounced Democrat, has the following to say regarding the Congressional contest in the Third District: "It is time that the people in the Third Congressional District realize the fact that their present representative, Mr. Howell, though a very amiable gentleman, is not a success as a Congressman. I venture to say that not half the people in this district can tell the name of their representative. James J. Bergen is a strong man and in every way fitted to be a Congressman. Mr. Bergen is a good speaker, a man of active, impressive nature and of sterling integrity. In Congress he would soon be known and appreciated."

The Democratic campaign in Summit will open tonight with a banner-raising at the corner of Union avenue and Edgar place and a meeting at the city hall. The speakers at this meeting will be Colonel D. P. Dean, of Alabama, and James E. Martine, of Plainfield. The campaign on the Republican side will open Thursday evening with a parade of the marching corps and a meeting in the city hall, at which an address will be delivered by Senator Mahlon Pitney.

The Bernardsville Republican Club will raise a banner this evening. A brass band has been secured for the occasion. Among the speakers present will be Senators Reed and Pitney, Judge J. W. Jones, of Indiana and E. A. C. Lewis, of Castle Point, Hoboken.

A Democratic banner will be raised in Bernardsville tomorrow evening. The following speakers will be present: James J. Bergen, candidate for Congress; James E. Martine, of Plainfield; Oscar Lindsley, of Morristown, and Nelson Y. Dungan. The Mendham Band will be in attendance.

While he is with Former Congressman Johnston Cornish during his itinerary in New Jersey next month, if William J. Bryan should happen to see anything that he wants in the way of creature comforts all he will have to do will be to ask for them. As a host Mr. Cornish has the reputation of being as liberal as he is hearty, and if a guest of his goes hungry or thirsty it is his own fault. The pace of Mr. Bryan's tour through the State will be, it is said, very rapid, but if anyone has an idea that Mr. Cornish will be lost in the crowd or in the shuffle he doesn't know the accomplished young Democratic statesman whose home is in Warren county.

Luther Kountze, of Morristown, who was named as one of the Republican electors for New Jersey, will not qualify for the place, as he is in Europe, and a substitute will be named by General Sewell, Franklin Murphy, Senator E. C. Stokes and First Assistant Postmaster-General William M. Johnson, acting as a committee on vacancies. Mr. Kountze was placed on the ticket by the convention held in Trenton on September 6th. His name was suggested by Senator Mahlon Pitney, and the delegates of the Fourth Congressional district indorsed the Morristown man and he was put on the ticket without opposition.

The Democrats of the Fourth Congressional district elected delegates Saturday to attend the convention, which will be held at Newton tomorrow. While there is an under-current of speculation adverse to the renomination of present Congressman Joshua S. Salmon, of Morris county, among those who would like to bring the nomination to Hunterdon, yet the attitude of the people in favor of Mr. Salmon has been such that if any would aspire to succeed him they have wisely concluded that it had better be two years hence. Hunterdon county is strongly in favor of the return of Congressman Salmon. The names most mentioned in connection with the nomination coming to Hunterdon are Editor Anthony Kilgore, of the Hunterdon County Democrat; ex-Sheriff W. Howard Lake and former Senator Richard Kuhl. Mr. Kilgore has declared editorially in his newspaper in favor of Congressman Salmon. Ex-Sheriff Lake publicly states that he is not a candidate, and Mr. Kuhl has made no efforts to secure the delegates.

FORMER FREEHOLDER VIOLATED GAME LAW

Deputy Game Warden Hawkins Catches Richard Zergieball Shooting High-holders.

SEASON IS NOT OPEN YET.

A SOUTH ORANGE MINISTER FINED $20 FOR SHOOTING SQUIRRELS.

Game Warden Had an Exciting Time With Italian Pot Hunters, One of Whom Was Sent to Jail for Six Months.

Shooting high-holders on the Sabbath is the offence charged against Former Freeholder Richard Zergieball, one of the prominent residents of Mt Bethel, by Deputy State Game Warden C. W. Hawkins, of Roselle, and for which the Former Freeholder will have to answer to a justice of the peace. The open season for hunters does not begin until October 1st, but the activity of the pot hunters and unlawful gunners has led Hawkins and the other game wardens to a vigorous campaign. Sunday Deputy Hawkins and Warden Louis Wyckoff, of North Plainfield, went investigating in the direction of Mt. Bethel.

Only one complaint was made as a result of their trip and that was against Zergieball who, they say, was sitting on a stump blazing away at the highholders, of which he had already brought down several.

For the past week Deputy Hawkins has been busy in various parts of the State looking for violations of the game laws. Last Wednesday he captured two Italians near Greenwood Lake. They were shooting squirrels. One of them attacked Hawkins and broke his gun over the warden's shoulders. He subsequently was sent to the county jail for six months.

Hawkins attacked a party of men who were fishing with set lines in Vreeland's pond, near Rahway. He captured two of them and the other three escaped in a boat, while Hawkins fired at them with his revolver. He captured Rev. Mr. Hastings, of the South Orange Presbyterian church, and his organist, near that place Saturday shooting squirrels. They were fined $20 each.

A SAVAGE BULLDOG.

Attacked Two Heifers and When Driven Off it Pounced Upon a Young Girl.

A savage bull dog attacked two heifers near Rose Hill, two miles from Watchung, early last evening, and when driven from its victims turned on seven-year-old Annie Burnett and knocked her down. The arrival of Augustus Burgoin, of Berkeley Heights, on the scene saved the child from serious injury.

The dog was the property of Peter Burnett, of Rose Hill. His little sister, Annie, was driving her mother's two heifers to the barn when the dog rushed out and seized one of the animals by the nose. Mrs. Charlotte Burnett heard the noise and she and her little daugter drove the dog away. The dog turned on the other heifer. At last the savage animal rushed at the girl throwing her down.

Burgoin was driving by and heard the screams of the child. With a club he beat the dog and drove it away. Mrs. Burnett brought out a shot gun and Burgoin emptied part of the charge into the dog, which ran away howling and has not been seen since.

The child was badly frightened but not otherwise hurt. Burgoin's quickness prevented anything serious for which he was warmly thanked.

For The Daily Press Medal.

C. Ames Brooks, manager of the track team of the Plainfield High School, has completed arrangements for the High School field day when The Daily Press medal will be competed for. The field day will be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Wednesday afternoon of next week. The events will be 100 yards dash, 440 yards run, half-mile bicycle race, two-mile bicycle race, three-legged race, running high jump, standing broad jump, running broad jump, pole vault and putting the shot.

Good Attendance.

The Bible class attendance at the Y. M. C. A. for the year ending Sept. 23d has been 35 per cent. larger than for the previous year. The boys' Bible classes were not held in 1898-99, but their attendance last year included, with that of the men, brings the percentage of increase in attendance up to 96 per cent. A determined effect will be made to double the enrollment in the classes this year.

IN FRONT OF BLUE LINER.

Narrow Escape of a Man Who Jumped From a Caboose at the North Avenue Station.

The employes and passengers at the North Avenue station are often witnesses of narrow escapes from death on the part of careless people, but all agree that the escape of a young man Saturday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock was the narrowest yet seen. The man jumped from the caboose of an eastbound coal train directly on to the eastbound passenger track. His feet slipped from under him and he fell directly in the path of a fast Blue Line flyer. The engineer had seen him jump and, blowing the whistle, reversed his engine. The whistle attracted the attention of those at the station and on looking up they saw the prostrated man. The train passed by, unable to stop, and everyone rushed to the spot expecting to find the man crushed beyond recognition. To their surprise, he had rolled out of the way and was unhurt. He turned without a word and disappeared down Watchung avenue.

THIRD WARD REPUBLICANS PLANNING AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

Meeting of Ward Association Held Last Evening—Executive Committee Chosen—Headquarters Established.

The Third ward Republicans have so far taken the lead in the movement for the organization of ward campaign clubs. Last evening they held a meeting of the Third Ward Republican Association in the club house of the defunct Union County Country Club at which the organization was perfected and plans laid for the campaign.

A constitution was adopted which provided for a vice-president as well as three officers elected at the first meeting last week. Ernest R. Ackerman was then chosen as vice-president. The four officers and seven other members were to form an executive committee. The committee was chosen as follows: President, Roger F. Murray; vice president, E. R. Ackerman; secretary, W. C. Kinney and treasurer, George J. Tobin, Robert Rushmore, William T. Kirk, B. Frank Coriell, Francis Whitley, Frank J. Hubbard, John Cose and Charles J. Fisk.

Ernest R. Ackerman was appointed chairman of the finance committee with power to choose the members of his committee. Robert Rushmore was placed at the head of the entertainment committee and will select the other members. The latter committee was instructed to arrange for a smoker to be held in the Casino as soon as possible. There will be some speaking and more entertainment.

A small room in the club house will be used as headquarters for the association and will be kept open every evening until after election.

NEW HOSPITAL IDEA HAS BEEN GIVEN UP.

Board of Governors Decide That the Undertaking Would be Too Big a One.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE OLD.

CALCULATED THAT THIS CAN BE DONE AT MODERATE COST.

Dr. Murray Elected Hospital Surgeon and Dr. Hedges Hospital Physician—Report for Past Month.

The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital held an important meeting last evening, at which time several matters were discussed. Dr. W. H. Murray was made a hospital surgeon to take the place of Dr. Endicott, who resigned some time ago, and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, in addition to his position of pathologist, was made a hospital physician, to take the place of Dr. Murray. During August, September and October Dr. Murray has been acting surgeon, and he will hereafter take his turn in serving three months with one of the physicians.

The report from the hospital for the past month shows that 19 patients were admitted, 37 was the total number of persons treated, and 19 patients still remain at the hospital. There were 123 visits during the month.

A very important matter discussed was that in relation to the proposed new hospital. This question has been pending a settlement for several months past owing to a difference of opinion among the members of the Board as to whether a new hospital should be erected at the present time. As a final result the site chosen for the new building has been given up, and the idea of erecting a new hospital has been practically given up at present. Now, instead of making the proposed change, the members are considering ways for enlarging the present building to meet the present needs. It has been decided that this can be done for a small sum and yet answer every purpose. If it is decided to enlarge the hospital building by additions, other improvements will be made so that everything will be up-to-date, and the limited accommodations, etc., will be overcome in such a way as to meet all requirements.

Many members of the board are not willing to go ahead and spend a large sum of money for new buildings, when by some changes the work can be carried on just as well.

TAKEN FOR A BURGLAR.

Former Surrogate Clark Had Hard Work Proving His Identity to Westfield Cop.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 25—Former Surrogate Addison S. Clark, who lives on Broad street, was taken for a burglar late Sunday night and made to walk to a nearby electric light by Officer Elmer Woodruff. The officer was riding a wheel along the street about 11:30 o'clock, when he heard a noise which sounded like breaking glass. He dismounted and went to the rear of the Clark homestead, where he saw a man about to enter the house through a window.

Woodruff at once drew his revolver and called to the man to throw up his hands. When a light was reached the officer recognized Mr. Clark.

It seems the Clark family were away and Mr. Clark, forgetting his latch key, decided to break into the house through a window.

Remarkable Fruit.

Letter-carrier Charles Glaentzer spent Sunday with his brother-in law, Andrew Lang, of Newark. The latter has quite a remarkable peach tree in his yard and Mr. Glaentzer picked two peaches, each weighing about eight ounces. They are the finest specimens of Jersey fruit seen in this vicinity. Mr. Lang has picked nearly two baskets of the fruit all about the same size and weight.

A Successful Operation.

Miss Isabelle L. Butler, of 215 East Front street, is at the Muhlenberg Hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis which was performed last Thursday by the Doctors Hedges. Miss Butler is past all danger and is doing as well as could possibly be expected, having the usual careful and attentive service accorded patients in the hospital.

The great Inter-State Fair will be held on September 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28, on the Fair Grounds, three miles east of Trenton, N. J., on the New York Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. As in previous years, every department will be replete with superior and instructive displays. The blooded stock exhibit will be particularly fine, and the daily programme of races contains the speediest classes obtainable. Automobile races will be novel and exciting.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will sell excursion tickets to the Fair Grounds, including coupon of admission, at greatly reduced rates from stations within a wide radius, and special trains over the New York, Belvidere and Amboy Divisions will be run through to the grounds, thus avoiding street-car transfer. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Robert Barnes has returned to his home on Staten Island after a visit with his sons in this city.

Miss Belle Butler, of East Front street, is a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, where she will undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Millinery Opening.

We announce for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Our showing of Fall Millinery for 1900, an event eagerly awaited by hundreds of Plainfield women who, while thoroughly appreciating the advantage and importance of correct styles, do not care to pay fancy prices for their head wear. We will not attempt to paint a word picture of our display. It would, at the best, do but poor justice to these beautiful masterpieces of our milliner's art, but invite all to come and see them. More hats than the most patient woman would have patience to see, and yet every hat a gem. We sell more hats than any other store in the city; and why?

BECAUSE We show more hats than any two stores in Plainfield.

BECAUSE We use only the best of material and charge you only for the material and labor.

BECAUSE Our hats are all trimmed by one of the best millinery artists of the day.

MR. BRYAN IN CHICAGO.

Presidential Candidate Denies Having Made Cabinet Promises.

CHICAGO Sept. 25.—William J. Bryan came to Chicago yesterday morning from his home in Lincoln, Neb., held a conference with various members of the Democratic national committee and returned to Lincoln in the evening.

Among those present at the conference were Senator J. K. Jones, Chairman Johnson, Vice Chairman W. J. Stone, National Committeeman F. D. O'Brien of Minnesota, D. J. Campau of Michigan, B. F. Shively of Indiana and Congressman Shafroth of Colorado, Governor Longino of Mississippi and J. Hamilton Lewis of Washington.

At the conclusion of his conference with the members of the committee Mr. Bryan gave out the following statement in refutation of a report that positions in his cabinet, should he be elected, had already been promised:

"I have not given to any one, either verbally or in writing, a promise of a cabinet position, and I shall not during the campaign make any such promise. I have not authorized and shall not authorize any one, verbally or in writing, to promise any cabinet position or any other position to any one. If I am elected I shall be absolutely free to discharge all the duties of the office according to my platform as far as the platform goes and according to my own judgment in all matters not covered by the platform.

"I came to Chicago especially to confer with the committee," said Mr. Bryan. "I wanted to talk with the committee now for the reason that I have three days at my disposal and when I come through on Oct. 4 will have no time for such a purpose. As to Mr. Hanna's assertions concerning me I have nothing to say. The public understands the situation. The agitation of the trust question is meeting with success. It is something that appeals to every workingman.

"So far as I know now I shall follow my original itinerary notwithstanding all this talk about my changing my dates at the behest of the committee."

Colonel Bryan, accompanied by Colonel J. Hamilton Lewis of Washington, took the Burlington for Lincoln, Neb., at 5:50 p. m. Vice Chairman Stone will return to New York today.

State Buys Adirondack Land.

ALBANY, Sept. 25.—At a meeting held yesterday the state forest preserve board purchased of William Harris the timber lands on the shore of Sacandaga lake, which was formerly Round lake and which lies close to Lake Placid. The tract is heavily covered with thick, large timber growing near the water, being mainly spruce and hemlock. The transaction with Harris included 10,000 acres in all and included also timber lands around Silver lake, in Benson township. The state pays for the lands $6.50 per acre. The board also purchased three lots of 1,900 acres in the Lawrence patent, which enables the state to consolidate its lands on that part of the Hudson river watershed in Hamilton county. The board also bought of William McEchron of Glens Falls 4,000 acres, the northeastern quarter of the township near Blue Mountain lake. The price was $10,000.

Strike Closes Rolling Mills.

COLUMBIA, Pa., Sept. 25.—The four big rolling mills of the Susquehanna Iron and Steel company at this place are closed down as the result of a strike. Last week it was announced that a 25 per cent reduction in wages would go into effect yesterday, and the men notified the management they would not accept the cut. The company remained firm, and not a single man reported for work at any of the four mills. About 1,500 workmen are affected.

Good News For Steel Workers.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 25.—Orders have been issued from the general offices of the American Steel Hoop company in this city to begin operations at all the plants that are in readiness to be started and to prepare the others for resumption as soon as notice is given. The plants to be started are in Pittsburg, Youngstown, O.; Pomeroy, O.; Monessen, Pa.; Sharon, Pa., and Greenville, Pa., and employ 8,000 men.

PLANNING FOR PEACE

European Cabinets Do Not Favor Germany's Demand.

INTERNATIONAL COURT PROPOSED.

America's Reply Discussed by Continental Press—It Is Thought to Encourage Delay In Peace Negotiations.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A semiofficial announcement has been issued in St. Petersburg that the European cabinets are engaged in an endeavor to induce Germany to abandon her demand for the surrender of the instigators of the anti-foreign outrages as a preliminary to peace negotiations.

The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Chronicle asserts that Russia's reply to the German note is very friendly, but that, although it appears to consent to Germany's proposal, it practically disapproves by asking whether it would not be best to open peace negotiations first and to make the punishment of the instigators of the outrages the first subject of discussion.

According to the Berlin correspondent of The Daily Express Germany will make a new proposal—namely, that the great powers form an international court to try the Chinese officials accused of complicity in the outrages.

The Morning Post has the following from its Shanghai correspondent, dated yesterday:

"The Russians recently organized an expedition toward Mukden, which has already reached Liao-yang, about midway between Newchwang and Mukden. It will probably encounter opposition.

"Prince Tuan's ascendency creates a very grave danger. The only hope for foreigners is that the proforeign viceroy of Nankin has not yet been removed. Tuan's emissaries are working hard to get him out of the way by murder or suicide."

The British and continental press is still discussing America's reply, which is generally regarded as encouraging Li Hung Chang to delay the negotiations.

General Gribsky, military governor of Amur, has published elaborate regulations placing all the regions along the Amur river now occupied by the Russians entirely under Russian law and authority. The Chinese are forbidden to return to the left bank of the stream. He has also issued a proclamation declaring the annexation of Manchuria to be a punishment for the attack made on Blagovestchensk and exhorting the inhabitants hereafter to respect Russia's power and to live in peace and quietness on their fields.

The American missionaries, J. H. Roberts, Mark Williams, William Sprague, Mrs. Sprague and Miss Virginia Murdock, who escaped from Kalgan, province of Chi-li, in June, were chased across the Gobi desert. Thence they traveled by way of Siberia and have just reached London in good health. The missionaries will proceed immediately to the United States.

Women Brutally Murdered.

HONGKONG, Sept. 25.—Advices from Canton say that a boatload of native Christian women at Kum-chuk, on West river, was fired upon and that the women were then taken ashore and butchered in cold blood. Native Christians are flocking to Canton from the surrounding country. Canton itself is quiet. The native city is full of bad characters anxious to create trouble, but they lack leaders.

Prohibitionists In the Far West.

BROOKINGS, S. D., Sept. 25.—The "Prohibition special" reached here last evening in time for the national candidate to address a rally, after which the train left for Watertown. At Huron, where an open air meeting was held in the afternoon, a strip of sidewalk near the temporary platform gave way, precipitating nearly 100 persons to the bottom of a subway, a distance of nine feet. A score of them suffered severe bruises and a shaking up, but only three were badly hurt. The train left Worthington, Minn., at 8:30 a. m. and made a number of stops during the day. Speeches were delivered at Luverne, Minn., and Sioux Falls, Hertford, Lake Preston and other points.

Verdict Without Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—"Pinney" Pierce, who was charged with the murder of George B. Eyre, was acquitted in the Delaware county court at Media, Pa. After the jury had been drawn District Attorney Smith said he had not found sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction and recommended a verdict of not guilty. Eyre disappeared from his home in Chester Dec. 3 last, and his body was found a month later at the mouth of Raccoon creek, New Jersey. James Pierce, a brother of "Pinney," who was arrested charged with complicity in the murder, committed suicide in his prison cell a few months ago.

Many Ships Missing.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 25.—More than 50 French vessels from St. Pierre are still missing as the result of the recent gale, and much alarm is felt for their safety. Many doubtless are disabled, but it is almost certain that others have foundered. The French flagship Isly has been ordered from the treaty shore, it is reported here, to cruise over the Grand Banks with a view of learning the extent of the disaster and of assisting any vessels requiring help.

A Death Dealing Cyclone.

FARIBAULT, Minn., Sept. 25.—Word has been received here that a cyclone struck Morriston at 6 o'clock last evening. Eight men were killed, and a large number are missing. The report is meager. A large tree was carried over a housetop and deposited on a brick building used as a saloon, which was completely wrecked and from which the bodies of eight men were taken. The report does not say how much damage was done to property.

Gored by a Cow.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Owen Jaycox, a farmer of Camelot, was gored by a cow and is confined to his bed in a serious condition. Jaycox was driving his herd of cows into the barn, when one of them turned on him and pierced his scrotum with one of her horns. The farmer was thrown 12 feet in the air, and as he came down he struck heavily on the ground, breaking one of his ribs. Mr. Jaycox probably will recover.

THE STRIKE GROWING

More Men Go Out In the Anthracite Region.

NO DISTURBANCES ARE REPORTED.

President Mitchell Directing the Great Fight Against Operators. Governor Stone Urged to Settle the Trouble.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Contrary to the expectations of both the operators and the striking coal miners the strike situation in the Lehigh region yesterday. It was thought in some quarters that owing to the presence of troops in the anthracite field a break would occur in the ranks of the strikers or that a large number of additional men would refrain from going to work. The operators, as a rule, predicted a break in the strikers' ranks, and the labor leaders were equally sure they would tie up this region tighter than ever.

Both sides claim they have made good gains. It seems, however, from the most reliable reports received here from the entire region that the strikers made a net gain in point of numbers. The M. S. Kemmerer colliery at Sandy Run, on the north side, was tied up, but the operation is not a large one.

There are many stories afloat in regard to the situation at the Lattimer mines. The strike leaders assert that the colliery at that place is completely tied up, but when a representative of the Calvin Pardee company, which owns the mines, was asked about the situation there he said the colliery was running along as usual and that only about 50 out of 1,100 employees had failed to go into the slopes yesterday. The United Mine Workers have been working hard to get the Lattimer men to quit. The most of the other collieries in the Hazleton district which have not yet been shut down entirely reported that their working forces had been more or less increased. This the labor people declare to be untrue.

President Mitchell, in discussing the situation in the entire strike region, says: "Reports received by me from the lower anthracite (Schuylkill) region indicate that at least 2,000 mine workers joined the strikers yesterday. A large number of these came from the Reading company's mines. In the Lehigh region we made large gains. I have not received definite figures, but I should judge that the number of men heretofore working and who did not go into the mines in this district yesterday numbered between 600 and 800.

"The meetings held on Sunday by the United Mine Workers at which men who had not struck were strongly urged to help in the fight bore fruit. As a whole I feel more encouraged than I have at any time since the strike began, and I am confident that within the next few days the entire anthracite coalfield in Pennsylvania will be idle."

When Mr. Mitchell was asked if the striking miners had received any benefits from the United Mine Workers of America since the strike was inaugurated, he simply said "No."

Mr. Mitchell was a busy man at the United Mine Workers' headquarters yesterday. He held numerous conferences with organizers and others in regard to the carrying out of plans for continuing the fight against the operators.

There is not the slightest change in the situation in regard to a settlement of the labor war. Neither side has approached the other, and there is nothing in view which would indicate that anything will soon be done in that direction. The United Mine Workers are still devoting most of their attention to getting out the men.

Considerable interest is attached to the answer the firm of G. B. Markle & Co. will make to the grievances presented by its employees. The firm has intimated that it will make some sort of a concession to the men, but refuses to say what it will be. The ten days in which the firm was allowed to make an answer will expire today. The firm will issue a long statement in which it will give its answer, and this will be made public tonight. The action of the Markle firm will be closely watched by other individual operators, and it is believed by some who are in touch with the situation that if the firm reaches a satisfactory settlement with its men it might lead other operators to open negotiations with their employees.

The Markle firm has an agreement with its men that if a satisfactory answer is not made today the whole matter is to be left to two men, one to be selected by each side, to arbitrate the differences. If they fail to agree, the two arbitrators are to select a third person.

The United Mine Workers are opposed to arbitration on this plan. President Mitchell in his statement a few days ago said the United Mine Workers are willing to arbitrate if all the negotiations are carried on simultaneously.

The entire Hazleton region was extremely quiet throughout the day, not a single case of violence being reported from any town. A better feeling now prevails, and the fear of trouble seems to be disappearing.

The battalion of the Eighth regiment which arrived at McAdoo, five miles from here, and which made a demonstration in that town and surrounding country returned to Shenandoah at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE GOVERNOR POWERLESS.

Urged to Mediate In Mine Troubles, but Has No Authority.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 25.—Governor Stone has received telegrams from Chicago, Boston, Cincinnati, Cleveland and numerous other cities urging him to use his good offices in the interest of adjusting the differences between the mine operators and their employees in the anthracite coal region. There is no provision of the state constitution authorizing the executive to exercise any such power, and Governor Stone is without a remedy to bring about the results desired by the senders of the telegrams.

Major General Miller and his adjutant general, Colonel William J. Elliott of Philadelphia, are still on duty at national guard headquarters by the governor's direction, and they will not be relieved until he is satisfied it will not be necessary to send additional troops into the strike region. The management of the campaign and the disposition of the troops are being left entirely to General Gobin, although the major general is nominally in command.

Advices from Tower City say that the 1,200 employees in the colliery at that place will go out today. The colliery is controlled by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and has been working full time since the strike was declared. There is no change in the situation in the Lykens valley.

TWO VIEWS OF THE STRIKE.

Operators and Miners Make Confident and Hopeful Statements.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 25.—The coal operators in their review of the strike situation in the anthracite region say:

"The situation in the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys is unchanged. In the Schuylkill region the presence of the militia is a novelty for the populace which retarded work somewhat. As soon as the excitement incident to the arrival of the troops dies out a general resumption of operations is expected. An increased output is also looked for in the Lehigh region today."

The United Mine Workers of this district have issued the following statement:

"The eighth day of the strike shows the men in the Wyoming region to be more united than ever. All the mines in the distict were idle yesterday, and three washeries which were in operation the greater part of last week were not in operation.

"Our men are quiet and orderly and gaining accessions to their ranks every day. A new assembly of United Mine Workers was organized at Pittston. The men in that section are thoroughly organized now. The miners of Ashley are also well organized. On the whole the situation is very encouraging."

Collieries to Be Closed.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Three hundred mules were taken from the Reliance and Alaska mines of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company yesterday and sent to the Schuylkill county corral. The company gave notice to 2,500 men and boys employed at the operations previous to the strike that unless they returned to work by Saturday the collieries would be abandoned for a lengthy period. The strikers claim the order was given out with the view of scaring them into the mines before the termination of the strike. They say they will remain idle regardless of the order.

At North Franklin colliery, near Trevorton, last night several hundred miners took out their tools owing to a carload of deputies arriving from Schuylkill county early yesterday morning. The strike leaders claim the mine will be tied up, and in such an event the mine workers are confident Locust Spring colliery will also cease work. Then all the mines between Trevorton, this place and Centralia, giving employment to 15,000 men and boys, will be idle.

Gompers Predicts Success.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25. — Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, delivered an address on labor at the fall festival, which is now in progress at Music hall. He was very pronounced in his opinion that the anthracite strikers would win. "Behind them," he said, "is unutterable want. They have been hungry so long that they will suffer nothing uncommon from protracted idleness. It is pitiable to see the suffering of the men and their families because of paltry wages. I speak from what I have seen, for I have just been in the anthracite region. The American Federation of Labor will give them all possible financial aid. Approaching cold weather will cause an increased shortage in coal, and this will affect the operators. I have sent organizers into the field, and the strike will be solidified. They will have the sympathy of the general public. The laborers in this conflict have everything on their side but the opinion of the operators."

Trouble Expected at the Washeries.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 25.—The demonstration by the strikers at the Bellevue mine occasioned by a false report that the mine was to be started up had the effect of scaring away a squad of Italians who were on their way to the washery which adjoins the mine, and encouraged by this the strikers are contemplating similar demonstrations at all of the eight washeries that continue to operate in this region. If this is done, trouble can be looked for, as the companies have declared they will work the washeries at any cost. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company sent special trolley cars to collect its Bellevue washery hands this morning, and these cars were guarded by armed deputies. Soft coal is coming into Scranton in large quantities.

Money For Galveston Sufferers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Money continues to come in for the relief of the Galveston sufferers, and up to last night the aggregate totals of the funds organized by the Merchants' association, Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Van Wyck amounted to $192,217, which does not include many other similar funds nor the contribution of supplies. The association made an invoice of the goods they sent on the McPherson to Galveston. It shows that $23,900.10 was spent for blankets and clothing, $89,877.66 for food supplies, $12,363.07 for house furnishings, $8,014.25 for boots and shoes and $4,212.05 for medical supplies and chemicals.

Muskrat Stops Mills.

LACONIA, N. H., Sept. 25.—The bursting of a side head to the flume supplying water for the wheel pits of the Belknap Mills company here has thrown 235 employees out of work and caused damage to the mill in the displacement of stone and brick masonry to the extent of $10,000. A muskrat, by digging up through the embankment near the side head of the flume, caused a small flow of water at first to increase to a flood, washing away the earthwork and masonry. It will take two weeks to repair the damage.

Minister Wu's Guards Retire.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The detectives who have been on duty at the Chinese legation for about two months have returned to headquarters, there being no further necessity, in the judgment of Major Sylvester, chief of police, and Mr. Wu, for the presence of detectives at the minister's residence. It is understood that as soon as the condition of affairs in China will admit of it Minister Wu will visit Peru, to which country he also is the accredited representative of his government.

American Painter's Good Fortune.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Carl Melchers, an American painter, whose special collection of paintings is a feature of the Berlin art exposition this year, has sold almost all his canvases, thus rendering his projected Chicago exhibition out of the question. Large prices were realized.

A DEMAND FOR CURRENCY.

Moving the Crops Causes a Pressure on the National Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The pressure for currency for moving the crops is beginning to be felt. The issues of gold certificates by the treasury at various points in the south and west in exchange for deposits of gold in the New York subtreasury by banks on behalf of their country correspondents are already $1,000,000 more than at the same time last year. These exchanges have reached $4,945,000, of which all but $400,000 have been in September. New Orleans has taken $3,795,000 in the new gold certificates, St. Louis $750,000 and Chicago $400,000. These are not the only exchanges being made in New York and Washington in order to get currency into the country districts. A shipment of $100,000 in small silver certificates has just been made to St. Louis in return for an equal amount of gold coin surrendered to the New York subtreasury. Gold certificates also are being received at New York in exchange for the payment of gold coin at New Orleans. New Orleans has received this month nearly $3,000,000 in small notes of various classes.

The treasury is refusing to issue silver certificates and other small notes at interior points in exchange for gold surrendered to the subtreasury at New York because the gold is not needed to strengthen the reserve. The policy of shipping notes from Washington to interior points in return for gold at New York was adopted when the gold reserve was low because the banks profited by the express rate on the currency in one direction and often directed their New York agents to deposit the gold in order to obtain this benefit.

A severe pressure for currency is not expected by the treasury officials because of the great increase in the available supply which has been made within the past year. The treasury has paid out in premiums on bonds under the refunding law $33,165,083 and has paid in the redemption of the old 2 per cent bonds under the recent call of Secretary Gage $20,067,150. These two items of more than $53,000,000 have been exclusive of the ordinary expenses of the government.

ROBERTS REPORTS GAINS.

Komati Poort Occupied—Large Captures of Stock.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria, under date of Sept. 24, that the guards under Pole-Carew have occupied Komati Poort. The bridge was found intact. Much rolling stock, locomotives and truckloads of "Long Tom" ammunition were captured. Only a few rifle shots were fired. Lord Roberts adds:

"Paget has captured Erasmus' camp, 3,000 cattle, 8,000 sheep and 23 prisoners.

"Methuen has made another big haul of stock."

The British commander in chief in South Africa also reports that the few Boer troops remaining in the eastern Transvaal are completely "out of hand" and says they are mostly burghers, the foreign mercenaries having gone to Lourenco Marques owing to the Portuguese government promising to maintain them while there and give them passage to their respective countries.

"Messrs. Steyn and Reitz," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, "will remain with the fighting burghers, and it is estimated that a force of Boers aggregating from 7,000 to 12,000 is planning to harass the British lines of communication."

Photographing by Light of Venus.

GENEVA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Dr. William R. Brooks has succeeded in photographing objects solely by the light from the planet Venus. By this is not meant photographing the planet itself, which has been done many times. The experiments were conducted within the dome of the observatory so that all outside light was excluded except that which came from Venus through the open shutter of the dome. The time was the darkest hour of the night, after the planet had risen and before the approach of dawn. The action of the light from Venus was much stronger than anticipated, the photographic plates being remarkably clear, intense and fully timed. The experiments will be continued every clear night. Dr. Brooks was an early worker in photography and has used it for many years in his astronomical researches.

Armor Plate Shattered.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A sample plate of a series of plates for the protective decks of the cruisers Chattanooga and Cleveland failed to stand the required test at Indian Head. It was subjected to the fire of a six inch gun at an angle of nine degrees and was completely shattered. About 120 tons of steel were in the lot of which the plate was a sample, and ordinarily the collapse of the plate would mean the rejection of the lot. But as the sample selected was the worst plate to be found in the lot another trial may be allowed. The breaking up of the plate, it is said, indicates that the treatment of the plate was not uniform.

Zion Elders Deported.

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 25.—Zion Elders Mark A. Loblaw of Chicago and James Watts of Hammond, Ind., arrived here yesterday and went to a hotel, where their identity was discovered. A citizen compelled them to march to the city prison, where they remained until noon, when they were deported. A large crowd was at the depot when they left. No trouble was experienced in getting them out of the city. The men are said to be British subjects.

TEXAS FLOOD SWEPT

Rivers Rise to Record Breaking Heights.

GOVERNOR SAYERS ISSUES WARNING

Hundreds Homeless, Crops Destroyed and Bridges Washed Away In the Colorado and Brazos Valleys.

AUSTIN, Sept. 25.—Governor Sayers has wired to all points south of here warning notices that the most terrific flood in the history of the Colorado river, which flows by this city, is now surging down through the mountain gorges to the northwest of here and is expected momentarily at this place. The warning was sent out by Governor Sayers in response to the following telegraphic warning from Representative Clements:

"Notify all towns on Colorado river and have towns notify country points that river is ten feet higher than ever before known and is still rapidly rising. Very urgent."

A telephone message received here last night by the chief of police from Llano says that San Saba, 40 miles north of that place, containing about 1,000 people, was partially swept away by the flood in the San Saba river, which was still rising. All bridges had been carried off. No news can be had from San Saba people, the wires all being down. It is feared there has been great loss of life in the bottoms, as the rise was in the night and came without warning.

The river has been rising very rapidly at Austin since 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and reports from Goldthwaite say the water is still rising there. The water at that point was reported to be 58 feet at dark. Along the Colorado watersheds very heavy rains have fallen during the past four days, and the rise reported coming down now is 20 feet higher than the one that broke the Austin dam and wrecked the city's light and power plant last April. It is expected that the advance of this great rise will sweep by Austin about midnight, and all parties in the lowlands to the south of the city and all points reached by either telegraph or telephone were communicated with by the governor with the warning to escape before the flood arrives. Great alarm is felt as to the result of the rise.

Governor Sayers left here last night for Galveston to inspect the work being done there by the various relief committees.

The Flood at Dallas.

DALLAS, Sept. 25.—The Trinity river is higher than it has been since 1890, when it broke all records. The water lacks only six feet of reaching the 1890 mark and is still rising. Owing to the heavy rains Monday night on the Elm Fork, the West Fork and the Clear Fork, all of them emptying into the Trinity river above Dallas, all are past the 1890 mark. No lives have been lost in the immediate vicinity of Dallas, but cotton and live stock, notably sheep and hogs, have suffered heavily. The county commissioners of Dallas county estimate the loss in the county at $25,000 independent of the numerous small bridges and the street damages in the city of Dallas, which will be nearly as much. The item of damage to roads and bridges alone in the dozen or more counties affected in northern Texas will be about $250,000.

Hundreds of Families Homeless.

HOUSTON, Sept. 25.—A special from Goldthwaite says there has been no loss of life, but that the rise in the Colorado has swept all bridges away and destroyed cattle and crops. Many houses have been destroyed, and 100 families are homeless, though they escaped to the highlands. A special from Llano says Llano river, a tributary of the Colorado, is 17 feet above normal and has done much damage in the valleys. No loss of life has been reported.

Clearing Up Galveston.

GALVESTON, Sept. 25.—Under the supervision of Chairman Jens Moller of the committee on public labor nearly 1,000 men went to work yesterday cleaning the streets and beach front of debris and dead bodies. The wages are $2 a day for laborers, $3 for men and carts and $3.50 for men and teams, the money to be paid out of the general relief fund. Each ward is presided over by a boss in charge of the workmen in that ward, Acting Engineer Lias superintending the whole work. A board of government engineers will be convened in Galveston on Oct. 2 for the purpose of investigating the damage to fortifications and jetties and other government property. The storm swept away a great many of the caskets which had been placed in vaults in the city cemeteries. Among the missing caskets is one which contained the remains of Charles Coghlan, the actor, who died here on Nov. 27 last. His remains had been placed in a receiving vault awaiting final disposition upon orders of his relatives.

Republican Demonstration.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 25.—A Republican demonstration was held in Newburg, the home of B. B. Odell, Jr., last night. After two banners had been raised the Republican clubs marched to the Academy of Music, where they were addressed by Senator Chauncey M. Depew, B. B. Odell, Jr., and John S. Wise. The building was packed to the door and hundreds were unable to enter. Mr. Odell received an ovation.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The Philadelphia has arrived at San Francisco, the Topeka at Tompkinsville and the Eagle at Newport. The Kentucky has sailed from Newport for New York, the Wilmington from Palmyra for Montevideo and the Hartford from Antwerp for Havre. The Cæsar has arrived at Singapore, the Potomac at Norfolk and the Sylph at Washington.

Locomotive Firemen Adjourn.

DES MOINES, Sept. 25.—The international convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen adjourned last evening to meet in 1902 at Chattanooga. About the only business of importance done was the voting of additional benefits to disabled members, the final aggregate being $54,000. No change was made in the location of headquarters.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed for Pennsylvania: Cameron, Warren McConnell; Indian Run, Maud U. Montgomery; Wheatland, David J. Jarrett.

Campaign Speakers.

There has not been any real campaign work done in Plainfield as yet by either party. The real opening of the political activity comes tomorrow evening when the Republicans hold a mass-meeting in Music Hall. There will be no trouble about the speakers this time, say the Republican managers, who hope to bury all thought of that banner raising under the enthusiasm they expect to develop by the rousing campaign speeches of tomorrow. The audiences which face campaign speakers of both parties in this city differ materially from those in many other places. The Plainfielders like to listen to real arguments substantiated by facts, and the men who depend on wild statements and denunciations will find little sympathy here. Plainfield possesses a large Republican majority and so the average Plainfield audience is naturally of that political persuasion, but managers of both parties will do well to select their campaign orators with care if they want a successful meeting here.

The political procession and its evolution in many campaigns was treated in an interesting manner recently in an issue of the Newark Sunday Call, and among other things said: "The demonstrative spirit of 1844 was active and unusually large. New Jersey was particularly active that year for several reasons. Theodore Frelinghuysen was the candidate for Vice-President. The railroad corporations had secured a new State Constitution which gave autocratic powers to the Governor and complete control of the judiciary. It was an anti-corporation fight between John R. Thompson and 'Coon Creek' Stratton, the Whig candidate for Governor. New Jersey ratified the honor accorded to the State by the nomination of Theodore Frelinghuysen by a meeting at Millstone, Somerset county, that consisted of one of the 'rural' parades. There were 30,000 Whigs on hand. New York had that year the biggest parade in the history of those given by the Whigs of New York."

The announcement from former Sheriff Wyckoff, of Somerset county, that he was no longer a candidate for the Republican nomination for county clerk in that county, clarified the atmosphere in Republican circles in Somerset. The present incumbent, County Clerk Frank Somers, is and has been a candidate for renomination. The withdrawal of Mr. Wyckoff clears the road for him and is likely to insure the nomination without any contest at all. The nominee for the Assembly is not likely to be settled so easily. E. E. Cooper, of Warrenville, will not be renominated and it is generally understood that one of the southern townships is likely to get the coveted place on the ticket. There are several candidates in line already, but none of them show any special strength which would make them the probable one.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Too large a catch of crabs at Boynton Beach, one day last week, proved disastrous for Alonzo Hill, of West Fourth street, and he is now nursing sundry cuts and bruises as a result. Mr. Hill, who is an enthusiastic crabber, was returning home on his bicycle with an unusually large number in a basket. They were very unwieldly and the basket became entangled in the handle-bars, turning the wheel into a tree. The shock was sufficient to throw Mr. Hill to the ground and injure him to such an extent that it was some time before he was able to remount.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The celebrated Jas. J. Jeffries, under the management of Wm. A. Brady, one of the most astute and successful managers of the country, will be seen at Music Hall tonight in a new American play by Clay M. Greene, entitled "The Man From the West," with strong supporting company and beautiful scenic accessories. As all the world admires and respects the man of pluck and muscle, of brawn and courage, of skillful resource and indomitable purpose who battles down opposition and asserts supreme superiority in whatever walk of life he may assail, the victorious athlete commands the world's homage and curious interest, his movements, his utterances and his achievements are alike chronicled by minute detail by the newspapers. They are discussed in the homes and in the public place by men and women in every station of life. His name is a household word from ocean to ocean, in far off lands beyond the sea. He is focused more prominently in the fierce white light of publicity than the general, diplomat or the statesman. Such a celebrity as James J. Jeffries will come through his overthrow of his greatest rivals in the art of boxing that the world has produced. Twice the victor over the stalwart Sharkey, he has also decisively defeated Jackson, Goddard, Fitzsimmons and Corbett and holds the world's championship, a title that he is ever ready to defend upon reasonable notice.

"The Brownies" hold forth at Music Hall Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, and indications point to full houses and great success. The little folk are costumed as are the funny little fellows whom Palmer Cox has made popular everywhere, and the fairies add just the touch of beauty needed to make the picture of loveliness complete. Bright music, stirring marches and thrilling choruses add to the interest of the catchy dialogue, and from start to finish the performance by the juvenile actors are such as to merit the warmest praise for themselves and reflect great credit upon their trainers. An amusing specialty is introduced by "Tutti and Frutti, the Brownie Twins," who appear as organ-grinder and performing bear. The patrolman and sailor have strong laugh-making parts, and they keep the audience laughing. The performance, in its entirety, is such as to cause naught but exclamations of praise from the audience. Reserved seats can now be secured at box office.

Perhaps one of the most interesting productions of the coming week will be Charles W. Chase's new play, "Uncle Sam in China," to open at Music Hall Tuesday of next week. This play deals with the recent events in China, and has besides its dramatic situations a pretty story full of heart-interest portrayed by an excellent cast.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, of West Seventh street, have returned from Wequetonsing, Mich., where they spent the summer.

Charles Westphal, of this city, who is in the employ of Uncle Sam's Navy at Brooklyn, has been transferred to Iona Island, N. Y.

Miss Clara Peck, of Crescent avenue, who has been at Muhlenberg for a short time past under treatment, is improving slowly.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Mattresses in twelve different grades and in six different sizes and the truth told about each one of them, which is as rare as prices. A lady told us recently of a mattress she bought and whic was sold to her as a pure husk mattress. She found it so uncomfortable that she was persuaded to rip it open, when, lo and behold, to her astonishment, she pulled out a number of corn cobs; and this was the "pure husk" mattress she bought. Our mattresses contain exactly what we say they do and are all made in good clean factories and not in dirty tenement houses. We know exactly what they contain and where they are made, and we receive on the average a car load a week of them.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, September 25.—A horse belonging to ex-Postmaster P. C. Staats, of this place, caused considerable excitement yesterday morning by running away. Mr. Staats had left the horse standing in a field attached to a plough. Becoming impatient it started off and breaking from the plough, ran at a furious pace down North avenue. Near the postoffice it collided with a team attached to an ice wagon, knocking one of the latter horses down. The runaway was captured at Taylor's Hotel in a badly injured condition. The ice wagon horse was unhurt.

Some unprincipled person shot a valuable pet dog belonging to Joel Giddis Saturday, but fortunately the shot did not prove fatal. Mr. Giddis is treating the dog and has hopes of its recovery. He is unable to guess who the miscreant could be or for what purpose it was done.

The local coal dealers are still receiving small shipments of coal, but not near enough to fill all orders. No new customers are being taken and no large orders can be filled. Although the price per ton in Plainfield is $6.50, it is less here, for which the boroughites are grateful.

John Cruser, the night operator at the depot, has been transferred to the position of day stationmaster at Fanwood, and will commence his new duties next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Dealaman and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taylor started today on the three days' excursion of the Newark merchants to Montreal, Canada.

Mrs. Martin Lewis is quite ill at her home. Dr. Brakeley is in attendance.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Sept. 25.—C. E. Kelley & Company advanced the price of coal yesterday to $6 per ton. In spite of this orders are still coming in and their facilities for delivering are taxed to the utmost.

Fearing arrest as the result of his act, the young man who recently traded his employer's horse without consent for an inferior one belonging to a Plainfield man, has left town without leaving any clue to his whereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers enjoyed a pleasant drive to Springdale Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Herlick.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pierce, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, September 25.—The Presidential campaign in town opened in earnest last evening with the opening of the Republican Club rooms over H. C. Meyers' store. Quite a number of the Republican voters dropped in during the evening and talked over plans to help roll up the usual Republican majority which Fanwood township always gives to the ticket in a National election. The club rooms has been furnished with plenty of Republican literature, besides a number of the leading newspapers and magazines which will always be found on file. The rooms will be open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings until the last vote is counted on election day. A large transparency with the club's name and the party candidates will soon be placed over the windows of the club room. During the campaign it is intended to have several good speakers at the club to help enliven the work and to make votes for McKinley and Roosevelt.

Henry Guernier, who was recently appointed as special officer, was on duty at the trolley crossing and along Park avenue Sunday evening. No arrests were made, but the presence of an officer had its soothing effect and the usual rowdyism at this point was abated.

CITY'S SIDE EXPLAINED.

COUNCILMAN DUMONT ANSWERS MR. MARTINE'S CONTENTION.

The Writer Says That the City Has Not Acted as Unfairly as it is Represented.

To the Editor of The Daily Press—Your editorial "Mr. Martine and the Martin Act" seems liable to convey the impression that the city of Plainfield has done Mr. Martine and the interests he represents a great injustice, but on a careful examination of the records I think you will find a different situation.

Mr. Martine was very active and urgent in the opening of Park avenue from Seventh street to the city line, and was a member of the City Council a part, if not all, the time the work was under way.

My recollection is that the only property for which anything was paid was that between Seventh and Eighth streets, the others, including the Martine estate, donating the land for the street.

Ordinances were passed thereon in 1871 to formally open the street and also to grade it. Mr. Martine preferred to grade that portion through the Martine estate, but the owners from him to city line refusing to do so the city made contract with a Mr. Campbell to have it done.

Commissioners were appointed to fix benefits and damages and the parties who refused to do the grading also refused to pay the amount fixed by the Commissioners and succeeded in having the assessment set aside for some defect in the proceedings, and not because it was unjust.

The contractor then sued the city under his contract and obtained judgment. The amount, I think, was less than $1,000. This was in 1874.

The Council of 1874 passed an ordinance for telford pavement, but a majority refused to insert any provision in the ordinance whereby the city would undertake to contract for any part of the work of paving and, I think, held the ordinance back until all the property-owners fronting on the the street had entered into contract directly with contractor.

No commissioners were ever appointed under the telford paving ordinance and whatever payments Mr. Martine made for this account were voluntary and not under compulsion.

Mr. Martine's claims were the subject of investigation by a committee of the Council of 1885, by C. D. Wadsworth, chairman of committee on finance. This report, with accompanying papers, including to the best of my recollection the assessment made for opening and grading Park avenue, cannot now be found among the records in the City Clerk's office. Mr. Martine at that time made no claim for telford paving or for assessment, but for cost of grading done by him, on the theory that had he refused to grade and contested commissioners' assessment the city would have been compelled to pay it for advances made by him to pay award for property between Seventh and Eighth streets.

The records showed that he advanced $2,000 on this account, and before the assessment was set aside a considerable amount had been paid and about two-thirds of this advance was returned to Mr. Martine. A majority of the Council of 1885 were willing to adjust the matter and I think an amount, about $1,800, was agreed upon as full settlement of back taxes and his claims, but he did not pay and has allowed delinquent taxes to accumulate. J. B. Dumont.

David Bodine and wife, who have been living in Pennsylvania for some time past, have returned to the borough. Mrs. Bodine's mother, Mrs. Quick, is now visiting them.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Gewitter, Hagelschlag und Wolkenbrüche haben über einen Theil der Rheinpfalz namenloses Elend gebracht. In Münsterappel, Mörsfeld, Kriegsfeld, Oberhausen, Niederhausen a. A., Gaugrehweiler, Gerbach und St. Alban wurden die Ortsfluren furchtbar verwüstet; zahlreiche Wohnhäuser, Scheunen und Stallungen sind ganz oder theilweise eingestürzt. Viel Vieh ging zu Grunde. In Fränkenthal wurde ein 24 Jahre alter Landwirth aus Lambsheim gleich seinem Pferde vom Blitz erschlagen. In Rechtenbach tödtete ein Blitzstrahl zwei Knaben im Alter von 13 und 10 Jahren. In Ramstein traf der Blitz die Oekonomie- und Stallgebäude des Metzgers Bofson. Sämmtliche Gebäude wurden von den Flammen zerstört. An der Landstraße von Rülzheim nach Rheinzabern wurden von dem das Unwetter begleitenden orkanartigen Sturme viele staatliche Aepfel- und Birnbäume umgeworfen.

Ludwigshafen. Während eines Streites in seiner Wirthschaft erschoß der Wirth Epple den Arbeiter Grenzinger.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Das Verfahren gegen den Kaufmann Dallmeyer, der kürzlich im Wilhelmatheater nach der Sängerin Fräulein Alma Sacceur schoß, ist eingestellt worden. Dallmeyer wurde nach der Irrenklinik in Tübingen gebracht.

Göppingen. Die Schriftsetzer Mack und Rodeczinsky wollten auf der Station Süßen ein Bierfuhrwerk, dessen Pferde scheu geworden waren, am Bahnübergang aufhalten, um größeres Unheil zu verhüten. Sie wurden aber niedergetreten und überfahren. Mack war auf der Stelle todt, Rodeczinsky war lebensgefährlich verletzt.

Kannstatt. Hier wurde auf Kosten der Stadtgemeinde eine kaufmännische Fortbildungsschule errichtet, deren Besuch für alle jungen Kaufleute bis zum 18. Lebensjahre obligatorisch gemacht ist. Der Lehrplan erstreckt sich auf Rechnen, Buchführung, Englisch, Französisch, Stenographie, Handelslehre, Volkswirthschaftslehre und Handelsgeographie.

Oeschingen. Unlängst gerieth im Gasthaus zum „Paradies" der in den fünfziger Jahren stehende Metzger Friedrich Mauser mit seinem Sohn Matthäus aus geringfügigem Anlaß in Wortwechsel, in dessen Verlauf der Vater seinem Sohne mit dem Messer eine Verletzung im Gesicht beibrachte, worauf Letzterer sich nach Hause begab. Später traf er dann mit seinem Vater wieder zusammen, worauf er denselben mit einem Stück Holz derart verletzte, daß der Vater in der Nacht starb. Der Thäter ist geflüchtet.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Ein schweres Gewitter hat in Baden beträchtlichen Schaden angerichtet. In Weingarten erschlug der Blitz mehrere Thiere und äscherte die Wohnräume des Waldhüters Schwaiger ein. In Hörden schlug der Blitz in das Haus des Bauern Kraft und in Unterbaldingen gleichfalls in ein Bauernhaus, welche beide ein Raub der Flammen wurden.

Konstanz. In Folge Schienenbruches entgleiste bei der Station Hegne der Schnellzug Frankfurt-Basel-Konstanz. Hierbei wurden der Fischhändler Wall von Konstanz, Charles Kohler aus Dublin, Schottland, und Fräulein Luzzati von Monculvo, Italien, getödtet; 20 Personen erlitten Verletzungen.

Sinsheim. Während die Steinbrecher Georg Hagel von Winden und Philipp von Vormberg im Vormberger Steinbruche mit dem Herausbohren von Sandsteinen beschäftigt waren, lösten sich plötzlich oben große Erdmassen und schleuderten die Arbeiter in den tiefer gelegenen Steinbruch, wo sie unter Schutt und Steinen vollständig begraben wurden. Man fand sie beim Herausgraben als Leichen.

Todtnau. Auf dem Feldberge sind durch den Oberförster Wendt Rennthiere angesiedelt worden. Das eine, der Hirsch, befand sich früher im Zoologischen Garten zu Basel, die zwei anderen, Hirschkuh und Schmalthier, wurden auf dem Rennthiermarkt zu Kopenhagen angekauft.

HINTS FOR ECONOMISTS.

How to Freshen Tulle and How to Do Over Various Other Dainty and Perishable Fabrics.

Some useful hints for the furnishing of defaced hat trimmings are given by the Millinery Trade Review. Wonderfully good results can be obtained by a little effort in this direction. To steam out crumpled crape, pin the pieces flat on a thickly covered board, lay a wet cloth on top and pass a very hot iron over the surface, close enough to draw the steam from the wet cloth, but not allowing the iron to rest the slightest bit on the crape. Let the crape remain on the board a few minutes to thoroughly dry before taking up.

To steam out tulle, have, if possible, one of the new fan-shaped attachments to put in the spout of a kettle; this enables one to keep far enough off the heating flame to avoid danger of ignition. Failing this, have a large kettle or pan of water boiling, turn the gas low, and, taking one end of your tulle between two hands, pass through the steam, gently stretching and smoothing, and rolling up as you go. In this way you can steam yards and yards of tulle without letting the steamed portion drop over, and when done you have a roll of fresh, crisp tulle.

Mousseline de soie and chiffon can be done the same way, but sometimes it gives better results by being lightly pressed under a damp rag.

Velvet must be steamed only over a wet cloth thrown over a hot iron. Do not brush velvet while wet.

If velvet is very much marred, and does not steam out satisfactorily, you can "miroir" it by laying it flat and smoothing the iron over it the way of the nap. Velveteen and plush can be done the same. Plush gets quite the appearance of miroir antique or "panne" velvet.

To clean white and gray wings, shake gently in a box of cornmeal, then brush and shake the meal out, so as not to crumple the feathers. Aigrettes wash in soap lather; rinse and shake dry in the sun or near a hot stove.

Ribbons are steamed by passing over a wet cloth thrown over a hot iron. To insure the steam going thoroughly through the creases, hold a wad of dry cloth over the ribbon, with it smoothing out the creases. This works much better than a brush. Use clean white cotton cloths. Some taffeta ribbons will not come out well by anything but pressing, with a wet cloth over. If stiff, pull out on the bias. Treat silks the same way.

Freshen black silk lace by sponging with alcohol. Cream and white silk laces, if very dirty, can be cleansed by shaking in benzine or naphtha (taking care there is no fire or light near). After they are dry dampen with alcohol and pin out to dry.

Cotton laces are cleansed by shaking in a lather made of ivory soap paste; rinsed either in plain or blue water; or for ecru in weak tea or coffee, and pinned out to dry, being lightly pressed with a cool iron on the wrong side when dry.

LATEST ENGLISH FAD.

At Watering Places and Summer Resorts Women as Well as Children Wear Sandals.

The women of London have taken to the Grecian and Roman sandals this year, and at the watering places the most fashionable dames and misses are wearing them. "It is children who wear them principally," a maker of these sandals acknowledged, "children and women. Women have them mostly for indoor wear, but the children's sandals are for general use, and it is astonishing how tremendously this trade has grown during the last few years. Personally, I have an idea that sandal wearing is more of a passing fancy than a permanent institution. You see, the climate is so changeable. It might rain at any moment, and the child's feet get very wet, and if in the summer it is not wet it is usually extremely dusty, and the dust gets through the stockings to the feet and is very uncomfortable, especially as dust or grit works its way on to the sole of the sandal, and hurts the child's foot. The sandal may last for indoors, though, for the modern tendency to be more natural and sensible extends itself to the footwear, and people are kicking against the cramping and corn-making of the pointed toes of the ordinary foot covering."

The Bombay sandals are not built on the lines of those worn by the old Grecians. Yet they come from the east, where comfort in hot weather is a matter of study. They are made principally of kangaroo hide, and have a flat sole, cut to the shape of the ordinary rounded toe shoe sole.

YELLOW AND BROWN WOMEN.

Their Characteristics Are Contrasted by One Who Knows Them Thoroughly.

BY MRS. E. A. CONNER.

The difference between China and Japan is expressed emphatically in the difference between the women of the two nations. Physically these two oriental feminine types are as unlike as a German and a French woman, while mentally the line is to be drawn even more sharply.

The Japanese woman is like a bird, all brightness, life and motion. The Chinese woman is like a well fed and lazy domestic cat, quiet and biddable enough ordinarily, but a fury when roused.

What the ignorant and unreasoning hate and prejudice of a yellow woman are capable of is shown by the present horror in China. It is largely the work of one woman—the dowager empress.

Polygamy, extremely uncommon in Japan, is one of the time honored institutions of China. The rich merchant has two or three wives to show off his wealth and to raise up plenty of sons to worship him after he is dead. The poorer man, the farmer, boatman or laborer, has several wives to help him along with his work.

MANTCHOO MOTHER AND CHILD.

Like the Mormon's female stock, the lower class Chinaman's wives maintain themselves and are a source of income besides. On the sampans, or freight lighters, which load and unload ship cargoes in the orient, the Chinaman's domestic system is seen in its glory and full flower. The owner's family live upon the boat and know no other home. His mother works the steering oar and gives command to the crew, who are his wives and daughters. If the older spouses become feeble and unable to shove their end of things he buys another, a young and strong one, and business is conducted as usual at the old stand. I have many a time seen the wives and children of a Chinese boatman sitting flat upon the cabin roof of their boat dipping into one dish of rice or lettuce or fish entrails with their chopsticks and jabbering together amicably or otherwise. Sometimes it was plainly otherwise.

Undoubtedly the woman of the poorer classes in China is as oppressed and as badly treated as a human being can be, yet there are ways in which she gets even sometimes. I believe the Chinese woman to be the most gifted scold in this universe, and that is saying much, knowing what I do of the feminine sex.

Except as nurses, Chinese women do not often go away from home to engage in gainful occupations on their own account. Their husbands hire out as chambermaids, cooks and washermen. The women stay at home with the children and grow fat and loggy. A really thin, active China woman I have rarely seen.

One of my friends engaged a Chinese nurse to make the voyage with her from Hongkong to London and to take care of her little daughter, a bright, most attractive child of 14 months. The nurse was a short, heavily built, dull faced specimen, attired in her national costume of short gown and flowing trousers. She shirked her task from the start, likewise at opium. When there was a possible excuse for being seasick, the nurse was invariably curled up in her bunk and madame was obliged to look out for her own child, with the assistance of the Japanese stewards and cabin men, who were really much better and kinder baby minders, though volunteers, than the Chinese woman who was paid for the task.

I had, too, in her case a lesson in the skillful and efficacious use of woman's tears which I shall never forget. The Jap cabin boys were fond of the little white girl and she liked them well, while she could not abide the Chinese nurse. The nurse, on her part, for some reason seemed really to hate the baby. The Jap stewards chided her, perhaps roughly, for inefficient care of her charge.

Thereupon she set up a howl that raised the ship. She wept most copiously, wiping her eyes upon the skirt of her short gown. She ran from one end of the steamer to the other, detailing her grievances in a shrill, shrieking voice, sobbing vociferously meantime, and the whole performance was a put up job. The sobs were wooden, the tears mechanical, dropped to order from a regulation weeping machine somewhere back of her eyes. In brief, it was buncombe, wholly buncombe, and for stage effect only, as he who ran might read; yet it was disturbing and unpleasant to all the passengers and cabin crew of a large steamer.

And when my mind's eye looked beneath the surface and read in this scene the average China woman's capacity for making matters uncomfortable in the domestic circle, my sympathetic nature was not altogether against the yellow husband who owns two or three such wives as this. On the whole, he "drees his weird."

The rich Chinese wife lives in a luxury equaled seldom even by white people. Many of the women of this class have attractive faces and are even somewhat accomplished according to western notions. However, the husband's mother is, as usual, the "boss" of all the girls and women in the mixed up household, so that even here occasionally a woman gets even and pays off upon others the indignities that have been showered on herself for the crime of being born a woman.

Foot mutilation is the greatest physical wrong suffered by the rich woman. When, as sometimes happens, a western woman is admitted to the acquaintance of a Chinese lady and calls on her, the hostess politely attempts to rise from her seat and greet her white sister, but it is only with difficulty that she can stand a moment. If she attempts to walk across the room, she wavers and totters like an infant taking its first steps and is liable to fall at any moment. She has really no feet, only painful little stumps at the end of her ankles. Foot mutilation was no doubt instituted in the first instance to prevent Chinese wives from running away from their husbands; then in time women came to glory in their deformity.

Even among the wealthy yellow people, however, polygamy is as much the proper style as the one wife system is with white persons. For many years one rich Chinese gentleman of Hongkong resisted the multimarried system. He had one wife, a beautiful and intellectual lady, to whom he was tenderly attached, and he had imbibed western notions to some extent besides. But the beloved lady of his life had no children. She desired them for him more than he did for himself, and it was this first wife herself who urged on him year after year to marry again, that he might have posterity and be exalted among the gods after death.

Finally he consented, and the first wife selected a second one for him, he obediently accepting her choice. Children were born to the second wife, and all lived happily ever after, though the first wife remained always the heart's beloved of the husband.

What hope is there for a nation where women's feet are mutilated and wives are bought and sold like bales of merchandise?

As are the women of a nation so is the nation itself. When we come to speak of the Japanese, we turn a brighter page. The best hope and guarantee for the entire civilization of Japan is the awakening of their bright, pretty little brown women. They adopt eagerly western ideas of the emancipation of women.

Like the men of their race, they are wonderfully gifted mentally and are eagerly acquisitive of all knowledge. Many Jap girls are students in American colleges, particularly on the Pacific coast, and they learn with extraordinary quickness. Best of all, the men of Japan are not averse generally to the higher and the professional education of women, and I have noticed that they are inclined to be proud of intellectual attainments in their wives and daughters.

It is true the lot of the Japanese female of the lower class is hard and laborious. She must share the roughest and heaviest work with the men of her family, though she does not, as in certain countries of civilized Europe, do it all. I have seen little Jap women and girls no more than four feet high working as coal heavers, loading ships with fuel, along with men. Alas for human flesh and blood in the orient! They are cheaper than steam and iron.

Dwellers in Mining Camps Have No Other Aim in Life.

True Picture of Life in Cripple Creek—Gambling Is Carried On Openly—A Veritable Inferno in Miniature.

[Special Cripple Creek (Col.) Letter.]

A MINING town or city is called a "camp," whether the population be 500 or 20,000. Cripple Creek has about 20,000 population, and the miners rarely dignify it with the title of "city."

Life in a mining "camp" is both picturesque and real. Here human nature is seen in its every phase—all sorts and conditions of people migrate to a camp to better their ill fortunes. Here may be seen humanity in its lowest stages, and types of the shrewdest of mankind—the speculator and the capitalist who is seeking the advantage of those possessed with less business ability, and who conducts his shady transactions so that he can just escape the state's prison. This business highwayman knows enough of the technicalities of the law to evade its grasp. There is also the legitimate business man, who invests his capital, as elsewhere, and conducts his affairs properly, and is an honor to the "camp." He, however, like most others of a mining camp, is here only temporarily, and takes little interest in affairs other than his own. There are few who have come to stay—all are fortune hunters. Many leave before the camp "plays out," and many others play out before the camp does.

The life of a mining camp, of course, depends upon the mineral to be found within its limits. When the gold and silver mines begin to "peter out" the exodus begins, and those who remain the longest lose what they have accumulated, as is seen in the history of other mining camps, where substantial brick buildings are tenantless—monuments of a former prosperity. No one with business sagacity expects a mining camp to last very long, unless it has surrounding natural advantages; and it is a peculiarity of nature that these are seldom found where rich minerals exist. Nature is charry with its favors, and rarely bestows a variety in any one locality.

Cripple Creek, the richest mining camp in the United States, may, however, prove an exception, and last longer than any other camp in the history of mining. Should the mines become exhausted within the present decade the camp can be turned into a summer resort. The elevation is 10,000 feet, the air pure and bracing, and the mountain scenery is magnificent. Yet, the climate is somewhat soporific, casting a lazy, sleepy spell over a person, which one does not seem to overcome, no matter how long he may tarry here.

Next to the mining industry the strongest hold of the "camp" is the gambling saloons. While the miners could exist without the gamblers, the gambling houses could not exist without the miners. There are about 10,000 miners in the Cripple Creek district. Of this number about 5,000 are "tributary" to the city of Cripple Creek. Each miner receives from two dollars and fifty cents to four dollars a day—eight hours constituting a day's work. The mines are worked by relays, or reliefs, of eight hours each, and the gambling houses are run on the same plan—they never close their doors, nor stop their games. And the mines never close down, except for repairs, and the furnace fires of the mills are ever burning.

The miners average $90 a month each, and more than half of them lose the greater part of their earnings at the gambling tables. Many of them lose all, and then buy provisions for their families at credit prices. Others fail to pay their bills, and this hampers trade. The gambling houses are not only a detriment to the miners, but also to the merchants, because the gambling mania makes collections slow and uncertain. Some of the miners gamble away their checks as soon as received.

In some of the gambling houses is displayed the sign: "Checks cashed here." The checks for wages are cashed with faro checks, and the miner loses them before leaving the table. Before entering the gambling den the miner cashes his check at a counter where sits a hawklike fellow, something like a pawnbroker. He knows that the greater part of it will never return—that the miner will perhaps leave empty-handed. The gambling hells are located on the first floors, within easy reach of the passing miner, who sees the game in full blast as he enters a saloon to take his "constitutional," which he thinks is necessary before returning from his work to his needy family. He sees the "cappers" of the games winning stacks of checks and he thinks that he will risk a few dollars and so double his hard-earned wages. He little knows that he is playing against a "brace" game—with all chances to lose and not one to win. The cards are shaved so that they can be stripped into sections. It may be noticed that the dealer always takes the last "shuffle," and it is this "shuffle" that places the cards into the brace position, no matter how long the "outsider" may have shuffled them. The roulette wheel has a hidden spring which the dealer touches and makes either the black or the red to win. He swiftly calculates the amount of money placed on the sides and numbers, and touches the spring so as to throw the balance of trade in favor of the game.

There are 42 gambling tables in the city, most of them located in saloons, so as to bring custom into the barrooms, and the reverse. Some of the saloons have three or four tables—a variety of faro, roulette and keno. In some of the low resorts, run for negroes, are "crap" games, for the negro is more at home at that game than any other. The free zone known as "Poverty Gulch" is set apart for the negro element, and it has not its counterpart for wickedness in the United States—the slums of New York and the Chicago "levee" not excepted. The stranger who ventures into "Poverty Gulch" after nightfall is either very ignorant of this "darktown" section, or very imprudent. The gambling tables are assessed ten dollars each per month. There is an "unofficial" official who makes the rounds on the first of each month with a memorandum book, and says to each proprietor: "You are fined ten dollars for running this table last month." The fine is paid, and the gambler permitted to violate the law for another month, or so long as he pays the "fine." The proprietor is not arrested and taken into court; there is no record made of the "fine," and there are no court proceedings whatever. It is a mere permit to violate a law. Of course, if the gambler does not pay he is arrested, and then the matter becomes of official record. It is about the boldest official recognition of crime and condoning of a felony known in any city. It is a defiance of law—a violation of the oath of office of the officials who sanction it. They claim that the "people" want gambling houses, and that it "helps the town." The business men who suffer thereby say differently. It is held that a mining "camp" must be "wide open," and that gambling cannot be suppressed. The saloons never close—their doors being a mere matter of form.

Everyone does about as he pleases, after the manner of the Israelites during the period when ancient Israel had no king. However, there are not as many murders here, proportionately, as in most other cities. The reason, perhaps, is that as everyone goes armed and is ready for any emergency, there is not much of a desire among them to try conclusions.

Crimes in this camp run mainly to robberies—both of the highwayman and the eastern type. Scarcely a night passes but some desperate men enter a store, saloon, or stop a pedestrian with "Hands up!" Sometimes they "hold up" a gambling table—about the only way to beat it. These highwaymen are seldom masked. As they do not intend to remain in camp after their "coup," they do not think it necessary. They are seldom pursued—it is very dangerous to hunt robbers in these mountains. The plain robberies are mainly confined to the disreputable dance-houses and winerooms, where visiting strangers are drugged and robbed with a facility unsurpassed by the eastern pickpocket. Sometimes the victims are sandbagged and thrown into the streets. In cases where complaints are made, some of the property is restored—generally about 50 per cent. The "mutual friends" must have something for their trouble, they are not here on a pleasure excursion. The dancehouses run all night, and that district is an inferno in miniature.

An Imperial Appeal.

This may not be a verbatim copy of the letter that the unfortunate young Chinese emperor sent to the representatives of the powers, asking their protection against the empress dowager, but it is undoubtedly a good deal like it—if it is like it at all:

"Foleign dogs: The sun of the moon addlesses you. Come lite away quickee and catchee old woman. Empless dowager makee life misable alle samee me. You catchee quick. Lockee up tightee. No letee git out. Hollid old woman. Cuttee off head. No goodee.

Planted Pine a Success.

The great bulk of the forest planting has been done in the states west of the Mississippi river. In the eastern states, except in a few instances, the planting has been done on a smaller scale and usually as an experiment. An interesting plantation is that belonging to Isaac Adams, at Moultonboro, N. H., covering altogether about 50 acres, and composed of white pine and Norway pine set out about 25 years ago. The trees have grown admirably, and, so far as showing what planted pine will produce, the experiment is very valuable.—Washington Star.

A GREAT RECORD.

Hard to Duplicate it in Plainfield.

Scores of representative citizens of Plainfield are testifying on the following subject. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across the back and hips. Any hard work always increased it. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

DEATH OF NOTED DIVINE.

Rev. Dr. Allison, Father of Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, Passed Away Last Week.

Rev. James Allison, D. D., father of Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, died suddenly at his home in Pittsburg, Pa., last Friday. Death was due to a fall which Dr. Allison had a short time ago when his left leg between the knee and thigh was broken. The injury, together with a very weak heart, and the fact that Dr. Allison was well-advanced in age, hastened his death.

Dr. Allison was a noted divine and religious writer. He was for many years editor of the "Presbyterian Banner." He was born in Pittsburg, September 27th, 1823, and he was a descendant of old Scotch Presbyterian stock. He resided in Sewickley, Pa., until last spring, when he moved to Pittsburg. He was married twice. His first wife, Mary Anderson, died in 1853, leaving one daughter, Lizzie T., now the wife of J. W. Reinhart. He was graduated in the class of 1845 at Jefferson College; at the Western Theological Seminary in 1848 and was licensed to preach in 1649. He was instrumental in the reunion between the old and new school churches on the basis of the "Standards." He had been a director of the Western Theological Seminary, trustee of Washington and Jefferson College, one of the managers of the Pennsylvania Reform School, and a member of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce.

DEATH OF MRS. LEE.

Council.man's Wife Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Lee was born in County Derry, Ireland, thirty-six years ago, but came to this country when a young girl. She was married to Mr. Lee in Philadelphia ten years ago, but they have lived in Plainfield most of the time since. The deceased led a quiet home-life, but had a host of acquaintances all of whom will sympathize with Mr. Mr. Lee in his bereavement.

STOLE THE WHEELS.

Frame of Bicycle, Bent and Twisted, was Found on the Front Lawn This Morning.

The rear entrance to the barn of E. H. Booth, of Central avenue, is usually kept bolted and barred. This morning it was found wide open and the lady's Cleveland wheel, the property of Miss Minnie H. Kiernan, who is staying there, was missing. On the front lawn was found the frame of the bicycle, bent and twisted. The wheels were gone.

The bicycle was a new Cleveland. The thief, after removing the wheels, wantonly twisted the frame so that it is of little use. The theft was evidently the work of someone acquainted with the place. There was no sign of force being used on the rear door, although it is always kept locked and bolted. A reward is offered by the owner for information leading to the recovery of the wheels.

Somerset Street Widening Commissioners Sworn In and to Assess Benefits and Damages.

The street committee from the Borough Council held a very important meeting last evening, at which time Dr. J. H. Cooley, William C. Smith and Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., commissioners appointed to assess benefits and damages in the proposed widening of Somerset street, were sworn in by Clerk Frank Rowley. They will now proceed at once to assess benefits and damages, and a public meeting was fixed for Monday evening, October 15th, when all persons having any objection to offer can be present and so state them. It is the purpose of the Council to go ahead with the work of widening, unless the objection is so strong that it is deemed unwise to do so.

The committee talked over some matters regarding notices that had been issued for the laying of five sidewalks in the borough, and which have not yet been put down. It was decided to take action compelling the laying of the walks according to the ordinance.

In connection with the Somerset street widening Clerk Rowley offered the map for the proposed improvement and this was taken in charge by the commissioners.

Judge Garretson Presides for First Time—Jury Charged in Homicide Cases.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 25.—The Somerset County Circuit Court opened this morning with Judge Garretson on the bench for the first time since his appointment.

The jurors chosen from North Plainfield are Augustus Mobus, Andrew Love, Sr., and Dr. Zeglio. The latter was excused, leaving twenty-three jurors to do the work for the term.

Judge Garretson charged the jury on the two homicide cases of Wyckoff and Henning, and all cases were put over till October 29th, owing to the case of Bernard Myer against J. S. Harris, et als, in tort, which will be called tomorrow and tried by a struck jury.

Court adjourned at noon when the officials retired to participate in a dinner given to Judge Garretson.

Several cases of interest to North Plainfield will be tried during the October term.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

A Recreation Club.

A recreation club has been formed at Martinville, with G. H. Goltha as president, W. N. Sortor as secretary, and John W. Bartle as treasurer. They will build a lake on Ellis Bartle's estate and erect a clubhouse, and stock the lake with fish. Work is being rapidly pushed.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Of Interest to Every Music-Lover.

SLIGHTLY USED Aeolians At Reduced Prices.
Also a Few Pianolas.

The Aeolian can be played by any one.
It is a solo orchestra brought within the home.
With its aid symphonies, overtures, operas, or the latest rag-time favorites may be summoned at will. Dance music is always available.

Comment is unnecessary. Figures and facts are of paramount importance.

We offer, for two weeks only, a complete assortment of Æolians at reduced prices. This should focus the attention of all intending purchasers—not because it affords a bargain, but an opportunity.

These instruments are not new—they have all been in use, having been taken in exchange for higher priced styles, but that very fact is significant of the estimation in which the Æolian is held by those who have had the instrument in their homes.

They have been put in thorough order, and repolished so that in the majority of instances they cannot be distinguished from entirely new instruments, and are subject to the same guarantee.

The cost of the Aeolian causes many of its appreciators to deny themselves the constant source of pleasure which comes with its possession. It deters others from investigating it. This sale enables one to obtain an Aeolian at a greatly reduced price. There will also be included a few Pianolas, which have been loaned to customers while waiting for special designs of cases. It will last for two weeks only.

Among the instruments offered:

	Regular Price.	Special Price.		Regular Price.	Special Price.

INTEREST IN HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

Football Eleven, Athletic Meet and Golf Team Give School Boys Plenty to Do.

FIELD DAY NEXT WEEK.

SERIES OF CONTESTS WITH LEAL'S SCHOOL BOYS ON GOLF LINKS.

Excellent Prospects for Football Team This Fall—Meet for The Daily Press Medal and All-Round Championship—Open Only to High School.

More interest has been displayed this fall among the young men attending the Plainfield High School in outdoor athletics than has been for several years. Last spring the baseball team received excellent support from the school and the interest in the football eleven this fall is just as strong. The prospect of an athletic meet for The Daily Press medal and the all-round school championship has found favor with the young men and a goodly number of entries are assured. Then there is some talk of organizing a golf team at the school to meet similar teams from other schools of Plainfield and vicinity.

The balance in the treasury of the High School Athletic Association, carried over from last season, has so far been enough to meet the expenses of the football team and the management hopes to be able to keep them low enough to be met by the limited receipts from the games. There have been more than enough candidates out from the first to form a complete eleven and have a number of subs left over. While the players need practice as yet, the showing for the team promises to be satisfactory.

The field day is to be held on the Gentlemen's Driving Park track as the only available place for outdoor games near the city. The games will be held next Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, the events in which were announced yesterday. The events will be open only to members of the High School and entries may be made with C. Ames Brooks, manager of the track team, who is in charge of the meet.

The contest will be for the all-round championship of the school. The only prize offered will be The Daily Press medal to the winner of the all-round championship. All the events will be scratch. The winner in each event will score three points, the second will receive two and the third one. In case of a tie, the points will be devided. The contestant scoring the most number of points in the meet will be declared all-round champion and will receive The Daily Press medal.

There are several of the young men at the High School who play more or less and there is enough material to form a five men team. The chief golfers of the High School are Lawrence L. Tweedy, Mellick Tweedy, C. Ames Brooks and J. Holly Titus. A match with Leal's School for the near future seems quite probable.

VIOLATORS OF EXCISE LAWS.

Judge Garretson Says That Somerset Grand Jurors Will Deal With Them.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 26.—At the opening of the Somerset County Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Garretson charged the jury in reference to the two manslaughter cases—that of Jacob Henning and Simeon Wyckoff—directing them to inquire into both cases. He also said that violators of the law in regard to Sunday liquor selling would be brought to their attension and it would be their duty to indict.

Among the lawyers from Plainfield present were Senator Chas. A. Reed, W. K. McClure, J. P. D. Kirch, W. A. Coddington, W. R. Codington, Wm. Newcorn, W. S. Angleman, John H. VanWinkle and Frank Blatz.

The court granted a license to John H. Graceland to keep a hotel at North Plainfield. The case of Bernard Meyers against the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company was called this morning before a struck jury. This will take the balance of this week and a portion of next. All other cases ready were set down for October 29th. The jury appeals were set down for October 23d, and the court appeals for October 30th.

—The peach season is soon to end. Neuman Brothers will receive shipments all this week. Prices will be low.

—A full attendance of members is requested at the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church next Friday afternoon, when plans for the winter will be formulated.

BRUNSWICK ROWDIES.

A PARTY OF FRESH YOUNG MEN WHO WERE VERY, VERY FRESH.

Saw the Jeffries Show, Then Drank Some Red Eye and Thought They Owned the Town.

The sight of Champion Jeffries in his sparring exhibition, together with some New Brunswick liquor, aroused the pugilistic abilities of a party of eight young men from that place last evening and they proceeded to show them in a local restaurant after the performance.

They began by insulting some lady patrons and acting in a very disorderly manner until requested to leave by the proprietor. They did so with the exception of one or two of the more boisterous ones, who objected strenuously to going out. An argument followed and in a moment a general melee took place. When it was over the New Brunswick men had got decidedly the worst of it, but the proprietor was in bad shape. He found it necessary to have his cuts dressed at a drug store.

The visitors were finally gotten away before any were arrested, but the proprietor has decided to make charges against them and has put the matter in the hands of a lawyer.

AN AUTUMN WEDDING.

Egany-Muldowney Nuptials Celebrated in St. Joseph's Church Yesterday Afternoon.

One of the prettiest fall weddings that has taken place this season took place at St. Joseph's church yesterday afternoon, when Miss Elizabeth Muldowney, daughter of James Muldowney, of West Third street, and Thomas Egany, were made man and wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Miller, and was witnessed by an unusually large number.

Miss May Muldowney was bridesmaid and James Egany, of Newark, was best man. The bride looked charming in a dress of steel gray Henrietta cloth trimmed with white satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of dark gray material and she carried pink roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony the party proceeded to the bride's father, where a reception was held. They left on an early train for Albany for a week's trip and upon their return will take up housekeeping in the Manning block on Central avenue. Numerous presents, both ornamental and useful, were received by the young couple showing the esteem in which they are held by a large circle of acquaintances.

KILLED ON THE TRACK.

John Johnson Lost His Life on the Spot Near Which His Daughter Was Killed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 26.—John Johnson, aged fifty-five years, was instantly killed this morning at 9 o'clock in the cut just west of the Westfield station of the Central Railroad by an east bound passenger train. Johnson is a huckster living near Westfield and was walking on the tracks to that place when struck by the engine. He is slightly deaf and probably did not hear the approach of the train. He leaves a widow and two sons. Three years ago his daughter, Mrs. Kate Sheelein, was killed by a train near the same spot.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Miss Freda Miller Becomes the Wife of Somerville Man.

The marriage of Miss Freda Miller, of the borough, and Peter Bryan, of Somerville, took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Diederick, of 17 Harmony street. Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

Miss Miller was gowned in steel colored Henrietta cloth, trimmed with white lace. She was attended by Miss Bertha Bryan, sister of the groom, who also wore a gown of steel colored Henrietta cloth. Both carried bouquets of pink roses. The best man was William Bryan, of Somerville, a brother of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left the city and will spend their honeymoon at Bethlehem and Easton, Pa. On their return they will take up their reeidence at Somerville.

Will be Held in Mid-Winter.

The print exhibit, planned by the members of the Plainfield Camera Club for this fall, will not be held until mid-winter. The members of the club have just resumed their activity for the fall months, and expect to get some fine views before the time set for the exhibit.

MR. SHELTON TALKS OF BIBLE STUDIES.

Large Meeting Held in First Presbyterian Church Under Auspices of Endeavorers.

AT THE HEAD OF ALL BOOKS

SOME STRIKING REFERENCES TO POWER OF SCRIPTURES.

Another Meeting, for Men Only, Will be Conducted by Mr. Shelton in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tomorrow Evening.

The First Presbyterian church was filled last evening with members of the various Christian Endeavor Societies and their friends, who gathered to hear Don O. Shelton, who is working under the direction of the International committeee of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Shelton is a thorough Bible student, and it is to stimulate a more systematic study of the Bible that he is laboring among the Y. M. C. A. members. He is an earnest and pleasant talker and very convincing in his arguments. From start to finish he held the closest attention of all present.

The service was opened with singing, after which Rev. Charles E. Herring, read the Scriptures and offered prayer. W. D. Murray, of the Y. M. C. A., was present and recited briefly the purpose of the meetings and the intent of the Association to start Bible classes for the winter at the Association building. Those who attend the third and last meeting at the Association Hall tomorrow evening will learn more about the plans. Mr. Shelton will be present and talk to men only.

At the close of the service last evening William Holmes sang a pleasing solo, accompanied on the organ by Clifford Braider.

Mr. Shelton's talk last evening was, in part, as follows:

There is no book in our time that is claiming and holding the attention and devotion of so many millions of human beings as the Bible. It stands at the very head of the procession of the books. Our American Bible Society is sending out each year over 1,500,000 copies, while the British and Foreign Bible Societies are publishing yearly over 3,500,000 copies and scores of publication houses not affiliated with the above societies are publishing millions of copies per annum. It is said that over 10,000,000 copies of the Bible are issued each year. Bibles today are so plentiful that they are accessible to all. We should appreciate more keenly than we do the fact that the Bible can now be secured in good editions and in our tongue at slight expense. A few centuries ago, when the art of printing was not known, copies of the Bible were made by hand and were therefore costly. When Wycliffe finished his translation of the New Testament, in 1380, and of the Old Testament in 1384, people were so desirous of securing the Word of God that some traded a load of hay for a few chapters of St. James or the Epistles of St. Paul. We are told that some devoted the savings of years for this purpose. Men gave $40 and $50 for small tracts of Wycliffe, in which there were Scripture texts. Three years were required to make a copy of the entire Bible and the cost of the finished product was about $1,500. In those days great sacrifices were necessary in order that the Word of God might be read. In our own time there is danger that we fail to appreciate the inestimable worth of the Bible, because of the ease with which copies may be secured. While Bibles can be secured in our own country for less than twenty cents, Bishop Tucker says that in Uganda a man will readily do three months work for a single copy of the New Testament. But cheap as Bibles are and widely circulated as the Bible is comparatively few know the Bible.

This condition seems hard to explain, in view of the fact that men who have posseesed the greatest intellectual strength and who have had the widest acquaintance with literature; have crowned the Bible King among books. They have testified to their belief in its Divine origin and its power to uplift, guide and save. Those who have read and studied it most diligently, have valued and loved it most highly. George Muller, of Bristol, England, after he had read the Bible through over one hundred times, said that it was fresher than he had ever known it. Mr. Spurgeon, in one of his last great addresses, said: "After having preached the Gospel for forty years, and after printing the sermons I have preached for more than six and thirty years, reaching now to the number of thirty-two hundred in weekly succession, I am fairly entitled to speak about the fulness and richness of the Bible. Brethren, it is inexhaustible. A long life will only suffice us to skirt the shores of this great continent of light. In the forty years of my own ministry, I have only touched the hem of the garment of Divine truth; but what virture has flowed out of it! The Word is like its Author, infinite, immeasurable, without end." Those who study the Bible are nobly occupied. They will find themselves in company with the strong-minded and high purposed men and women of the ages. Is it not wise to make the acquaintance of a book that leads men and nations to a higher and a purer destiny? No one need apologize for giving much time to the study of a book which has engaged the most serious attention of statesmen like Burke and Gladstone; of painters like Raphael; of sculptors like Thorwaldsen; of musicians like Mozart and Handel; of lawyers like Blackstone; of orators like Webster and Bright; of business men like William E. Dodge and George Williams; of physicans like Harvey; of philosophers like Bacon and John Stuart Mill; of poets like Dante. Milton and Tennyson.

Our first plea tonight, therefore, is that time be taken for the study of the Divine Word, It will be wise for even the busiest to set aside a time each day for the study of this Divine Message, which, if studied and obeyed, enables a man to become like that ideal character discovered in the first Psalm. Those who take time for the study of and meditation in the Scripture will be like "trees planted by the streams of water, bringing forth their fruit in their season. Their leaf also shall not wither, and whatsoever they do shall prosper."

It is surprising how much can be achieved if only a few moments are spent daily in the study of the Scripture. Twenty minutes a day will enable one to read through the entire Bible in a year. And an hour a day spent in prayerful study of the Scripture would in a few years enable one to gain a thorough understanding of God's dealings with men in the past and of his great purposes for mankind through Jesus Christ in the present. It requires but about ten hours to read carefully through the Book of Psalms, a book of which Mr. Gladstone said: "All the wonders of Greek civilization heaped together are less wonderful than the simple Book of Psalms. Setting forth the human soul in relation to its Maker."

If we should conscientiously and persistently give to the study of the Bible a regular time daily, how marvelously our lives would be enriched. The lives of those who have been a blessing to the church of Christ are proof that the systematic study of the Scripture is of exceeding value. The sister of Francis Ridley Havergal wrote: "She read her Bible at her study table by 7 in the morning in the summer and 8 in the winter; sometimes, on bitterly cold mornings, I begged that she would read with her feet comfortably to the fire, and received the reply, 'But then, Marie, I can't rule my lines neatly; just see what a find I've got!' If only one searches there are such extraordinary things in the Bible. She resolutely refrained from late hours and frittering talks at night in place of searching and holy communings. Early rising and early studying were her rules through life."

It is the privilege of us all to study this inspired Word; to get its sense; to understand its meaning; to find in it treasures of promise, treasures of warning, treasures of counsel and treasures of comfort, well worth laying up in our hearts.

And our study of the Scripture should be a delight, because the Bible, when it is studied reverently and its teachings are obeyed diligently, is the most interesting and helpful of books. If studied properly, it will be found to possess unequalled freshness and attractiveness. The story of the Western Editor who found a copy of the Bible on his desk and reviewed it as a new book, is a bit of fiction which serves to suggest the truth that to the believer who takes up the study of the Bible in the right spirit, it will in a large and true sense always be a modern volume. The great variety of subjects treated in the Bible, makes it especially attractive. A Bible scholar, referring to the great variety of Scripture themes, has said that in the Bible "there is history, like a picture, reproducing an extensive landscape; biography, immortalizing certain minds and retaining their duplicates upon the earth for the imitation or warning of subsequent generations; prophesy, anticipating the world's future; doctrines, which are clustered in the moral firmament, deep as the nature of Deity and resplendant with the luster of his brightness; precepts, which find their way direct to the heart of man; denunciations, which impress the soul with awful feelings; appeals, which

POLITICAL TALK TO BE HEARD THIS EVENING

Republican Mass-Meeting in Music Hall Will be Addressed by G. L. Barber.

A BIG CROWD IS EXPECTED.

PROHIBITION TRAIN TO PAY ELIZABETH A VISIT.

It is Decided That Former Judge Hudspeth Will be the Democratic Candidate for Senator in Hudson County.

The Prohibition train, the latest novelty in the way of campaign electioneering, will reach Elizabeth October 18th. The idea is to send the party's candidates for President and Vice-President, John G. Wooley and Henry Brewer Metcalf, on a stumping tour throughout the country. No drinker will be allowed aboard the train, which will be run for and by Prohibitionists. The train started from Chicago last week. All the conductors, engineers, firemen, porters baggagemen and brakemen are expected to be, if not active Prohibitionists, at least non users of liquor. The train has one car set aside especially for Prohibition literature of all kinds, for distribution along the road. The Silver Lake Glee Club has been engaged to accompany the speakers on the train, and sing at all points where addresses will be made. As each State is reached the State candidates will join the train and remain on it as long as it is in the State. The speaking at Elizabeth will be in the Lyceum Theatre.

Peter Egenolf, who is the Union county representative of the Democratic State committed, is still in Europe, but it is probable will arrive home next week. The Democrats are awaiting his return, expecting he will begin some aggressive movement for Bryan in this section.

Democratic primaries were held in Hudson county yesterday for the selection of candidates for the approaching election. There was no contest worthy of mention except in the choice of a candidate for Senator. Mayor Edward Kenny, of East Newark, was the opponent of former Judge Robert S. Hudspeth, the candidate agreed upon by the leaders. Mr. Hudspeth was successful. The ticket is headed by Allan L. McDermott, now corporation counsel of Jersey City, who is the candidate for Congressman.

The Middlesex County Republican Executive Committee held a meeting on Saturday evening at which it was decided to call the county convention on Thursday, October 4th. The primaries will be held on Monday and Wednesday, October 1st and 3d, and the convention will take place on Thursday. It is expected that there will be a sharp fight between Hicks and Strong for the senatorial nomination. Adrain Lyon, H. Raymond Groves and John E. Montgomery will be renominated for the assembly.

The Republican mass meeting will be held in Music Hall this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. Previous to the meeting, there will be a concert by LaVere's band which will start at 7:30 o'clock. The chief speaker of the evening will be Hon. George L. Barber, of Hartford, Conn. Short speeches will also be made by Governor Foster M. Voorhees, United States Senator John Kean and Assemblyman Charles S. Foote. Ladies as well as the voters have been invited to be present.

HEARING FOR KING.

Man Who Knocked Out Wm. J. Dodd to be Arraigned Before Justice Tomorrow.

The hearing of John King, the man who knocked out Wm. J. Dodd at the baseball game last Saturday afternoon, will be held before Justice Huff in his office on West Front street tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The course of action of the defendant in the case is not known. He may waive examination or else go into the circumstances of the case. John Newman will have his hearing at the same time. He is accused of having kicked Dodd after the latter was knocked by King.

Benefit for Dodd.

A baseball game between teams organized from among the employes of The Pond Tool and Machine Company's factory will be played on Saturday afternoon next on the Clinton avenue grounds for the benefit of William Dodd, who was injured in the trouble that occurred at the game last Saturday afternoon. The tickets will cost fifteen cents each.

FATAL END TO A FALL.

OLD COLORED WOMAN WAS THROWN FROM A TROLLEY CAR.

Taken to the Hospital, Where Internal Injuries Developed and Death Occurred Yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Wyckoff, aged 75 years, a well-known colored woman, died yesterday afternoon at Muhlenberg Hospital, where she was taken Tuesday, Sept. 11th, suffering from injuries received while getting off a trolley car near the corner of Richmond and Fifth streets. She boarded the car at the North avenue terminal about 8 o'clock in the evening and told the conductor to let her off at the corner of Richmond and Fifth streets. The conductor failed to stop just where she wanted to get off and carried her a short way beyond. The woman being a little nervous hurried from her seat and stepped off the car while it was in motion.

She was thrown and hit on her head. Nathan R. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, was in the car and he assisted the woman. Patrolman Saunders was close by and when he reached the woman she was unconscious. At the time her injuries were not thought serious, but internal injuries developed and caused death. So far as known the only relative is a niece who lives in this city.

JEFFRIES AS AN ACTOR.

Champion Pugilist Displayed Considerable Ability in "The Man From The West."

For the fourth time on any stage, James J. Jeffries, the champion pugilist, made his appearance in Music Hall last night in "The Man From the West." There was a large audience present and a rousing reception was given the champion. The play is a light, frivolous thing, with just enough of a plot to carry it through four acts and in various parts show the champion off to good advantage. Without previous experience on the stage and never making any pretentions in the histrionic line, Mr. Jeffries did remarkably well. The play was written especially for him. The champion was on the stage a good deal of the time and acted his character—that of a rough, but true hearted, western Sheriff—with very good effect. A pleasing and not to be expected feature of the champion's appearance was his modesty and avoidance of attempt to monopolize the centre of the stage whenever he was before the audience. In this characteristic he displayed excellent judment and taste.

TO HEAR PITNEY.

North Plainfield Republicans Arrange to Hold a Mass Meeting Next Wednesday Evening.

The U. S. Grant Club, of the borough, held a very enthusiastic meeting last evening, and speeches were made by Senator Chas. A. Reed and Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., in which they presented facts that encouraged the voters present. At the meeting arrangements were made for the members to meet at the club rooms this evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp, and march in a body to Music Hall to attend the Republican mass meeting there. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps has been engaged to furnish the music. It is quite likely that a delegation from North Plainfield Township will join the club in the parade.

It was announced that the finance committee will meet tomorrow evening and the finance committee will meet on Friday evening. All arrangements are complete for the mass meeting to be held in Saengerbund Hall next week Wednesday, when Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, will make a speech. LaVere's band has been engaged to furnish music and a rousing meeting is expected.

WRONG MAN GOT PANTS.

Colored Minister Left the Trousers at Randolph Dunham's to be Cleaned.

Randolph Dunham, the West Fourth street tailor, was the defendant in a suit brought against him in Justice Moffett's court this morning by Rev. William McLean. The preacher sued the tailor for the value of two pairs of trousers which had been given him to repair. The work was done and the trousers delivered to a colored man who called for them and claimed to be the owner.

When McLean called for his property they, of course, were not to be had nor was their equivalent forthcoming. He accordingly brought suit. After hearing the testimony Judge Moffett gave McLean a decision for $10 and costs.

FARMER LONG'S SON STOPS THE FUNERAL.

Announces While Services Are Being Held That He Suspects Murder.

MAKES SCENE IN COURT.

DECLARES FATHER WAS POISONED BY SOMEONE BENT ON MURDER.

Instead of the Body Being Taken to the Cemetery it was Turned Over to County Physician Westcott to Make an Autopsy.

William Long, son of David Long, the old farmer who, with his two wards, Robert Porsmann and Daisy Semons, an orphan girl, was poisoned and lay for six days and nights in his farm-house, near Fanwood, caused a sensation yesterday in the Rahway church, where funeral services for his father was being held.

Farmer Long's death followed shortly after he was found by neighbors. It was given out by the attending physician, Dr. Kinch, of Westfield, that water from an old pump had caused the illness of the three persons and that the death of Farmer Long was from starvation and neglect.

William Long suspects his father was poisoned by some person bent of murder. He investigated for himself yesterday morning and when the body was taken to church he followed. In the middle of the services Long arose and said that the funeral would have to be stopped, as he was not satisfied that his father was accidentally poisoned and suspected murder. He said that the services could continue, but that the body should not be interred.

The announcement caused the greatest excitement among the friends of the dead man gathered in the church. The services were shortened. The body then, instead of being taken to the cemetery as had been arranged was turned over to the authorities. County Physician Westcott will make the autopsy and should his investigation warrent it the police will begin work on the case.

THE LAST CONCERT.

LaVere's Band Will Play Farewell on Friday Evening of This Week.

The last band concert of the season will be given Friday evening by LaVere's band, and a very fine programme will be presented. It has cost Mr. LaVere and the members of the band considerable to give these concerts, and as it is there will be a shortage of about $40. It seems as though there are enough public spirited citizens who would be willing to come forward and assist in making up this deficiency. Mr. LaVere and the members of the band should not be compelled to lose any considerable amount of money in their effort to give the city good music.

VISIT OF VETERANS.

Winfield Scott Post Entertained G. A. R. Men of Elizabeth.

The fall season was opened auspicious last evening by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., when they entertained the members of Kirkpatrick Post, of Elizabeth. The visitors came to Plainfield in a special trolley, arriving here about 8:30 o'clock. They were cordially received by the local veterans, and, after the short business session of the Post, the balance of the evening was devoted to sociability and speeches. The comrades entered into a reminescent mood and related many incidents of a pathetic nature concerning bygone days, both during the war and afterward.

The members of Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, were also present, and they joined in the festivities of the occasion. Following the speeches, all partook of a repast provided and served by the women. At a late hour the visitors returned home taking with them pleasant recollections of an evening profitably spent.

Attempted to Hold Up Girl.

Two tramps attempted to hold up Amelia Parsch, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Herman Parsch, a carpenter living at 83 Harrison street, at six o'clock last evening on the Greenbrook road bridge. Amelia and Lizzie, her eight-year-old sister, were going to deliver a pail of milk to a family on Jackson avenue when they were ordered to stop. The screams of the girls attracted the attention of a man on Grove street and the tramps departed hurriedly when he appeared.

Played Euchre.

Miss Anna Caheone, of Watchung avenue, gave an informal euchre party at her home last evening. Some twenty friends were present.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. A Health Resort.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., on the Kansas City line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway has become one of the leading all-the year around health and pleasure resorts in the United States. The use of its waters has benefited a great many sufferers. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway has just issued a finely illustrated booklet, describing the resort and telling of its advantages, which will be sent free on application to Geo. H. Heafford, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, with two cent stamp enclosed for postage. 9-24-3.

LITERARY.

It is the policy of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly to take its cue from what interests the public, rather than try and persuade the public to be interested in what it happens to print. Our leading article for October, for instance, "The Reproach of Russia," gives a dramatic and interesting account of the system of Siberian exile, a terrible chapter of history, which is just closing by order of the Czar. The author of the paper is a native of Russia, a liberal in politics, but not an extremist. "China, the Survival of the Unfittest," is the title of a strikingly intelligent article by a man who for ten years has held a confidential position in the Imperial Government of China, and writes from the inside. "The Race for the Chinese Market" by John Foord, secretary of the American Asiatic Association, shows graphically what are the great trade routes to China, and what the possibilities of each.

NEED MORE TROOPS.

Night Marching Miners Cause Alarm.

GOVERNOR STONE DELAYS ACTION.

Large Mine Operators of Hazleton Issue a Statement—Demand of Miners For Increased Wages Refused. Other Requests Allowed.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 26.—It was learned last night that Sheriff Harvey of this (Luzerne) county had telegraphed to Governor Stone asking that troops be sent to this county on the ground that he (the sheriff) cannot guarantee the safety of persons or property during the night marches of the strikers. The governor, it is understood, is considering the matter.

It was also learned that the sheriff's request was backed up by several telegrams from private citizens of Hazleton who, it is said, are mine operators.

It is believed that the sheriff is of the opinion that the presence of troops will prevent any further marching, thus lessening the possibility of serious trouble. Monday night's march of 300 men from Cranberry, Tomhicken, Derringer and Gowen probably hastened the action of Sheriff Harvey in asking for state help.

The strikers met after midnight at Cranberry, and when they reached Tomhicken they were stopped by Sheriff Harvey and 30 armed deputies, who went to that place on a special train. It was yet dark, and the sheriff read the riot act to them by the light of a lantern. The strikers then scattered in different directions and began missionary work in preventing mine workers from going to the Potts mines at Tomhicken, Gerringer and Gowen. They were successful in preventing a large number of men from going to work, and in consequence the Derringer and Gowen mines were crippled. The Tomhicken slope was only slightly affected. Four of the marchers were arrested charged with breach of the peace and in the afternoon were taken to South Wilkesbarre and committed without bail. There was no conflict between the deputies and the strikers.

The most important development here yesterday, outside of the request for soldiers, was the answer of G. B. Markle & Co. to the demands presented by the firm's employees ten days ago. The answer is not considered satisfactory by many of the Markle employees, and what action they will take at their meeting today is not certain. There is much talk among them in favor of a strike. The firm flatly refuses to grant the demand of the men for a 5 and 10 per cent advance, announces its willingness to pay the men semimonthly, agrees to arbitrate the question of cheaper powder, refuses the demands of the driver boys and engineers for more pay, promises to adjust grievances relating to the carrying of men and tools down through the slope in mine cars, offers the timbermen a new scale for propping which is lower than the rate asked for, agrees to build powder houses so that the men will not have to carry the explosive a great distance and concedes the pillar robbing grievance.

The Markle firm announced that at the "request of the mine workers in its employ work will be suspended today in order to give the men an opportunity to consider the company's answer to their demands made ten days ago."

President Mitchell, in discussing the situation in the entire region, said:

"Reports from the Schuylkill district are that the entire Mahanoy valley from Mahanoy City to Ashland is idle. This is a gain of three large collieries. In the Lehigh valley region Eckley, Derringer, Tomhicken and Gowen were closed today, and we made satisfactory gains at other mines where the men have been working. It is generally conceded that the strike in the Schuylkill district will soon embrace every man employed there. On the whole, we are well satisfied with the status of the strike."

Wyoming Region Quiet.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Everything is quiet in the Wyoming region. The officers of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company in a statement issued last night say the strikers in the Hazleton region are intimidating the men who are at work and that they expect the authorities to give such protection as will insure the safety of their employees while in the discharge of their duties. The coal operators of this section were in conference yesterday. It is understood that the question of starting some of the mines hereabouts within the next few days was discussed. It is said there are quite a number of applicants for work, and if the required number of men can be secured operations will be resumed at one colliery at least. At strike headquarters the information is given out that the men are as firm as ever and that a break in the ranks is out of the question. The United Mine Workers do not believe that the operators will make an attempt to resume operations this week.

Will Not Hurry Troops.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—Governor Stone will be in no hurry to send more troops into the strike region. He believes the troops now in the field can quell any disturbance which may occur. The governor received telegrams last night from a number of private citizens of the Hazleton region asking that troops be sent there. Sheriff Harvey also advised the executive that trouble is brewing and that troops are needed. The governor is giving serious consideration to the request, and unless they are backed up by additional appeals no troops will be called out. Should trouble occur in the Hazleton region one of the regiments attached to General Gobin's brigade at Shenandoah will be sent there. The governor is keeping in close touch with General Gobin, and he will not send any more troops unless he recommends it.

More Collieries Closed.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 26.—The few developments in the strike situation here are favorable to the strikers. Three additional collieries were closed yesterday in this region because the number of men who reported for duty was not sufficient to operate them. They are the Park Place, Preston No. 3 and Lawrence collieries. The Park Place workings were in operation for a short time, but could not continue with the small force. In this city but one colliery is working. That is the Cambridge, which, according to J. C. McGinnis of the Cambridge Coal company, has its full complement of men. Other collieries in the region still in operation are the Bast at Ashland, Potts at Locustdale, Locust Spring at Locust Gap and the North Franklin at Trevorton. The Bast colliery is said to be short handed.

Advance Pay For Miners.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 26.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company began paying off its men today instead of waiting for the first of the month. By direction of Superintendent Loomis the rental for company houses was not subtracted. The company is also allowing its men to have limited quantities of coal on credit. Superintendent Loomis says he is inspired to do this by the firm belief that the majority of his men are striking solely because they were driven to it by the dread of being considered disloyal to their fellow workmen and that at the very first opportunity to gracefully desert the strikers they will do so.

FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE.

Three Killed at Grantham, Pa.—Orders Disregarded.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Two freight trains collided last evening on the Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburg branch of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Grantham, ten miles from Harrisburg, killing three trainmen and injuring two others.

The accident, it is said, resulted from trainmen of the Reading train disregarding orders to meet a Western Maryland freight train at the Dillsburg and Mechanicsburg Junction instead of Bowmansdale. Their orders when they left Harrisburg for Hagerstown were to meet this train at Bowmansdale, but when they reached Rossmoyne the order was changed to meet the train at the junction. Engineer Stehman says he and the conductor forgot the second order. Both engines were demolished, and several cars were wrecked. The killed belonged to the Western Maryland crew and the injured to the Reading crew.

Three Pairs of Twins.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 26.—Three successive pairs of twins in four years were left by the stork at the home of Victor Beauquiet, a steel worker at the Carnegie Homestead plant. The family lives in Third avenue, Homestead, and the children are all healthy. When the first pair arrived, the father and mother were so elated that they named them Victor Hugo and Napoleon Bonaparte. The second pair was christened General Grant and General MacMahon, and the last will be William Jennings Bryan and John Purman, the latter being a Democratic leader of Homestead.

Relief Ship Reaches Galveston.

GALVESTON, Sept. 26.—The United States transport McPherson, Captain Bryan, arrived here last evening from New York, having made the run in six days and three hours. The McPherson commenced discharging this morning. She has on board 3,300 tons of relief supplies, valued at $163,375. The cargo brought to Galveston by the transport is the largest amount of freight ever carried by the ship since she was bought by the government in the spring of 1898 for use as a transport in the Spanish-American war.

To Do Away With Cane Rushes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Rutgers college students have voted to do away with cane rushes and substitute in their place cane sprees similar to those adopted by Princeton. In the cane spree three class champions in the light, heavy and middle weight classes wrestle for a cane. The action of Rutgers is due to last week's accident, in which a student was very seriously hurt.

Snow In Colorado.

DENVER, Sept. 26.—Dispatches from various points in the Rocky mountains show that there has been a heavy snowfall. At Red mountain, near Ouray, snow is reported three feet deep. At Leadville there are about two inches of snow on the level. The snow was accompanied by a high wind, which made the weather decidedly disagreeable. A cold rain is falling east of the mountains.

Michael Defeats Pierce.

HARTFORD, Sept. 26.—The 20 mile paced race between Jimmy Michael and Burns Pierce was won by Michael by six laps, or just one mile, at the Velodrome track here. Michael's time for the first five miles was 8:29 3-5; ten miles, 17:02 2-5; 15 miles, 25:35 4-5; 20 miles, 34:10 4-5. Pierce's time for the 20 miles was 35:29.

Torpedo Fleet Victorious.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 26.—The second night of the naval maneuvers off this port resulted, apparently, in an overwhelming victory for the torpedo fleet, which claims to have torpedoed every ship which it encountered in passing the blockade.

TO EVACUATE PEKING

General Chaffee Ordered to Withdraw Our Troops.

ONLY LEGATION GUARD TO REMAIN.

This Will Consist of About Fourteen Hundred Men—Troops Will Be Returned to Manila at an Early Date—Text of the Order.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The United States government has taken the first step toward the redemption of its pledge made to the Russian government Aug. 28 last by cabling instructions to General Chaffee to reduce the American forces in China to the proportions of a legation guard. Nearly a month ago the Russian government was told through M. de Wollant, its charge here, that if the Russian forces and ministry were withdrawn from Peking "we shall give instructions to the commander of the American forces in China to withdraw our forces from Peking after due conference with other commanders as to time and manner of withdrawal." That time has come, and yesterday's action marks the beginning of the disappearance of the American army from China, for, although some military force is to remain, it will not be of the character of an army, but under the conditions laid down in the order to General Chaffee and especially under its official designation as a "legation guard" will be rather of the nature of a civil guard. This small force will not be included in any military operations which may be conducted by the allied armies and so will not fall subject to the direction of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, the commander in chief.

Much thought has been given to the proper number of troops to be allotted for this purpose, and it is believed that the 1,400 men selected will be quite sufficient to protect the American legation against any force that could be brought against it. It is noteworthy, too, that the most complete arrangements have been ordered for the maintenance of the men, while care has been taken that there shall not be a shortage of ammunition as there was in the British legation during the siege. It is estimated that about a week will be required to bring the 3,500 soldiers away from Peking, but if the start cannot be made immediately it will be at least about the end of the first week in October before the movement can be completed.

It is stated at the quartermaster's department that there are enough transports available to bring off the force which will come out of China. Three or four vessels will be at Taku by the time the troops are ready to move. Besides the transports for the men, a number of animal ships will take away the horses and mules which will not be needed in China. General Chaffee is authorized to take from the ships now at Taku such stores as will be necessary to last him through the winter.

The instruction to Minister Conger relative to establishing relations with the Chinese envoys is still withheld, presumably to allow the president to administer some finishing touches. This instruction is regarded as of much importance and will make a part of the case of the government and be laid before congress at the next session. It is settled that Minister Conger is to be a member of the commission to settle the various questions remaining to be adjusted.

The reported adhesion of the British government to the position assumed by the United States respecting the proposition to make the surrender of the Chinese ringleaders a condition precedent to nogotiations has given the greatest satisfaction in official circles here.

The reports that Prince Tuan has been signally honored by the Chinese government have not yet been officially confirmed, although the authorities have received word of Chinese rumors that some such action had been taken.

Consul General Goodnow has advised the state department that the taotai at Shanghai has been degraded and that this is believed to be due to the favorable attitude of that official toward foreigners. Mr. Goodnow and the other foreign consuls have considered the advisability of protesting, but the protest has not yet been made. The French consul at Shanghai reports, however, that he and Mr. Goodnow have joined in a protest.

The state department has also received several dispatches from Mr. Rockhill relative to his conferences with Minister Conger and the progress of his inquiries.

The text of the order to General Chaffee is as follows:

"Pending negotiations for a settlement, the secretary of war directs that a legation guard of a regiment of infantry, four troops of cavalry, with rapid fire guns and light battery with complete equipment and reserve supply of ammunition adequate for any emergency, be retained in Peking under your command and that you send the remainder of your force in China to Manila to report to MacArthur. The guard should be amply provisioned, etc., until navigation opens next spring. Retain such officers for staff duties as you deem necessary. All others, of whatever corps or department, will be sent to MacArthur for duty as soon as possible. All stores, transportation and materials not required for the legation guard send to Manila. Place yourself in close relations with our minister, acting with him on the lines that will best subserve our interests, keeping this department fully advised. It is important that you have the confidence of the generals of the other powers. General Wilson, with his aids, will remain in Peking for the present. Special instructions may be sent him. Cable MacArthur concerning requirements to carry these instructions into effect. Inform generals commanding forces of other powers of our intention to withdraw part of our forces. Show this to Conger."

GERMANY HEARS BAD NEWS.

Bad State of Affairs In China—America's Course Criticised.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Alarming news from China has reached the German government, but it will not be published now, as Germany intends to use it during the conferences in Peking. Field Marshal Count von Waldersee has cabled to Emperor William direct that he has found the general situation much more dangerous than he had expected, as it has grown worse during the last fortnight, and the consuls in central and southern China are expecting a general uprising.

Advices from Dr Mumm von Schwartzenstein, the German minister in China, are of a similar tenor.

The Cologne Gazette publishes a statement, evidently inspired, to the effect that with the exception of Great Britain all the powers have replied to the German note and that all with the exception of the United States agree to Germany's proposal in essentials. "The appointment of Prince Tuan as the head of the Chinese government may be regarded," says the Cologne Gazette, "as the first fruits of America's policy. The American note has evidently revived the courage of the Chinese and their cherished speculations regarding discord among the powers. The act of the empress in appointing Prince Tuan is a slap in the face for the whole world, but China will deceive herself in this matter, as she has done in others. Even assuming that active work against China should be left to only a part of the powers, that part will be strong enough to impose its will on China."

The German foreign office has received official information of the appointment of Prince Tuan as grand secretary. In reply to an inquiry as to whether this indicated a serious turn of affairs a high official of the foreign office said:

"Undoubtedly it does for those powers that want to begin peace negotiations. The appointment means that Tuan is now at the helm and shows to what lengths the Chinese government will go in defying the powers."

England and America Agree.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Only through press advices from New York, published in this morning's papers, does the British public learn that the United States and Great Britain are once again ranged together in opposition to the continental powers. Apparently such a grouping was entirely unexpected in both Berlin and London, and until an official statement is made comment will be withheld. The Daily Chronicle, however, devotes a brief editorial paragraph to the announcement, expressing a hope that it is erroneous and declaring that "the only way in which England can reap the fruit of her exertions in China is by standing shoulder to shoulder with Germany and Japan as the only effective counterpoise to Russo-French machinations and the weak kneed policy of America." Meanwhile the news from China indicates that events are rapidly drifting in the direction of war between China and Germany. "There is the best reason for believing," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post, "that Count von Waldersee, on arriving at Taku, will present an ultimatum demanding the surrender of five leaders of the antiforeign rising. After a few hours' grace he will formally declare war, and, taking advantage of Germany's position as a belligerent, he will proceed to seize everything available with the German forces and fleet."

A Russian Victory.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 26.—The war office announces that General Sacharoff, the chief of the Russian general staff, captured Chu-lan-chen, near the Sungari river, Sept. 12, putting to flight 5,000 Chinese. It is added that the Russians sustained no casualties.

Harps For German Soldiers.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—The firm of Hohner & Co., in Trossingen, Wurtemburg, has sent 6,000 French harps to the German troops in China. The instruments bear Prince Bismarck's motto, "We Germans fear God and nothing else in the world."

Annual Meetings of Milk Association

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 26.—President Garrison of the Ontario and Western Milk Route association announces that the annual meetings of the local sections of the Five States Milk Producers' association will be held Oct. 2 and asks members to sign no outside contracts, but to stand by the association and success is assured. President Garrison claims the association has been instrumental in increasing the prices received by the producers since 1898.

Senator Beveridge In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana was the chief speaker at a Republican mass meeting which was held last night in the Auditorium under the auspices of the Marquette club. There was a great desire to hear the senator, and early in the day all the tickets that had been prepared for admission had been given away, and hundreds of people were admitted to the hall after the ticket holders had taken their seats.

Commission's Report to Be Ready.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The isthmian canal commission states that it will be able to submit a report to congress sufficiently comprehensive to serve as a basis for the action of that body at the approaching session if it should be desirable to act. The field parties have all reported, and only a few of the hydrographic parties and several boring parties remain on the isthmus clearing up the work.

Germany Suffers From Trusts.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—A statement is published showing that since April last 30 leading industrial stocks have fallen on the bourse between 30 and 65 per cent, while prices of the necessaries of life, including sugar, milk, coal, cereals, soap and paper, as well as alcohol, have risen considerably, owing in part, it is contended, to the formation of trusts.

Texas Floods Subsiding.

HOUSTON, Sept. 26.—Reports from Austin that the towns of San Saba and Marble Falls were swept away by the Colorado flood are without foundation. The river at Austin is now falling, and no damage was done there. The wires are working badly in the flood district, and reports will be late.

Postoffice Thieves Captured.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Two burglars who had entered the postoffice at Nineveh Junction at an early hour yesterday morning were captured in the building by the postmaster, George Johnson, and Sheriff Herkimer. They had stamps and money in their possession.

A Long, Cold Mail Route.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The postoffice department has awarded a contract to J. E. Chilberg of Seattle to carry the mails by steamboats from Juneau to Unalaska, about 2,327 miles, and back once a month from Nov. 1 next to March 31, 1901.

India's Great Rainfall.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 26.—The total rainfall to Sept. 22 is stated to have been 39 inches, and since that date about seven inches have fallen. The weather is brighter and is believed to be settled.

GENERAL PALMER DEAD.

Prominent Democrat Succumbs to Heart Disease.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Sept. 26.—General John M. Palmer, formerly governor of Illinois, at one time a United States senator, the Gold Democratic candidate for president in 1896 and one of the great generals in the Union army in the civil war, is dead at his home here.

General Palmer died suddenly, his death being caused by heart disease. He was an honorary pallbearer at the funeral of General McClernand last Saturday and was in good health Monday evening. He made a trip around the business part of the city at night to see the illuminations on account of the state fair. He passed a comfortable night, but in the morning had a sudden distress, which ended in death.

John McAuley Palmer, who has been called "the Gladstone of the West," was born in a little log cabin on Eagle creek, in Scott county, Ky., on Sept. 13, 1817. When he was 14 years old his family moved to Madison county, Ills., and in that state General Palmer passed the rest of his life. He became a lawyer and soon entered politics. He held important county offices, was elected state judge and was sent to the state senate. Eventually he became governor of the state, and then he was elected to the senate of the United States. In 1896 he was a candidate for president of the United States.

Senator Palmer was a Jeffersonian Democrat by inheritance. His father, Lewis D. Palmer, one of the early settlers in Kentucky, was an old school Democrat. He had served as a soldier in the War of 1812.

Roosevelt In the West.

DENVER, Sept. 26.—The heavy special train of Governor Roosevelt's party, to which was added the private car of Senator Wolcott, accompanied by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Lodge of Massachusetts, arrived in Denver at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the station the New York governor was met by about 100 veterans of the Spanish-American war in uniform and mounted and was escorted to the Brown Palace hotel, where supper was provided. There were many other guests and a large number of people who joined the procession to the hotel. Three evening meetings had been arranged for, the first at the Coliseum hall, the second at the Broadway theater and the third at the capitol grounds. On account of the rain the open air meeting was abandoned.

Howard Jury Can't Agree.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 26.—The jury in the case of Jim Howard, on trial for the murder of Governor William Goebel, reported that it had been unable to reach a verdict. The jury took the case at 2:30, and nearly three hours were spent in an effort to agree on a verdict. A hung jury has been generally predicted. It is generally believed that the jury is hopelessly hung up and that a verdict will not be found, as it is supposed the jurors are divided on the question as to Howard's guilt or innocence and not as to the degree of punishment.

A Party Without Candidates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Senator Caffery has declined the nomination for the presidency offered him by the new National party, known as the anti-imperialists. Archibald M. Howe, the Nationalist vice presidential nominee, also withdrew his name. The campaign committee of the National party sent out the declinations from the offices at 63 William street. In a statement the committee said it was unable to secure any other candidates and would attempt now to secure the election of unpledged electors.

Trotting and Pacing Records Broken

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 26.—Two world's records were broken yesterday afternoon on the famous four cornered track. The Abbot, driven by Geers, clipped another half second from the world's trotting record of 2:08¾, already held by him, finishing a wonderful mile in 2:08¼. Coney, 2:02¾, driven by Ed Gaylord of Denver, went against time to beat the amateur world's pacing record to wagon, finishing a mile in 2:03¾, which clipped half a second from Free Bond's record, made in New York.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Sept. 26.—While the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis and the Chicago and Alton trains were racing to the state fair grounds on parallel tracks the locomotive of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis jumped the track, struck the other engine, and both were badly wrecked. Engineer John Ryan and Fireman Jerry Hall of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis train were instantly killed. No passengers were injured.

Governor Fancher to Withdraw.

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 26.—The Republican state committee has been hastily summoned to meet at Grand Forks, and it is said that Governor Fancher will withdraw from the ticket. It is believed that Thomas Marshall, candidate for congress, will be substituted as the candidate for governor and Congressman Spaulding will be placed on the congressional ticket. Governor Fancher's bad health is the reason given for his withdrawal.

Altgeld Coming East.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld will leave on Sunday of next week for Ohio, where he will make four speeches. Following his Ohio tour Mr. Altgeld will deliver a number of speeches in the New England states.

BOERS IN LAST DITCH

Vast Quantities of Stores and Arms Destroyed.

ARMY SCATTERED AND DISHEARTENED

British Force Intercepts Steyn and Reitz In Their Northward March. Commando Surrounded Near Pietersburg.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—"The war is completely ended," says the Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Daily Telegraph. "Many guns have been destroyed, and hundreds of wagons and thousands of tons of stores of every description have been burned. Burning wreckage lies in every direction in the Hectorspruit district.

"Any good police force of 20,000 men can effect the complete pacification of the country. It will be impossible for the Boers in the future to mass a force exceeding 1,500. They are sick of the war, and the Irish-Americans and other mercenaries are clamoring for payment and threatening the Boer officials."

The Daily Mail has the following dispatch from Lourenco Marques:

"Heavy fighting is reported across the Sabi river. This means that the British are intercepting Steyn and Reitz, who, with their forces, are attempting to push northward and to effect a junction. A commando is said to be surrounded near Pietersburg."

The transport Suffolk was wrecked on Cape St. Francis off Port Elizabeth, South Africa, yesterday. Eight hundred horses were drowned. The crew was saved.

Boer Guns Found.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 26.—A large number of guns, mostly damaged, have been found along the Crocodile river, especially near Hectorspruit. Practically the whole of the Republican railway stock has been captured on the Selate line. There are eight miles of vehicles, the majority being in good condition.

Spanish War Veterans.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Last night's session of the convention of the National Association of Spanish War Veterans was devoted to consideration of the report of the committee on rules and regulations. The wording of the constitution was changed in several places, but the debates were on the question of admitting the soldiers and sailors now taking part in the Chinese campaign as members of the organization. The District of Columbia delegation opposed admission, and their motion to strike this out of the report of the committee prevailed. The question of admitting all commanders in chief, all past commanders and past corps commanders of this and similar bodies as members of the national association was referred back to the committee. A question that will be practically settled at the convention is the amalgamation of all the Spanish war veterans' societies in the United States. In support of this resolutions were adopted appointing a committee of five to confer with committees from other organizations composed of soldiers, sailors or marines who participated in the Spanish war.

The British-Venezuelan Boundary.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Venezuelan government has advised its charge d'affaires here, Senor Pulido, of the appointment of Felipe Aguerrevere, a distinguished civil engineer of that country, as head of the Venezuelan commission to join with the British commissioner in marking the British-Venezuelan boundary settled by the court of arbitration at Paris. Senor Aguerrevere has arrived here to secure equipments for this extensive survey. He will have associated with him six other civil engineers and a working party of about 60. A similar force of British engineers will join them and begin the actual work in November. Senores Pulido and Aguerrevere have purchased here several thousand dollars' worth of American instruments, which will be used in the forthcoming delimitation. The work will take some months and will mark the closing steps of one of the most serious diplomatic struggles of recent years.

Four Indictments For Murder.

All the murders were committed June 11 at West Newfield, when George W. Goodwin, Scott G. Goodwin, his adopted son, Fred Bertsch, a hired man, and Mrs. Elsie E. Horne, an aged woman, were killed and then burned with the farmhouse, which was set on fire. Champion was suspected of having committed the crimes and arrested.

A Word to the Hunters.

The Newark News sees in the opening of the game season an opportunity to indulge in some advice of an apt and practical character, as follows:

The game season is now open in many States and eager sportsmen, of all degrees of skill, are on the water or in the mountains in pursuit of their quarry. The crack of the rifle and the report of the fowling piece are awakening stirring echoes all over the country, and multitudes of men are feeling the exhilarating tonic of exercise, fresh air and all the sport of the shooting season. It is with genuine regret, therefore, that the country learns of a terrible accident in the Adirondacks, by which two well-known society people were severely wounded through the carelessness of a sportsman, who, in the twilight, mistook them for a deer and sent a bullet crashing through them both. No one regrets the calamity as much as the sportsman himself, who will find in it a cause for lifelong sorrow. Public sentiment acquits him of any intent to do evil and people generally extend sympathy. At the same time, there are none who do not grieve to think that he did not take pains to ascertain the true nature of the mark at which he glanced over his rifle sights.

Such incidents are too common, although carelessness rarely finds such well-known victims. Men do not seem to appreciate the danger which lies in a gun. The average hunter handles his piece in a manner which is calculated to make a careful man shiver, being seemingly oblivious to the fact that any one of a multitude of accidents is likely to send a bullet speeding he knows not where. Besides this, in the excitement following a discovery of game, he is very likely to fire before he has examined the ground which the bullet must traverse, and, too often, before he has satisfied himself beyond a peradventure that it is really game which he has discovered.

The veteran sportsman is the most careful of men, for he not only realizes the nature of his weapon, but is not subject to excitement. The veteran sportsman is very rare, however. The majority of our hunters are but amateurs, and, through carelessness, are responsible for many painful accidents. If the Adirondack incident serves to emphasize caution among sportsmen, it will not be entirely without good results.

The Cranford Chronicle advances the name of Frederick W. Park, of Cranford, as a candidate for the Assembly at the hands of the Democrats of Union county. The Chronicle says that "the prestige he gained by running for the Congressional nomination might stand him in good stead in being elected to the Assembly. Perhaps it might be well for Mr. Park to try for the office. Most of the best known politicians of the day, who stand high in their party councils, began their political life at the foot of the ladder. It will be conceded by all who know Mr. Park, that he would do credit to this county by representing it in the Assembly; and it is said that he would have little or no opposition to securing the nomination."

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

James J. Bergen's nomination for Congress against Representative Howell in the Third district presages a warm campaign for the Republican candidate. Mr. Bergen is one of the strong men in Somerset, and if he carries this county by a fair majority he will come near winning. Somerset Democrats are active this year and will poll a large vote for the district ticket.—"Freeholder" in New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

George Belcher, the hackman, occasionally drives a horse that has reached the ripe old age of thirty-three years, an unusual thing among the equine family. When the horse was a young animal Mr. Belcher purchased him from A. D. Thompson, who then lived at Finderne, and subsequently sold him to Judge Roome, of Washington Park. About eleven years ago the family of Mr. Roome persuaded Mr. Belcher to again become the owner of the horse and take the best of care of him until death ends his career. Mr. Belcher is doing this. The old horse's name is "Doc."

It is a question one often hears from Plainfielders, "How do the people on the mountain manage to pass away the time, especially in the evenings?" It is looked at as being a very dismal and lonely place by the uninitiated. However, it is far from being so. The mountain is really inhabited. Thomas House Taylor's "The Mountain Farm," which in itself is quite a settlement, reminds one very much of many places in the Adirondacks and Catskills, with its seven or eight little cottages surrounding a large, low rambling farmhouse, where the guests assemble for meals and for the evening gaieties. And there is Rupert Wentworth Anderson's summer home, "Nosredna," with its house-full of young people. There is never a lack of something to do. The mountaineers have gone through the list of conventional amusements this summer, such as card parties, theatricals, informal dances and many other amusements which can be indulged in anywhere; but now that the cooler weather has set in, and casting about for something new, they have struck on a very original pastime. If one will take the trouble of fixing a pair of glasses on the face of the mountain, in the vicinity of Washington's Rock, he will see a number of campfires, really quite military in aspect, gleaming from the face of the mountain. He need not think, however, that this is some delusion, and that some of Washington's staunch old patriots have come back to their old camp again, for if his glasses be strong enough he will discover a camp of quite a different nature—one made up of merrymakers roasting corn, potatoes, marshmallows and other things not quite so bad for the digestion for supper as the regulation Welsh rarebit, and having a fine time generally. These are some of the attractions to be found in the woods back of Plainfield. It is needless to describe the charming walks, beautiful scenery, etc., which are to be found there.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Mattresses in twelve different grades and in six different sizes and the truth told about each one of them, which is as rare as prices. A lady told us recently of a mattress she bought and whic was sold to her as a pure husk mattress. She found it so uncomfortable that she was persuaded to rip it open, when, lo and behold, to her astonishment, she pulled out a number of corn cobs; and this was the "pure husk" mattress she bought. Our mattresses contain exactly what we say they do and are all made in good clean factories and not in dirty tenement houses. We know exactly what they contain and where they are made, and we receive on the average a car load a week of them.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 26th—The local fight between the hotel keepers and the Citizens' League will no doubt be revived with fresh vigor when the October term of court opens. It is said that two applications for license will be presented to the court. If so the Citizens' League will renew their fight against the granting of them and a warm time is expected. The hotel men have learned from the past that that they must go into court with 12 bona fide property holders' signatures attached to their applications or the League stands ready to tear the application to pieces. If the applicants are able to secure these it will give the League a much harder fight than was had between the two forces the past spring and summer. Those interested on both sides are working very quietly and both feel confident of victory.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

All the funny little Brownies, the dude, policeman, Chinaman, Indian, Dutchman, Irishman and other comical little fellows will be seen in Palmer Cox's big spectacular production, "The Brownies in Fairyland," which will be seen for the first time in Plainfield at Stillman Music Hall on Friday and Saturday nights of this week, with a Saturday matinee. Over 100 will appear in the elaborate production, which will be presented for the benefit of the Galveston flood sufferers. "The Brownies in Fairyland" will be seen exactly as it was shown with immense success in New York, Chicago, Boston and other large cities by crowded houses. All the unique features, among which are the Brownie cake walk, in which a number will walk for a prize cake, the exquisite flower ballet and the screamingly funny specialty of the Italian organ grinder and his trick bear. The spectacle is in two acts, which are crowded to overflowing with catchy music, novel specialties and fine scenes. In the course of the play the Brownies tumble from a gigantic balloon and descend to earth by means of a parachute. No finer production of its kind has ever been witnessed in Plainfield, and crowded houses will be the rule. Seats should be secured at the earliest opportunity. Prices are only 25, 35 and 50 cents.

American enthusiasm for the bravery of our American heroes who are now battling in China will undoubtedly be much in evidence at Music Hall, Tuesday of next week, when Aiden Benedict's new war play "Uncle Sam in China," will be produced with a star cast and over one hundred and fifty people on the stage. The play starts with the uprising of the Boxers, shows the capture at Tien Tsin and ends with the battle in front of Pekin, the blowing up of the walls and entry of the allies into the Chinese capital.

The performances being continuous, from 12:30 till 11 p. m., visitors are enabled to drop in at any time and stay as long as they may desire. The prices are always: Orchestra, 50 cents; balcony, 25 cents, and dress circle, 15 cents. Julie Mackey, a favorite singing comedienne, long with DeWolf Hopper and other comic opera stars, made her debut in vaudeville. Gertrude Haynes, and her "Choir Celestial" of twenty choristers, is also prominent in the bill. Others are: Willis Family, refined instrumentalists; three Lukens Brothers, dashing bar performers; Charley Case, who tells "Father's Funny Stories;" Smith and Campbell, rapid-fire talkers; Terry and Elmer, singers and dancers, and twenty more.

FASHION NOTES.

Items Concerning the Tendencies of the Wardrobe.

Little bolero entirely composed of stitched plaits are seen. These appear to be difficult of manufacture, but in reality the method of making them is quite simple. A plain, well fitting lining is first prepared, and on this are basted narrow, overlapping folds of the goods composed of narrow bias strips. The fact that these folds are bias renders it easy to adjust them to the form of the bolero, and after they are firmly basted in position they are stitched. Thin cloth is, of course, the only kind suitable for such treatment, as heavy goods are too clumsy.

GIRL'S DRESS.

Skirts continue to be very tight around the hips, whether they are plain or plaited, but the back forms a watteau plait or fan plaits or is gathered instead of being perfectly flat. The watteau plait is particularly liked for trained evening gowns.

The illustration given today shows a pretty dress for a little girl 6 or 8 years old. It is of cashmere and is plaited at the shoulders and crossed diagonally, the edges being ornamented by a Greek design formed of narrow velvet ribbon. The sleeves are plaited at the top and have a Greek pattern around the wrists. The collar and plastron are laid in five horizontal plaits and are made of silk to match the dress goods. The belt is also of the silk. This same design may be carried out in wash goods.

WINTER FASHIONS.

Expensive Linings and Flat Trimmings For Skirts.

The lining of gowns is very elegant, as it always shows, the fashion of long skirts necessitating a continual lifting of drapery. Light or bright colors are chosen, plain or glace taffeta being preferred.

Flat ornamentation is preferred for skirts. Untrimmed skirts are quite as fashionable, however, if not more so, especially for gowns of a light tone and all shades of gray.

Ribbed materials are to be in great vogue this winter, the size of the ribs varying from the small cord of fine reps and poplins to wide corduroy effects. These stripes are to run lengthways.

SILK PETTICOATS.

The picture given today shows two silk petticoats of elaborate design. The first is of mauve silk and has a deep flounce of white lace over a flounce of pinked silk. Above the lace is a stitched application of white silk in a design of scallops and Louis XV bows, and a band of lace insertion forms alternating scallops. The second petticoat is of cream liberty satin with a broche design in old rose. It is stitched in plaits forming panels, which divide half way down and have fans let in to the divisions. There is a deep flounce of lace and stitched black silk, which is headed by a band of black insertion.

Try This and Get Rich.

The credulous wife no longer objects to the number of cigars that her husband smokes on the ground of their expensiveness. She is now reconciled to his system, which is so arranged that he not only saves but makes money by means of it.

"When he used to buy cigars at retail," she explained to a friend, "he always paid 25 cents for two. Then he decided to economize. He bought a box at the wholesale price, and every time he took out a cigar to smoke he put aside the amount he would have paid if he had bought the cigars at the retail price. The result of this was that he had saved almost enough when he finished the first box to buy himself another out of the profits on that first box. He also made his profits out of the second, and they increased as he bought more boxes at the wholesale price and always put aside what he would have had to pay at retail. After awhile he was not only able to get his cigars at a very cheap price, but he had a surplus that made the cigars cost him nothing. So there is no reason why any man should not smoke cigars so long as he manages it as well and economically as my husband did."—New York Sun.

A FURNITURE TALK.

What Mrs. Parvenue Learned About House Furnishings At a Swell Shop.

BY MAUD BAUME ROBINSON.

When Mrs. Parvenue alighted from her imposing equipage and entered the doorway of Messrs. Up to Date's furniture shop, it was with the firm intention of fitting the new house on Fifth avenue in a truly palatial manner. "I want the very best and the latest," she announced to the obsequious salesman as they took the elevator for the top floor.

"Yes, madam, and I presume you will wish to choose your hangings and wall paper first and your furniture afterward?" he asked as they found themselves in a room filled with all sorts of draperies and soft, silky stuffs.

A VENETIAN FIREPLACE.

"That's a good idea," drawled Mrs. Parvenue. "I hadn't thought of that before."

He rapidly unrolled several patterns of wall paper and laid them before her. One had a white glace ground with old rose stripes and little Dresden bouquets of roses. A second represented a flight of tiny blue butterflies on a Persian background of varying shades of delicate yellow and buff. A third had a tiled effect with rather stiff little Watteau figures scattered over the surface.

Mrs. Parvenue made a sudden movement toward a widely striped pattern of different shades of red. "I'll take that," she said decidedly.

"That is a last year's pattern, madam. Narrower stripes are taking the place of the wide ones, and the bright shades are giving way to pastel tints, pale blue, pink and yellow, pastel greens and blues."

"Why, that's just like in dress"—

"Certainly, madam. Dress and house furnishings should go together."

After Mrs. Parvenue had been shown some rich hangings of mirror velvet with a design of beautifully shaded blue poppies on an iridescent green ground she reluctantly gave up the red paper.

"Here is one of our newest designs for dining room and library," said the salesman as he opened a roll of what appeared to be tapestry. It was paper, however, so cunningly devised as to defy the closest observation, and it represented Arcadian scenes. "It takes four rolls to paper a room of ordinary size, and each roll has a different figure, so your wall has the effect of being laid in panels."

"But I thought the all white dining room was the latest"—

"We have the white brocade if you wish to follow that fad; but, I assure you, it gives a very cold effect, and the style will not last for that reason."

After Mrs. Parvenue had left her order they proceeded to the next room. "Now, I want the very handsomest brass bedstead you can find," she began.

"There is a return to wooden beds," the salesman put in mildly. "That one behind you is one of our latest."

"What! That colorless white wood! Why, I wouldn't give it house room!"

"That is white mahogany, madam, and a single small bed costs $400."

"Um-m! It doesn't look like it."

"We have some very stylish sets in birdseye maple, in white and blue enamel, in white and green enamel"—

"I want something richer."

The salesman thought a moment. "I have the very thing for you," he suddenly exclaimed, "a new mahogany set we received last week. It costs $1,700."

It was a truly regal bed that Mrs. Parvenue gazed upon. Every inch was covered with rich satiny carving. "It's rather quiet, but I'll take it since it's the best you have," she said.

"For your library of course you want Flemish oak," remarked the salesman as he pulled forward a handsomely carved settle with old rose velvet cushions and showed her also heavily carved tables and spindle backed chairs of the same rich wood.

"And my dining room?"

"You couldn't do better than to have it of Flemish oak too. It is all the rage. I can show you some very rare pieces. Now, here is a Welsh dresser. It is used instead of a sideboard." What Mrs. Parvenue saw was a tall table surmounted by a three storied rack for plates. On each end of the table was a boxlike arrangement with a cover which lifted and disclosed grooves into which knives and forks could be fitted. The fronts of these boxes were inlaid with delft scenes, and the effect of the blue and white upon the black was very artistic. "The price is $55, and I can show you a table and chairs to go with it." He pushed forward a plain square table with square legs set in like posts and a heavily built chair with flat crosspieces forming the back and the same quaint Dutch legs.

Mrs. Parvenue uplifted her chin. "That will do for a studio," she said, "but you can just make up a lot of white furniture for my white dining room and have the seats and backs of white carved leather."

"You will certainly furnish your drawing rooms with 'Art Nouveau' pieces."

"What's that? French?" demanded Mrs. Parvenue suspiciously.

"It is both French, English and German. The best 'Art Nouveau' pieces are no doubt made in Germany. The term simply means the new art, and it indicates a complete revolution in furniture. It is based on natural lines. The legs of the tables and the arms of the chairs are imitations of stems and branches and the brass and green copper handles twigs and sprays of leaves and flowers. It is a return to nature."

"I notice most of it is inlaid."

"Yes, and there is another new idea. Formerly only a limited number of woods were used for inlaying. Now any wood is used which will set off the floral pattern and make it look like nature. Observe the panel of this work table, for instance, the yellowish brown flag lilies inlaid on satinwood."

"I had thought of something rococo," began Mrs. Parvenue timidly.

"The ornate French styles are quite passe. If you do not care for the 'Art Nouveau' furniture, I can show you some colonial styles."

"But my grandmother has some chairs just like that, and, as for that table, we had one in the garret much handsomer."

The salesman's eyes showed interest. "If you have any old pieces, I advise you to use them by all means. Antique furniture is all the style and far superior to modern pieces both in respect to the mahogany, which is fast deteriorating nowadays, and the finish, for factory made goods can never equal the old handmade pieces."

"Well, I never!" ejaculated Mrs. Parvenue.

"You will want at least one handsome fireplace in your house. Allow me to show you our latest," interrupted her instructor as he led the way into an inner room.

"What! That shovel shaped arrangement!" she gasped.

"It is an exact representation of an ancient Venetian fireplace. You notice the hoodlike arrangement on which the coat of arms is embossed, the slender pillars and the broad seat running both right and left. This one is of oak stained green, and we think the effect is much heightened by the line of shallow niches which run the length of the seats. In each niche you will observe there is a small view of Venice done in different shades of green. The cushions are red and green mixed. We made an exact reproduction of this for Mrs. Van Schuyler Astorbilt last month."

Mrs. Parvenue leaned forward excitedly. "Did she have her coat of arms?" she asked feverishly.

"Yes, and they harmonized very well with the green background, as they were a serpent gules on a field or"—

Mrs. Parvenue rose to her feet. "I shall send you my coat of arms—our coat of arms, I mean—in a week, and you may begin immediately one of those what do you call 'ems, Venetian things. What year did you say?"

"Fourteenth century, madam."

"Gracious! And to think they haven't done anything better since!" muttered Mrs. Parvenue as she swept out of the establishment and entered her carriage.

France has a society which gives dowries to deserving young women when they marry. Baroness de Rothschild is one of the patrons of the organization, likewise Mme. Loubet. If the society gave dowries to worthy girls whether they married or not, there would be some sense in it.

The Joys of Raising Children in a City Like CHICAGO

"Raising children in a Chicago flat building is no sinecure," said a distracted mother a few days ago, as for the fourth time in as many hours she rescued her eldest, a precarious youngster of 4½ years, from the top of the building five stories from the ground.

Able to Take Care of Himself.

The mother was right, Chicago, or, for that matter, any large city, is not an ideal place to raise children. It may be well enough for the children, but it is certainly hard on the mothers.

The ordinary flat building does not know the luxury of a yard; old mother earth sells for too big a price to waste any of it on yards, and the mother who has a boy "as is a boy" of about the age of the one I mentioned, finds life a hard proposition. If she keeps the young man in the house she must not only keep the windows closed for fear he will climb out of one of them, but she must pack her trunk preparatory to starting for an insane asylum. It is the exceptional woman who can stand the clatter of a real live boy for ten hours without giving way to "nerves."

But supposing she tries the other plan of letting him out. She may get rid of the racket, but she has to contend with an anxiety that is even worse. There are trains and wagons, and street cars, and a hundred and one other dangers to which he is exposed every minute, according to her imagination, and the result is a constant trot up and downstairs to see for herself that he is still in the land of the living. Of course she always finds him right side up, for it is a rare case indeed where a boy of from four to five summers is notperfectly able to take care of himself.

Another Way.

There is still another way of raising boys in Chicago. A way in which the mother usually waits until later in life to do her worrying.

To Choose His Own Companions.

This method turns the boys loose in the streets to run as they please, to seek their own companions, to be thrown in connection with the vices of a large city and so contract habits that will live with them through life—habits they will never have occasion to be proud of.

It is not necessary to go to the poorer sections of the city to find this method. I know of a woman on Lake avenue in the center of aristocratic Kenwood who boasts of the fact that she allows her boy the fullest measure of liberty, implicitly trusting in his sense of honor to guard him from wrong doing. Her boy is past ten years of age, and she will tell you with considerable pride that she never punished him in his life. That he does not know, and she does not wish him to know, the difference between right and wrong. That he has lied to her and she has not corrected him or explained to him the meaning of a lie, because so long as he does not know the meaning of a lie he sins, if sin it is, unconsciously, and there can be no harm in unconscious sin.

Funny method, isn't it?

The judge of the juvenile court does not take the same view of the method as this mother does, and when her son was brought before him a few days ago on a charge of theft, he promptly sentenced him to a term in the John Worthy school for youthful offenders, and sent the mother home to think over the results of her method.

It is now her time to have a case of "nerves."

Perils of City Childhood.

How the little ones escape the many perils that beset them as well as they do is a mystery to most folks. They are placed in all kinds of peril by their own acts, and yet it is only the exceptional case when one is seriously hurt. Comparatively few are run over by railroad trains, though thousands play on the tracks in the city every day; it is not one in a thousand that are hurt by the street cars, though they run through the midst of little ones whose only playground is the street. And so it goes through the entire list of perils to which they are constantly exposed.

Landed in a Mass of Telephone Wires.

But accidents will happen, even in large cities, and with children brought up to face danger of all kinds. Along this line some remarkable escapes have been noted in Chicago. Children have fallen from high flat buildings; have been thrown from railway trains; have been struck by street cars, and yet have escaped without serious injury.

Probably the most remarkable case of this kind was the experience of a little South side youngster of about four years who was riding with a relative on an elevated railway train. He was interested in the peculiar sights along the line, and standing on the seat had poked his little head some distance out of the window. Suddenly the train shot around a bend in the road, the child was thrown from the window, and landed in a mass of telephone wires below. His small fingers grasped the wire, and there he held, yelling lustily all the time, until a quick-witted driver of a covered moving van drove under the wires and the child rolled off onto the covered top none the worse for his escapade save the scare it had given him.

A Case with a Moral.

Another case of a different character, of which less is known, save in the immediate neighborhood, was that of a small boy who fell from the top of a five-story flat building on the West side into the arms of the janitor.

Caught Him by the Coat.

In this case the janitor was washing windows at the rear end of the building, and the small boy had climbed to the top of the roof. He found it great sport to gather the pebbles from the gravel roof, and, leaning over the edge drop them upon the head of the janitor who was working on the outside of the window two stories below.

Two or three times the janitor had noticed the rain of pebbles, but each time the small boy had managed to retreat in time to prevent his discovery. But there is an end to all things, and with another attempt his delight at the discomfiture of the janitor caused him to lean too far over the edge and—he followed the pebbles.

The janitor had not an instant in which to think, probably if he had the child would have been dashed to pieces in the yard below, for it was taking his life in his hands for the janitor to attempt to catch him as he darted past. With one hand grasping the window the janitor grabbed for the child with the other and caught him by the coat and brought him to a sudden stop in his dash to destruction. The boy was but little the worse for his escapade.

In commenting upon the affair the janitor remarked that it was a good thing for the boy that the buttons of his coat were well fastened, and this remark may point a moral for Chicago mothers.

The Greatest Lumber Center.

Some time ago I went fishing in the wilds of northern Ontario with a friend from Tonawanda, N. Y. Like every other Chicagoan, I "spouted" considerably about the greatness of my home town and its institutions. To hear me tell it, there was nothing in which Chicago did not lead—the population figures had not been announced at that time.

And the Letter Came Back to Me.

To this friend I stated that Chicago was the greatest grain shipping point in the United States or the world; that more ships entered the Chicago harbors than any other harbors on the American continent; that Chicago led in the quantity of wholesale business transacted; that she bought and sold more lumber—

"Not by a few thousand feet," said my friend from Tonawanda. "My little burg is not much to brag of in some ways, but it is the greatest lumber town on the North American continent. Why—"

"What are you feeding us?" I said. "A little town of 20,000 people the biggest lumber center in the United States? Why, if you had four times the present population, and every man, woman and child was engaged in handling lumber, they could not pile up one-half the amount of lumber that is shipped in and out of Chicago."

Of course I did not convince him that Tonawanda was not the greatest lumber center in America, and as a clincher he proposed that I write him a letter and address it to the greatest lumber city in the United States, and I agreed to the proposition.

I wrote that letter some two weeks ago, and yesterday it came back to me as per directions of the "if not delivered, etc.," notice. Across the envelope was written "no such name in the Chicago city directory."

I do not claim that this proves that Tonawanda is not the greatest lumber town in North America, but there is one thing it does prove, and that is that there is no one in Chicago, not even the postman, who will admit that there is any other town in America quite such a lumber center as Chicago is.

OPPOSES VACATIONS.

Russell Sage Says Energetic Man Has No Time to Waste in Attempts to Rusticate.

Russell Sage, the famous New York financier, does not believe in summer vacations. He says in the Chicago American that he has worked hard for years without rusticating and is none the worse physically or mentally for it. All that a man needs, says the financier, is food, drink and sleep. These, with temperate habits, give the body all the relaxation necessary.

"I am not an advocate of vacations. Most business men find time to leave their offices during a part of the summer. As a result they lose the threads of enterprises and often suffer losses.

RUSSELL SAGE.
(New York Capitalist Who Is Opposed to Vacations.)

"As far as physical recreation is concerned, I do not consider a vacation necessary. The man who observes temperate habits in eating, drinking and sleeping gives his body all the relaxation required.

"Again, there is no doubt that men who leave the city in summer consume more nerve energy worrying about their affairs than they would if here to personally attend to them.

"It seems to be a matter of fact that clerks and employes should be given vacations. Why, I do not know.

"Instances are many where our greatest financiers have worked incessantly for years without a day's absence.

"If such men can retain health and strength in spite of mental strain, why should others without responsibility require several weeks' rest each summer?

"I have worked hard for many years without a vacation. I am none the worse physically or mentally for it.

"To my mind the vacation is an institution intended for lazy persons. The really energetic man has neither time nor inclination to waste several years of his life in idle attempts to rusticate.

"The vacation is less popular now than formerly. More business men remain in New York each summer. The reason is plain. In this age of competition personal attention is demanded. The vacation is often synonymous with failure."

BRAVE YOUNG GIRL.

Although Her Right Hand Is Missing, She Earns a Livelihood by Making Buttonholes.

In one of the busiest and noisiest of San Francisco shirt factories there is a young girl who works from sun up to sun down, and, very often, far into the night, making buttonholes. She is fair and dainty, and an orphan girl, 18 years old, and all the regularly set stitches are put in with one little slender hand, and that is the left one.

MISS LUCY DELANEY.
(Making Dainty Buttonholes with One Hand.)

While the others with whole bodies are complaining at the indifference of fate to their wants, Lucy Delaney is stitching busily away, and glad that she is fortunate enough to be able to keep herself above want and dependence upon others. The brave struggle of the little buttonhole maker has just been learned by several philanthropic women who will interest themselves in the securing of an artificial hand which the girlish pride of Lucy Delaney has so long craved.

The Boer National Instrument.

Morn, noon and night, in season and out, the Boer plays his concertina. "While the blacks are outspanning or inspanning the cattle," says a traveler, "while the women are preparing the food, the farmer, pipe in mouth, wrestles with the agonizing concertina. In the daytime it is awful, but at night, somehow, it is different, and I have listened with delight for hours."

Smallest Thing on Earth.

The screw in the fourth jewel wheel of a watch is so small that a lady's thimble would hold 1,000,000 of them.

Bad Country for Microbes.

Infectious diseases are unknown in Greenland, on account of the dry, cold atmosphere.

America's Place in the Progress of the Century

This Nation Has Lead in the Advancement of the Pursuits of Peace

THE United States has grown with the century. When the century was young the nation was young; the two have grown together, and now the century that first saw it as the weakest of the powers of the world leaves it at the end of its allotted hundred years one of the strongest.

A short time before Benjamin Franklin died in 1790 he said that he almost wished that he could be born two or three centuries hence, and gave as his reason that invention and improvement were even at that time prolific, and that they beget more of their kind. "The present progress is rapid," he said, "and many things of great importance, now unthought of, will, before that period, be produced."

But even the far-reaching mind of Franklin could scarcely have seen the future which has been attained; could scarcely have expected the rapidity of progress that has marked the nineteenth century.

Elbridge S. Brooks, in his "Story of the Nineteenth Century," recently published by the Lothrop company, sums up the situation in invention and scientific discovery at the beginning of the century as follows:

"An English engineer and machinist, named Joseph Bramah, had already invented the remarkable safety-lock and powerful hydraulic presses that still bear his name; he also invented a printing press for bank notes, a machine for sawing stone, and he lost his life in devising a contrivance for uprooting tree trunks. Illuminating gas was in use for lighting a few buildings in England and France; Claude Chappe, a Frenchman of Normandy, had devised a sort of telegraphing by signal posts, so that a message could be sent 150 miles in a quarter of an hour; William Herschel, an English music teacher, had made some wonderful improvements in telescopes, and Laplace, a French professor of mathematics, had made some wonderful astronomical discoveries; an Italian professor named Luigi Galvini, while skinning frogs' legs to make soup for his sick wife, had discovered the electrical currents which led to the devolpment of galvanism; and, about the same time, another Italian professor, named Alessandro Volta, also by noticing the muscular twitching of a frog, studied out his theory of electrical motion, from which came the voltaic pile, or battery, known to us now as "volts." In 1800 Dr. Edward Janner, an English physician, had introduced vaccination as a prevention of the dreaded smallpox; two brothers of central France, named Montgolfer, had discovered and attempted the possibility of air travel by inflated balloons; a Bohemian play writer and printer, named Alois Senefelder, had discovered the art of writing on stone—lithography, now so wonderful in its productions; a French refugee to America, Marc Brunel, had introduced machinery into shipbuilding; an English chemist, named John Dolton, had revolutionized chemical knowledge and method by his discovery that all chemical combinations were not between the chemical compounds, but between the beginnings or bases of those compounds, the units or atoms to which they could be reduced, and in America Eli Whitney had made the south and ruined himself by his invention of the cotton gin."

The beginning of the century saw also the first practical advancements in electricity and steam, though it was a number of years before the former had been sufficiently perfected to be of great use.

Compare these conditions with the conditions of to-day. The opening of the new century gave promise of great things to come, the closing of the century witnesses a greater realization than anyone would have dared predict a hundred years ago. Fast flying locomotives carry elaborate railroad trains to almost every part of the civilized world; fast steamers traverse every ocean; there is practically instant communication between every continent; electrically propelled street cars make great cities a possibility; electricity enters into almost every form of our modern civilization, not least among its various uses being the convenient telephone; medicine, surgery, astronomy and every branch of science has made wonderful strides forward, and in all of this America has played a first part.

This country built the first steamer to cross the Atlantic; it did not build the first railway locomotive, but it has so improved upon the ones built by other nations that American-made locomotives are being used in nearly every country in the world. It gave to the world the air brake for trains, and so made fast running with comparative safety possible; it gave to the world the patent car couplers, and so saved hundreds of lives among railway employes every year.

"WHAT HATH GOD WROUGHT."
Prof. Morse Sending the First Telegram from Washington to Baltimore.
(From "The Story of the Nineteenth Century;" Lothrop & Co.

To the ingenuity of an American must be credited the telegraph and the ocean cable, which rank among the greatest inventions of the century. When, in 1844, "what hath God wrought," flashed from the chambers of the supreme court in Washington to Baltimore it meant almost a transformation of the world, a binding together of the nations in a closer brotherhood. The ocean cable followed the telegraph as another link in the chain of progress for which the century was to be famous for all time, and in 1875 this was followed by the still more wonderful appliance, the telephone. It was America who produced a Morse, a Field, a Bell and an Edison.

In the line of agricultural machinery America must be credited with giving to the world the first successful reaping machine. McCormick's reaper, brought out in 1831, displaced "The Man With the Hoe" for all time, and transformed agricultural methods the world over. To-day America is producing more and better agricultural machines than any other nation.

Elias Howe, another American, gave to the world the first practical sewing machine about 1841. It is impossible to estimate the good that has resulted to the world from this invention.

The space of a newspaper article will not permit touching upon each item in the long list separately, but throughout the century America has occupied a prominent place in every line of invention and scientific discovery. Electricity has seemingly given American inventors a special field of which they have made the most, but they have by no means confined themselves to the one line, but have gone into all, and the Wizard Edison, than whom there is no greater electrician, has branched off sufficiently to produce some wonderful inventions along other lines, notably the phonograph.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Plainfield High School eleven will play its first game against scholastic opponents tomorrow afternoon on Martine Common when the North Plainfield High School team will line up against them. The game is called for 4 o'clock. It will be the first game for the borough boys who have done a little practicing but are by no means in good form. The two teams will meet again later in the season when a fairer opportunity to decide their relative merits will come.

The action of the Plainfield High School eleven last Saturday afternoon in lining up against such a superior team as that of the Alis A. A. was quite commendable, for the game served as excellent training for the school boys even though they were far out classed. The game developed the fact, however, that the team needs team play badly. The offensive play was far weaker in comparison with the defense when the individual play of several of the boys showed up quite brilliantly. Ughetta, Buckley, Mellick Tweedy and Townsend Mason made the best showing of the High School boys although Davis and Fred Mason did good work. When it came to carrying the ball up the field, the High School boys were not what they should have been. A little careful coaching may remedy the trouble however. VanAuken was slow in getting the ball back and did not appear at home in the position. Practice will improve his game. The other backs, particularly Davis, showed a tendency to bunch too much. There was occassionally some interference but more was needed. Taking into consideration the fact that it was their first trial in a game, the work of the team was by no means discouraging. There is plenty of chance for improvement, of course, but the defensive work in particular was better than it might have been expected from such an eleven.

PLANNING CAMPAIGN.

REPUBLICAN CITY CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE'S FIRST MEETING.

Will Succeed the City Committee in Managing Republican Affairs in National Campaign.

The charge of the Republican campaign in Plainfield has passed from the the hands of the city executive committee to the city campaign committee, which includes all the twelve members of the city committee and sixteen other prominent Republicans, four from each ward. The campaign committee held its first meeting last evening when the old sub-committees were enlarged by the addition of new members and the work of the committee outlined.

Early in the summer the city committee decided to enlarge its membership during the National campaign, instead of having a campaign committee entirely seperate fom it. At a recent meeting of the committee the following names were approved as additional members for the campaign committee: First ward, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, Councilman William Gloak, Charles S. Sminck and Harry B. MacDonald; Second ward, Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, City Judge William N. Runyon, Councilman John vanHerwerden and Charles C. Davis; Third ward, Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk; Ernest R. Ackerman; Willinm C. Kinney and John Cose; Fourth ward, Councilman Frank Randolph, E. E. Anthony, Winfield S. Angleman and John Noonan.

At the meeting last evening there was a general discussion of plans for the campaign, the question of finances and the necessity of a canvass. Much of the work in the city will be done by the ward organizations. The campaign committee will merely outline the work which is to be done by the ward clubs and will be allowed to use their own methods in accomplishing the desired ends.

Chinaman was Excited.

It was necessary to secure the services of Patrolman Totten last evening, to settle a dispute between Gee Wah, the North avenue laundryman, and a belligerent customer, who claimed the Chinaman had given him the wrong bundle. Gee Wah maintained that he had given the bundle which the check called for and refused to make a change. Hot words were rapidly turning into blows when the Patrolman appeared and a temporary settlement was made.

Tramp Making Calls.

Patrolman Saffron discovered a tramp making calls on West Seventh street yesterday afternoon. It had already been reported to the officer that a beggar was making a tour of the city. He arrested the man. In city court this morning the stranger declared his name was Joseph Truell and that he hailed from Suspension Bridge, N. Y. He expressed his willingness to depart from Plainfield at once. City Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

New Weed in New Jersey.

Freehold, Sept. 26.—Squire VanNest, of Hightstown, was pulling weeds the other day, when he came across a weed, new to these parts, and one that is very likely to prove troublesome. MR. SHELTON TALKS OF BIBLE STUDY.

demonstrate the Divine solicitude; promises, which pour the warm love of a Father's heart upon burdened souls; epistles, in which the thoughts of one man are familiarly given to another; and poetry, in which the hallelujahs of heaven are brought down to earth, and the grand future of the Church and the world is sung in strains of rapture and bursts of magnificient imagery, such as never yet issued from uninspired pen.

The Bible is inexhaustible. Two young men were talking about what book they would read if they should happen to be imprisoned for a year. One said he would prefer to take the Bible with him. "Why," said the other, "You are not a religious fellow?" "No," he replied, "But the Bible is no end of a Book." Such the most profound students have found it to be. Bunsen, the famous German scholar and diplomatist, studied it for sixty years, but left many of its depths unsounded.

The Bible is also impregnable. Skeptics and infidels may assault and misrepresent it; evil men may ridicule it and seek to extirpate it; but forth from it into all the nations of the earth speed life-giving rays of truth, unsullied in beauty, undiminished in power, fulfilling the ends for which they are ordained. While its detractors come and go, the inspired Word lives on and will continue to live until its Divine purposes are accomplished. "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth; but the Word of our God shall stand forever." (Isaiah 40:8). Our divine Master said: "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away." (Mark 13:31). "The word of the Lord endureth forever." (1 Peter 1.25). The power of the Word to resist all attacks is also graphically stated in the following lines:

"Last eve I paused beside a blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime:
Then, looking in, I saw upon the floor
Old hammers worn with beating years of time.

"How many anvils have you had?" said I.
"To wear and batter all those hammers so?"
"Just one, said he: then said, with twinkling eye,
The anvil wears the hammer out, you know.'

And so, I though, the anvil of God's Word
For ages skeptic blows have beat upon;
Yet, though the noise of falling blows was heard,
The anvil is unharmed,—the hammers gone.

In spite of all that skeptics and infidels may say or do, the Bible maintains its supremacy. As Punshon beautifully said: "The Word abideth. The Jew hated it,—but it lived on, while the veil was torn away from the shrine which the Shekinah had forsaken and while Jerusalem itself was destroyed. The Greek derided it,—but it has seen his philosophy effete and his Acropolis in ruins. The Romans threw it into the flames, but it rose from its ashes, and swooped down upon the falling eagle. The reasoner cast it into the furnace, which his own negligence had heated 'seven times hotter than its wont,' but it came out without the smell of fire. The formalist fastened serpents around it to poison it, but it shook them off and felt no harm. The infidel cast it overboard in a tempest of sophistry and sarcasm,—but it rode gallantly upon the crest of the proud waters. And it is living still—yet heard in the loudest swelling of the storm—it has been speaking all the while—it is speaking now."

ANARCHY SEPARATES HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Mrs. Whitehead's Sympathy for Chicago Bomb Throwers Caused Domestic Breach.

DISPUTE OVER BLOOMERS.

PERSISTED IN WEARING THE GARMENTS DESPITE HIS OBJECTIONS.

The Wife Had Positive Ideas Which She Would Not Permit Her Husband to Influence—Now Sues for a Divorce.

Emory J. Whitehead, of Westfield, has brought a suit for divorce against his wife, Celia J. Whitehead, on the ground of desertion. Mr. Whitehead is connected with a mercantile agency in New York and is fifty-three years old. His wife is fifty-five. Both are well off. Vice Chancellor Stevens heard testimony in the case yesterday at Newark.

Mr. Whitehead testified that he and his wife were married on March 7th, 1869. They lived together until October 1st, 1897, when, he said, she deserted him. They have two children, Dr. Rufus B. Whitehead, of Elizabeth, and Will Carleton Whitehead, who practices law in Denver, Col. Mr. Whitehead said that he and his wife had had various differences, but not as a rule on subjects of a domestic nature. In 1881, he said, she declared that as soon as her children were old enough to take care of themselves she would leave him.

They quarrelled in the winter of 1886 87 over the conviction and execution of the Chicago anarchists. Mr. Whitehead said that his wife sympathized with the anarchists, and thought that they had been unjustly convicted. On the day of their execution, he said, his wife wore mourning.

There was another quarrel later over the question of the bloomer costume. Mrs. Whitehead approved that style of dress and adopted it, much to her husband's displeasure.

Continuing this testimony, Mr. Whitehead said that on September 21, 1897, he received word from his son, Dr. Rufus B. Whitehead, who had married only a week before, to come to see him at Elizabeth, where he had gone to reside. Mr. Whitehead went there and was told by his son that his mother intended to leave him. The son wanted to act as an intermediary between his parents. He asked Mr. Whitehead whether he would not be willing to pay something toward the support of his mother and brother, Will Carleton, who was then studying law at Columbia College.

Mr. Whitehead agreed to pay $25 a week for the support of his younger son, but he declined to pay anything for the benefit of his wife in the event of her leaving him. When Mrs. Whitehead finally left her husband she took with her all her personal effects, with the exception of the presents her husband had given her.

Mr. Whitehead said that he did not desire to cast the slightest reflection on his wife's character. She had always been a faithful wife and a good and affectionate mother and he believed her to be a pure and good woman.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead are well-known in Plainfield.

Benjamin LaVere has done excellent work with his band this summer and there has been much praise for both him and the members of the band.

LAST CHANCE TO ENROLL

MEETINGS OF REPUBLICAN IN FIRST, SECOND AND FOURTH WARDS.

Republicans will be Enrolled and Ward Campaign Clubs to be Organized Tonight.

Republican activity in this city is growing apace. Tonight ward campaign clubs will be formed in the First, Second and Fourth wards. The Third ward already has a flourishing organization working for the advancement of the Republican interests. This evening will also be the last opportunity of all good Republicans to enroll themselves so that they may vote at the party primaries this fall.

The Third ward was the first to take active steps toward the formation of a ward campaign club. Then the city committee, at a meeting held last Friday evening, decided to provide for similar organizations in the other wards. Meetings will therefore be held at the same places set for the enrolling of the Republicans, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Each ward organization will look after the canvass in its own ward and also provide finances for the necessary expenses of the campaign. By charging a small amount for dues it is believed that each ward will be able to secure the necessary funds without asking for general subscriptions. Each ward club will probably have its own headquarters, where members and all other voters may assemble evenings and find plenty of campaign literature.

In the Third ward almost the entire bulk of Republican voters were enrolled by affidavit. The other wards depended chiefly on personal enrollment. The wards have been informally canvassed, so that all known Republicans will probably be enrolled whether present or not. Those about whose politics there is any doubt and new comers will have to appear in person to be enrolled. The meeting places are as follows: First ward, old City National Bank building, East Front street; Second ward, Bryant School, East Sixth street; Third ward, Casino, West Seventh street; Fourth ward, Reform Hall reading room, West Second street.

MORE LIGHTS NEEDED.

Residents Say That Greenbrook Road Bridge is an Unpleasant Spot to Pass at Night.

Residents of Prideville are quite anxious that some additional electric lights should be placed along Greenbrook road, near the Bridge, or else that that section of the borough should have better police protection. The attempted holdup of little Amelia Parsch, of Harrison street, Tuesday evening, showed the necessity of something. The spot where the attempted holdup occurred was right on the Greenbrook road bridge where it is very dark. There is no light nearer than the corner and the trees overhang the road. On a number of other occasions the Parsch children, on their evening trips to deliver milk, have noticed several men standing on the bridge, but this was the first time that the men have made any attempt to interfere with the children.

ALUM BAKING POWDERS.

Congress Acting to Suppress Their Sale.

The report of the Senate Committee on Manufactures upon the subject of food adulterations and food frauds has awakened great interest throughout the country.

If there could be published a list of the names of all articles of food found by the Committee to be adultered or made from injurious ingredients, it would be of inestimable value to the public.

The recommendations of the Committee that the sale of alum baking powders be prohibited by law, will make of special interest the following list of names of baking powders which chemists have found to contain alum:

Baking Powders Containing Alum.

DAVIS' O. K.....Contains Alum
Manf. by R. B. Davis & Co., New York.
WASHINGTON.....Contains Alum
Manf. by Washington Baking Powder Co.
GEM.....Contains Alum
Manf. by A. J. Howell, New York.
I. C.....Contains Alum
Manf. by Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.
JERSEY BELL.....Contains Alum
Manf. by The Ford & Creveling Co., J. C.
GRAND UNION.....Contains Alum
Manf. by the Grand Union Tea Co., N. Y.
EGG.....Contains Alum
Manf. by Egg Baking Powder Co., N. Y.
A. & P.....Contains Alum
Manf. by Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., N. Y.

It is unfortunate that many manufacturers of alum baking powders state that their powders do not contain alum. It is only right that consumers should have correct information as to the character of every article of food offered to them.

MILLION TONS OF COAL.

Nearly This Amount is Stored in Middlesex County as a Reserve—Much at South Plainfield.

Stored in Middlesex county fully one-half of the supply of the reserve anthracite coal in the east is held. It is estimated that there are 2,193,000 tons of coal stored in the east, and of that amount 950,000 tons are in Middlesex county. This is distributed as follows: South Plainfield, 310,000 tons; South Amboy, 340,000 tons, and Perth Amboy, 300,000 tons.

Much of this is stored in immense piles at South Plainfield and South Amboy. This method of storage was devised some years ago, when the transportation companies found the problem of keeping their rolling stock in motion a difficult one to solve in a satisfactory manner. The storage grounds at South Amboy and South Plainfield were established and have been maintained ever since with a supply of coal on hand that would enable the companies to tide over a short strike at any time.

CITY BOYS VICTORIOUS.

High School Eleven Played an Exciting Game of Football Yesterday Afternoon.

The elevens of the High Schools of city and borough met on the gridiron at Martine Common yesterday afternoon and the Plainfield team came out victorious by a score of 11 to 0. Fifteen-minute halves were played. The city school boys had the advantage of weight and showed better team play, although the boroughites handled the ball quicker and more accurately than did their opponents.

Plainfield's team took the offensive in first half and ripped up big holes in the opposing line. Ughetta circled left end for a forty-yard run and Townsend Mason scored soon after on a tackle play. Lawrence Tweedy kicked the goal.

In the second half the North Plainfield boys stood better against the line plays. Fred Mason picked up the ball on a fumble and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. After that North Plainfield made a determined but unsuccessful effort to score. Horace Egan was disqualified by the umpire for deliberately striking Fred Mason in the face. The teams lined up as follows:

P. H. S.		N. P. H. S.
Meeker	right end	Stevens
Mosher	right tackle	McCollough
Pond	right guard	B. Schuck
Cubberley	centre	Messersmith
F. Mason, Bocap	left guard	Jacot
L. Tweedy	left tackle	Egan, McLoughlin
Bulkley	left end	Emmons
VanAuken	quarterback	Farley
Ughetta, F. Mason	right halfback	Sheppard
T. Mason	left halfback	Hamilton
Davis	fullback	S. Schuck

Score—Plainfield, 11; North Plainfield, 0. Touchdowns—Townsend Mason, Fred Mason. Goal from touchdown—L. Tweedy. Referee—Boy T. Phillips. Umpire—Roger Erickson.

"THE BROWNIES."

Beautiful Souvenirs Saturday Night—Seats Selling Fast.

Seats are fast selling for Palmer Cox's world-famous big production, "The Brownies in Fairyland," at Stillman Music Hall on Friday and Saturday nights of this week, with a Saturday matinee, and the unique spectacles will attract crowded houses. The Saturday night performance will be the 1500th time "The Brownies in Fairyland" has been played, and to celebrate the occasion a beautiful souvenir will be presented to every lady and every child with a coupon ticket. The prices of admission will be only 25, 35 and 50 cents. "The Brownies in Fairyland" will prove the most elaborate production of its kind ever witnessed in Plainfield and no one should fail to enjoy its many features, among which are the prize Brownie cake-walk, the beautiful flower ballet, and the comical specialty of the Italian organ-grinder and his trick bear. All of Palmer Cox's funny Brownies will appear and there will be over 100 in the big production.

Dead Millionaire Lived Near Dunellen.

William M. Rice, of New York, the multi-millionaire, whose sudden death on Sunday and proposed immediate cremation have aroused the suspicions of the city authorities and led to investigation into the cause of death, was for nearly ten years a resident of Dunellen. He retired from business for a time and from 1883 to 1892 lived quietly on a farm between Dunellen and Bound Brook. Mr. Rice was the owner of the Elkwood building on West Second street in this city. Mr. Rice was a close friend of C Schepflin, of Dunellen, the latter visiting him a few days before his death.

MARTINE TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY MONDAY.

Jeffersonian Democratic Club Will Hold a Meeting in Washington Hall.

TO PUSH THE CLUB WORK

COMMITTEES TO BE ANNOUNCED AND MORE NAMES ENROLLED.

It May be the Only Chance That Plainfielders Will be Able to Hear the "Farmer Orator" in His Own Home.

The first speech-making in behalf of the Democrats of this city in the present campaign will take place Monday evening at a meeting of the Jeffersonian Democratic Club in Washington Hall on West Second street. While to some extent it will mark the opening of active campaign work on the part of the Democrats, the meeting is not intended to be as notable as some others which are being arranged for the last four weeks of the campaign.

The meeting will be held principally to get the club organization perfected by the appointment of the necessary committees by President O'Keefe so that the campaign work can be divided up and the active workers in the club use their energy to the best advantage. Another important feature will be to further increase the enrollment of members in the club, as it is intended to get every Democrat in the city to attach himself to the organization.

After the important business is transacted, which will not take long, James E. Martine will be called upon for a speech. There are few Democrats in New Jersey who devote more time to political speaking than Mr. Martine, and yet it is a fact that the "Farmer Orator's" own townsmen seldom have the opportunity to hear him. Mr. Martine's services are in constant demand from all sections and he will be kept very busy from now until election day advocating the success of Democratic candidates, and it may be that at this meeting Monday evening Mr. Martine will have the only opportunity in the campaign to deliver a speech to Plainfielders.

It is also possible that Hon. Allan Benny, of Bayonne, or some other well-known New Jersey Democrat, will be present at the meeting and also speak on the issues of the campaign.

APRONS AND NECKTIES.

A Pleasant Affair Given in T. A. B. Hall Last Evening.

Wishing to bid all their friends farewell previous to their departure from the city, the Misses Lizzie and Kate McInerney, of South Second street, gave a reception in T. A. B. hall last evening. It was in the form of a unique necktie and apron sociable. The young ladies make an apron and necktie, wearing the former and putting the tie in a bag. The young men then draw one and the wearer of the apron matching it becomes his partner for the dance which follows. He must also wear the tie during the evening. Some of those worn would not just exactly be called stylish, but they made plenty of amusement, which was just what they were intended for. Dancing was kept up until a late hour, music for which was furnished by Professor O'Reilly. The serving of refreshments brought the evening's enjoyment to a close, and after bidding their hostesses goodbye the young folks departed for their respective homes.

Wagons Come Together.

The narrowness of Park avenue, combined with its usual crowded condition, was responsible for the locking together of two wagons and a subsequent runaway yesterday afternoon. In seeking to avoid a wagon near the curb, Charles Jones, of Richmond street, drove into J. J. Heidloff's rig. The latter horse stopped but Jones' broke out of the harness and continued down Park avenue. He was caught without any further damage.

To Raid Sunday Ball Players.

It is said the Cranford chief of police will make a descent upon the Sunday ballplayers on next Sunday, and that the raid heretofore contemplated was postponed because the chief was unable to secure the two furniture vans needed to carry and lock up his prisoners, the town lockup being entirely inadequate to accommodate both nines.

Extending Railroad.

The New Orange Company is extending its railroad to the Rahway River. The embankments for the railroad have made it necessary to close one of the old highways from Crandford to Springfield, so that it is impossible for loaded teams to use the road at present.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

Italian Woman Objected to Her Daughter Staying With the Latter's Uncle.

A family quarrel resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Mary Dantz, an Italian woman living in the borough, and her brother, Salve Villard, who lives in a little shack on Watchung avenue, near the bridge. They came up in city court this morning. The trouble was started by the fact that May, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Dantz, left home and went to live with her uncle. Last night Mrs. Dantz went after her. There were words between brother and sister and Mrs. Dantz hit him over the head with a cup and saucer while he pushed her out of the house.

Roundsman Mattox made the arrests, assisted by Constable Gjettlesen who happened to see the scrap. They were fined $5 each.

CADI WAS ARBITRATOR.

Landlord Said That Woman Tenant Attacked Him With Broom When He Wanted His Rent.

City Judge Runyon was called upon this morning to act as arbitrator between Charles Beerman and his tenant, Mrs. Morris, who both live at 454 West Third street. Mrs. Morris explained that she was sure that she would be murdered if she remained in the house but that a lawyer had told her to remain and so she thought she ought to. Beerman claimed that she set upon him with a broom when he went to collect the rent. The Judge thought that a change of residence for Mrs. Morris was the only way to settle the trouble. Roundsman Mattox was summoned to the house last evening by Mrs. Morris who claimed that she was about to be murdered.

JUDGE DEBARRED SWEENY.

Young Law Student Not Allowed to Appear in City Court for Prisoners.

Law Student William Sweeney was debarred from practising in the City Court this morning by City Judge Runyon. The last time Sweeney appeared as counsel in the city court it was on sufferance. Since that time it has been reported to the Judge that he would not be allowed to appear as counsel for anybody hereafter. Sweeney begged, but the Judge was firm. So the young law student watched proceedings from the back of the court room.

LEHIGH VALLEY MEN LAID OFF.

Reduction in the Force Due to the Coal Strike.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, September 26.—The reduction in the force of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which has been looked forward to since the strike began in the coal regions, took place yesterday. All the men on the ore trains between here and Bethlehem were discharged, and four operators and fifty-six others employed in the yards and running on coal trains were notified that they had been laid off. All of these men live in Phillipsburg. No coal trains have passed through here since Saturday evening, and all coal consigned to merchants here has been taken by the company.

As a result of the conference of the officials of the Jersey Central road Monday, two men employed in the roundhouse were removed and two crews on the yard shift engines were laid off. The crews of the extra coal trains will be laid off on Monday next.

Wagon Full of Beer.

Westfield is supposed to be dry Sunday—that is, so far as the fear of and the power of the Township Committee can make it. Last Sunday Milton Frazee and Eugene Wilcox drove out of Powers' Hotel yard, and when they got in the street they were held up by the police and the wagon searched. The search revealed a quantity of beer and whiskey, which was confiscated by the police and locked up in the township safe, presumably to be used as evidence against Powers for selling it Sunday. Frazee and Wilcox were released, as no law was found to punish them for having liquor in their possession.

COL. BRYAN IN JERSEY.

TO SPEND TWO DAYS HERE, SPEAKING FIRST IN CAMDEN.

During Journey the Presidential Nominee Will Make Several Speeches From Train Platform.

William J. Bryan will spend Thursday and Friday, October 25th and 26th, in New Jersey. Although his itinerary is not yet officially agreed upon, it is generally known how he will utilize the two days. A subcommittee of the State Democratic Committee of which State Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren, is chairman will have charge of the candidate during his stay in the State. His committee will meet in Jersey City on Saturday and arrange the details of the visit.

Mr. Bryan will come to New Jersey from Delaware and will make his first stop at Camden. It is proposed to hold a monster mass meeting Thursday morning at Washington Park, "Duke" Thompson's resort on the Delaware, just below Camden. From there he will take the train to Trenton, speaking from the rear platform at Burlington, Bordentown and the other principal stations at which the train may stop. That afternoon he will address the convention of Democratic clubs at Trenton, and immediately afterwards will take the train for Jersey City.

He will speak from the car platform at New Brunswick, and Thursday evening he will speak either at Jersey City or Newark, probably at Jersey City. The next day he will go to Morristown, speaking from the car at various stations enroute, and in the afternoon he will address the Fourth Congressional district Democratic convention, at Morristown. In the evening he will speak at either Paterson or Newark.

It has been suggested that a big meeting be held at Nutley or Franklin, half way between the two cities, which could be conveniently attended by the people of both Newark and Paterson.

On October 5th David Bennett Hill will speak in Newark.

Chairman Gourley, of the State committee, denied yesterday the stories that he was at odds with "Bob" Davis over Bryan's visit to Jersey City.

SALE DEPENDS ON LICENSE.

W. S. Emery Has a Customer for His Hotel if Court Will Allow Liquor to be Sold.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Sept. 27.—William S. Emery, of Scotch Plains, the proprietor of the old Scotch Plains Hotel, who was driven out of business by the Reform League of the village, which had his license revoked by the court because he sold liquor on Sunday, has disposed of the property to another party. He has taken a five-year lease of the hotel conditional on his being granted a license. Application was made to Judge Vail for a license yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas, and the matter was laid over until next Tuesday, when the October term of court opens.

New Cars Coming.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company expects to shortly place ten new cars on its line, running between Plainfield and Elizabeth. The cars were ordered in the spring from the Jackson & Sharp Company of Wilmington, Del. Several of the cars are expected this week, and will be placed on the line in time for next Sunday's heavy travel. The cars will be up to date in every respect, and equipped with electric brakes.

Unable to Survive Operation.

Albert Wilson, aged 22 years, died at the hospital yesterday afternoon, from the effects of an operation performed upon him for appendicitis. He came to this city sometime ago from Meherrin, Va., where his parents reside. A sister and a cousin, Henry Reed, live in this city. For sometime past he has been employed by D. C. Smalley. The body was shipped to Meherrin last evening where interment will be made.

REPUBLICAN POLICY CLEARLY DEFINED.

Big Republican Mass-Meeting Was Held at Music Hall Last Night—Many There.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

HON. JOS. L. BARBOUR, OF HARTFORD, WAS CHIEF SPEAKER.

The Governor and U. S. Senator Were Also Present—Frank Haffner Furnished a Little Excitement Which Wasn't on Bill.

The first political mass meeting held in this city during the National campaign now in progress, gathered a large audience at Music Hall last evening. It was a Republican demonstration to which the Governor of the State, one of Jersey's members of the United States Senate, and a prominent campaign speaker of Connecticut lent their presence. They talked, the band played and the audience waxed generally enthusiastic. It was altogether a rousing time for the real opening of the campaign in Plainfield.

The crowd began to flow into the hall even before LaVere's band appeared at 7:30 o'clock and gave a little concert at the entrance to Music Hall. At 7:50 the band moved inside and the house was well filled. With the Independent Drum Corps leading the van, the U. S. Grant Club, of North Plainfield, marched over one hundred and twenty strong. The club entered the hall, led by Senator Charles A. Reed and Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr. They occupied seats which had been reserved for them on the right of the house.

The Scotch Plains Republican Club chartered a special car and came by trolley. They were late in arriving, but a number of seats were reserved for them on the left. They numbered sixty.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock the guests of the evening were escorted to the platform and the host of vice-presidents followed and took their places on the stage. Councilman J. B. Dumont, chairman of the Republican city executive committee, called the meeting to order. By this time all the seats were filled and many were standing. The ladies were very much in evidence. The meeting opened with the singing of "Rally Round The Flag," sung by the audience and led by Horace J. Martin.

Chairman Dumont then introduced Governor Foster M. Voorhees, of Elizabeth, in a few words. The Governor referred in the highest terms to the President and declared the fact that the United States was a Nation today among the Nations of the world which was largely due to the wisdom, competency and patriotism of McKinley. His record, he said, was the platform of the party. Regarding the Democratic platform he pointed out that the same old issues were there which New Jersey repudiated four years ago.

The band played a selection, after which Mr. Dumont introduced Hon. Joseph L. Barbour, of Hartford, Conn., the leading speaker of the evening. Mr. Barbour found favor with the crowd at once. There was nothing particularly impressive about his appearance but he spoke simply and clearly. His discourse was filled with many illustrations. They were homely ones, many of them, but their aptness delighted the listeners. There was a contagious enthusiasm in Mr. Barbour's talk so that he kept the audience laughing or applauding for over an hour.

He described the prosperous condition of the country in 1892. But the people wanted a change, he said, and they got it. He pictured the change which followed the advent of the Democratic Administration with its free trade policy. Having had the change they so desired, he explained, the people changed back again as quick as they could. In 1896, free trade was abandoned as the people had settled that question for good.

Regarding the so-called "government by injunction," that monstrous doctrine, he declared, was settled long ago when the Civil War decided that Uncle Sam had a right to go where he choose. The speaker went into careful detail on the money question and explained it at length.

Mr. Barbour had pointed out the depreciation of the currency which, he said, would inevitably follow the adoption of the free silver doctrine, and was picturing the perils in store for the country in case of such an event, when a little excitement not on the programme turned up. Mr. Barbour asked anyone in the hall to tell

AFFAIRS IN HAVANA.

Municipal Officers Get to Work—The Dady Contracts Discussed.

HAVANA, Sept. 27.—The Havana press by a combined effort has succeeded in inducing the municipality to attend to public business. Charter reforms are now under consideration. At yesterday's meeting of the council it was suggested by several members that the salaries to be paid in the future ought to be increased. It was also suggested that it would be a wise thing for the municipality to decline to accept the charter, leaving to Governor General Wood the onus of issuing it as an order of the military government.

Yesterday General Wood and Michael J. Dady, the Brooklyn contractor, discussed the amounts to be paid under the Dady sewering and paving contract. Nothing was definitely settled, but the sum which the contractor will receive is likely to be about 40 per cent less than the original figures. On the other hand about 40 per cent more work will be done.

Dr. Lazear, one of three medical experts who came to Havana to study yellow fever, is dead of that disease. Of the other two, Dr. Carroll contracted the fever, but has recovered, and Dr. Reed has returned to the United States.

A Santiago Shooting.

SANTIAGO, Sept. 27.—Tuesday evening shortly before midnight Colonel Pavon of the Cuban army was killed in the Cafe Commercio by Octavio Mena, formerly a clerk in the office of the captain of the port. Mena and one of his companions were intoxicated and had been breaking furniture. It was proposed that they should practice revolver shooting at a quarter of a dollar tossed into the air. Colonel Pavon intervened, and a sharp controversy ensued. This quickly developed into a furious quarrel, and Mena, snatching the revolver of one of his party, shot Colonel Pavon in the back of the neck. The officer turned to face his assailant and received two bullets in the head, being instantly killed.

Former Governor of Florida Dead.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 27.—George F. Drew, the reconstruction governor of Florida, is dead at his home here, aged 73 years. Two hours before his demise his wife passed away from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy. Governor Drew was born at Alton, N. H., Aug. 6, 1827. Owing to family reverses his education was not completed. He became a machinist and when quite young went to Columbus, Ga., where he married Miss Amelia Dickens of Americus, Ga. Governor Drew engaged in the milling business in Georgia and extended his enterprises to Florida, operating a mill in Suwannee county. It was in the memorable campaign of 1876 that Governor Drew was selected as the standard bearer of the Democratic party, and it was largely through his hard work that the Republican party was overthrown.

About $100,000 will be required. Governor Sayers discouraged the idea of using the relief fund for this purpose.

ROOSEVELT MOBBED.

Exciting and Dangerous Experience at Victor, Colo.

MINING ROUGHS ATTACK HIS PARTY.

A Crowd of Excited People Threaten Life of New York's Governor and Throw Stones, Rotten Eggs and Other Missiles.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Sept. 27.—Governor Roosevelt had a most exciting experience yesterday at Victor, a few miles from Cripple Creek, among the mines, where a demonstrative crowd had assembled.

The governor had a narrow escape from serious personal violence. The incident was the only one of the kind that has occurred during the progress of the trip, and it is said that the trouble was occasioned by a small body of roughs who had been organized and paid for the purpose of breaking up the meeting. The men engaged were few in number, but very violent in their attack.

Governor Roosevelt spoke at Armory hall, which was filled. He had hardly begun speaking when he was interrupted by noisy demonstrations. He said:

"In my state the men who were put on the committee on platform to draw up an antitrust platform at the Kansas City convention had their pockets stuffed at that time with ice trust stock. The Democratic leader in New York, Richard Croker, upon whom you base your only hope—and it is a mighty slim hope too—was another great stockholder, and if, in fact, you were to read through the list of stockholders in that trust it would sound like reading the roll of the members of Tammany Hall."

A voice cried, "What about the rotten beef?"

The governor replied, "I ate it, and you will never get near enough to be hit with a bullet or within five miles of it."

Governor Roosevelt succeeded in finishing his remarks, though there was an evident intention among those present that he should not do so. When the governor left the hall with his party to go toward the train, he was surrounded by a company of Rough Riders, commanded by Sherman Bell, one of his own soldiers in the Spanish war. He was also accompanied by General Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, John Proctor Clarke of New York, General Irving Hale of Colorado, United States Senator Wolcott, Frank C. Goudy, candidate for governor of Colorado; Percy S. Ryder, candidate for lieutenant governor; A. M. Stevenson, Lieutenant Tice and several others.

Governor Roosevelt and his party were on foot. A crowd of boys and men began throwing stones and shouting for Bryan. The Rough Riders, mounted and unmounted, closed in around the governor to protect him from assault by the mob. One made a personal attack upon Governor Roosevelt and succeeded in striking him a blow in the breast with a stick. The assailant was immediately knocked down by Daniel M. Sullivan, postmaster at Cripple Creek.

A rush was then made by the mob to drag the mounted men in khaki uniforms from their horses. The men on foot also in khaki closed around the governor, making a wedge which pushed through the crowd, and they finally succeeded in gaining the train, which was surrounded by the mob.

By this time there were probably 1,000 or 1,500 excited people in the vicinity, and fisticuffs were exchanged on all sides. Many of the mob were armed with sticks and clubs, some with rotten potatoes, stale eggs and lemons. The entire party regained the train, however, without serious injury, and it pulled out of the place with the Rough Riders on the rear platform.

Through Two Miles of Granite.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 27.—President Hill of the Great Northern has received from Chief Engineer Stevens a telegram stating that the east and west crews in the immense bore under the Cascade mountains have met. The two forces working from opposite ends in the big tunnel brought the two ends together with hardly the variation of an inch. Now that the tremendous task of boring out over two miles of granite has been accomplished the work of laying the tracks is comparatively insignificant. The tunnel will now be rushed to a speedy conclusion. It is estimated that the tunnel when completed will have cost $5,000,000. One thousand men have been engaged nearly three years in its completion, and all records of tunneling have been broken. The average progress was from 18 to 20 feet per day. The tunnel will abolish the switchback over the Cascades, which in itself has always been looked upon as a magnificent engineering achievement.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Launched.

RICHMOND, Sept. 27.—The torpedo boat destroyer Decatur, one of the largest vessels of its class in the navy, was launched yesterday afternoon at the William R. Trigg company's shipyard here in the presence of several thousand persons. There were no ceremonies save that Miss Maria Teneyck Decatur Mayo of Norfolk, a direct descendant of Commodore Stephen Decatur, after whom the vessel is named, smashed the customary bottle of champagne across the bow of the vessel at the same time saying in loud tones, "I christen thee Decatur."

The President Attends a Wedding.

CANTON, O., Sept. 27.—President and Mrs. McKinley last evening attended the wedding of Mr. A. B. Clark and Miss Faith Fogle, children of their old time neighbors and friends, and remained at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fogle, for the reception. Theodore S. Search, president of the National Manufacturers' association, who came here from Philadelphia, said as he was leaving that there was nothing in his visit to interest or concern the general public.

Warm at Mount Washington.

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H., Sept. 27.—Yesterday was one of the warmest September days ever known here. The thermometer went to 75 degres, and the weather was clear and beautiful. Travel was remarkably heavy, about 150 visitors having been on the mountain up to noon.

STRIKERS ARE QUIET

No More Troops Needed In the Lehigh Valley.

HEAVY DECLINE IN COAL SHIPMENTS.

No Great Gains Reported by Either Side—Shenandoah Mines Entirely Closed—Men Peaceable, but Determined.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 27.—The request made Tuesday by Sheriff Harvey for troops, although not refused, was not granted by Governor Stone. The sheriff and the state officials at Harrisburg, however, have an understanding between them, and if the necessity arises soldiers will be thrown into this region in short order. If this be done, the first to arrive would probably be one of the commands now stationed at Shenandoah. The sheriff had a long talk with Adjutant General Stewart over the telephone, and they agreed that in view of the calmness now prevailing throughout the Lehigh valley it would be inadvisable to send an armed force here at this time.

The sheriff gave out the following for the information of the citizens of this region:

"The fact that I have called upon the governor for help is true. I have since been in communication with him and also General Gobin, who assures me that upon the slightest overt act by the unlawful assembling of men that he will have troops here within an hour and that they will stay until all the trouble is over."

There were no disturbances reported in this region yesterday. Rumors of contemplated marches of strikers are constantly in circulation, but as far as can be learned there is no truth in any of them. The march early Tuesday morning from Cranberry to Derringer was kept a secret until the starting time, and the strikers may again get away on a similar march. The sheriff is kept well informed of every move the strikers make in the way of marching and will try to be on hand in every instance to see that life and property are not placed in jeopardy.

The crisis at the mines of the G. B. Markle company has been reached. There are many expressions among the men of dissatisfaction against some of the firm's answer to their demands. The principal grievance of the men is the wage scale. They ask for only about half of what the United Mine Workers are demanding. Operations at the Markle collieries were suspended yesterday so that the employees could hold meetings to discuss the firm's answer. The meeting was held in the forenoon, and in the afternoon the committee composed of employees of the several Markle mines, with the exception of Ebervale, which is completely tied up, made known to the firm the decision of the employees. They accept the firm's proposition in regard to the hoisting of men from the slope, acquiesce in the refusal to pay the engineers by the hour and want to arbitrate all the other grievances excepting those relating to semi-monthly pay and the location of powder houses, which have been adjusted by the answer of the Markle company.

The men also decided to remain at work pending the arbitration negotiations and agreed to ask the firm to "deduct from the pay of each family that returns to work their quota for the payment of the arbitrator selected by the men."

With regard to the general strike situation in the Lehigh valley it cannot be said that many great gains have been made on either side. Some who quit work Tuesday at the Coxe, Tomhicken, Derringer and Gowen mines returned yesterday. The Lehigh Valley Coal company reports more men working than any time since the strike began.

The labor leaders claim accessions to their ranks from both the mines at Eckley and Lattimer.

The daily production of coal in the district is steadily decreasing. This is shown from the shipments of coal from the region today, which indicate a falling off of more than 75 per cent.

Mine Operators Aroused.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—The gains that the strikers have been making in the Schuylkill region have had the effect of rousing the operators of this (Lackawanna) district to activity, and steps are now being taken to drive the entering wedge in an effort to break up the strike. A prominent operator said that the policy so far pursued of waiting for the strike to break up of itself will be abandoned early next month, unless something occurs this week to indicate that action on the part of the operators will be unnecessary. The plan of the operators is to have each of the big corporations start up a few mines and keep them going at all costs. It is confidently expected that employees of four and probably five individual collieries will resume work when the big companies begin to get under way, and with a good proportion of the men back at work it will not be long before all will have returned.

Last Mine Closed at Shenandoah.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 27.—The closing last night of the Cambridge colliery, operated by the Cambridge Coal company, completed the tie up in the vicinity of this borough. This is a small operation, employing about 140 men, and was the only colliery working between Hazleton and Ashland. D. R. James, a member of the firm, informed Provost Marshal Miller yesterday that strikers had intimidated the men and that the company decided to suspend operations to insure the safety of the employees.

No Change in Wyoming Valley.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 27.—The tenth day of the strike closed without any change in the Wyoming valley. All the mines that were idle the first day are still idle, and the one mine that continued in operation the first day is still at work, the one at Mocanaqua. The operators seem to be abiding their time confident that in the end victory is going to be on their side. The strikers, on the other hand, are just as confident.

The Burnside Sails.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The United States cable steamer Burnside, formerly a transport, has sailed for Manila. She carries 500 fathoms of cable for the extension of the cable system through the Philippines, which was discontinued over a year ago by the wreck of the cable steamer Hooker.

Deep Snow In Wyoming.

EVANSTON, Wy., Sept. 27.—All the country between Grander and Evanston is covered with about five inches of snow on the level. Cattlemen fear that this early fall of snow means a hard and long winter and are preparing for a siege.

HANNA TAKES A HAND.

Conference With Coal Roads' Presidents Over Mining Strike.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Senator Hanna made another visit to the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. in Wall street, which was much more protracted than his call on Mr. Morgan before. A conference was held at Mr. Morgan's offices which was attended by all of the presidents of the coal railroads except President Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson, who is ill.

Mr. Morgan is working hand in glove with Senator Hanna to bring about a settlement of the anthracite coal strike, and a report got abroad in Wall street after the conference that the strike had been settled.

President Fowler of the Ontario and Western and other railroad officials declined to talk. Some of the officials would not even admit that they had attended the conference.

President Truesdale of the Lackawanna, discussing the settlement report, said: "There is not a word of truth in it. As a matter of fact, we are no nearer a settlement today than we have ever been.

SENATOR HANNA.

We started in to fight the miners' union, and we propose to continue that fight to the end.

"As for the report of a conference of the railroad presidents, I do not care to say anything about it one way or the other. Certainly there is no settlement, conference or no conference.

"In regard to the story that Archbishop Ryan called on me Tuesday, I can only say that he did, but that I was out and that I did not meet him. I do not know of any representatives of the miners coming to see me."

William Pierson Hamilton of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. declined to make a statement about the conference supposed to have taken place in the office of his firm. He contented himself with saying that there was nothing to be given out and that nothing had been given out.

Senator Hanna was very reticent when asked about what was being done to settle the strike and professed to know nothing about it.

"But you went to see J. Pierpont Morgan, the head of the coal syndicate, yesterday and today to see what could be done about a settlement, didn't you?" the senator was asked.

"I was at Mr. Morgan's office," he replied, "but I went there to see a man from St. Paul."

"Have you been informed that a settlement has been reached?"

"No," Senator Hanna answered. "I have heard that some of Markle's men have returned to work, but about all the information I have is what I glean from the newspapers."

It is reported, however, that Senator Hanna is not only doing all in his power to end the strike, but that he almost succeeded in averting it before it was ordered. His efforts would probably have been successful but for the interference of a self constituted committee that upset his plans.

DEATH FOR HOWARD.

Jury Finds He Was a Principal In Goebel's Murder.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 27.—James Howard has been found guilty of being a principal in the assassination of Governor Goebel. The verdict entails a death sentence.

When court reconvened, the jury was reported hopelessly divided, and the spectators, who filled the courtroom to its utmost capacity, were white with suppressed excitement.

The jury soon filed into the room. Foreman Crutcher handed to the clerk the jury's verdict, written on a slip of paper. Howard occupied a seat by his attorney. As the clerk read from the paper the jury's finding the defendant did not display the least agitation and was apparently no more concerned than any other person in the courtroom.

The verdict was a surprise, as it had been strongly rumored that the jury was divided on the question of the guilt or innocence of the prisoner. It has been learned, however, that the difficulty in reaching a verdict was over the degree of punishment, some of the jurors favoring life imprisonment, while others stood out for the death penalty and finally won their associates over.

Howard was remanded to jail, where he was followed by his bosom friend, John G. White, who was almost paralyzed by the verdict. The jury which tried the case was divided politically as follows: Nine Democrats, one Republican and two anti-Goebel Democrats.

Increase In City Population.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Statistics have been compiled at the census bureau based on the population of large cities which have been announced to the present time, which demonstrate that the 155 largest cities in the United States numerically increased in population from 1890 to 1900 almost exactly as they did between 1880 and 1890. These 155 cities increased their population 4,706,107 from 1880 to 1890 and 4,267,593 from 1890 to 1900, or just 78,154 less during the latter than in the former period. Of course when the aggregate percentages of increase of the population of these 155 cities during these two periods are compared they show that the percentage was considerably lower in the last ten years because the increase is compared with a larger population in 1900 than it was in 1890.

Rich Find of Gold.

HELENA, Mon., Sept. 27.—News was received in Helena that one of the biggest strikes of fabulously rich ore ever reported in this state was made on Monday in the East Pacific mine, 15 miles east of here. The ore runs from $30,000 to $40,000 a ton in gold. Pieces are shown that are at least one-half solid gold. The discovery was made in drifting the No. 4 tunnel, which is now under ground over 2,000 feet.

FACTS ABOUT DAWSON.

High Price For Berries—Ice Plant Needed—Much Gold Mined.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Some interesting facts regarding the situation at Dawson City are contained in the report of Consul J. C. McCook, under date of Aug. 22. He says there has been an abundance of wild blueberries, currants, raspberries and cranberries this summer. The cattle herders on the hills and a few Indians gather the berries and bring them to Dawson, receiving $1 to $1.50 per quart.

The idea of building an ice plant in Dawson seems like "carrying coals to Newcastle." The lack of ice in summer, however, has been seriously felt, and a contract has been given for an ice machine to be placed in a cold storage warehouse. The cost of ice this summer has been 5 cents per pound, or at the rate of $100 per ton.

Consul McCook says more mining claims have been worked this summer than in any previous season because the heavy rainfall has afforded sufficient water for sluicing. Machinery is now found everywhere in the district, and no one thinks of working a claim without boiler, engine and pump. The amount of gold sent out this season, as per consular invoices, is $12,500,000. It is possible that $250,000 more has gone out without any record.

PRAISE FOR CANADIANS.

Lord Roberts Reviews Dominion Troops About to Depart.

PRETORIA, Sept. 27.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts in the presence of Lady Roberts and his daughter reviewed the Canadians on the eve of their departure. It was a brilliant scene, the men, who are in excellent health, making a splendid appearance. After the march past Lord Roberts addressed them briefly. He said:

"I cannot allow you to depart without expressing my thanks for and appreciation of your loyal services and excellent work, especially at Paardeberg on Feb. 27. I am sure the people of Canada will be pleased to hear how gallantly and how splendidly you have all behaved in action.

"Deeply do I regret the losses you have suffered. I should have been happier could you have returned in your full strength, but no one could expect you to pass through so arduous a campaign without losses.

"I am sorry that some of you are obliged to return sooner than the rest of the regiments, but I recognize the urgency of private affairs. I am confident that the queen and the British people will never forget your services. If it should ever be my good fortune to visit Canada, I hope to meet you all again."

FIGHTING IN PHILIPPINES.

Paranaque Attacked—Two Americans Killed—A Steamer Fired On.

MANILA, Sept. 27.—Skirmishes are increasing at many places in the province of Cavite. The seaport of Paranaque, a few miles south of Manila, was attacked by the rebels and two Americans of the garrison were killed and five wounded. The troops quickly assumed the offensive. They located two bands of insurgents numbering 400 men and killed 35, wounded 14 and captured 12.

Reports have been received from Samar to the effect that Captain Goldeicer, with a company of the Twenty-ninth infantry, embarked on a steamer and scoured the coast of the island. He found everything quiet. Most of the towns were deserted, but they were well intrenched. The inhabitants burned several towns and fled to the mountains on the approach of the Americans.

As a steamer was ascending the Catubig river, the scene of a former disaster to 19 Americans, it was attacked by Filipinos who were concealed in the overhanging hills. Their fire riddled the vessel with bullets, but none of the Americans aboard was hurt.

Worked Their Way From Nevada.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 27.—A woman who called herself Estelle Burton arrived in Poughkeepsie with her five children, the ages of the little ones being from 3 to 16 years. They appealed for relief at the rescue mission, where Mrs. Burton said that she and her children were working their way from Reno, Nev., to New York city, having started on the journey seven weeks ago. They were experts at making little paper umbrellas and supported themselves and paid their traveling expenses from town to town by making the little ornaments and selling them about the railroad stations and streets.

Secretary Gage Returns.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—After a vacation in the White mountains following his visit to Bar Harbor Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the treasury, returned to this city yesterday. In the afternoon he visited the United States lighthouse establishment at Stapleton and afterward paid a brief visit to the immigrant bureau in the barge office to exchange greetings with Commissioner Fitchie. "There is absolutely no significance to my visit," said the secretary. "I have just come back from the White mountains." He started for Washington early this morning.

A WAITING ATTITUDE

Knowledge of the Plans of the Powers Desired.

PRINCE TUAN'S PROMOTION A FACTOR

Instructions to Minister In Regard to Peace Negotiations May Need Revising Should Powers Reject Well Meant Offers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—One belated dispatch from General Chaffee relative to conditions in Peking on the 21st inst. has been made public. It is apparent that our government is again in a waiting attitude, after having made the important move toward a reduction of the American troops in China previously announced. General Chaffee had not received the department's instructions when he sent his message, but without doubt now has it in hand. His offer to escort Li Hung Chang was in conformity with the expressed purpose of the state department to facilitate in every proper manner the journey of the Chinese viceroy to Peking. Still, it is now regarded as just as well that the offer was declined and the responsibility for Li's safety left with the Russians.

The instruction to Minister Conger to establish relations with Li and Prince Ching is still held up here. It is beginning to appear that the purpose of the delay is to ascertain more clearly the plans of the powers in whose interest, as well as in our own, Mr. Conger was to endeavor to bring about negotiations for a settlement. If it shall appear that there is a disposition on the part of any considerable proportion of them to reject in advance the well meant efforts of the United States government to bring about a conference and negotiations in which they could participate on equal terms with our own government with the purpose of terminating the Chinese difficulties, then Mr. Conger's instructions may require recasting. It might be regarded as useless for him to arrange for a meeting of the powers with China which the former do not care to attend, owing to entirely different purposes from those animating the United States, and there probably is no disposition to subject our minister to humiliation by a flat failure which might be anticipated.

It also is possible that the news relative to the advancement of Prince Tuan to a position where he might influence the negotiations is regarded as worthy of attention and that our government may delay proceedings as long as he stands in the way. The state department has not been officially informed of Prince Tuan's promotion.

United States Blamed.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The papers, taking their cue from the foreign office, flatly deny that Great Britain is arrayed with the United States against the German proposal. The Berliner Post says: "The announcement is only intended to conceal the fact of the isolation of the United States." For the most part the influential journals follow the lead of the Cologne Gazette's inspired article blaming the United States for China's renewed exhibition of hostile intentions. The Berliner Post, referring to Prince Tuan's latest edict, says: "It would be a sad spectacle to see Mr. Conger negotiating for peace in Peking with Li Hung Chang while the Boxers in the immediate vicinity were fighting with the troops of the other powers." The Kreuz Zeitung, discussing the American position, comes to this conclusion: "A country subject to whims like the United States cannot be permanently considered a serious factor in international affairs."

An Election Bill For Kentucky.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 27.—The Democratic house caucus has at last agreed upon an election bill which provides that the state board shall consist of one Democrat and one Republican and a state officer. They shall appoint the county boards, consisting of two from each party, and from lists submitted they shall also appoint an umpire. This will give the Democrats a majority in each county board, but the boards will have only ministerial powers except as to questioned ballots. It is said that the Democrats in the senate will readily accept this compromise.

County Treasurer Held Up.

MERCED, Cal., Sept. 27.—County Treasurer Bambauer was held up late at night while on his way home and forced at the point of a pistol to go to his office and open the vault containing the county funds. After securing $1,500 or more and some papers the thieves forced Bambauer into the vault and sprung the combination. The imprisoned man was discovered in the morning in an almost unconscious condition. The detectives have a good description of the thieves, who, however, have an eight hour start of their pursuers.

Murder Instead of Suicide.

BINGHAMTON, Sept. 27.—Coroner Van Vochten's verdict in the death of Annie White at Oneonta, reported in these dispatches, finds that the woman was murdered by Mrs. Samuel Hillsinger, at whose home the young woman was employed. It is believed that Mrs. Hillsinger thought the White girl was robbing her of her husband's affections, and her jealousy led to the murder. The accused woman maintains that the girl committed suicide.

Governor Fancher Withdraws.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 27.—At a meeting of the Republican state committee yesterday a letter was read from Governor F. B. Fancher, who was renominated, in which he withdrew from the ticket by reason of bad health. The committee advanced Frank White of Valley City, the candidate for lieutenant governor, to first place and put David Bartlett of Cooperstown on in his stead.

Salt Mine Discovered.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 27.—A vein of salt 23 feet in thickness has been discovered on the farm of Frank Seager, seven miles north of Geneva, on the Sodus road. Mr. Seager had been driving a well, and the vein was first found 18 feet below the surface. Water was forced into the tube, and a quantity of it was taken out and sent to Ithaca for chemical analysis.

Mr. Bryan's Courteous Request.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 27.—Before leaving for Nebraska City Mr. Bryan in a note to the press requested that his political friends remove his pictures from the windows on Oct. 2 as a matter of courtesy to the Republican candidate for vice president, Colonel Roosevelt, who visits the city on that day.

Wild Outbreaks.

Tolerant and respectful consideration of political ideas antagonistic to one's own belief in the same channel of thought is a striking characteristic of the American citizen. But notwithstanding this, now and then an outbreak of a most disgraceful and unfair kind is witnessed during the height of a political campaign, and some candidate or some speaker who is advocating one set of political principles in opposition to another code of the same sort is subjected to an attack that is neither gentlemanly, decent or approved of by even those with whom the disturbers may be in nominal sympathy.

In the campaign of 1896 there was one notable instance of such unAmerican conduct as this during the campaign efforts of Mr. Bryan. It occurred in the city of New Haven, when Mr. Bryan was insulted, jeered at and treated in a most shabby manner by a body of Yale College students. The disgraceful scene that was enacted in New Haven made absolutely no votes for the Republicans. It was simply a wild and ungeneraled mob who seemed to have lost all sense of fairness and respectability.

Up till yesterday the present campaign had been free from such scenes, but then the good record was broken by an unfair and unwarranted attack made on Governor Roosevelt while he was speaking at Cripple Creek, Col. A mob of rough men who are strong advocates of Bryan's election lost their heads during the talk of Col. Roosevelt, with the result that they attacked and disconcerted him by both oral sallies and the use of missiles which were aimed at his head. It was a disgraceful scene, and is undoubtedly as much regretted and condemned by well-meaning Democrats as Republicans.

The macadam roads in Middlesex county add very much to its attractiveness and must be the means of attracting new residents; but one great drawback to our system of roads is the dust and tendency to disintegration, owing to the faulty way in which these roads are constructed, says the New Brunswick Home News. Those who have made a study of road building assert that there is too much mud, clay and sand mixed with the layers of stone. The mud turns to dust, is washed off by the rains, leaving the roadbed in a very rough condition and necessitating expensive repairs. By cheap work more miles of macadam are built, but at the expense of permanency and cost of future repairs. Our engineers and contractors have much to learn or unlearn.

As had been anticipated all along since the acceptance of the office of First Assistant Postmaster General by Wm. M. Johnson, which made a vacancy in the State Senate from Bergen county, the nomination of Assemblyman E. W. Wakelee for the Senatorial vacancy was accomplished at the convention of the Bergen county Republicans Tuesday. Mr. Wakelee made a brilliant record in the Assembly, and he will doubtless duplicate it in the Upper House.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A well-known local coal dealer in speaking about the coal strike and the jump in the price of fuel, remarked yesterday that it is manifestly unjust for anyone to charge $7 or over a ton. He said that he is selling coal for $6 and this price gives him a fair margain, which is all that he can ask.

* * * * * *

A little mistake in the matter of a coat caused considerable astonishment among the friends of a well-known local Democrat the other day. In the same office with the Democrat there is a Republican, who is as enthusiastic in his views as is the other. The two men happen to be about the same size. The day in question they both wore blue serge coats. The Democrat was the first to leave the office. He took a coat from the rack and put it on without examining it very carefully. His friends were much astounded to see him marching along Park and North avenues with a McKinley and Roosevelt button prominently displayed on the lapel of his coat. He discoursed on the greatness of Democracy while his auditors stared at the button. At last he noticed it and hurled the button away, thinking that someone had played a joke on him. Then he began to examine the coat. Feeling in the pockets he drew forth a handful of Republican buttons and several other articles of which he knew nothing. It didn't take him long to rush back to the office and change coats.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Coal Dealers Criticised.

To the Editor of The Daily Press—Would it not have been more humane and honorable for the coal dealers in this city and in other places to wait until their present supply of coal, which they bought at low prices, is exhausted, before they enrich themselves and oppress the poor by their exorbitant prices? They seem to forget that the day is coming when the Judge of all the earth will call them to give an account of their stewardship. Justice.

The Star Course.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Patrons of the Star Course of entertainments will notice two changes regarding the course: the price of tickets and the reservation of seats. At the close of last year's course the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. upon the recommendation of the entertainment committee decided: First, "That the admission fee to the Star Course of entertainments should be raised this year to 35 cents for each entertainment in order that the committee might feel warranted in engaging higher priced talent to give more variety and thus maintain the reputation made for the Star Course." Second, "That the seats in a portion of the house be reserved and that all who buy a course ticket at $2 should be assigned a reserved seat for the course. Also that all members of the of the association who pay 50 cents, should be given a reserved seat for the course upon presenting their membership ticket." Patrons will please note that only a portion of the seats are reserved, so that those who have no reserved seat ticket will still find a seat; at the same time those who desire to make sure of a seat and to hold the same seat each night, can do so by securing a reserved seat ticket. This change has been made in response to a desire expressed by the patrons of former courses. Course tickets will be on sale at Leggett's pharmacy, Monday, October 1st, at 8 p. m. H. M. Maxson,
Chairman of entertainment committee.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

Respectfully yours,

Mattresses in twelve different grades and in six different sizes and the truth told about each one of them, which is as rare as prices. A lady told us recently of a mattress she bought and whic was sold to her as a pure husk mattress. Our mattresses contain exactly what we say they do and are all made in good clean factories and not in dirty tenement houses. We know exactly what they contain and where they are made, and we receive on the average a car load a week of them.

SLIGHTLY USED Aeolians At Reduced Prices.

Also a Few Pianolas.

The Aeolian can be played by any one.

It is a solo orchestra brought within the home.

With its aid symphonies, overtures, operas, or the latest rag-time favorites may be summoned at will. Dance music is always available.

Comment is unnecessary. Figures and facts are of paramount importance.

We offer, for two weeks only, a complete assortment of Æolians at reduced prices. This should focus the attention of all intending purchasers—not because it affords a bargain, but an opportunity.

These instruments are not new—they have all been in use, having been taken in exchange for higher priced styles, but that very fact is significant of the estimation in which the Æolian is held by those who have had the instrument in their homes.

They have been put in thorough order, and repolished so that in the majority of instances they cannot be distinguished from entirely new instruments, and are subject to the same guarantee.

The cost of the Aeolian causes many of its appreciators to deny themselves the constant source of pleasure which comes with its possession. It deters others from investigating it. This sale enables one to obtain an Aeolian at a greatly reduced price. There will also be included a few Pianolas, which have been loaned to customers while waiting for special designs of cases. It will last for two weeks only.

Among the instruments offered:

	Regular Price.	Special Price.		Regular Price.	Special Price.
Orchestrelles	$1,500	$1,000	Aeolian Style 1050	$275	$150
Grands	750	550	Aeolian Style 750	230	135
Aeriol Fianos	750	500	Aeolian Style 800	210	115

Aeolian Style 1450	350	225	Princess (Double Reed)	125	85

A discount of 10 per cent. for cash will be allowed, or the instrument will be sold on moderate monthly payments.

REPUBLICAN POLICY CLEARLY DEFINED.

why these troubles would not come, when Frank Haffner, who resides on Somerset street, in the borough, arose in his seat in the orchestra and expressed a desire to ask the speaker some questions. Mr. Barbour was willing and invited the other to go on the platform, but Mr. Haffner preferred the floor.

His first question was as to whether the United States wasn't hard on the poor man in giving him silver dollars which were worth only fifty cents. Mr. Barbour's reply was to the effect that as long as the present financial system was retained the United States was able to retain their face value as with the paper currency. Mr. Haffner wanted to know if it would be fair on the poor man if his house should burn down and his stock of silver coin melted out of shape, that is if the silver for one dollar was really worth only about fifty cents, as Mr. Barbour had said. The audience howled and Mr. Barbour laughed and explained that in case of a fire the poor man's coin, whether silver or gold, wasn't likely to be found again.

Some of the more impatient ones began to tire of the controversy and their shouts of "sit down," "go on the platform," and the like, made it impossible to hear Mr. Haffner's next remark. He delivered it with emphasis and then shouted, "Put that in your pipe and smoke it. McKinley will get one less vote than he did four years ago." Whereupon he grabbed his hat and departed from the hall while a prolonged shout from the crowd greeted his sudden leave-taking.

Mr. Barbour then continued his remarks. After speaking further on the financial question he touched upon "militarism," and explained that Americans need have no fear of the army becoming the ruling power of the land as the present army might be scattered over the States and there would only one man for every fifty-five square miles. The Philippines were as much the property of the United States as Louisiana or any of the other territory purchased by Democratic Presidents. Regarding the course of the United States in those islands it had been, he said, only what the United States was compelled to do. When law and order is preserved there it will then be time to talk about their future.

After more talk on imperialism, Mr. Barbour dwelt on the subject of trusts and called special attention to the oppositon which the Republicans had met at the hands of the Democrats in an attempt to provide a constitutional amendment providing for the regulation of trusts. He closed with an eloquent appeal to all voters to support the Republican ticket at the coming ing election.

Senator John Kean spoke a few words in behalf of the Republican ticket and declared that its election was needed to maintain the power, integrity and prosperity of the country. Apathy, he declared, no longor exists in New Jersey and that State will run up a great majority for the Republican candidates.

Then the audience rose and sang "America" after which the meeting was declared to be over.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The capture of Tien Tsin and the siege of Pekin by the army of the Allies are prominent features of Aiden Benedict's new war melo-drama, which is to be produced at Music Hall on Tuesday of next week. Among other things the play deals with an attempt to blow up the relief train of Admiral Seymour and at another time the death of Colonel Liscomb, after crying his famous words: "Don't retreat, boys; keep on fighting." At this time the Germans, Russians, French and English troops are repulsed, and it is only by the bravery of the American troops that the day is finally saved by the allies. The final scenes of the play, giving the storming of the gates of Pekin and the triumphal entry with the American flag at the head of the column—is one full of excitement. The stage settings are said to be vivid and striking. The special scenery for every act and scene being made from actual photographs brought from China. An excellent company will interpret the play, including Laurena Hascall, John F. Clark, Henry Belmer, Fred Matthews, William Lane, Ellen Boyer, Minnie Church and Little Ah Sid.

An Ideal Life Has This Artist.

W. L. Taylor, who makes the finest pictures that appear in The Ladies' Home Journal, leads the ideal life that every artist dreams of. He neither seeks nor accepts work from any one. He has an agreed income from the Philadelphia magazine, and as this is a generous amount he has nothing in the way of finances to worry him. He lives in an artistic home at Wellesley, Mass., in the top story of which he has his studio. His work is carefully laid out for him by his editor for an entire year in advance, and he works at it only when he feels at his best. Otherwise, he paddles in his canoe or walks. He has no time imposed upon when his work shall be turned in. He generally uses up the best of two months to paint a single picture. Few artists have really a more ideal life.

This is what a Brooklyn man—a painter—has to say concerning Ripans Tabules: "For over a year I had been greatly troubled with sick headache and such a nauseating taste in my mouth, arising from bad stomach and indigestion. I tried several kinds of remedies but found no relief. About four months ago I was doing some work in a friend's house and he asked me if I ever had taken any Ripans Tabules; he praised them so much that I said I would try them. In the evening, when I went home, I stopped at the drug store and got a vial of Ripans Tabules and before going to bed I took two. In the morning when I woke up my head felt much clearer than it had for some time and then I took the rest according to directions—one after every meal for about two months—and then I found that I was thoroughly cured of my complaints. I feel like a different man altogether now, and can not praise Ripans Tabules too much."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. THE TABLE.

Fruit as a Decoration—Preferred Tableware.

Fruit is again much employed as a table decoration and is always arranged in something low and broad, whether it be a dish of some sort or a basket. Baskets are the more picturesque and adaptable. The bottom is filled with dry moss, upon which pears, peaches, bananas and purple and white grapes are grouped. The moss filling is of great assistance in placing the fruit properly and is also a preservative for it. A few fresh leaves may be interspersed, especially small grape or peach leaves, and flowers are sometimes added, but these are less harmonious.

Cut glass is always in vogue, but the old fashioned, unnecessarily cumbrous forms are no longer in use. The pieces are conveniently small and of graceful, adaptable shape. The same may be said of table silver, which is dainty and easy to handle while retaining its substantial quality.

The cut shows a young girl's costume of navy blue foulard with white dots. The skirt is shirred around the hips. The blouse bodice has a sailor collar of white silk with a dark blue band, under which is a scarf which ties in front. The plastron has horizontal lines of white baby ribbon, and the top and wrists of the sleeves are trimmed in the same way. The draped collar and wrinkled belt are of navy blue satin. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MODE.

Early Models For Winter Styles Already Seen.

New models for winter wraps are already seen. They take the form of a long, straight sack of cloth, the sleeve rather short and decidedly flaring to show a lower, bouffant sleeve in the new or rather very old style. This lower sleeve may also be simply the sleeve of the gown bodice showing beyond that of the wrap.

For low cut evening gowns novel trimmings are composed of mousseline de soie so arranged as to imitate large flowers like poppies, hollyhocks or roses.

Wash gowns have been made with applications of mousseline or thin batiste on light goods. After the application is made and is outlined with fine cord or passementerie the foundation material is cut away. This same idea is being utilized for the coming winter, taffeta applications on cloth being substituted for wash materials.

The cut shows a tailor made gown of pearl gray cloth. The skirt is gathered at the middle of the back and is decorated with wide stitched straps and dull gold buttons. The tight bodice, similarly adorned, has a short basque and opens over a full vest of straw tinted mousseline de soie and a wide draped belt of gold colored liberty velvet. The tight sleeves are trimmed with stitched straps, and the collar and cravat are of white crape. The hat of pearl gray chenille and felt braid is trimmed with pink roses veiled in white tulle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Crossing the Bar.

How strangely mysterious is the law that presides over the departure of souls from this world! Young or old, tarnished by vice or resplendent with virtue, they disappear into silence. They go forth without telling who summons them, without saying why or how. Their faces suddenly set toward eternity and look back on us no more, so irresistible is the beauty that enraptures or the power that seizes them. A voice has called them in the eternal distance. A sound has vibrated like a funeral reveille, which they alone can hear. And while ignorant of what thus absorbs them we still seek to retain them, to speak to them. Noiselessly they escape without bidding us farewell, gliding as invisible phantoms from our loving hand.

THE TOWEL MAN SCOLDS.

He Gives the Guilty Office Girl Some Information About His Business.

The young man whose person was swathed in an impenetrable bandage composed of multitudinous towels stuck one hand out of his linen prison and shook a sample of his collection fiercely toward the young woman sitting before the typewriting machine. "Do you know what it is on this towel?" he asked, relates the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The young woman looked sharply at the multi-colored stains that had broken out like a virulent rash on the saffron surface of the towel in question. "It looks like ink," she hazarded.

"And that's what it is," said the man. "Red ink, black ink, blue ink, green ink. How'd it get there?"

The young woman squirmed uneasily. "My goodness," she said. "How should I know? I didn't put it there."

The man ceased to wave his war flag and held aloft a clean towel as a sign of truce. "I'm glad to hear that," he said. "I thought mebbe you did know. I thought mebbe you put it there yourself. The girls seem to think towels are made just for straining ink and such things. My, oh, my, the uses that office towels are put to. Bootblacks use them to polish shoes, scrub women take them for floor cloths and dust rags, and you girls use them for blotters, sponges, machine rags and general utility purposes. Sometimes one of you will try to wriggle out when accused of the mischief you've done, but it's no use to crawfish to me. I can tell the guilty one every pop. It's fun, though, to hear what some of you will say when cornered. Why, there was a young woman up on the sixth floor of this building who ran out of work the other day, and what did she do but dabble the office towels around in a puddle of purple ink for a pastime. When I came around on my collecting tour I asked her about it. And what do you suppose she said? Well, sir she swore up and down that she had had the nosebleed and had used all those towels to wipe her nose on. Wouldn't that jar you? You ought to have heard me talk to her. I laid down the law to the queen's taste. 'Holy smoke!' said I. 'You've got the funniest-colored blood I ever saw. And it's a wonder to me,' said I, 'that you don't literally welter in your own gore a-losin' so much blood as this at one time.' The girl had backbone and wouldn't own up, but I knew all those purple spots were ink just as well as if I had seen her playin' in it.

"If you girls knew the first thing about the towel-supply business," the man went on in an aggrieved tone, "you would be more careful, upon my word you would. Just let me give you a few statistics as a moral guidance. The firm I work for puts good material into their towels—material that, with ordinary usage would last a year, but which, with the abuse an office towel is subjected to, is worn into tatters in three months. Somehow, shoe polish and ink will eat holes right through the strongest of toweling. Our firm handles about 80,000 towels a month—that means 240,000 in three months. Now, if you girls would be reasonably careful, those 240,000 towels would last a year, easily, but with your reckless, extravagant ways, we have to lay in a new stock four times a year, which brings the figure up to 1,000,000 towels that we have to make every 12 months. And that, mind you, is the number handled by one firm alone. When you multiply that by the dozen or more other concerns in the same business you have a total of at least 12,000,000 towels that are destroyed every year by the indiscriminate and even criminal use of ink and shoe blacking. Sometimes I think you girls must be in league with the linen mills so that they can get a chance to sell us towel folks 12,000,000 yards of goods each year, instead of 3,000,000 yards, which we could get along with if you girls were not so destructive, and would do the right thing by us."

The girl at the typewriter machine turned pale.

"Oh, dear," she said, "I had no idea that the towel-supply business had attained such gigantic proportions. I feel for all the world like a thief or a murderer. I'll furnish my own towels after this."

CONTROLLING SYMPATHY.

We Have No More Right to Be Prodigal with It Than with Our Fortunes.

It is commonly said that no man or woman can be perfectly happy in this world, for if all that was necessary to make one happy fell to his or her lot, unhappiness would creep in through seeing the suffering and sorrow of others, says A. S. Atkinson, M. D., in Woman's Home Companion. This sympathy with the world of people around us serves us many valuable lessons, and we would not eliminate it from our lives if we could. But we have no more right to be prodigal with our sympathies and emotions than we have with our fortunes. It is as much our duty to hold our powers of sympathizing with others under control as it is to curtail our passions. Excessive expenditure of nervous energy for others is a crime upon our own natures, and we have no authority to justify us in its commission. Yet the man or woman who sees only the gloomy side of life will waste energy and emotions in this way if there is no other channel through which they can be expended for self. A clear comprehension of the sufferings in the world is necessary for our well-being, but undue brooding or emotional sympathy over them will accomplish nothing but evil. We merely add to our own burden without lightening in any degree whatsoever that of the world.

AN INDIAN BAPTISM.

Few Ceremonies Equal It in Solemnity and Interest.

Prof. James Gives a Graphic Account of How Hopi Mothers and Fathers Welcome the Advent of a Little One.

[Special Southern California Letter.]

ALL religious people throughout the world generally have some ceremony by which they dedicate the life of the new-born child to the deity they worship. Among Christians, whether Catholic or Protestant, this is the ceremony of christening, in which the child is solemnly dedicated to God and its parents or godparents promise on its behalf that it shall renounce all the pomps and vanities of this vain world.

But there are few ceremonies in the world that equal in solemnity and interest, and that are more charming,

HOPI BABY AND CRADLE.

than those performed by the parents and other relatives when a Hopi baby comes into the world. There are religion, affection, sentiment and poetry embraced in what we—the superior people—would undoubtedly term the superstitious rites of these simple-hearted people. One reason for the fervor of this rite is the genuine welcome every Hopi mother and father accord to their baby when it is born. It is "good form" among them to be proud of the birth of their children. No married woman is happy unless she has a "quiver full" of children, and one of her constant prayers before her marriage is that she may be thus blessed.

So when the child comes there is great rejoicing. It is immediately rubbed all over with ashes to keep the hair from growing on the body; or that, at least, is the reason the Hopi mother gives for allowing her little one to be scrubbed all over with the ashes.

Then it is wrapped up in a cotton blanket of the mother's own weaving, for Hopi women, and men, also, are great experts in growing, spinning and weaving cotton. Now it is ready for the cradle, and the accompanying picture shows what a Hopi cradle is like. It is either a piece of board or a flat piece of woven wickerwork about two and a half feet long and a foot wide. There is also fixed at the upper end two or three twigs arranged in a kind of bow, so that a piece of cloth thrown over them forms an awning to protect the face of the child from the sun. When this bow is not in use it can be slipped over to the back of the cradle, where it is in the illustration. Strapped in this queer cradle, the baby is either stretched out upon the ground to go to sleep, covered over with a blanket, or reared up against the wall. But if your eyes were keen you would see by its side a beautiful white ear of corn. And if you saw it and knew the Hopi mother's ways and her thoughts, you would find that the reason for putting the corn there was this: She believes that the corn represents one of her most powerful gods on the earth, and that if this god is made to feel kindly towards the new-born child he will send it good health and strength and skill in hunting and everything else that she desires for her loved baby. So, you see, it is mother love, combined with a singular superstition, that makes the Hopi mother place the ear of corn by the side of her sleeping child.

When the baby is 20 days old it is—shall I say?—baptized. You can hardly call it this, but, anyhow, it answers the same thing as baptism does with us. About sunset the child's godmother arrives. She is generally the grandmother or aunt on the father's side. Just as the first streaks of light begin to come in the early morning the ceremony begins. After washing the mother's head and legs and feet, the baby's turn comes. The house is full of relatives and friends to watch and bring good fortune to the little one. A bowl of suds is made by beating the soapweed until the water is covered with beautiful lather. Then the godmother takes an ear of corn, dips it into the suds, and touches the baby's head with it. This she does four times. Then she washes the baby's head very carefully and thoroughly in the suds. But the washing would be of no good unless all the baby's female relatives on the father's side were to dip their ears of corn into the suds and touch its head with them four times, just as the godmother did. Now the baby is washed all over, and then—strange to say—the godmother fills her mouth full of warm water, and, balancing the baby on one hand, she squirts the water from her mouth all over the little one. To dry it, she holds it before the fire, and when it is quite dry she rubs it with white corn meal, wraps it in a blanket, and passes it over to the mother, who is seated near to the fire. Just before her are two baskets full of corn meal, one coarsely and one finely ground. Taking an old blanket, the godmother spreads it over the mother's lap, the baby is placed on it, then she takes a little of the fine meal and rubs it on the face, arms and neck of the mother, and also upon the face of the child. Then with the ear of corn in her hand, and slowly and regularly moving it up and down, she prays first over the mother, then over the baby. I have heard several of these prayers. Here is one of them: "Ho-ko-na (butterfly), I ask for you that you live to be old, that you may never be sick, that you may have good corn and all good things. And now I name you Ho-ko-na" (or whatever the name is to be).

Then every woman and girl of the father's relatives does just the same and prays the same kind of prayer; but singular to us is the fact that each one gives the child any name she prefers. As each one finishes her prayer, she gives her ear of corn and some sacred meal she has brought with her to the mother, who invariably responds with the Hopi "Thank you!" "Es-kwa-li."

Nobody knows at the time which name the baby will have, as he or she grows up. That is left to chance to determine—generally the preference of the mother.

Now the baby is put in its cradle, with some of the ears of corn presented to the mother placed under the lacing on the breast of the little one, and it is ready to be dedicated to the sun. After sweeping the floor the godmother sprinkles a line of meal about two inches wide from the cradle to the door, and the mother does the same thing.

Out of doors the father is anxiously watching for the first direct light of the sun, and the moment it appears above the horizon he gives the signal. Immediately the godmother picks up the cradle, so that the baby's head is towards the door, and near to the floor, carries it over the line of sacred meal, the mother following. Each has a handful of meal. At the door they stand side by side. The godmother removes the blanket from the baby's face, holds the sacred meal to her mouth, says a short prayer, and then sprinkles the meal towards the sun, and then the mother does the same; and, after ceremonially feeding the baby, all joining in the feast, the ceremony is at an end.

GEORGE WHARTON JAMES.

THE FIRST TROUSERS.

They Were Invented Centuries Before Christ to Allow Man to Straddle a Horse.

According to George MacAdam, who writes about clothes in St. Nicholas, the first pantaloons or trousers were made in Assyria. In the reign of King Asshurizirpal (883-858 B. C.) horses were introduced in the army as cavalry. Here, now, was a problem; the cavalrymen had to have some sort of a uniform, and it was impossible for him to wear a skirt and ride astride a horse. The tailors to his majesty's armies wagged their heads a long time over this problem, and finally decided that the only way out of the difficulty was to cut the cavalryman's skirt from hem to waistband in both front and rear, letting each part fall on its respective side of the horse. As can readily be imagined, this split skirt made an exceedingly poor article of clothing. The law of heredity, however, is full of surprises; this humble apology for a garment was destined to be the father of the original pantaloons. The mind of the tailor has ever been a small one. It is likely that even then, as now, it took "nine tailors to make a man." At any rate, it took the tailors of Assyria over a century to solve the problem of the horsemen's clothing. "Why not," said one of these workers with the needle and shears, "sew together the edges of each division of the skirt and thus form a separate skirt for each leg?"—or, in other words, he invented a pair of pantaloons.

A GREAT RECORD.

Hard to Duplicate it in Plainfield.

Scores of representative citizens of Plainfield are testifying on the following subject. Such a record of local endorsement is unequaled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across the back and hips. Any hard work always increased it. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the U.S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

GOLF

A smoker is to be held at the Cranford Golf Clubhouse this evening, and several from this city will attend.

It is barley possible that the Hillside team may not play at Madison tomorrow as scheduled. The Madison players cannot decide until tomorrow whether they will be able to play the game this week.

Matthew Brown, the green-keeper at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, is constantly working on the course and it is now in better condition than at any time this year. A little more rain would help the course immensely.

Owing to the fact that the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team intend playing the Madison team at Madison next Saturday, there will be no event on the Hillside course. No events have been scduled for that day. On the following Saturday there will be several events, such as putting contests for men and women, mixed foursomes and handicap events. The play will commence at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day. There will also be a reception at the clubhouse, with many special features.

ROD AND GUN.

Isaac Vail, a veteran fisherman of this city, went to Sewarren Monday to try his hand at weak fish which are reported to be running well in the sound at that place. His first victim was a tiny weak fish which, by clever manipulating, managed to break a valuable rod for Mr. Vail.

On Tuesday last T. S. Armstrong, S. B. Carson, W. C. Kinney, Mayor Rockfellow and Andrew Vanderbeek went to Forked River, near Barnegat, to fish. From all accounts there are very few fish left in the water. Mr. Carson returned home last evening with an abundance of seafood. The rest of the party will return this evening, and their many friends may expect to receive a mess of fine fish.

ON THE DIAMOND

Quite an exciting baseball game is promised for Saturday afternoon when teams composed of the employes of the Metropolitan and Prudential Insurance companies will meet on the LaGrande avenue grounds. The game was originally scheduled to take place last Saturday, but the date was changed.

For Social Purposes.

A number of young ladies living in the West End met recently at the home of Miss Mabel Firstbrook, of Liberty street, and formed a society to be known as the T. A. C. C. club. It will be for social purposes only and meetings will be held at homes of the various members during the winter. It was also decided to give a sociable and supper to their friends early next month.

Taken With Fainting Spell.

Charles J. Dencklau, engineer at C. Shepflin's clothing factory, was taken with a fainting spell yesterday afternoon while at work, and it was necessary to take him to his home on East Second street. Dr. J. B. Probasco, the family physician, was called and gave the proper treatment. The illness was not a serious one and Mr. Dencklau will soon return to work.

Communion at Marconnier.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at Marconnier chapel next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The preparatory service will be held tomorrow evening in the chapel.

NOTE WAS N. G.

Given in Payment for Two Vehicles, But Indorser's Ability To Pay was Misrepresented.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 27.—An interesting case in the courts is that of J. P. Homan, of North Plainfield, against Harr Brothers, of Mt. Horeb, which was called this week. Some time ago the brothers purchased two rubber tired wagons of the plaintiff on credit and they gave father as indorser, claiming that he owned free and clear a farm of 200 acres.

The note was accepted, but later Mr. Homan learned that it was not good. The father of the boys swore that he was worth nothing, and it was also learned that the farm mentioned was owned by Prosecutor Griggs, of Somerville. The brothers were then haled to court and the case will be settled by the Grand Jury.

Another interesting case that is being considered by the Grand Jury is that of the State against Henry Bodenheimer, of North Plainfied, who is charged with assault and battery on his wife. He was arrested May 19th last and held in $300 bail for the Grand Jury, A. I. Smalley going his bail. Yesterday Lawyer Isaac P. Runyon, Drs. Zeglio and Buchanan were called as witnesses.

TRIED SUICIDE.

Garwood Man Grew Despondent and Made an Effort to End His Life.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 27—William McRae, night watchman at the C. and C. electrical works at Garwood, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide yesterday afternoon.

McRae with his wife boarded at the home of Thomas Cater, and lay down about noon to take a nap. At 5 o'clock his wife called to him as he was supposed to be at work at 6 o'clock, but he failed to answer the call, and she went to his room and found him on the bed with a towel around his head and a strong odor issuing from it.

It was impossible to arouse the man and his wife called for help. Drs. J. B. Harrison and Fred. A. Kinch, of Westfield, were sent for and both worked all night over McRae, who, this morning, is said to be out of danger. A four ounce bottle which had contained chloroform was found in the room. This he had purchased from a local druggist, McRae saying that he wished to kill some rats.

McRae for sometime past has been despondent and has worried a great deal over the illness of his wife, she having been unable to help herself for several years.

LOST LIFE TO SAVE FRIEND.

Killed by a Cave-In That Only Slightly Injured the Man He Tried to Rescue.

Thomas Sheridan, night superintendent for contractors removing dirt from the Barrow pit near Metuchen, was killed at 2 a. m. yesterday while endeavoring to save a man of his gang who was working in the bank.

Sheridan saw that the bank was about to cave in and tried to rescue an Italian laborer under it. He was buried alive. It was an hour before his body was recovered. The man he tried to save was only slightly injured.

A boy fourteen years old, named Miles, of Ford's Corner, was killed near the same place a few hours earlier by the Millstone accommodation train.

Burning Leaves.

Already the residents are beginning to burn leaves about the city, and before long it will be a great nuisance. At a recent meeting of the Common Council, Mr. Mellick suggested that some action be taken by the Council to abolish the nuisance. The same thing exists in the borough, and before the evil becomes any worse something should be done to stop this burning. People suffering from asthma and catarrh are always great sufferers, but the burning of leaves makes it doubly worse. There are many other reasons why the nuisance should be abolished.

To Attend Firemen's Parade.

Two special cars of the Somerset and Middlesex Traction Company will leave Warren Engine house at 7:30 a. m. sharp next Tuesday morning, bearing the fire department members and their guests who are to take part in the New Brunswick parade. It is the intention of Chief Debele to sound three taps on the fire bell at 7:15, for the purpose of notifying those who are to go that they have but fifteen minutes left in which to be on hand.

Hard Coal Shipped.

A number of cars of anthracite coal passed through Plainfield yesterday afternoon on their way to Elizabethport, where the coal will be used at the docks there. This is the first hard coal to go through in several days. A considerable quantity of bituminous coal has been going through every day.

Industrial Home Inmate Dead.

Charles Frey, an inmate of the Industrial Home, died yesterday at that institution. He had been afflicted with consumption.

COFFEES

We call special attention to our coffee department for the reason that it seems more difficult to please consumers with coffee than any other article used in a household. It is no uncommon thing to have ladies and gentlemen enter our store and ask "Have you good coffee? we have been buying all over town and can't get suited. We will give your coffee a trial." Invariably they will call again and say "Give me the same I have tried; it is excellent." One of the reasons, and perhaps the main reason, why our coffees give such satisfaction, is because they are always fresh.

HILLSIDE LEADS IN EAST JERSEY LEAGUE

Match at Newark Tomorrow May Decide the Result of the League Championship.

NEWARK HAS IMPROVED.

AFTER TOMORROW, THE HILLSIDES HAVE ONLY TWO MATCHES.

A Victory Over Newark Will Practically Assure the Local Golf Club of First Place in the East Jersey Golf Association.

If the team from the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club of this city is successful in its match against the Newark Athletic Club tomorrow afternoon on the links of the latter club, it will practically decide the championship of the East Jersey Golf Association. Each team in the league has to play twelve games, meeting each other team twice. The Hillside Club has now played nine, winning seven of them.

Besides the game tomorrow afternoon against Newark, the Hillside players have to meet Forest Hill on the Hillside links and Glen Ridge on the Glen Ridge course. The game with Forest Hill is quite certain to go to the Hillside Club. Even meeting defeat at Glen Ridge, the Hillside Club would then only have three defeats while all the other clubs in the league have at least four defeats already.

The Hillside team has been considerably weakened by the loss of several of its best players but will send a fairly strong aggregation to Newark. The team will probably be composed of W. L. Glenney, Howard deP. Wright, J. H. P. Wharton, Dr. VanD. Hedges and Morris Dumont. Until the last of August, the Newark team lost match after match. Since that time there has been a strong brace on the part of the Newark players and they have met and defeated East Orange and other strong teams.

Three matches were played in the league last week. East Orange had no trouble in defeating Madison on the East Orange links by a score of 19 to 4. The Newark A. C. overwhelmingly defeated Glen Ridge by a score of 29 to 0. Forest Hill and Elizabeth played a tie. Two matches are scheduled for tomorrow. Besides the Hillside-Newark match, the Madison Golf Club will send its team to the links of the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth.

The Hillside's chief rivals in the league at present are the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth, and the East Orange Golf Club, while the Glen Ridge Club is fast coming to the front. Forest Hill, Madison and Newark are bunched together at the end of the list. The standing of the clubs are as follows:

	Won.	Lost
Hillside Tennis and Golf Club	7	2
East Orange Golf Club	6	4
Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth	5	4
Glen Ridge Golf Club	5	5
Forest Hill Golf Club	3	5
Madison Golf Club	3	5
Newark Athletic Club	3	6

AN ANGRY WIFE.

Newark Woman Declared That Plainfield Woman Had Won Affection of Her Husband.

An angry woman, who claimed Newark as her home, startled the families living in a North avenue flat last evening by appearing on the second floor armed with a revolver and demanding to be let into one of the rooms. In loud tones she declared that the woman occupying the apartments had stolen her husband and that she had come to this city for the express purpose of killing both.

The occupant of the rooms was wise enough, however, not to admit her, and she was finally induced by the other tenants to leave. The woman returned later and renewed her demands, but met with the same success. Still hoping to get sight of the couple she loitered about the street until the arrival of the 2:14 train, when she left for home.

Social Club's Dance.

The Idlewild Social Club gave their first annual ball in Washington Hall last evening and was attended by a large number. Dancing was the feature and was kept up until a late hour to the strains of Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra. The committee was Joseph Clark, F. B. Clark, P. J. Mack, Geo. Kaeding and John King.

Brook in Bad Shape.

The brook that runs through Roselle is giving the Board of Health considerable trouble. It is considered a menace to the health of the community, yet as it runs through private property the Board questions its right to have it cleaned at public expense. Frank Bergen is to advise what to do.

DEATH LURKS IN WELL.

IMPURE WATER FINDS ANOTHER VICTIM TO KILL.

State Health Board Investigating—Poison Not Responsible for Farmer Long's Death.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, Sept 28—The autopsy upon the body of the late David Long, performed by Dr. Kinch, of Westfield, and County Physician Westcott showed, as both physicians had before declared, that typhoid was the cause of death. Congestion and inflammation of the organs had proceeded so far that ulceration was near at hand.

As told in The Press yesterday a sensation was created in the First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon during the funeral by a son of the deceased, who was not fully responsible for his act, demanding that the body of his father remain unburied until after an examination by the physicians. The permit was given again Wednesday for burial by the authorities and the body was interred yesterday morning.

Dr. Kench, speaking of the rumors that there had been poison in the well at the Long home, stated that malarial poison was the only kind there. An Italian laborer, who had used water from the same well, died a short time ago from typhoid.

Another death which has occurred in Rahway seems traceable directly to the same well. The victim was a Hungarian named John Thusom, who had been working for the Lehigh Valley Railroad for about three weeks. He was about thirty years of age. He was taken ill on Saturday and died yesterday.

So convinced are the authorities that his death was due to the well, that Dr. Cladek telegraphed Dr. Hunt, of the State Board of Health, to come and visit the Long farm. Dr. Hunt arrived yesterday morning, and in the afternoon the two physicians visited the neighborhood for the purpose of a general exmination of the water, the swamps and the whole surroundings.

FOR BIBLE STUDY.

Arrangements Made Last Evening for the Formation of Classes in the Y. M. C. A.

A meeting for men only was held last evening in the small hall at the Y. M. C. A., for the purpose of planning Bible study work for the coming winter. Don O. Shelton, who has been in Plainfield for a few days, was present and gave a talk on "Why Young Men Should Study the Bible?" The meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Dr. Rodman, after which Mr. Shelton gave his talk.

Mr. Shelton spoke earnestly and related many things proving conclusively the great benefits to be derived from studying the Bible. He said that no Christian man could afford to neglect this study, and urged all to unite themselves with at least one of the Bible classes to be formed at the Association.

George M. Rittenhouse then announced the various classes to be formed. Secretary Manning will teach a class Sunday mornings, taking up the topic of "Prayer and Example. Physical Director Heywood will conduct a class at 5:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon for men in the physical department. The topic will be "Faith and Conduct." The missionary study class will be continued once a month meeting Sunday afternoon. Next Sunday Stephen Cahoone will teach. An evangelistic Bible class will be conducted by A. C. LaBoyteaux at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening, and the regular Bible classes for boys will be taught by Philip Suffern and Frank O. Bristol.

An important class will be formed by W. D. Murry, who will teach the "Life of Christ" as found in the Gospel of St. Mark. It will be an inductive study and the class will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Further information about these classes can be obtained from Secretary Manning.

After the meeting last evening a number enrolled themselves in the various classes. Mr. Shelton met the committee on this work in the parlor for a short conference regarding the proposed work.

Victim of Practical Joker.

Fred Worster, who is employed as a coachman at 912 West Front street, left his bicycle standing on Park avenue at 10:30 o'clock this morning while he went into a store. When he came out five minutes later, the wheel was gone. Worster proved to be the victim of a practical joke. Chief Kiely found the wheel in a neighboring store where it had been hidden by his friends.

JERSEY GOLD MINE LOCATED BY HENS.

Farmer Belloff Believes He Has Struck Bonanza on Middlesex County Land.

FOWLS STIR UP THE METAL.

MINER BUSY DRILLING TO FIND THE EXPECTED VEIN.

When it Was Pronounced to be Gold Ore, a Shaft Was Sunk, and So Far Three Nuggets Have Been Unearthed.

The following story was sent out from New Brunswick yesterday:

Gold in small quantities has been discovered on the farm of John Belloff, Sr., which is located on the road leading from Stelton to New Market, in Middlesex county. The discovery was made in an unusual manner and has been kept a secret for nearly a year.

In November, 1899, Belloff engaged a contractor to dig a well on his farm. The work was completed satisfactorily and the dirt from the excavation was scattered about the farm. Shortly after the well had been completed Belloff had occasion to kill some of his poultry, and in the craw of one of the hens he found a small piece of ore which resembled gold.

Belloff took the ore to New York and it was declared by an expert to contain gold. Being satisfied that the ore had come from the newly dug well, Belloff decided to make an investigation. He consulted J. F. Bowman, of Monmouth Junction, who has had considerable experience in gold mining in Colorado and California, and tests were made on the Belloff farm by Bowman. The result of Bowman's observations was so satisfactory to him that he made an agreement with Belloff whereby he would sink a shaft and do all the work of locating and mining the gold in consideration of receiving one-half of the gold found.

During the latter part of August Bowman placed a drill in position and erected a steam pump and started to work. At the present time he has reached a depth of thirty-four feet. Several small pieces of ore containing gold have been found, and on Saturday at a depth of thirty-two feet, three good-sized nuggets were unearthed. Bowman is greatly pleased with his discovery, and when seen at the farm yesterday, was actively engaged in preparing a blast of dynamite. He has been greatly hampered in his work by water. There has been an abundant supply of copper ore taken out of the hole and is assayed to be worth $26 per ton.

Belloff has received several offers for his farm, but refuses to sell. One of his fields, which contains seven acres, has heavy veins of a pure white clay, which is valuable in potteries. An offer of $9,000 was made to Belloff last year for this lot, but he refused to sell.

The fact of there having been gold ore discovered on the Belloff farm has caused a flutter in the vicinity of that place. Visitors from Plainfield, Bound-Brook and New Brunswick call at the farm and watch the operation of the drills and steam pump. Several years ago a vein of gold was struck at Lincoln, which is about five miles in a southwesterly direction from the Belloff farm, but that the ore could not be mined in paying quantities.

Bowman expects to reach a depth of sixty-five feet, where he claims the heart of the gold ore vein is located.

Former Marshal Acquitted.

A sensational trial was held before court and jury in the City Hall, Elizabeth, yesterday, involving the character and future usefulness of the former marshal of Roselle, John Crist. The charges against him were in connection with a young woman who recently became a mother at the age of fifteen. Mr. Crist stoutly maintained his entire innocence, and his counsel, Craig A. Marsh, of this city, presented the case to the jury in such a way as to win a prompt verdict of not guilty.

Special Session of Foresters.

A special session of the Independent Order of Foresters is being held in Elizabeth this afternoon to hear reports from officers for the past year. Steps will also be taken toward pushing on work for the next twelve months. Court Plainfield, No. 1144, is represented by James Patterson and John F. Casey.

A Fractured Hip.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meninger, aged 50 years, a resident of Scotch Plains, was taken to the hospital yesterday suffering from a fractured hip the result of a recent fall. She lived alone and it was some days before she was discovered. She is not seriously injured.

COAL MARKET SITUATION

DEALERS TRYING TO PROTECT PATRONS WHO ORDERED EARLY.

One of the Reasons for the Increase in Price—One Dealer Got 150 Tons Yesterday.

There is a misapprehension regarding the present coal conditions as a result of the recent strike at the mines, and more than one dealer has been the object of abuse in consequence. The wise and careful dealer who protects his customers as well as himself cannot be blamed for the present condition. To a large extent the coal in the yards of the local dealers was ordered during the summer months at $5 or $5.50 per ton. The customers were not particular as to when that coal was delivered so long as it was put in before cold weather arrived, and it is only fair that the customer should be protected and that his order should be filled whether anyone else receives coal or not.

The reason why these dealers put the price of coal to $7 a ton and would only sell one ton at a time is plainly seen by the above. If they should have continued to sell coal at $5 or $5.50 it would only be a question of a short time when every dealer would be cleaned out and the man who ordered his coal last summer would be left out entirely, which would be unfair. The man who failed to place his order early in the season is the one who is now suffering, but the coal dealer cannot be blamed for it.

As a matter of fact very few tons of coal has been sold at $7 a ton, and only those who have been obliged to buy a single ton to help out temporarily are paying that price. Yesterday George O. Stevens received 150 tons of coal, for which he is very thankful. Other dealers will probably receive a supply very soon, as there are strong probabilities that the strike is soon to be settled.

There is a capacity at South Plainfield for about a million tons of coal, but there is not any where near that quantity in storage there now. Of late many thousand tons have been removed from there, leaving far below half the amount of the total capacity. The local dealers all say that there has been unnecessary excitement and worriment on the part of the people, and that there will be plenty of coal. No doubt there will be a slight increase in price which is the rule during the winter months.

NEW WATER STATION.

Located at Cranford, will be the Finest and Best Equipped in the Country.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, September 28.—The finest and best equipped watering station along the line of any railroad in the United States is now under course of construction along the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at the Rahway river bridge, east of the Cranford depot. The station will be built of wood and iron, and will cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

The station will contain an electric pump with a water capacity of 15,000 gallons per hour. This pump will be automatically controlled by the height of the water in a monster tank capable of holding 50,000 gallons of water, and be supplemented by a gasoline engine 8,000 gallons' capacity per hour, and further supplemented by a Worthington duplex pump of 6,000 gallons' capacity per hour, to be run by compressed air taken from the block signal line which runs along the railroad.

DIGGING THE TUNNEL.

Work of Building Underground Passage at North Avenue Station Actively Started.

Work was started this morning digging the tunnel under the Jersey Central tracks at the North Avenue Station. Thomas McGann has the contract. He calculates it will take about a week to complete the same. There has been a change made in the plans for the approach from Watchung avenue to the North Avenue station. According to the original plans the steps led up the side near the tracks, making it exceedingly dangerous for passengers who would be apt to step in front of westbound trains that are run so often on the fourth track.

Workmen are now tearing out the work and a second landing will be located half-way up the embankment. The steps will then be turned toward the station and will lead to the direct walk. The iron fence will be moved back on a line with the station. The approach on the east side to the new station is completed and is an attractive piece of work. On the other side are rough stones cemented together making a rustic appearance. The steps are wide and allow for plenty of room. There will be a railing on each side. This work was done by Contractor Laury, who has the work on the new station.

Doings of the Keans.

Mrs. John Kean and Miss Kean, who have been spending the summer at one of the cliff cottages at Newport, have returned and are at their country place, "Ursino," at Elizabeth. Miss Lucy Kean and Miss Elizabeth d'Hauteville Kean will arrive from abroad this week. Mrs. Kean and her daughters will spend October at the "Ursino" and will later join her son, Senator John Kean, at Washington, D. C., who has taken the handsome house which belonged to the late Anthony Pollok, at the corner of Y and Seventeenth streets.

Bicycle Stolen.

R. Arthur Beebe, of Madison avenue, left his wheel outside a few evenings ago when he went to see Dr. Hedges, of Watchung avenue. When he came out the wheel was missing. The loss was reported to the police. The stolen wheel was a Cleveland, enamelled black.

Reunion of Veterans.

The annual reunion of the Eleventh Regt., N. J. Vols., will be held at Dover, Morris county, Wednesday, Oct. 10th. An effort will be made to have Gen. Sickles, the regiment's old commander, present at the reunion. Several from this city will attend.

WARD CAMPAIGN CLUB FORMED IN SECOND.

Third Ward Has a Club Already and First Ward Republicans Will Try Another Method.

ENROLLMENT COMPLETED.

REPUBLICANS OF THE CITY PREPARING FOR ACTIVE WORK.

Board of Managers Elected at Organization of Second Ward Republican Club—Will Meet to Elect Officers Saturday Night.

The plan of the Republican city executive committee to have campaign organizations formed in each of the wards was carried out last evening in the Second ward only. The Third ward already has a campaign association. The campaign committee of the First ward has assumed the duties of the proposed club. Nothing has been done in the Fourth ward.

A meeting of the three members of the city committee from the First ward, together with the four additional members of the campaign committee, was held a few evenings ago. Councilman J. F. Buckle was elected chairman and Charles S. Smincк secretary-treasurer. The members of the campaign committee held another meeting last evening when they talked over the work to be done in the ward and laid plans for the collection of funds. It is not probable that a regular ward campaign club will be organized there at present but that the members of the committee will take charge of the work which is to be done by the clubs in the Second and Third wards.

There was a large turnout of Second ward Republicans at the Bryant school last evening when the Second ward Republican Club was organized. The meeting was called to order by Councilman J. B. Dumont. Assemblyman Charles S. Foote was made chairman and Charles B. Morse secretary. A constitution and bylaws was adopted. A board of managers, composed of fifteen, was then elected as follows: Councilman J. B. Dumont, Stephen A. Ginna, John A. Keely, City Judge William N. Runyon, Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, Councilman John vanHerwerden, Charles C. Davis, Councilman George P. Mellick, Assessor Charles Hand, Thomas A. Cuming, Charles B. Morse, James E. Kimball, Edwin H. Frost, J. Hervey Doane and William Spangenburg.

A meeting of the board of managers will be held Saturday evening at 8:30 at Republican headquarters, Marsh building, Park avenue, when officers will be elected and committees appointed.

There were a few Republicans who showed up at the reading room of Reform Hall, the meeting place in the Fourth ward, but no attempt was made to form any ward club. A club may be formed later in the campaign.

The enrollment of Republican voters in the city was concluded last night. Nearly all the work in the Third ward was done the week before so there was a small turnout there. In the First ward, there was a good turnout and the names of those who didn't appear were enrolled by affidavit. The total enrollment will be about three hundred. A large personal enrollment was made in the Second and then several lists of well-known Republicans were sworn in. The enrollment in that ward will reach nearly four hundred. The personal enrollment in the Fourth ward was small but a batch of seven hundred names were placed on the list by affidavit.

THOMAS CLARK DEAD.

One of Plainfield's Oldest Citizens Passed Away This Morning.

Death came quietly this morning to one of Plainfield's oldest residents, Thomas Clark, at his home on East Second street at the age of 74 years. He has lived in this city for the past fifty years and has been a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church for over half that time. The deceased had been failing for the past year and six weeks ago was forced to take to his bed. Although a great sufferer, he was patient and cheerful to the last. He is survived by four children, Mrs. Charles Fisher and George Clark, of this city, Thomas, of New York, and Mrs. Charles Rice, of Leavenworth, Kan. Until the arrival of the latter no arrangements for the funeral services will be made.

—The last of the big shipments of peaches will be received by Neuman Brothers tomorrow morning. There will be 350 baskets of fine fruit, chiefly white, from the orchard in Hunterdon county which they recently purchased. Prices will be 50, 75 and 85 cents a basket.

—Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like Dewitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases use the original and genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Amanda Randolph, of East Randolph road, has returned from a visit with friends in Brooklyn.

Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan and family, of Duer street, have returned from Pemberton, where she has been visiting for a time.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

PRINCETON'S SEAL, TOO.

Said That it is to be Used as a Trade Mark on a Brand of Whiskey.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Princeton, September 28.—It is announced that a Philadelphia distiller intends to use Princeton's seal, along with those of other universities, as a trade mark for a certain brand of whiskey. When interviewed Monday afternoon in regard to the stand that the Princeton authorities would take in the matter, President Patterson said:

"I am sorry to know that the university seal is to be used in this way. The matter will undoubtedly be brought to the notice of the university trustees, who will take whatever action they think will be wise regarding the point in question. Whether there is or is not a remedy to prevent the use of the seal for this purpose I do not deem myself competent to say. I can easily see, however, that the question involves some very interesting legal inquiries. The university seal will, no doubt, still serve to authenticate any document to which it is attached, unless perchance we should be sued by the whiskey company for an infringement on patent rights."

Didn't Succeed in Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Sept. 28.—Harry Dell, the bank swindler, caught at Millbrook, N. Y., never swindled the Westfield bank. He tried it, however, about a year ago. He called on C. A. Smith & Co. about a year ago ostensibly to purchase some second-hand machinery which they had for sale. After examining the machinery he declared himself satisfied with it. The price was to be $90. He produced a draft on a New York bank for $525, and agreed to pay for the machinery if C. A. Smith would identify him at the bank to get the draft chashed. He was introduced at the bank but as C. A. Smith would not guarantee the draft Dell did not get the money, and was never heard from again in the matter.

—The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

Roundsman John Flynn, who is enjoying his annual vacation, will return to duty in a short time.

Edson Woodhull, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Woodhull, of West Front street, returned yesterday from German Valley, where he has been visiting his grandfather.

A Night of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Edward M. Devine and family will soon move from the borough to this city.

Mrs. George Morton, of Westfield, has been visiting Plainfield relatives for a short time.

—In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty, many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Miss Nettie Beeching, of Watchung, has been stopping at West Milford and Greenwood Lake for a time.

Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, of Brooklyn.

Samuel Wallace, of Grove street, who has been sojourning at the seashore for a short time past, has returned home.

CUSTOM HOUSE FRAUDS.

New York Inspector Suspended For Collusion With Smugglers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—One customs inspector is under suspension and a deputy surveyor of the port has been accused of collusion with smugglers in passing dutiable goods into this country. The accusation is based on an autograph confession made by Mrs. M. Shanahan, a dressmaker of 11 East Forty-sixth street, whose trunk, containing many Paris costumes, was seized at her house after it had been passed by the inspector.

The same deputy surveyor is accused of having accepted bribes by Mrs. Hall, a Chicago dressmaker, whose trunk was seized after it had been passed and while it was being taken away by a Waldorf-Astoria bus.

Mrs. Shanahan's confession, which consists of three pages, written entirely in her own hand and signed by her, states in effect that this is the fourth time that she has done business with the deputy surveyor of the port in question, and on each occasion she paid to him in person the amount agreed upon, in consideration of which he was to have her trunks passed without examination. In both of the cases above referred to the same inspector, who is now under suspension, passed the baggage.

Collector Bidwell refused to say anything about the matter. It is being investigated under orders of the collector in the most rigid manner.

The inspector under suspension has stated to the officials that he has no recollection of having passed the trunks in question, and while they bore his mark he avers that some unauthorized person surreptitiously placed this mark on them.

Against Voting Machines.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Attorney General Davies came to this city yesterday on a hurry call from the Republican state committee. One of his deputies had preceded him with an opinion that the ballot machines could not be used in their present form in casting ballots for presidential electors, and Mr. Davies is wanted for a conference. The opinion of the attorney general is that the ballot machines, not having the names of the electors in detail, would disfranchise any voter using them. In other words, the attorney general decides that the machine must contain each elector's name on each ticket and not merely a single button to push for a party's electors bunched. The decision is of serious import unless the machines can be changed in time, and the purpose of the conference at which the representatives of the ballot machines are to be present is to determine if this can be done.

Signal Service on Florida Coast.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 28.—The government is preparing to give the coast residents of Florida a more satisfactory signal service in the event of approaching storms. A. J. Mitchell, section director of the weather bureau for the state, has received from Washington several tall towers made of steel which are to be erected as storm warning towers in different sections of the state. One of the towers is to be erected at Jacksonville, one at Fernandina, one at Miami, one at Fort George and two at other points not yet designated. Each of the towers is 75 feet high. From these towers it is expected to hoist the storm signals.

Shot While Gunning.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., Sept. 28.—While gunning in the Adirondacks near Benson, Hamilton county, Tuesday Edward Anibal, aged 50 years, was fatally shot by William Davenport, a boy of 12 years. It was about dusk, and Anibal was resting on a stump. Davenport, thinking the object in the distance was some bird, fired and upon hastening to his supposed game found Anibal in a dying condition. The bullet had passed under a shoulder, through the body and come out on the opposite side of the neck.

Meteor Explodes.

RAHWAY, N. J., Sept. 28.—The explosion of a meteor startled the people of this neighborhood. A large meteor was seen traveling through the air in the vicinity of Edgar's Hill, near this place. It exploded with terrific force, causing houses in the neighborhood to shake, and sulphuric fumes could be detected in the air for hours. The sound of the explosion could be heard plainly in Rahway.

Harry Elkes Defeated.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28.—Archie McEachern won a 25 mile motor paced bicycle race from Harry Elkes last night by 3 miles and 1,100 yards. Both men had trouble with their motors, Elkes being compelled to ride several miles unpaced while his machine was being patched up. McEachern's time was 42m. 56s.

Reports of Revolution Denied.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—President Jimenez of Santo Domingo denies in the following cable dispatch the report received here from Cape Haitien of a revolution in the Dominican republic: "Reports of rebellion absolutely false. Entire country is tranquil."

Secretary Hay Recovered.

SUNAPEE, N. H., Sept. 28.—Colonel John Hay, secretary of state, has fully recovered from his recent sickness. He has been out driving nearly every day and takes long walks when it does not rain.

STEVENSON ACCEPTS

Formal Letter Received at Populist Headquarters.

REPUBLIC OR EMPIRE THE QUESTION.

Vice Presidential Candidate Says All Other Questions Are Overshadowed by the Dangers of an Imperialistic Policy.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 28.—In a letter received yesterday at the Populist party national headquarters Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson accepts the nomination for vice president tendered him by that party early this month.

Mr. Stevenson's response to the committee of notification is dated Bloomington, Ills., Sept. 25, and is in part as follows:

"By your communication of Sept. 5 I am officially advised of my selection as the candidate of the People's party for the office of vice president of the United States to fill the vacancy upon your ticket occasioned by the resignation of Hon. Charles A. Towne.

"The action of the People's party in selecting candidates outside of its own organization is almost without precedent in our political history. The explanation is found in your own candid declaration:

"'The members of the People's party in all sections realize that we have reached a crisis in which the very life of free institutions is involved, a crisis in which mere party considerations are of secondary importance and should be laid aside until the peril is averted.'

"Upon the important questions of finance, of domestic administration and of reform in our methods of taxation the platform of the People's party gives no uncertain sound. It is no less emphatic in its demand for a return to the policy of honest and economical expenditures of the public money. The further demand for wise and efficient legislation looking to the suppression of trusts cannot fail to challenge the attention of all thoughtful men.

"In common, however, with the Silver Republican and the Democratic party you recognize the important fact that all these are but questions of the hour. In the presence of the overshadowing issue of imperialism others are but as the dust in the balance. It is not strange, then, that there should now be concert of action between those who sincerely believe 'that a crisis has been reached in which mere party considerations are of secondary importance.'

"Involved in the settlement of this great question are consequences of deep import to the American people. The supreme gravity of the issue cannot be measured by words. As was truly said by an eminent Republican senator:

"'The question is greater than parties, greater than administrations, greater than the prosperity and happiness of a single generation.'

"Sixty thousand soldiers are now in the Philippine Islands. How much more will be the sacrifice of treasure and life before the conquest is completed no man can know. And when completed what next? How are these islands to be held and governed? Does any sane man doubt that it can only be by force, by the power of the army and of the navy? And this not for a day or for a year, but for all time. All this implies the exercise of power unknown to the constitution. It is in very truth government outside of the constitution. It means the adoption by the American people of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien people as subjects. It enthrones force as the controlling agency in government. In a word, it foreshadows the empire.

"More than this, following close in the wake of imperialism, as the night the day, comes the immense standing army. The dread arm of militarism is to be made bare in the new world as it is in the old.

"Imperialism, 'the republic or the empire,' is indeed the overshadowing issue with which we are confronted in the pending struggle for political supremacy."

A Raw Food Society.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Twenty-three men and women, pledging themselves to eat no food that has been cooked, organized the Chicago Raw Food society at the Grand Central Passenger hotel, with B. Tyler as president. It was decided to try to bring about an organization of kindred societies throughout the United States. Mr. Tyler, in addressing the meeting, said: "No oak ever grew from a burned acorn, parched corn will never sprout when planted, roasted chestnuts never produced a chestnut tree, nor were peanuts ever grown from planting roasted peanuts. All that is life giving in anything is destroyed by fire."

Murdered and Robbed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Charles S. Peck, 71 years old, one of the oldest real estate dealers in this city, living at 13 West Eighty-fourth street and having an office at 30 West Thirtieth street, was picked up dead with a fractured skull at 5 o'clock yesterday morning in front of 403 West Seventeenth street. There was evidence that he had met with foul play. Dr. Weston declared that the wound was probably made by a sandbag or some other blunt instument. Nothing of value was found on the body. Several hundred dollars in money, two watches and two rings which he was known to have possessed were missing.

Belgian King to Abdicate.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—"From a source worthy of confidence," says the Courrier du Soir, "we learn that the king of the Belgians intends to abdicate before the close of the present Belgian parliament in favor of the Prince of Flanders. King Leopold counts confidently upon the result of his action being the sinking of the quarrels of the rival parties, which would then unite to observe the conditions of the new regime."

Grave Charges Against a Lawyer.

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Attorney P. M. Sullivan of this city has been arrested, charged with perjury, fraud and deception. He recently took advantage of the bankruptcy law and was adjudged a bankrupt. It is alleged he has money in bank, owns a valuable law library and has other property which did not appear in his assets.

Congressman Boutelle Nearly Well.

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—E. P. Boutelle, brother of Charles A. Boutelle, the Maine congressman, states that his brother will be out of the asylum in a few days a well man.

WORK FOR CONGER.

Final Instructions to Minister Nearly Ready.

WILL OPEN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

United States Hopes to Induce Other Powers to Join—Appointment of Prince Tuan May Hinder the Movement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Minister Conger has been advised by the state department of the substance of the replies made by this government last Friday to the governments of Germany, Russia and China respecting China, which clearly indicated to him the general nature of the instructions he is to receive. Moreover, by this time he is informed of the orders issued to General Chaffee to reduce his force to a legation guard. The note to China specifically pointed out the lines on which this government will issue its instructions to its minister. The document itself is in course of final approval, Acting Secretary Hill having completed the draft some days ago and forwarded it to the president. It was the belief of the state department that the actual transmission of the instructions will be carried out very soon, probably within the next 12 hours. It is said that the text of the instructions will not be made public at present for diplomatic reasons, but there is no concealment of the general scope of the document, which is on the lines laid down in the three notes.

In this connection it is said at the state department that Mr. Conger will put these negotiations in motion without any purpose of acting for any government other than the United States, although the government steadily keeps in mind that the United States is but one of several nations mutually interested in obtaining a common end, and it is hoped that the effect of Mr. Conger's making a beginning toward negotiations may be to induce other powers to follow. At the same time the government has never assumed to lay down any mandate as to the course to be followed by all or any of the other powers.

It is believed that the state department already has taken steps through Minister Wu to impress upon the Chinese government the undesirability of the appointment of Prince Tuan as grand secretary and the painful impression this appointment has created throughout this country. The effect of his appointment, if persisted in, it is said, might be to retard seriously the final negotiations or in fact any negotiations at all.

The government feels that it is much re-enforced in its present position by the note from Li Hung Chang in which he gave positive assurance to the United States that he had sufficient authority to protect all American interests and would see that this authority was exercised. The government now looks upon this assurance as a guarantee which must be faithfully performed as a condition precedent to even the establishment of relations with Li and Prince Ching. If the appointment of Tuan promises in any manner to obstruct the performance of this pledge, then it would be clearly violative of the guarantee laid down and would warrant the immediate withdrawal of Mr. Conger from further relations with the Chinese envoys. So it appears that much more depends upon what Tuan does than upon what he has done.

INCREASING SECURITY.

Reduction of Pao-ting-fu a Necessity—Russians and English Disagree.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The only dispatch of special interest from China this morning is the following from Dr. Morrison to The Times, dated Peking, Sept. 21:

"The recent punitive expeditions have had an excellent effect in increasing security and facilitating the entry of supplies, but nothing can be counted as effective until Pao-ting-fu has been razed and the foreigners and refugees at Chengting and other places known to the generals are rescued.

"M. de Giers has addressed a memorial to the empress dowager offering her the protection of Russia and requesting her to return to Peking. Forty chief Chinese officials have sent a memorial to the emperor and empress dowager beseeching them to return.

"The conflicting interests of Russia and Great Britain prevent a systematic attempt to reconstruct the railway, although restoration would be easy. It turns out that Cheng Yin Huan, whose death in Kashgaria was recently reported, was executed under an imperial decree at the same time with the other proforeign ministers who were executed."

The Russians, according to the Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post, have virtually abandoned the province of Chi-li to Germany.

DIPLOMATS ACT INFORMALLY.

A Suggestion That the Emperor and Court Return to Peking.

PEKING, Sept. 21, via Taku, Sept. 28.—All the foreign ministers have addressed notes to Prince Ching, suggesting the return to Peking of the emperor and the court. The notes were informal and not written in a diplomatic capacity. The writers do not consider them binding upon their respective governments.

The diplomats acted jointly in the matter, but the letters were sent individually. These did not contain any assurances, but merely suggested the return of the emperor.

Prince Ching undertook to deliver the notes. The outcome is a matter of speculation, the doubtful element being the influence of Prince Tuan and General Tung Fuh Siang, who may restrain the court.

General Chaffee, discussing the probabilities today, said:

"I do not believe that any European monarch would enter the camp of his allied enemies, and I doubt that the empress dowager will do so. It is generally conceded that the restoration of the Chinese government is essential. I have favored the withdrawal of the main allied force to Yang-tsun and Tien-tsin, leaving 2,000 mixed troops to guard the legations."

Mr. W. Rockhill will leave for Shanghai on Monday, Sept. 24.

To Blockade Chinese Ports.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 28.—The Russian naval staff announces that it is proposed to blockade all Chinese naval ports in consequence of the hostile attitude of the Chinese fleet at Shanghai and to send fast cruisers from the allied squadrons to protect transports. The general staff announces that Russian troops are massing around Kirin, in Manchuria, where there are 5,000 Chinese.

BOERS BADLY EQUIPPED.

Wild Stories Circulated to Cheer Drooping Spirits.

PRETORIA, Sept. 28.—Douthwaite's commando of 500 men, which for the past fortnight has been haunting Gatsrand, attacked Wolverdiend station and captured 50 head of cattle. The garrison repulsed them. The British suffered no casualties.

It is reported at Wolverdiend that General Hart has had an engagement east of Klerksdorp and that he inflicted severe loss on the Boers. General Methuen is west of Klerksdorp.

Refugees from Potchefstroom state that the Boers are badly equipped so far as ammunition is concerned. Boer reports of the wildest description are being circulated constantly. One was to the effect that Pretoria had been retaken, the British losing 5,000 men.

Delgetty's colonials and Delisle's new force are co-operating with the view to rounding up General De Wet, who is reported to be southwest of Kopjes station with 900 men and three guns.

Irish-Americans Troublesome.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Sept. 28.—The Irish-Americans lately serving with the Boers have been removed from their barracks to the Portuguese transport India to prevent disturbances in the town.

Briggs, editor of the Victor Daily Record, was assaulted yesterday in his office. In an editorial denouncing the participants in the riot The Record stated that "a few dissolute women waved rags in the very faces of the distinguished guests." E. E. Carr, a miner, who claims that this statement is a reflection upon his wife's character, entered The Record office and struck Editor Briggs on the head as he sat at his desk. Briggs jumped up and struck Carr in the face. Rev. Father Downey interfered and stopped the fight. Neither man was much hurt.

IMMIGRATION FACTS.

Interesting Figures Regarding the Foreigners Arriving Here.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—In his report on immigration Commissioner Fitchie says:

"Notwithstanding the fact that the immigration for this year shows an increase of nearly 100,000 over that of the previous year, our old source of immigration—viz. the Scandinavian countries, the German empire and the United Kingdom—all together contributed only 9,722 immigrants toward this increase, while Great Britain itself actually sent us a smaller number of immigrants than ever before. The immigration from these countries is, therefore, rapidly reaching a point where it may be considered as a negligible quantity. Immigration from Austria-Hungary has increased from 63,000 to 90,000 since the last annual report, and, although Russia shows a considerable numerical and relative increase, still this immigration contains no new elements. It is made up of about the same proportion of Hebrews, Poles, Germans and Finns as usual. No other elements in Russia's complex population evince any inclination to come here, and it is highly improbable that they ever will. There are, however, abundant indications that for new developments in immigration we should not look only to those elements in Austria-Hungary's population, now well represented, but also realize that this movement is steadily extending to the southeast and is going to show increasing numbers from the Balkan states, Greece and Turkey.

"The immigration of the Croatians and Slovenes, which started but a few years ago, is now more than double that of the English. Roumania sends us practically as many as Norway. The Servians and Bulgarians also form the nucleus for colonies in several of our large cities. From just such small beginnings a few years ago the Greeks and Servians have come to have important colonies in nearly every city in this country."

Speaking of illiteracy and money per capita, Mr. Fitchie says that the variation is great. He adds:

"It may be noted that while the southern Italian has an illiteracy of 46½ per cent and brings $8.79 per capita the northern Italian has an illiteracy of 11 per cent and brings $22. The latter, however, judging from the smaller ratio of females, has even less desire to remain here than his southern compatriot."

He points out that the Bohemians have a very small percentage of illiterates, the other races from the same empire showing an illiteracy of from 15 to 46 per cent. The Hebrews from Russia and Galicia show an illiteracy of at least 10 per cent less than their Slavonic neighbors.

Of the total immigration 228,414 were males and 113,298 were females. By races and people the immigration was as follows: Armenian and Syrian, 3,600; Bohemian, 2,329; Croatian and Dalmatian, 9,521; Dutch and Flemish, 1,516; English, Scotch and Welsh, 5,917; Finnish, 6,783; French, 1,956; German, 23,382; Greek, 3,734; Hebrew, 44,520; Irish, 25,200; northern Italy, 16,690; southern Italy, 82,329; Lithuanians, 9,170; Magyar, 11,353; Polish, 36,835; Portuguese, 3,779; Ruthenian, 2,653; Scandinavian, 22,847; Slovac, 25,392; Spanish, 309; all others, 897.

Galveston Conditions Improved.

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—Governor Sayers returned from Galveston and reported conditions in that city as greatly improved. The relief committee is doing excellent work, and the people generally talk hopefully. There were about 1,700 men at work clearing away the debris on Wednesday. It is his opinion that it will require 4,000 men to remove all the debris within the next 30 days. This, however, is but an estimate and may require a longer time. Means have been provided for prompt payment in cash for each day's work, and no man is asked or required to work without full compensation in money. The supplies are being systematically distributed only to those who have suffered from the storm and are helpless, the policy being to pay those who are strong and willing to work and to help only those who are infirm and needy and cannot provide for themselves.

General Palmer Laid to Rest.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Sept. 28.—The last bugle call, "taps," sounded over a soldier's grave at Carlinville yesterday afternoon when the body of General John McAuley Palmer was laid away. Full Masonic and military services were held. All state offices were closed, and, despite inclement weather, a large number of friends assembled at the family residence. Veterans of both the civil and Spanish-American wars, state officials and the legal fraternity were largely represented. After brief services by Rev. Dr. Euclid B. Rogers, pastor of Central Baptist church of Springfield, of which church General Palmer had for years been a member, the casket was placed on a special train and taken to Carlinville for interment. Here the Masonic and G. A. R. services were held at the grave.

Accidental Shooting.

ATLANTA, Sept. 28.—Hon. C. A. Collier was injured yesterday morning shortly after 4 o'clock by the accidental discharge of a pistol. His condition is serious. Mr. Collier is now under the influence of opiates and has been since a few minutes after the accident. For this reason he has not been able to give an account of the affair. He was found by members of his family soon after the discharge of the pistol. Even then he was unable to tell just how the shot was fired further than to say, "Burglars." The wound was made by a 38 caliber pistol, and the ball entered the left side and passed through the body just below the ribs. The accident happened at the residence of Mr. Collier at 296 Rawson street.

The New York Disabled.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 28.—The American line steamer New York, Captain W. J. Roberts, from New York city Sept. 19 for Southampton, arrived here last evening at 10 o'clock, about 17½ hours late. Captain Roberts reported that the steamer had broken her starboard thrust shaft on Tuesday at 2:30 a. m. The accident will not interfere with her return voyage, as the company has an extra shaft on the ship, and she will leave Southampton at noon on Sunday.

Postoffice Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The general store of William Arnold of Wading River, L. I., in which was the postoffice, was destroyed by fire early yesterday. The fire is believed to have been started by burglars, as the safe was blown open and $400 which was in it is missing.

A SETTLEMENT NEAR

Operators Contemplate Offer of 10 Per Cent Advance.

MITCHELL COUNSELS FIRMNESS.

Entire Hazleton Region Quiet—In Shenandoah District Two Large Collieries Are Forced to Close. Other Gains Are Reported.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 28.—At 10 o'clock last night there was secured from President Mitchell the admission that he believes that the mine operators have agreed to make the striking mine workers an offer of a 10 per cent increase in wages.

Further than this Mr. Mitchell declines to talk. He has been reticent all day on the subject and several times declared that he knew of nothing of the rumors of a settlement of the strike.

President Mitchell in the afternoon sent the following telegram to the three presidents of the three districts comprising the entire anthracite coal region on strike:

"Report is current that operators have made concessions in wage scale and will attempt to induce mine workers to resume work. Please advise all miners in your district that no attention should be given to these reports and that they will be officially notified should any offer of settlement be made. Under no consideration whatever should work be resumed unless authorized by a convention representing all mine workers in the anthracite field. It is vitally important that all miners stand firm and determined and not be deceived by those whose interests it is to defeat the purpose for which the strike was inaugurated."

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers yesterday sent a telegram to the central Pennsylvania bituminous coal field which possibly may have the effect of bringing the soft coal mine workers into the contest which the anthracite workers are now waging against the mine owners. The telegram was sent to Richard Gilbert, secretary of district No. 2, Clearfield, Pa.

President Mitchell said that he had been watching the bituminous coal field closely for just such a move as he alleges has been made by the railroads mentioned in his telegram, and he does not fear that they will make much of a success in getting the soft coal into the anthracite market. The miners in the central Pennsylvania region, he continues, are in thorough sympathy with their fellow workmen in the eastern part of the state, and President Mitchell feels sure that as soon as they find that the coal they may be loading or asked to load is to take the place of hard coal they will refuse to handle it.

Labor leaders do not anticipate any suspension of work in the soft coal field unless the operators insist upon sending their coal to the anthracite market. They also say that the Philadelphia and Reading, Delaware and Hudson and Jersey Central railroads, being unable to fill their contracts for hard coal, are prevailing upon their customers to accept the soft coal wherever it can be used as a substitute.

Considerable interest is being manifested as to the effect of President Mitchell's action in attempting to defeat the alleged move of the coal carrying roads.

The entire Hazleton region is quiet, and the only noticeable change in the strike situation was at the collieries of G. B. Markle & Co.

Rumors of Settlement.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The towering feature of the coal strike situation and one which attracts the attention of all interests involved is the widely circulated report that negotiations are pending and rapidly nearing completion for an amicable settlement of the strike. While the identity of the person or persons who are said to be at work endeavoring to bring about the immediate and peaceful adjustment of the differences between the employers and employees has not been disclosed it was openly admitted in authoritative quarters that such an endeavor was in progress. President Truesdale of the Lackawanna company is quoted as making such admission, but in what manner or by whom they were being conducted he declined to state.

Mine Workers Gain Ground.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 28.—Recent developments in the strike situation in this region show important gains on the part of the mine workers. Two big collieries in the Ashland district controlled by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company were compelled to close, and a third worked with a crippled force. The Locust Spring colliery at Locust Gap, nine miles from Ashland, was unable to work owing to the small number of men who reported. This operation ordinarily employs about 1,500 men and boys. The Bast colliery at Locustdale closed yesterday afternoon, and the Potts colliery at Big Mine Run worked with a small force. It is estimated that 1,500 men are employed at these two mines. In the territory between Shamokin and McAdoo there is but one colliery at work, the North Franklin at Trevorton, and this is said to be short handed. In the Mahanoy district all the collieries are tightly closed. Every breaker at Mahanoy City has been cleaned out of coal.

Cardinal Gibbons May Arbitrate.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28.—Cardinal Gibbons has been asked to act as arbitrator between the striking miners and the operators of the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. While admitting that he has been approached on the subject, his eminence said that he had heard from only one side of the parties in controversy and must decline to discuss the question of arbitration until he had heard from both parties.

Mr. Bryan's Final Tour.

PAPILLON, Neb., Sept. 28.—W. J. Bryan started on his last tour of the country yesterday and made his first speech at this place. His departure from Lincoln was simple and unostentatious. He was accompanied by his private secretary and three or four representatives of the press. At Sioux City, Ia., this morning he took the special car provided by the national committee for his accommodation during the remainder of the campaign. Mr. Bryan expressed himself as feeling in excellent physical condition.

Child Killed by Train.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 28.—While on her way to school Frances Feldman, 11 years old, a daughter of Erie Detective J. J. Feldman, was instantly killed by a train at a grade crossing near Port Jervis.

Dress and Divorce.

That New Jersey need not depend upon her trust industry to keep it prominently in the public eye, is quite plain from a late occurrence at Westfield, in that State, where a man brought a suit for divorce from his wife because she persisted in wearing bloomers, says the Philadelphia Times, adding the following comments: "At a time when there are already too many excuses at hand for trying to break the marital bonds it is doubly a pity that the scope of these excuses should even partially include the domain of dress. No doubt there are believers in feminine emancipation who will applaud the action of the woman in having her own way as to wearing apparel even in the face of a legal separation, but the great bulk of unbiased public opinion must be against her.

"At the same time for those of a philosophic turn of mind the incident assumes additional interest in that it corroborates the belief prevalent since man first became taken up with questions of garb, that entirely apart from bloomers for the wife to attempt wearing the breeches at all in the household is apt to precipitate trouble."

A Chicago paper suggests that if trouble shall result from the Pennsylvania strike one of the best and surest ways of settling it would be for the Sheriffs to summon as peace posses all those mine operators who are so cocksure that they "have nothing to arbitrate." Which leads the Newark Advertiser to say: "But, of course, the Sheriffs will not do that; they will persist in drawing men who are already being over-charged for coal. Then, if these men do not prevent destruction of property, the men who 'have nothing to arbitrate' will collect damages of the communities."

Publicity is what every business man of experience considers necessary to success, says the Philadelphia Record. It is the aim of every enterprising merchant, manufacturer, agent or professional man to be so well-known that his name will occur to people when they contemplate the purchase of anything in his line. It has been proved again and again that newspaper advertising is the most effective means of achieving publicity.

Another step towards the establishment of a trolley line clear across New Jersey from the New York bay to the Delaware river at Philadelphia appears to have been taken in the announcement that the Philadelphia and Trenton Street Railway Company has now secured a clear right of way from Trenton to Philadelphia.

After taking 444 ballots in the effort to nominate a candidate for Sheriff, the Passaic County Republican convention adjourned on Wednesday for one week.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Work will soon start on the handsome new armory for the First Troop at Philadelphia. The plans for this structure were prepared by Frank E. Newman, son of H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street, who is now senior partner of the firm of Newman, Woodman & Harris, architects. It is modeled after those structures of the early English period and will be, when completed, one of the most up-to-date armories in the country. It will cost $60,000 and will be completed February 1st, 1901.

From time to time Wm. N. Pangborn, agent for the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, receives anonymous letters from persons who complain of cruel treatment to animals. Only yesterday such a letter was received signed "Humanity," and the writer tells of some horrible treatment to a horse by a man who has a country route. Mr. Pangborn does not pay any attention to these letters, and if the people who want to make complaints will only sign their names he will investigate. He does not want their names to use for publication or in any way that will make trouble for them, but simply that he may have some authority in taking action. Mr. Pangborn got himself into trouble once by taking action on the strength of such a letter, and he has resolved not to do so again.

WOMEN MUST WEAR HATS.

Rev. Dr. Oberly, Episcopal Church, Elizabeth, Admonishes Part of Congregation.

Commotion has been caused among the female worshippers at Christ Episcopal church, Elizabeth, by the announcement by Rev. Dr. H. H. Oberly, the rector, that they cannot in future attend the divine service there without wearing suitable coverings on their heads. Rev. Dr. Oberly explained that according to the Bible, women should wear covering on their heads while at religious service, and in conclusion said:

"Hats, therefore, must be worn by the women and girls of this congregation when they come here I also wish it understood that the best apparel is none too good to wear to divine worship. Come in your best clothes and your best hats. It is somewhat late in the season to make this announcement, but next spring and summer the rule will continue to be the same as it is hereby promulgated."

Christ church has one of the most fashionable congregations in Elizabeth, and Rev. Dr. Oberly is the oldest Episcopalian clergyman in point of service in the city. He is noted for his piety and learning and is greatly esteemed in the community.

SOUVENIRS FOR "THE BROWNIES."

Tonight Palmer Cox's Big Spectacle at Stillman Music Hall.

Tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee at 2:15 tomorrow afternoon, "The Brownies in Fairyland," will be witnessed at Stillman Music Hall. Tomorrow night's performance will be the 1,500th time "The Brownies in Fairyland" has been presented, and to commemorate the event a beautiful souvenir will be presented to every lady and every child with a coupon ticket. "The Brownies in Fairyland" will prove the most elaborate production of its kind ever witnessed in Plainfield. Palmer Cox's famous spectacle has been immensely successful in New York, Chicago, Boston, Brooklyn and other large cities, and it will be given with all the unique features that have drawn crowded houses in these places. The Brownie cake-walk, the beautiful flower ballet and the comical Italian organ-grinder and his trick performing bear will be among the many novelties shown. Prices for "The Brownies" are only 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Fine Racing in Prospect.

What will probably be the best racing this fall on any track in this vicinity will be given by the Fair Acres Driving Club on their track at Westfield tomorrow. There will be three events given of the 2:18, 2:25 and 2:35 classes. Prizes of a stop watch will be given for the 2:35 class, a suit of blankets for the 2:25 and a track harness for the 2:18. The entries, to which there is no charge, have been made from Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway and Woodbridge. The admission to the grounds will be free and everything points toward a large crowd. Everyone is invited, particularly the ladies, as excellent order is always maintained.

—Tomorrow will see the last big shipment of peaches to Neuman Bros. They will receive 350 baskets, chiefly white.

—Mothers endorse it, children like it, old folks use it. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. It will quickly cure all throat and lung troubles. L. W. Randolph.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

He is now able to walk only with the aid of a cane.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At Music Hall next Tuesday night Aiden Benedict's "Uncle Sam in China" will be the attraction. The murder of the missionaries by the Boxers, an attack upon the train bearing the army of the allies, the siege of Tien Tsin and the entry into Pekin are prominent features of the play. No expense has been spared in production. The scenery is all new and by famous scenic artists from recent photographs taken in China, the costumes are all in keeping with the production; they are all bright and new, and, with the surroundings, make a scene quite pleasant to the eye. Over 100 people are employed on the stage in order to lend a more realistic appearance. COFFEES
We call special attention to our coffee department for the reason that it seems more difficult to please consumers with coffee than any other article used in a household. It is no uncommon thing to have ladies and gentlemen enter our store and ask "Have you good coffee? we have been buying all over town and can't get suited. We will give your coffee a trial." Invariably they will call again and say "Give me the same I have tried; it is excellent." One of the reasons, and perhaps the main reason, why our coffees give such satisfaction, is because they are always fresh.

STITCHING.

Excessive Use of This Fashionable Style of Decoration.

Stitching continues to be in high favor, and many costumes are decorated with innumerable lines of it, forming all sorts of designs of greater or less elaboration. Stitching of a contrasting color is less used than it was, sewing silk to match the goods now being preferred. Lines of stitching but a quarter of an inch apart sometimes cover revers and cuffs or simulate an entire bolero on a tailor made bodice and cover the tops of the sleeves or indicate a tunic on the plain skirt.

Stitching is still combined with plaits, particularly for skirts, although the idea has lost its freshness. Stitched plaits in groups of from three to six run lengthwise, alternating with plain spaces or with bands of stitched velvet, or minute stitched plaits are carried regularly all around the skirt. Tucks, as another variety of stitched plaits, are also immensely used.

Today's illustration shows a gown of cream and old rose broche silk. The skirt is laid in loose plaits at the sides, while the plain tablier is carried up in front to form a corselet. The bodice of ecru guipure is cut away in front and forms a habit basque at the back, the whole being outlined with narrow black velvet bands. Over this is a short bolero of old rose silk trimmed with black velvet bands and having a double bertha similarly bordered. The tight sleeves of old rose silk have flaring wrists finished with black velvet bands. The hat of stitched ecru guipure is trimmed with black velvet, bows, steel buckles and black plumes. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CRAVATS.

They Are One of the Most Fashionable Accessories.

Cravats continue to be worn in great variety, and the woman, like the man, who wants to be well dressed will not buy a ready made tie, but will tie it herself each time. The long regate cravats may be made at home of all sorts of silk, satin and mousseline de soie and may be plain or trimmed with ruches, insertion, etc. Boas and other neckgear of feathers, lace, ribbon and velvet are too numerous to be classified. Plain ribbon cravats made of No. 12 width are much used with tailor made gowns.

To trim costumes of the last named variety galloon, braid, passementeries of many sorts and particularly stitched bands of the same material or of taffetas and lines of stitching are still the accepted thing.

The picture given in this issue shows a costume of black plaited mousseline de soie. The straight tablier is of black silk, but the remainder of the skirt, of plaited mousseline, is decorated with a wide band of ecru guipure. The fitted bodice of black silk has a full chemisette of straw mousseline de soie and a plaited belt of straw silk. The transparent cape of black grenadine is a feature of the costume. It is bordered by a fine plaiting of black mousseline de soie, which is headed by a band of ecru guipure. A full ruche of black mousseline encircles the neck. The toque of spangled black tulle is trimmed with straw feathers.

An Overworked Woman.

A woman died in Atchison a few years ago who had boarded every day of her married life and who never got out of bed before 9 o'clock in the morning. Still her folks look reproachfully at the bereaved husband and say that "poor Susan was worked to death." — Atchison Globe.

MILK FOR CITY BABES.

Beautiful and Life-Imparting Charity Originated by a New York Jewish Philanthropist.

Babies are apt to have a hard time of it in the summer at best, but when they are city babies and their parents are poor, life is harder still—so hard that many of them die who would have lived if they could have had the proper food.

Some years ago a rich man in New York, Nathan Straus, got to thinking about this, and decided that he would do something which would save the lives of these poor babies and the heartaches of their poor mothers. Nature was doing the best she could for the babies, under the circumstances, but the circumstances were hard. Mr. Straus talked to doctors about it and found that a large percentage of the deaths of babies in the summer was caused by the impurities in the cow's milk which they drank. So in one of the poorest districts of New York, says the Little Chronicle, he opened a free milk depot where mothers could, on the order of a physician, get milk from which the impurities had been removed by the process named after its originator, the famous French doctor, Pasteur. Milk treated by this process is said to be "Pasteurized." The first year this experiment was tried more than a thousand sick babies were fed on this milk and the way in which they got well and thrived on it was amazing. There grew to be such a demand for this milk that other places for distributing it were opened up in various parts of the city and it is expected that a million bottles of Pasteurized milk and what is called "modified" milk will be sold and given away this summer. For those who are able to pay for it the milk and the prepared food for infants is sold at one cent for six-ounce bottle. The visiting physicians of the board of health and all physicians who are doing charitable work among the poor have blank orders on the milk depots which they fill out for those of their little patients who need this food and whose parents are unable to pay for it.

Heretofore these milk depots, with the exception of two which were kept open all year, have been in places which were rented for the summer. This year two permanent booths have been put up, one in Central park and another in the park called Tompkins square. Here milk will be sold for one cent a glass to everyone who wants it and in bottles for the babies. As you can see from the picture these milk houses will be pretty little places, and everything about them will be as neat as a new pin. They are built of wood on brick foundations. Inside you see glazed tiles, concrete floors, marble counters and brass trimmings, which are kept polished so bright that you can see your face in them. In the floor is a drain and the walls and furniture every day get a bath of hot water from a hose so that the germs which form in spilled milk are never allowed to grow up and do anybody any harm.

All the milk distributed from these depots comes from farms in New York state in which there are herds of healthy cows and as soon as it gets into New York city it is taken to a sterilizing laboratory, a place where it is put through a treatment which kills or makes harmless the germs which exist to a greater or less extent in all milk. The sterilizing apparatus consists of a copper boiler with a set of cylinders in which the bottles stand for 30 minutes in water heated to the boiling point. Then they are placed in a tank of running cold water and cooled quickly to prevent them from souring. After this the bottles are put into ice water and kept there until they are sent to the depots where they are kept in ice boxes.

The cost of all this work—and there are now 15 of these booths—is borne by the founder of the charity, Mr. Straus, and it is his intention to leave money so that the good work may go on after his death.

How to Clean Oil Paintings.

Artists sometimes use a raw potato for this purpose. Cut off the end of the potato and rub the painting very gently with the cut end. As fast as the potato becomes soiled cut off a thin slice and continue to use it until the whole surface is clean. Another method is to rub the soiled surface with the finger wet in warm water. If the dirt is very hard and old use oil instead of water. Let it rest for a few hours so that the dirt may be softened, then wash off with a sponge and tepid suds.—Ladies' Home Journal.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 30—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Our foolish excuses.—Luke xiv, 15-24.

THE PARABLE.

The parable of the great supper was spoken by Christ at a feast in the house of a Pharisee on the Sabbath day. Christ had been speaking to the host on the subject of the character of guests who should be invited to a feast. This led one who was present to exclaim, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God." Then Christ spoke this parable of the supper as much as to condemn a man's enthusiasm over this feast, when at the same time he had not accepted the invitation to attend it and was probably making an excuse for not doing so. A man made a great supper and invited many. When the time came, he sent forth his servant, which was usual in the east, to tell the invited ones to come. But all, with one accord, in one spirit of worldliness, began to make excuses. One had bought a field, and it needed his attention. Another had purchased a yoke of oxen and had to go to prove them. A third had married a wife and could not come. The Mosaic law exempted a newly married man from military duty for a year. Then the master in anger sent his servants into the highways and hedges to compel others to come in and declared that those first invited, being unworthy, should not enter.

THE INTERPRETATION.

The Master who made the feast is God. The feast represents the blessings of the gospel, specially blessings of the saved in heaven. Those first invited were the Jews, and those urged later to attend the gentiles. The servants who first gave the invitation were the Old Testament prophets. The last servant was Christ Himself.

THE APPLICATION.

This parable teaches us most forcibly that our excuses are foolish and will not stand. The excuses offered by the invited guests in this parable are the strongest that man can offer. They were not light and trivial worldly affairs, but the press of business, the obligations of home ties, the most sacred human obligations. Yet Christ here declares that these excuses will not justify us in refusing to accept God's offer of salvation in Him, and if these excuses much more trivial in character what can be said in favor of our many excuses much now trivial in character than these? The parable teaches that no excuse will justify failure to accept Christ and to consecrate our lives to Him. Human claims are not superior to divine claims. No amount of faithfulness to human obligations will excuse neglect of duty to God. If we refuse to accept God's invitations through Christ, in the day of judgment we shall stand without excuse; others will occupy the places that could have been ours, and we will be cast out. Will it pay us for anything in this world to meet such a fate? Christ Himself has declared that it will not, though we should win the whole world, for He says, "What is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" If it will not pay us to sacrifice the soul's eternal life for the whole world, how much less will it do so for the infinitely small part of the world which any of us may gain?

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Make a special study of Biblical excuses and Biblical answers to them. Assign an excuse to each one of ten members and let them give the answer and apply it.

The Work of Investigation.

We cannot stop the work of investigation. It will go on whether we like it or not, and the conclusions of research can only be answered by a deeper and more faithful research. But nothing which is of God can go. We worship no Baal god, who is off on a journey, or, peradventure, sleepeth. Our God and all that He has given us are safe and will abide. It is our business to make Him known, to declare a religion which builds on the eternal verities, which begins and ends in something spiritual and permanent. Those who believe in God, and that He has spoken in a Son, and who are setting forth an overcoming spiritual religion are winning wherever they appear. That is the wing of the Lord's army to which we belong, and it is there we stand. We are not discouraged, we are not afraid, we are not weak in faith, and we believe that in quiet and confidence we shall possess not only our own souls, but that we shall help others solve the problems of the age.—American Friend.

The Word.

O Word of God incarnate,
O Wisdom from on high,
O Truth unchanged, unchanging,
O Light of our dark sky!
We praise Thee for the radiance
That from the hallowed page,
A lantern to our footsteps,
Shines on from age to age.

The church from her dear Master
Received the gift divine,
And still that light she lifteth
O'er all the earth to shine.
It is the golden casket
Where gems of truth are stored;
It is the heaven drawn picture
Of Christ, the living Word.

It floateth like a banner
Before God's host unfurled;
It shineth like a beacon
Above the darkling world;
It is the chart and compass
That o'er life's surging sea,
Mid mists and rocks and quicksands,
Still guides, O Christ, to Thee.

O make Thy church, dear Saviour,
A lamp of burnished gold
To bear before the nations
Thy true light as of old!
O teach Thy wandering pilgrims
By this their path to trace
Till, clouds and darkness ended,
They see Thee face to face!

MILK FOR CONSUMPTION.

Should Be Taken While the Animal Heat Is Still in It and the Last of the Milking.

The last quart of the milking, or the "strippings," taken immediately after milking, before it has parted with any of the animal heat, is the most valuable thing known to build up a person who is thin and emaciated from any disease, writes Dr. B. J Kendall, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

My theory for years has been that the "strippings" was nearly all cream, which I have demonstrated to be a fact. I also believed that when taken immediately after milking, while it contained all the animal heat and before any change had taken place, that it would be absorbed at once into the circulation and not go through the ordinary process of digestion. This I have also found to be true.

I direct my patients to begin with one-half pint, and gradually increase the quantity until at the end of a week they are taking a quart at a time, or as much as they can possibly drink without causing too much discomfort. This should be followed up regularly twice a day.

I have known of many cases who could not drink the cold milk or even milk which had stood for an hour or two, and yet these persons could drink a quart immediately after milking without the slightest derangement of the digestive organs.

In consumption the patient steadily loses in weight, and although the old methods are used faithfully to try to build up the strength, yet the patient steadily loses flesh. It is no uncommon thing for my patients, who have followed my instructions, to gain five pounds a week in weight. No other plan I have heard of has proved so successful.

It should be remembered that it is very important to select a cow that is healthy and one that gives rich milk. Then it is also of very great importance that the very last of the milking, or "strippings," should be taken, and of equal importance that this should be taken immediately after milking, while it contains all the animal heat. No other food is so natural and none has ever proved so successful.

The consumptive will soon find a change for the better if the above instructions are followed.

I have tested this plan in hundreds of cases in the last few years, and I know that there are thousands of cases whose lives might be saved if the above instructions were followed. Of course, in most cases a certain amount of medical treatment is also necessary.

A PINEAPPLE FRAPPE.

Delicious Fruit Ice to Take the Place of Those Containing Liquors.

This is simply another name for a sorbet, a half-frozen fruit ice which was served after the roast at dinners in place of a Roman punch or similar mixture containing liquor or wine of some kind. Under the name frappe, fruit sorbets are served in glasses in the evening as a lemonade or sherbet might be served, says the New York Tribune.

One of the most delicious of these ices is a pineapple sherbet. Boil together for 20 minutes one pint of sugar and a pint of water. Add the grated pulp and juice of a sweet pineapple. Let the mixture boil two minutes longer. Add the fresh juice of two lemons. Add the beaten whites of two eggs and freeze the mixture until it is thick or "frappe" (half frozen), but not until it is frozen hard. Serve it in little glasses, as a sorbet is served.

Another rule for frappe, in which orange juice and pineapple are both used, calls for a grated pineapple and a pint of water and a pint of sugar frozen together for 20 minutes, and a pint of orange juice, with a little of the peel grated in. Let the mixture boil for three minutes together; then add the juice of three lemons and freeze the mixture one-half. Serve like any other ices.

Every Girl Should Learn the Art.

Every girl who is planning to be a housekeeper some time, and is busy learning how to be, wants, among other things, to learn how to prepare and pack a dainty luncheon. It is an important part of her training. She may want to pack a picnic luncheon, a luncheon for a traveler or for some one whose daily duties take him away from home, and where there is no opportunity to obtain a luncheon, so that he is dependent upon the luncheon-basket. There are all these to be provided for occasionally, besides the school-child. And she wants to know how to cater to this clientele. You instinctively know the one who prepared the luncheon by the way the basket is arranged and what it contains.—Sallie Joy White, in Woman's Home Companion.

Deviled Tomatoes.

Put two tablespoonfuls of butter into the blazer, and before lighting the flame, add to the butter half a teaspoonful of onion juice, ten drops of tobasco sauce or a pinch of red pepper, half a teaspoonful of dry mustard, a scant teaspoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of vinegar, and a scant teaspoonful of salt. Light the flame, stir the sauce together until it is smooth, and lay in the tomatoes, sliced but not peeled. Cook until tender and serve.—Good Housekeeping.

Peach Fritters.

Cut the peeled fruit in half, sprinkle with sugar moistened with maraschine, and roll them in powdered macaroons before dipping them in the batter. Fry to an amber color, roll in sugar and serve hot.—St. Louis Republic.

Musical Instruments in Philippines.

The French consul in Manila, in a report to his government says that there is a great market in the Philippines for musical instruments. The native Filipino is a natural born musician, and there are few who are not able to play the mandolin, guitar, violin or flute. Only the cheapest sort of instruments can be sold, for the Tagal has little money, but what little he has he is anxious to give for some little stringed or wind instrument that he can carry with him in his wanderings. The report does not state if he has yet learned to know the banjo, that gay little solace of the southern darky that will submit to be "sandwiched 'tween the coffee and the pork" and still be ready to furnish cheerful music in camp or on the sugar plantation at night.—Little Chronicle.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Paris has a population of 3,000,000 persons and only 40,000 are Protestants.

Chicago presbytery reports a total decrease from last year of 814 in the membership of its churches.

Felix Hogenmfller, who is now 75 years old, has taught school in the same room at Ste. Genivieve, Mo., for more than 50 years.

Bishop Montgomery, of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been appointed an assistant to Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, by the pope, is a native of Kentucky, and is popular with Protestants as well as Catholics.

Oxford has among its undergraduates a married Lancashire millhand 23 years of age, who worked his way into the university by studying after factory hours, with the help of free libraries and university extension lectures. He has won a scholarship worth £80 a year.

Rev. E. F. Lawrence, secretary of the Church Society for the Promotion of Kindness to Animals, intends to visit Washington for the purpose of presenting his ideas to President McKinley. He hopes later to secure audiences with the czar, Emperor William and the heads of other nations, being convinced of their cooperation. The Swiss government will be asked to summon the signatories to the Geneva convention.

Rev. Dr. Samuel L. Gracey, United States consul at Foo Chow, China, in his lifetime has combined the functions of politician and clergyman. Dr. Gracey was born in Philadelphia in 1835. After obtaining an education he was for 30 years pastor of Methodist churches of considerable prominence in and about Philadelphia, Wilmington and Boston. He was twice elected to the Massachusetts legislature from Salem.

Prof. Du Bois, one of the leading negroes of Atlanta, who is a doctor of philosophy of Harvard and who has been collecting statistics of the education of the negro, says he found that there are 2,414 negroes in the country who have received degrees from an educational institution of some kind, including 235 women Reports from these show that they have, on the whole, been successful and have an average assessed valuation of property of $2,500.

THE SCIENCE OF TRAVELING.

Opportunities Offered by the Trunk Lines to a Man Who Is Wide Awake.

"There are ways and ways of traveling," remarked a Philadelphia man whose business keeps him on the road a good deal, particularly between his own town and New York, relates the Washington Star. "It used to be that when I wanted to go over to New York, or rather was compelled to go, for I never wanted to, I took the first train going that way and went. But I don't do that way any more, simply because I have learned a better way. You know every trunk line has other roads connecting with it—that is, not as part of it, but using its tracks for their own trains. For instance, the Pennsylvania has a Chesapeake & Ohio train over it to New York and an Atlantic Coast line train from the south by way of Washington; then, there's Pittsburgh & Fort Wayne from Chicago, and a Pan-Handle from Cincinnati, each and every one coming out of a different territory, in all of which I have business interests. There is, in addition to these trains, the usual and regular Philadelphia trains, local and otherwise, all going to New York and all good enough, but not all to suit me at all times. Sometimes I want to see somebody from Kentucky or Virginia, or from Georgia, or the Carolinas, and instead of getting on any old train out of the Broad street station, I wait for a Chesapeake & Ohio or an Atlantic Coast line, and going through the sleepers I am always sure of finding some southerner or other who can tell me what I want to know. If I want to post myself on Cincinnati and Ohio, or Chicago and the west, I take one of the through trains from those sections, and I always find what I want. It used to be dull riding when I didn't know any better than to take a local train loaded with my own kind of people, but under the present system my trips are not only pleasant little excursions into the south or west, but they are frequently valuable to me in the pointers I pick up. The same opportunities are afforded in other cities for travelers to get trains that mean something more than merely getting them to their destination, but I'll venture not one traveler in 50 thinks of it, and he goes breakneck for the first train that leaves the station.

The Parrot as a Gymnast.

Boys and girls who have watched parrots have seen them perform some curious gymnastic feats in their cages. The birds were long thought to have invented these performances in order to vary the monotony of cage life. Mrs. Mandsley, wife of a Central American explorer, says that parrots and macaws perform still more wonderfully on the trees when in a state of freedom than they do in captivity. They vault and swing and hang by the beak or toes and balance at dangerous angles. They seem at times to be "showing off" before admiring audiences, and they vie with each other in acrobatic tricks which are truly clever and require close calculations of distance.—Little Chronicle.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 30, "Our Foolish Excuses." Text, Luke, xiv, 15-24.

"They all began to make excuse."

There is wide difference between an excuse and a reason. The people in the parable had various excuses, but not one of them had a reason. There was cause for their excuses, but it was not in any case a sufficient cause nor a rational basis of action.

The point of the parable lies in the unreasonable refusal of men to accept God's service and become consistent Christians. "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God!" is the exclamation of those who hear of the goodness of God. "Of course every one wants to go to heaven; no one desires to be lost." "How dreadful it would be not to be saved at last!"

Yet these same people have little relish for God's service on earth and no yearning for companionship with Him now. The feast is ready. They have been notified that it awaits their coming. They expect at some time in the future perhaps to have an appetite and to enjoy the company of the blessed, but "not now, if you please; have me excused." They are full of other business and pleasures. They are conscious of no real need, no hunger for God and His feast. They will not go in. "How hardly shall they that have riches enter the kingdom of God." Rich in money, lands, houses, horses, companions, health, honors, occupation, busy, full of plans and active doing, they cannot spare time for these other things and cannot mix the two lives and so must be excused. Well, they can be spared. The feast will go right on. The places will be filled forever. No seats reserved even for these select ones.

Hungry ones there are in abundance. "Blessed are they that hunger." The full ones may hunger later, but they have had their good things and refused the bread of life. Call the helpless ones, for they shall find aid and blessedness. No infatuation is so fatal as that which leads a soul to reject salvation and the claims of God because of other engagements. There is many a coward who dares not break with his old associates and become a Christian because of fear of their ridicule. The claims and practices of society keep multitudes back. Can I dance, can I drink wine and smoke and go to the theater, can I play cards, can I live my present life and also enjoy the presence of the Holy Spirit and do God's service? No one asks these questions long. If it is settled to go to the feast, that piece of new bought ground goes uninspected, the oxen can wait for their testing and the new wife can come along or stay back, as she pleases; this man obeys the summons to suffer. If the soul craves God, no excuses will be sought, no obstacles permitted to bar the way. If the soul does not crave God, still He calls you to come. Your place is ready. To refuse the summons is to lose your opportunity. You cannot afford to lose your chance for sake of any lands or oxen or wife. Claim your place and blessing.

The New Discipline.

Every general conference revises the discipline, passes new regulations and decides many questions referred to it from all parts of the church. These changes make it necessary for our people to get copies of the new discipline, which will soon be issued by the Book Concern, and to study the changes if they would be intelligent on the affairs of the church.

The time limit of pastoral science has been removed. A formal constitution of the church has been adopted subject to approval by the annual conferences. A commission was appointed to consider plans for uniting the Missionary, Church Extension and Freedmen's Aid societies. The number of secretaries was reduced for these societies. Several of the denominational papers were consolidated. Two bishops and two missionary bishops were elected. An episcopal residence was fixed at Zurich, Switzerland, and another at Shanghai. No disposition to relax vigilance on the temperance and amusement questions was seen in the general conference.

The most prominent feature of the Christian Endeavor work is the pledge. This is the backbone of all its organization. It assumes various forms, but in every shape it retains certain essential features. Its keynote is "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength." Its obligations are:

SPORTING.

ROD AND GUN.

The fishing party composed of T. S. Armstrong, Mayor George W. Rockfellow, S. B. Carson, Andrew Vanderbeek, W. C. Kinney arrived home this morning from Barnegat. They had splendid luck, bringing home 150 fine "croakers," a mess of which was left at The Press office.

Experienced fisherman state that the finest season of the year is now at hand for salt water fish and big catches of weak fish and striped bass are being made daily. There is also good fresh water black bass fishing, some anglers stating they have never been known to be so plentiful.

A large number of hunters in this vicinity are unaware that there is a law against the shooting of high holders. The majority of them are under the impression that they are game birds when in fact they are songsters. There is a heavy penalty imposed upon those found with the birds in their possession.

GOLF

There were but two representatives of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club who took part in the first annual championship of the New Jersey Golf Association, which began yesterday at the links of the Essex County Country Club at Orange. W. L Glenney qualified in the preliminary round of medal play and was defeated by H. A. Colby, of Essex county, 3 up and 2 to play, in the first round of match play. F. L. Schoonmaker also played in the preliminary round, but made a 102 and failed to qualify for the chamship or consolation cup.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

President George H. Lambert, of the Democratic Society of New Jersey, has issued a call for a meeting of the officers and members of the Democratic clubs of the State to meet at the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. In his call Judge Lambert says that eleven delegates to represent the New Jersey society at the third quadrennial convention of the National Association of Democratic Clubs at Indianapolis Oct. 3d and 4th, will be selected at the conference at Jersey City. Arrangements for the State convention of Democratic clubs will be made at the conference. The convention will be held at Trenton Oct. 25th, when it is expected that Wm. J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for President, will make an address. The Democratic Society of New Jersey, organized under the auspices of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, is made up of more than 100 clubs, with George H. Lambert as president. The officers report that there are many applications for membership from clubs which have come into existence since the opening of the campaign. These applications will be acted on at the conference at the Washington Hotel, when an effort will be made to arouse the interest of the members of the different clubs throughout the State to the work of the campaign.

NO MORE RUSHES AT RUTGERS.

Students Vote to Substitute the Cane Spree for the Old Method.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Sept. 28.—The sentiment of hostilities to the cane rush at Rutgers growing out of the accident to Freshman Wittig, on Friday last, produced tangible results Thursday afternoon, when at an athletic meeting, at which the great proportion of the undergraduates were present, a resolution was presented providing that the college consider the advisability of substituting a cane spree for the cane rush. The resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote, and a committee will be appointed by the president of the College Athletic Association.

The students will probably decide upon a cane spree similar to that at Princeton, where class champions in the light, middle and heavy weight classes wrestle over a cane. At Rutgers the entire membership of both classes fight for the cane, and every year men are injured. The faculty has taken no official action on the incident, preferring to leave the correction of the abuse to the undergraduates.

Young Wittig is rapidly improving. The injury to the brain was less serious than at first reported, and it is expected that his recovery will be rapid and complete.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Randolph, of Washington avenue, have returned home from Ocean Grove, where they been spending the summer.

Holding His Job for Him.

"Of all the excuses I have ever heard from people for not paying their bills," said a collector for a prominent firm yesterday, "I got the neatest to-day from a very wealthy man, who always owes the house a bill. No matter whether the bill is for $6 or $100, he always pays $5. I have gone back the next week and got $5 more, and once I went back twice in one week, and he paid me $5 each time, and seemed glad to see me. I got to know him pretty well, and the other day I asked him why he did not pay it all, as I knew he had the money.

"'Well,' said the old fellow, 'if I pay you everything I owe you at one time you will collect so fast that pretty soon you will be out of a job for the want of something to collect.'

"I don't know whether that was his reason or not, but I let the subject drop and am just going around there now for another five."—Memphis Scimitar.

H., in a private car and Pullman sleeper, provided by the courtesy of the Boston and Maine Railroad, who also provided porters, servants, etc., for the journey, which was made direct from Maplewood to New Haven by the White Moutain flyer. At the latter place the cars were attached to the Federal express, and in New York they were transferred to Jersey City by lighter. The cars were then taken over the Pennsylvania Railroad to Newark, where Mr. Moeller, of the Ballentine Co., and Miss Moeller, who were also injured, were met by trained nurses and a physician and taken to their home. ASSEMBLYMAN BENNY WILL BE HEARD HERE

The Bright Young Legislator Promises to Attend the Democratic Club Meeting.

OTHER POLITICAL NOTES.

BIG MEETING ARRANGED FOR SOMERVILLE THIS AFTERNOON.

The Senatorial Aspirant in Middlesex County Making Visits to Political Leaders by the Use of His Bicycle.

Word was received from Assemblyman Allan Benny, of Bayonne, yesterday afternoon, that he would be in Plainfield Monday evening and after the business at the meeting of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club had been transacted he would deliver a talk on the issues of the campaign as he views them. Assemblyman Benny is a clever talker and his services are much in demand on the stump during the campaign. It is possible also that Col. E. A. S. Man, of Bayonne, the Democratic candidate for Congress, will be present to meet the Democrats of Plainfield.

Unless inclement weather acts as a serious interference to the plans, one of the biggest Democratic demonstrations in this section of the State will be held at Somerville this afternoon. Congressman William Sulzer, of New York, has been secured as the chief speaker. James E. Martine, of this city, who spoke in Allentown, Pa., last night, will also be in Somerville to deliver a speech. A large number of Plainfielders are at Somerville to attend the meeting.

The board of managers of the Second Ward Republican Club will hold a meeting in Republican headquarters, Marsh building, this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Officers will be elected and plans laid for the work in the Second ward during the campaign.

The Bound Brook Democratic Club was organized last night with the following officers: President, S. Ayres, Jr.; vice-president, W. F. Voeseller; secretary, F. E. Smith; treasurer, J. B. Coddington; executive committee, J. Vosseller, P. J. Inglesbee, C. B. Lair, W. H. Dunham and J. E. Hillpot. They will raise a banner next week.

The Democrats of Elizabeth have planned for a club in each ward in the city, and will hold meetings during the campaign nightly in the various districts. Following the example of the Republicans, a local spellbinders' club has been organized, its membership to comprise a number of young Democratic lawyers. Among these are City Attorney James C. Connolly, Jeremiah A. Kiernan, ex-Assemblyman Timothy M. Kelly, Alfred A. Stein, Joseph Hague, Bernard J. Higgins, William D. Wolfskeil and Abe J. David. The city committee will assign these speakers to the ward meetings, and they say a red-hot campaign will be prosecuted for Bryan and anti-imperialism.

The Republican Middlesex County convention has been called for October 4th, and the fight for the Senatorship nomination is being waged with greater bitterness as the time for its settlement approaches. During the past month none of the three candidates—Charles Edgar, Edward Hicks and Theodore Strong—has been idle, but Strong has been especially industrious. He has canvassed the entire county on his bicycle, and there is not a ward or district leader of the slightest influence who has not been looked after. Hicks has been second only to Strong in the industry with which he has endeavored to work up a sentiment in his favor throughout the county. Edgar has been the least industrious, but even he, since his return from Europe a month ago, has been constantly looking after his fences. In spite of the fact that Strong has made great gains during the past few weeks, it is still believed that he will fail of receiving the nomination, and that Hicks will be named by the convention. Edgar's only hope is that the fight between the two leading candidates will take such shape that a compromise candidate may win. The Republican Assemblymen, H. Raymond Groves, of New Brunswick; Adrain Lyon, of Perth Amboy, and John E. Montgomery, of South Amboy, will be renominated. Each has served but one term. The Democrats have not yet called their convention. The present Senator, James H. VanCleef, will surely be renominated to succeed himself.

Andrew D. Blair, the expert at the Park Golf Club, is the father of a bright little lad who was born this morning.

DOINGS AT MUSIC HALL.

FINE ATTRACTIONS WITNESSED DURING THIS WEEK.

"The Brownies in Fairyland" Seen Last Night—Good Melodrama for Tuesday Evening.

The past week has been a busy and remunerative week for Manager Maze Edwards and the amusement seeking public have had the pleasure of witnessing some good plays and entertainments. The gathering on Monday night to witness the performance of "Way Down East," was the largest ever known under the present management, hundreds being turned away soon after doors were opened, unable to buy even standing room accommodations. Before early evening every seat in the house was sold, including extra chairs in private boxes and in the orchestra pit where the musicians play, and if there had been twice as many they doubtlees would have had ready sale. The fame of the play, with its many interesting features, seemed to have interested "all sorts and conditions of people," and a more delighted audience was never gathered within the walls of our local play house.

"A Man From the West" by Clay M. Green, the well-known playwright, had its fourth presentation on any stage Tuesday night, introducing the celebrated champion James J. Jeffries in the role of Sam King, a Montana sheriff, and attracted a second large audience who came more from a desire undoubtedly to see Jeffries than any other purpose. But they were well rewarded. The play served to show that Mr. Jeffries has better ability in the dramatic line than the other gentlemen of fistic renown who have preceded him as followers of the stage, and in a short time he will become very proficient.

Palmer Cox and Malcolm Douglas' production of "The Brownies in Fairyland" was presented last night to a fine audience, who enjoyed themselves immensely at the very clever performance of the spectacle, which was rendered by over a hundred of our Plainfield young folks.

The coming week will witness the first production Tuesday of a recent New York Star Theatre success, "Uncle Sam in China," a new sensational play, based upon the principal events of the present Chinese war.

The story of the play is that of a free Chinaman who has been converted to the religion of the Christian "devils" and whose wife and child are slaves on the tea plantation of a Cantonese. The overseer covets the wife and does everything that is villainous to encompass the death of the husband. Each attempt, however, is frustrated by a great hulking American seaman and his companions.

The scenery incidental to the play is very elaborate and the battle at Tien Tsin, where the Boxers are massed against the British, Russians, Germans and Japs is a pretty picture. The allies are repulsed but the day is won when Uncle Sam's soldiers come in with a rush. There is a similar scene when Pekin is taken.

"The Slaves of the Orient," another New York Star Theatre success, will be presented next Saturday night. Barney Gilmore of the late firm of Gilmore and Leonard will be seen in his latest successful play "Kidnapped in New York," the following week, and Stetson's famous "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company will follow in a few days after.

BROKE TWO RIBS.

William Hartpense Sustained the Injury by Lifting too Heavy a Trunk.

Some time ago as William Hartpense, an employe of the U. S. Express Company, was engaged about his work, he felt a peculiar pain in his left side. It became so annoying that he was forced to go to a doctor where he was surprised to learn that two of his ribs were cracked. The doctor told him that with a little care he could continue at work and the injury would not trouble him. Mr. Hartpense did so but becoming incautious yesterday, attempted to lift a heavy trunk when both ribs snapped. He hastened to Dr. Endicott who found both broken and one of them had just missed piercing a lung. This time the injured man has decided to refrain from work until the bones knit.

"Admiral" Damaged.

Pliny Fisk's steam yacht "Admiral," which he recently bought of John D. Crimmins, of New York, was run into yesterday while at anchor off East Twenty-sixth street by the Charities Department steamer "Thomas F. Brennan." Ten feet of the Admiral's guard rail on the port side just forward of the cabin was cut away. There was no other damage.

THE LAST BAND CONCERT

SUCCESSFUL SERIES ENDED WITH ONE OF LAST EVENING.

They Have Been Very Popular—Ben LaVere, the Leader, Has Run Behind $40 for the Season.

With one of the finest programmes of the many given and with the usual large crowd, Plainfield's series of weekly band concerts, which have been a source of pleasure to the citizens for three months, came to an end last evening. Since their inauguration early last summer, eleven concerts in all were given, each succeeding one proving more popular than the first and being listened to by as high as 5,000 people at a time.

When Director LaVere declared his intention of giving the concerts, pessimists were numerous who declared that he would fail in his project. By carefully studying his hearers and catering to their tastes, Mr. LaVere has proved the predictions were false and has met with a success far beyond his expectations. Week after week the good-natured crowd stood patiently for the two hours and went away only to return with new recruits the following Friday.

The band itself has improved wonderfully since the first night, and has handled each number on the programme with perfect ease, rendering the most difficult classical selections with the same familiarity as the popular melodies.

But while the concerts have been a success from the listener's point of view, it is to be regretted they were a failure financially. It cost Mr. LaVere a considerable sum for each concert which it was supposed would be paid for by popular subscription. The citizens have been slow in contributing, however, and the season closes with Mr. LaVere $40 the loser. It is to be hoped that this amount will be made good to him before many weeks by those who have not yet contributed.

As to the continuance of the concerts next season no definite plans have yet been made, but if the people are willing to pay expenses Director LaVere will furnish the band. It was his intention at the commencement of this season to give the concerts in the City Park, but he was compelled to abandon the project for want of funds. It has since been decided that this is the best place for them, and, if given at all next year, they will be held there as was first intended.

INDICTED FOR THE KILLING OF HENNING.

Grand Jury of Somerset County Finds a Bill Against John Muldoon.

FATALLY KICKED CANALMAN

NO INDICTMENT WAS FOUND AGA NST JOHN FLEMING.

The Murder of Simeon Wyckoff Could Mot be Laid Upon Him — The Meyer Case Will Occupy All of Next Week.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Somerville, Sept. 29.—The Grand Jury came in yesterday and presented 22 bills of indictment, the largest batch in several terms. Among the number indicted was John Muldoon, the Delaware and Raritan canal boatman, who fatally kicked Jacob Henning, a fellow boatman, during a drunken spree in Bound Brook, and from which Henning died in Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield. Muldoon decamped, but was captured working in a brickyard at South River and was locked up in Somerville Jail. He was indicted for manslaughter and will be arraigned sometime next week.

No indictment was found against John Fleming, who was suspected of the murder of Simeon Wyckoff, at Bernardsville. Fleming was the last man seen with Wyckoff before his death and as they had been drinking together it was thought that he knew something of the matter and he was accordingly locked up. The Grand Jury did not deem the evidence sufficient to hold him and he was released.

The applications of Michael Roschi and John Marco, for wholesale licenses, came up yesterday morning, and remonstrances were presented against granting them. Counsel for applicants stated that the remonstrances were started by Squire John B. Dunster, of Bernardsville, as the applicants were the means of having Dunster indicted at the last term of court for compounding felonies, and Dunster was seeking revenge. The matter was laid over until next week Saturday, when Judge Schenck will hear counsel on both sides.

The applications of Antonio Depaolo and Thos. Baritoni were also laid over till the same time. George Kovacs withdrew his application.

The case of Bernard Meyer against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad is still on and promises to last nearly all next week. The plaintiffs closed their case this afternoon and Hon. James J. Bergen opened for the defense.

Geo. Hagerman was sentenced to six months in the county jail, less one day, for stealing brass journals from the Central Railroad.

DEATH OF MISS ROOME.

She Was Eighty Years of Age and Was Well-Known for Her Many Deeds of Charity.

After an illness of several weeks Miss Eleanor Boome, of Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield, died early this morning. Miss Roome was the eldest, and last of the family of ten children of the late Judge William J. Boome who removed from New York city to North Plainfield in 1865. She was born in that city about 80 years ago. She has two brothers and two sisters.

Miss Roome was well known for her many deeds of charity. She was left with a comfortable fortune, and her hand was ever open to the poor and needy. No one will every know the good she did, for in all her works of charity, she was very quiet. It was her delight to aid the needy, to visit the sick and comfort them, and there is not a charity in the city or the borough but has felt her generosity. For thirty years or more, she was an active member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and an untiring worker in many of the departments of that church. Her counsel was largely sought by the lady workers, and she was ever ready to do her share, not only of the work of the church, but ready to do her share of giving.

Since the death of her mother which occurred in December, 1892, she has resided on Sycamore avenue, corner of Mercer in the borough, living in a quiet unostentatious manner, surrounded by her relatives and the many friends who sought her society.

The funeral services over the remains of Miss Roome will be held at her late home next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Neuman Brothers have 100 baskets of fine peaches at 50, 75 and 85 cents a basket, to be sold this afternoon and evening.

WELCOME TO MISS MAIR

OLD FRIENDS GREET THE RETURNED MISSIONARY WORKER.

Miss Mair Explained Her Work in Africa and She Hoped to Take Back Some Plainfielders.

The regular monthly missionary meeting was held at Warren chapel last evening, and it was of special interest on account of the presence of Miss Rachel Mair, who for the past four years has been doing missionary work in Africa. She was formerly a member and very active worker at Warren chapel, and it was quite proper that she should be there last evening to greet her many friends.

The chapel was filled to overflowing with members and from all parts of the city, who not only desired to hear Miss Mair, but also see her and give her a cordial welcome. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor, was in charge of the service and conducted the devotional exercises, after which Rev. Dr. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, spoke a few words of welcome. Dr. Richards was followed by L. N. Lovell, a former superintendent at the chapel. He read a letter from the foreign fields, showing the condition of the work there.

Superintendent F. H. Andrews was called upon for a few words, and he joined the other speakers in welcoming Miss Mair home again.

After Mr. Andrews concluded his remarks Miss Mair was introduced and for nearly an hour she held the closest attention of everyone present. Owing to the greatness of her subject she was unable to tell much of her work. She gave those present a general idea of it, and spoke earnestly of the urgent need for more missionaries. She said that she came home to enlist others in the cause and she expected to take some Plainfielders back to Africa with her. She spoke of the condition of the people in her particular field and said that they are very anxious to know about Christ.

During the meeting there were special selection sung by a choir of girls, accompanied by Charles Wheeler on the organ, and after the meeting there was a social time and refreshments were served. During the social time all had an opportunity to meet Miss Mair and renew their acquaintance.

M'VEY A BANKRUPT.

The Well-Known Restaurantor Owes Over $14,000 More Than Assets are Worth.

All creditors of J. H. McVey, who was engaged in the hotel and restaurant business for many years in this city, and recently sold out to Hibbard & Jones, have received notices from the District Courts of the United States notifying them that application has been made by Mr. McVey to go through bankruptcy proceedings, and that he has been adjudicated a bankrupt.

His liabilities are stated to be $18,934.49, and his assets as $4,691.62.

Creditors are notofied to have proof of claims filed with Atwood L. DeCoster, referee in bankruptcy, 776 Broad street, Newark, by October 10th, at which time the creditors may appear to prove their claims, examine the bankrupt and appoint a trustee to settle up the business.

A MINISTER ARRESTED.

Colored Pastor Accused of Not Supporting His Wife.

Rev. William H. McLean, colored, who was recently called to the pastorate of the Fillmore Baptist church, was arrested last evening on a charge preferred by his wife who lives at Madison, Morris county. Mrs. McLean charges her husband with non-support, and the complaint was made before City Judge Runyon. The husband was arraigned before the City Judge, where he was represented by Law Student Will Sweeney, who appeared for W. K. McClure, counsel for the minister. The latter waived examination and was released on bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance for a hearing next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Madison Williams, a member of the Fillmore Baptist church, furnished the bail.

The complaint against the minister had to be made by Overseer of the Poor Hansen to whom Mrs. McLean stated her case. Mr. McLean believes that his wife was induced to come to Plainfield and make the charge against him. He denies all accusations made against him, and says that he has offered to support his wife and asked her to come and live with him.

Still Alarm From Hotel.

A still alarm called the fire department to the basement of Hibbard & Jones' annex this morning, where a clogged furnace was smoking furiously. It soon burned out without any need of the department services.

DAUGHTER IS AFRAID.

HAS HER MOTHER HAILED BEFORE JUSTICE MOSHER.

It is Alleged That the Mother Has Threatened to Kill Her Child.

A rather strange case was tried yesterday afternoon by Justice Mosher. The principals were Miss May Darenzo, aged 14 years, complainant, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Darenzo. The former was represented by Law Student Will Sweeney, while Lawyer William G. DeMeza represented the defendant.

The charge made by the daughter was that her mother had repeatedly threatened to kill her and that on Friday, September 14th, she assaulted her and bit her twice in the left arm with her teeth. The girl stated that she was afraid of her mother and asked for the protection of the court. She claimed that she was compelled to leave her home and remain with an uncle, Salvi Villardo.

The case was an exciting one from start to finish. The girl was put on the stand first, and she told the court what is alleged to have taken place. She says that her mother jumped on her, bit her and with an axe threatened to kill her, and other ways abused her. She says that her mother told her aunt that she did not want the latter to keep her, and that she did not want her home. In court the girl displayed her left arm showing the lacerations supposed to have been made by the mother when she bit her daughter. The latter also stated that she was afraid of her mother and for that reason remained away from home.

Mrs. Villardo, with whom the girl lives, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Flanagan, were called as witnesses for the plaintiff, and they substantiated the story told by the girl regarding the mother's threats to kill her daughter. Mrs. Villardo said that she was present on September 14th, and saw the mother assault the daughter by jumping on her and biting her arm.

Mrs. Mary Darenzo was then put on the stand, and through James Brown as interpreter, she denied the accusations made by the daughter. She denied having threatened to kill her or biting her. Her other daughter, Clementine Darenzo, was also placed on the stand, but her testimony was rather shaky. It is stated that to some people she said that she was not present at the quarrel on September 14th, while she stated yesterday that she was present and that her mother did not assault May. After witnesses had told their story, the lawyers had their say.

Lawyer DeMeza pictured the girl as a wayward creature and one who needs the ruling hand of a mother. He said that she had been harbored by outside people against the wish of the mother who certainly had a right to chastise her daughter if she did wrong. On the other hand Mr. Sweeney drew a picture of an innocent girl who had been abused and hounded unnecessarily, and who had a right to the protection of the court.

Before the lawyer for the plaintiff had concluded his argumet, Mr. DeMeza stepped forward and waived examination and asked the court to hold the defendant under suitable bail for her appearance before the Grand Jury. Some wrangling followed between counsel, when Justice Mosher finally restored order and declared that he would discharge the defendant in the custody of her counsel and he would decide the case next Monday.

WILL CONTEST.

Caveat Filed Against the Probating of the Will of the Late Margaret E. McLoughlin.

A caveat has been filed against admitting to probate the last will and testament of Margaret E. McLoughlin, of North Plainfield. The caveat was filed by William F. S. McLoughlin, and he was represented in court yesterday by Walter Hetfield. The lieus were represented by Cortland Parker, of Newark. Mrs. McLoughnlan bequeathed her property to her nephew, John G. McLoughlin and her niece, May E. McLoughlin, they to pay $1,000 each to Lewis A. McLoughlin and Eugene McLoughlin when they arrive at the age of 25 years. John G. McLoughlin is made sole executor. The case was set down for Oct. 19th.

ANTICS OF BROWNIES PROVED VERY HAPPY

Pleasing Entertainment Given in Music Hall by Little People Last Evening

TINY ACTORS WERE CLEVER.

CUTE STORY TOLD DURING PROGRESS OF PERFORMANCE.

Little George Rogers Made a Hit in His Character—Names of Those Who Took Part—To be Repeated This Evening.

The stage of Music Hall last evening temporarily became "Fairyland" and Palmer Cox's famous band of Brownies wandered into the realm of Queen Flora, passed through sundry adventures and incidentally entertained an audience of several hundred people. The performance of "The Brownies in Fairyland" took on particular interest owing to the fact that under the guise of fairies and Brownies there were many faces familiar in the city and borough. Considering the fact that it was the first appearance of many of the youthful performers, it was quite successful. Some of the little ones suffered a trifle from stage fright, but most of the leading characters covered themselves with glory. The performance was given under the direction of Miss Edith Pond. It will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

n two acts a pretty little story was told. The fairies were suffering sadly from the attacks of the insects, their hated enemies, when the Brownie band hove in sight. Prince Aldebaran, leader of the funny little fellows, took up the cause of the fairies and started a lively campaign against the enemy. After meeting defeat in their first attack, the Brownies tried strategy and captured their enemies in a huge net. Then general rejoicing followed.

Incidental to the progress of the plot there were a number of songs and a few other specialties. The Brownies were good, particularly the policeman, impersonated by George Bagge, who roamed about the stage in happy fashion. The dude, George Bailey, also took his part to the satisfaction of the audience. Little George Rogers, as the military man of the band, was positively delightful. During the second act, he sang "I'll Shake Up Dis Mean Ol' Town," with a chorus of Brownies. He sang well and was clever in the part. Altogether the Brownies made a decided hit.

The fairies, in their gowns of white, made a pretty picture. Eight of them gave a charming little dance "A Pretty Performed Fan."

Five wee couples participated in the cake walk which ended the entertainment. A large cake was awarded, according to the applause of the audience. Little Ada Dennis and Gifford Jones, the smallest couple of all, were given the decision. Beulah and George Rogers were also deserving of special mention.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Prince Aldebaran, Ruler of the Brownie Band. Morris Brokaw

The Aeolian can be played by any one.

It is a solo orchestra brought within the home.

With its aid symphonies, overtures, operas, or the latest rag-time favorites may be summoned at will. Dance music is always available.

Comment is unnecessary. Figures and facts are of paramount importance.

We offer, for two weeks only, a complete assortment of Æolians at reduced prices. This should focus the attention of all intending purchasers—not because it affords a bargain, but an opportunity.

These instruments are not new—they have all been in use, having been taken in exchange for higher priced styles, but that very fact is significant of the estimation in which the Æolian is held by those who have had the instrument in their homes.

They have been put in thorough order, and repolished so that in the majority of instances they cannot be distinguished from entirely new instruments, and are subject to the same guarantee.

The cost of the Aeolian causes many of its appreciators to deny themselves the constant source of pleasure which comes with its possession. It deters others from investigating it. This sale enables one to obtain an Aeolian at a greatly reduced price. There will also be included a few Pianolas, which have been loaned to customers while waiting for special designs of cases. It will last for two weeks only.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

The Quarter's Failures—Coal Industry Paralysed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Incomplete returns of failures for the third quarter of 1900, with estimates covering the last day, indicate a total of 2,490 in number and $27,954,139 in amount. This is a slight increase in number over the second quarter, but a decrease of 400 from the first three months this year. Liabilities are much smaller than in the preceding quarters of this year, but $10,000,000 larger than in 1899. Going back to the previous presidential election year, when conditions were much the same, we find that the number of failures was 3,757 and the amount of liabilities $73,285,349. In the same months of 1896 banking failures were 50 in number and $11,712,960 in amount. This year there were 11 failures, for $2,789,000, and most of this was in one banking and brokerage house.

This week the paralysis of the anthracite industry was more complete than last, and the effect was seen upon the distribution of merchandise in the east and the placing of new orders with manufacturers. Coal advanced 25 cents above last week, and the larger companies refused to name the selling price. The strike involved about 15,000 more miners and hundreds of trainmen, but the working force has increased largely through the settlement between the Amalgamated association and several steel companies, whose works, employing 60,000 men, have been idle, while only 1,600 men were affected by the shut down of the Susquehanna Iron and Steel company by a strike.

Weather conditions have been favorable for late crops, and farm work is progressing rapidly, except for some damage to grain in shock in the northwest.

Aside from the expected reduction to $26 for steel rails and a sale of bessemer pig in Pittsburg at $13.75, the whole list of iron and steel products is unchanged. The feeling grows stronger that bottom has been reached.

Wheat again rose to 83 cents, but failed to maintain the advance. Corn for prompt delivery was scarce and advanced 10 cents above the price at this date last year, or over 25 per cent. This naturally disposed of foreign buyers, and exports for the week were only 1,560,018 bushels, while for four weeks 8,476,546 bushels went out at Atlantic ports against 12,155,904 a year ago. Wheat shipments from the eastern coast were 2,783,713 bushels, flour included, against 3,929,136 last year. In the cereals, as with cotton, outsiders do not purchase freely at the current level of prices.

Another increase of 5,970 cases in shipments of boots and shoes from Boston makes the outlook more encouraging for that industry.

Failures for the week were 204 in the United States against 167 last year and 18 in Canada against 21 last year.

MINING EXPEDITION RETURNS.

Russians, English and Americans Had Much Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—The steamer Samoa has arrived from Siberia, via Cape Nome. The Samoa left this port last June, having on board a number of English and American mining engineers and Russian miners, employees of the East Siberia syndicate, which had an imperial concession to mine for gold along the coast of Siberia. When Siberia was reached, trouble arose between the Russians on the one hand and the Americans and English on the other.

While the Russians were asleep one night Captain Johnson headed the Samoa for Cape Nome. Before the Russians knew where they were going the vessel was under the American flag at Cape Nome. The Russians demanded that they be returned to Siberia. Colonel Evans, a United States treasury official, was detailed to go on the Samoa to see that the Russians committed no overt act. The American mining engineers remained at Nome. It is charged that when the Samoa again touched a Siberian port the Russians, despite the presence of Evans, looted the Samoa of its cargo, consisting of mining machinery, provisions and $20,000 in gold.

George D. Roberts, who was at the head of the expedition, was disinclined to talk about the trip. He said that he and his party had experienced a great deal of trouble that involved large private interests and might result in international complications.

Mystery In Miser's Death.

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 29.—Charles Groff, aged 60 years, a miser of Woodstown, near here, was found burned to death in the ruins of the cabin in which he lived. Groff was known to have considerable money, and as none of it was found in the ruins the opinion is expressed that he was murdered and the cabin set on fire to hide the crime. The more general opinion is that while carrying a lamp down stairs he fell and the place caught fire, burning him to death. An investigation is being made.

TAKEN BY FILIPINOS.

Captain Shields and Fifty-two Men Made Prisoners.

SEVERAL AMERICAN SOLDIERS KILLED

General MacArthur Orders a Relief Expedition to the Island of Marinduque, Where the Disaster Occurred.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The war department has received a telegram from Major General MacArthur at Manila reporting that Captain Devereaux Shields of the Twenty-ninth volunteer infantry and 52 enlisted men were captured while making an overland march on the island of Marinduque. A number of the Americans were killed. Captain Shields was wounded.

A column has been sent out to pursue the Filipinos who effected the capture with orders not to suspend operations until the Americans have been rescued. General MacArthur's dispatch follows:

"Sept. 11, Captain Devereaux Shields, 51 men Company F, Twenty-ninth regiment, United States volunteer infantry, one hospital corps man, left Santa Cruz, Marinduque, by gunboat Villalobos for Torrijos, intending return overland to Santa Cruz.

"Have heard nothing since from Shields. Scarcely doubt entire party captured, with many killed and wounded; Shields among latter.

"Information sent by letter from Commanding Officer Boac, dated Sept. 20, received Sept. 24, consisted of rumors through natives.

"Yorktown and two gunboats, George S. Anderson, colonel Thirty-eighth infantry; two companies Thirty-eighth volunteer infantry, sent Marinduque immediately.

"Anderson confirms first report as to capture, but unable Sept. 27 to give details present whereabouts Shields and party, names killed, wounded. This information probably avilable soon.

"Anderson has orders commence operations immediately and move relentlessly until Shields and party rescued. All troops expected soon. Logan will be sent Marinduque if necessary clear up situation."

Marinduque is a small island close to the south coast of Luzon and is geographically and politically classed with Luzon province. The isthmus south of Manila connecting north and south Luzon is the nearest point to Marinduque.

Captain Shields is a Mississippian, who served in a Mississippi regiment in the war with Spain and was commissioned in the Twenty-ninth volunteer infantry shortly after the organization of the volunteer army began.

The war department has prepared a list of the men in Captain Shields' company, showing the places at which they enlisted. Most of them came from Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, Tennessee and Florida, while a few are North Carolinians.

Vast Coal Fields Discovered.

VALLEY CITY, N. D., Sept. 29.—Judge J. M. Dennett has just returned from the Cascade mountain district of Washington, bringing samples and news of the location of vast fields of pure anthracite coal. In company with Professor Burchell, a mineral expert of Seattle, Judge Dennett penetrated into the Cascade range, 60 miles from the railroad, and after two days of prospecting located veins showing 19 feet of coal and located on 640 acres of land. He estimates the quantity of coal in sight at 25,000,000 tons. Judge Dennett first discovered the coal on a prospecting trip in the sixties, but lost track of the location till his recent trip. He will form a company to work the veins. The samples shown are of the same quality, but lighter than the Scranton product.

Republican Harmony In Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 29.—Harmony on the Republican state ticket in Delaware was assured yesterday, when the union Republican state committee approved the compromise ticket selected by the Republican (anti-Addicks) state committee two weeks ago. The Union Republicans had refused to indorse Dr. Lewis H. Ball for congress on the ground of factionalism, although they had agreed to permit the anti-Addicks Republicans to name the congressman should John Hunn, the Union Republican choice, be accepted as the compromise candidate for governor. Chairmen Churchman and Allee of the Republican factions conferred with National Chairman Hanna in New York, and they say Mr. Hanna urged the necessity of complete harmony in Delaware.

Dutch Government Warned.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Great Britain has sent a note to the Dutch government, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to The Daily Mail, which contains a warning that if Mr. Kruger is allowed to carry bullion or state archives on board the Dutch warship which is to bring him to Europe it will be regarded as a breach of neutrality on the part of The Netherlands. Lord Roberts reports to the war office that General Buller occupied Macmac River and the eastern side of Burghers' pass, after turning the position and silencing the enemy's guns. Heilbron, Reitz and Lindley have been reoccupied by the British. The Boers have been driven off from Pienaars River station.

Robbed by His Cook.

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 29.—An old man named Hiram George has reached here from Mexico, where he claims he was robbed of $10,000 in Mexican money and wandered in the desert for 14 days. He says he was on his way to Galveston, where his wife and several children were lost in the flood. He was traveling from camp with Jim Murphy, his cook, who, he alleges, held him up and robbed him. Murphy, George says, was afterward caught by the Mexican authorities and shot, and he says his money and mules are at Bachachua, Mex.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Maryland—Finzel, Joseph W. Blake. New Hampshire—North Boscawen, B. C. Jones. New York—South Jamesport, Ralph Albertson. Pennsylvania—Target, David B. Henry; Woodmont, Charles E. Yerkes.

Coke Ovens Closed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Fifty per cent of the 5,000 coke ovens in McDowell and Mercer counties of this state have been put out of blast within the past week, throwing out of employment 1,500 men. This is said to be due to the dull market for the product.

OPERATORS CONFER.

Meeting at Wilkesbarre Discusses Plans of Settlement.

NO DEFINITE AGREEMENT REACHED.

United Mine Workers Say No Plan Which Ignores the Union Will Be Accepted—An Early Settlement Generally Expected.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 29.—An important meeting of the coal operators of the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys was held at the office of the Lehigh Valley Coal company in this city yesterday. All the representatives of the big coal companies with collieries in this section were present. The only individual coal producers represented were Coxe Bros. & Co.

W. A. Lathrop, general superintendent of the Lehigh Valley company, the chairman of the joint association of coal operators of the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions, presided. The conference lasted from 10 o'clock until 1 o'clock, when an adjournment was taken until 2:30, when Major I. A. Stearns, general manager of the Coxe Bros.' mines, joined in the deliberations.

After the conference was over several of the operators were asked for information, but they were very reticent. Superintendent Lathrop said: "We discussed a scheme of advancing the wages of all the men throughout the region at least 10 per cent. The powder question was also discussed, but we are not prepared to give out any information regarding our deliberations on the subject."

From another reliable source it was learned that the presidents of the coal companies in New York sent a draft of the proposed settlement of the strike to their representatives here with instructions to meet in conference and discuss whether it would be advisable to make terms with the strikers on the basis stated. This involved a great deal of labor and caused endless discussion. Some of the superintendents thought the increase could not be granted without loss. It was argued by those opposed to granting the increase that the cost of mining has increased considerably the past five years, and with the mines getting deeper every year it is bound to increase still further in the years to come. The only way to meet operating expenses in case an increase is granted is to advance the price of coal.

The president of one of the big companies in New York, who was called upon by long distance telephone for his views on this point, is said to have replied that he did not think an increase in the price of coal could be entertained. Bituminous coal is too sharp a competitor now, and an increase in anthracite would be to the advantage of bituminous. The conference was asked to examine into the cost of mining coal and see if there could not be a saving made somewhere in operating expenses.

It is reported that the representatives of the Lackawanna company, after going over the operating expenses in this district, were of the opinion that they could stand the increase. Another operator said the Lackawanna company was in a more favored position than some of the other companies. It still had vast tracts of virgin coal lands, and its operating expenses are not as great as some of the other companies.

From what can be learned the operators were not opposed to granting a reduction in the price of powder, but there was a strong feeling expressed against an out and out recognition of the miners' union. A stenographic report of the meeting was dispatched to New York in charge of a special messenger.

The officers of the United Mine Workers' assemblies here say no agreement which leaves the union out will be acceptable to the strikers, and President Mitchell in a message to the officers of the union in this region warns them against entering into any negotiations with individual companies. Some of the leaders here think the companies may be preparing a trap for the men.

DEPENDING ON HANNA.

Operators Believe He Will Effect a Settlement—Strikers Jubilant.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 29.—Operators here admit that Senator Hanna is the central figure in the negotiations for a settlement of the strike, and while they profess to be at sea as to the details they are confident that he knows beforehand what will be acceptable to the miners and that whatever conditions he has exacted or is exacting from the coal men in New York will be nothing less than what will be fully satisfactory to the miners. This confidence is heightened by a generally credited story that the delay in issuing the strike order was to give President Mitchell time to interest Senator Hanna in the efforts at effecting a settlement.

Nothing would be given out by the local operators as to what transpired at the Wilkesbarre conference further than that they discussed the proposed settlement. Action on their part is not called for, they say, and if they are considered in the matter at all it will only be out of courtesy. "Where New York leads we must follow," one of them declared.

The strikers here are jubilant over the new turn in affairs and will gladly second any reasonable concessions by way of conciliation.

John Jermyn of Jermyn & Co. was the only operator found willing to be quoted in the settlement matter. He said it was Mark Hanna who was engineering the settlement and that he (Jermyn) did not approve of allowing politics to interfere, no matter how much the politicians had at stake. "It is useless to kick, though," he added. "These New York fellows have the power. We must simply fall in line."

NO CHANGE IN LEHIGH REGION

President Mitchell Finds Little to Do—Miners' Parade Prohibited.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 29.—Notwithstanding the rumors of settlement and of concessions upon the part of the operators, there is no change in the great coal strike situation here.

Yesterday probably was the most inactive day that President Mitchell and his official staff have spent since the strike began. The day gave promise of developing important events at the United Mine Workers' headquarters, but all those interested were doomed to disappointment. That President Mitchell was waiting for information from New York cannot be denied.

Quietness continues to prevail throughout the whole Lehigh valley region. The J. S. Wentz & Co.'s colliery at Hazle Brook shut down, a body of 100 men having marched from Freeland to that place and induced the men working in the Wentz colliery to quit. There were few changes in the working forces of the collieries which have not been shut down.

A big mass meeting was held at Beaver Meadow last night, where the only colliery in the south side is in operation.

A large parade of miners from the surrounding towns was to be held today, but the mayor refused to permit it to take place. He would give no reason, but it is believed he took this step to avoid disturbances.

Prospect of Settlement Pleasing.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 29.—Sheriff Toole late yesterday came up from Pottsville and held a lengthy conference with General Gobin at the latter's headquarters. His trip is said to have been caused by the reports that the strike was approaching a settlement. While nothing definite could be learned of what transpired during the consultation, it is understood that the general and sheriff discussed the question of removing the troops. So far as can be learned, the soldiers will remain here over Sunday, but how long after is not known.

In this town and the neighboring mining villages the reports that the strike might soon terminate were received with many expressions of satisfaction and relief. The mine workers appear to feel that they are on the eve of a victory, and the business men say they will be happy when the region resumes its wonted activity. There are no material changes in the situation in this section.

The Ashland district is finally tied up tightly for the first time since the strike was inaugurated. The last of the three collieries in that vicinity to close was the Potts operation at Locustdale. About 500 men are employed at the Potts colliery, and there are probably 3,000 in the district.

End of Strike In Sight.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Herald today says: "One of the men who have participated in the plans for the settlement of the anthracite coal miners' strike and is familiar with all the facts and attendant circumstances said in an interview last night: 'The rumor that negotiations looking to the settlement of the strike are off are untrue. My belief is that the strike will come to an end some time early next week. It will not be ended by a blare of trumpets or by sweeping general orders, but by the men quietly going to work in colliery after colliery day after day at the 10 per cent advance. There is no inclination to recognize Mitchell in any way, but as a matter of fact the miners really deserve the 10 per cent advance, and they probably would have obtained it anyhow when the question first came up if so many of the members of the different boards of directors of the mining companies had not been away on their vacations.'"

BRYAN IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Large Crowds Hear the Nebraskan at a Dozen Places.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 29.—Colonel William J. Bryan completed his tour of South Dakota at this place last night. He arrived here at 8:30 and immediately repaired to the speaking place near the Corn palace, where he was met by one of the largest crowds that have greeted him during the campaign.

During the day Mr. Bryan traveled 260 miles and made almost a dozen speeches. He began the day with a three minute speech at Elk Point, and his first speech of length was made at Yankton. After this speech he made long addresses in the towns of Scotland, Mitchell, Woonsocket, Huron, Redfield and Aberdeen. The crowds were good at all the places at which the party stopped.

A feature noticeable at all the meetings of the day was the number of flags displayed. They were small in size, but they were carried by almost every one at each stopping place in the state.

At Redfield Mr. Bryan spoke for half an hour, dwelling especially upon trusts and the importance of preserving the American form of government in its purity.

Bunkoed and Robbed.

DETROIT, Sept. 29.—A Tribune special from Coldwater, Mich., says that William E. Nevison, a wealthy farmer living four and one-half miles from Coldwater, was bunkoed, assaulted and robbed of $5,000 three miles from there on one of the most public roads leading to Coldwater. Nevison says a well dressed stranger giving his name as Gosmer, a banker at Jonesville, came to his farm and offered to buy it providing he could get an adjoining farm with it. Nevison drove to Coldwater with the man, drew $5,000 from the savings bank and started back to buy the adjoining farm. The couple were met on the road by a third man who, aided by the alleged banker, knocked Nevison senseless and robbed him of the $5,000. Officers are in pursuit of the thieves.

Silver Counterfeiters Captured.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 29.—For the past two months Clearfield county has been flooded with counterfeit money, mostly silver dollars and half dollars. Yesterday Secret Service Agents Flynn, Berriman and Gammon arrested James J. Wilson, Verd Wilson, J. W. Bigler and James Wynkoop. They were arrested ten miles from here on the mountains near Penfield, brought to Clearfield and lodged in jail. A few counterfeit dollars were found at Wynkoop's place, together with molds and other necessary paraphernalia for their illegal work.

Kansas Town Flooded.

PARSONS, Kan., Sept. 29.—Four days of heavy rain resulted in the breaking of the dam across Labette creek, above the city. About 25 blocks in the lower part of the city were flooded. Many small houses and outbuildings were washed from their foundations. Below here much grain in the shock is a total loss. The city waterworks were compelled to suspend operations.

New Scheme to Supply Milk.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Five milk producers named Dubois, all brothers, of Stevensville, Sullivan county, are arranging a new system of supplying milk to New York. They propose retailing it direct to consumers. If the plan is successful, they will handle milk for other farmers, the profits to be divided pro rata between those supplying the milk.

Twenty-five Corpses Found Daily.

GALVESTON, Sept. 29.—The receipts of cotton yesterday were 6,000 bales, but grain receipts are still moderate. Seventeen hundred men are working along the wharfs, and 1,400 are clearing away the debris. Corpses are being found daily and burned. The average number discovered daily is 25.

HON. C. A. COLLIER DEAD.

Prominent Southerner Victim of Accidental Shooting.

ATLANTA, Sept. 29.—Hon. Charles A. Collier, former mayor of Atlanta and commissioner to the Paris exposition, is dead from the effects of an accidental pistol wound received Thursday morning.

Mr. Collier was not conscious at any time after receiving the wound, and the facts attending it are not known. Circumstances indicate, however, that Mr. Collier fell from the steps of the porch in the rear of his residence while investigating some noise that had awakened him.

Mr. Collier was found at the bottom of the stairs which lead from the back of the house to the yard. He was lying on the brick pavement with one wound on his head, where he had struck in falling, and another in his left side immediately below the ribs, caused by a bullet from his pistol.

The funeral will be held today. The city council will attend in a body, and all civic and other organizations of which Mr. Collier had been a member will be represented. All city offices will close.

Mr. Collier had been prominent in the Atlanta business world for many years. After the exposition, of which he was president, Mr. Collier was elected mayor. Upon his retirement he was appointed by President McKinley a United States commissioner to the Paris exposition. He made two visits to Paris and returned from the last only Wednesday night.

Gebhart Says He Is Persecuted.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Jacob Gebhart of Callicoon declares he is being persecuted by his sister after serving a 19 year sentence in prison for murder and being recently pardoned out by Governor Roosevelt. His sister recently caused his arrest for burning her barn, and, although discharged by a magistrate before whom he was examined, the grand jury has now indicted him for the same offense, and he must stand trial. Gebhart admits committing the murder for which he was serving a life sentence, but says he is not guilty of arson and declares that his sister is trying to get him back in prison because she wants to enjoy without hindrance property which he has a life interest in. The case is exciting much interest.

Norton was reached at 8 o'clock, and here the governor left the train and was escorted to a platform in the open air, where he made his second speech in Kansas. At Prairie View the governor was introduced from the rear end of the platform to the crowd on the ground.

A NEW PROGRAMME.

Germany, France and Russia Agree on Chinese Question.

A MILDER POSITION ASSUMED.

Other Powers Expected to Join—Russian Commander Avoids Meeting Count Von Waldersee—Boxers Expelled From Shangtung.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Apparently Germany's retreat from an untenable position has been virtually accomplished. The Paris correspondent of The Morning Post says:

"An agreement on the Chinese programme has been arranged between France, Germany and Russia. It will be submitted to the other powers within a few days. The action recommended will be milder than Germany's original proposal, and it is expected that all the powers will accept the programme."

The Cologne Gazette in another semi-official statement, apparently intended for consumption in the United States and England, points out the serious position resulting from Prince Tuan's ascendency, "the continued massacre of missionaries and converts and other indications that the antiforeign movement is directed from an influential center." It thinks that the situation thus created "must appear intolerable even to those powers favoring a policy of indulgence and forbearance."

"The Yamagata ministry has resigned," cables the Yokohama correspondent of The Daily Mail, "and the Marquis Ito will probably succeed to the premiership. Such a change would not affect Japan's policy in China. The Marquis Ito favors hearty co-operation with Great Britain and strongly opposes the partition of China or Russian ascendency there."

The Tien-tsin correspondent of The Standard says:

"I learn that Li Hung Chang has declared that Vice Admiral Alexieff has gone to Port Arthur to avoid meeting Count von Waldersee, who was to hold a conference with him and with Vice Admiral Seymour and Sir Alfred Gaselee."

The following dispatch, dated Sept. 27, has been received from Shanghai:

"It is reported that General Mei Kung has expelled the Boxers from Shangtung and is now following them into the province of Chi-li.

"Some excitement has been caused by a rumor that Chinese steamers, flying the British flag, are conveying munitions of war from the Shanghai arsenal northward.

"It is reported that Russia has offered to advance money to China to repay the British loan."

NO NEWS FROM CHINA.

No Important Developments Expected For Some Time.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The state department has not been advised officially of any of the events of more or less importance which are said to have occurred in China, according to various European reports, within the past 24 hours. If Tuan has been degraded and if Russia contemplates a blockade of the Chinese naval ports, the department does not know the facts. It has let it be known to the Chinese government that Tuan's promotion would be unwelcome to this government, but it has not yet been informed of the results of that representation. Respecting the statement that Ching has been discovered to be a contributor to the Boxer cause it is said that all the information that the department has been able to secure touching Ching's personality went to show his unvarying friendliness for the foreigners, and upon that record he was accepted as a competent envoy.

The officials declined to say whether or not the instructions to Minister Conger have gone forward yet, but it is intimated that the minister is fully advised by this time as to the state department's policy. It is said, however, and the statement may be significant, that no developments in the Chinese situation of importance are expected within the next two weeks at least.

The Emperor's Latest Edict.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—Emperor Kwang Su has issued an edict thanking Emperor Nicholas for his decision to withdraw the Russian troops from Peking and also announcing his own willingness to perform a memorial ceremony over the grave of Baron von Ketteler, the murdered German minister to China. It is announced from a Chinese official source that the imperial court has ordered that the palace at Si-ngan-fu, capital of the province of Shen-si, be immediately prepared for its reception.

To Improve the Army.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Lieutenant General Miles has issued a general order to the army intended to secure a general improvement in the morale and physical condition of the force. The order particularly directs the inculcation of patriotic principles, the celebration of national holidays by patriotic readings, strict attention to salutes, respect for the flag and attention to good martial music, especially vocal music. The importance of discipline is dwelt upon and loyal and cheerful obedience demanded. It is directed that the three arms of the service whenever practicable be assembled for instruction in battle tactics, and it is ordered that there be frequent marches and sports calculated to develop the military spirit.

Prohibitionists Well Received.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 29.—John G. Woolley and Henry B. Metcalf, Prohibition candidates for president and vice president, spoke to a crowd of several thousand people at the exposition hall here last night. Both speakers were well received. Mr. Metcalf made the opening address. He was followed by Samuel Dickie, after which Mr. Woolley was introduced. Oliver W. Stewart concluded the meeting with a forcible address. Speeches were also made at Winnebago, Blue Earth, Mankato, Owatonna, Northfield and Farmington.

Growth of Eastern Cities.

It is the manufacturing element of our nation's prosperity that has mainly stimulated its growth of population during the past decade. The cities whose population in the past 10 years has increased more than 50 per cent are Hartford, Waterbury and New Britain, Connecticut; Somerville and New Bedford, Mass.; Bayonne, Passaic and Atlantic City, N. J.; York, Easton, Johnstown and McKeesport, Pa.; Akron and Toledo, O.; Indianapolis and South Bend, Ind.; Chicago and East St. Louis, Ill, (the former owing a part of its increase to annexation); Duluth, Minn.; Superior City, Wis.; South Omaha, Neb; Butte, Mon., and Portland, Ore. The manufacturing cities of the east decidedly predominate here. Not less is this manifest in the list of cities which score gains of between 40 and 50 per cent. Fall River, Springfield, Lawrence, Brockton, Lynn, Malden and Fitchburg, Mass.; Pawtucket, R. I.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Yonkers, N. Y.; Allentown, Pa; Cleveland and Columbus, O.; Grand Rapids, Mich., and Cedar Rapids, Ia. The following cities increased between 30 and 40 per cent.: Portland, Me.; Worcester, Cambridge, Haverhill and Newton, Mass.; New Haven, Conn.; Woonsocket, R. I.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Paterson, Hoboken, Newark, Camden and Elizabeth, N. J.; Pittsburg, Scranton and Reading, Pa.; Dayton and Youngstown, O; Detroit, Mich.; Peoria, Springfield and Joliet, Ill.; Milwaukee and Racine, Wis.; Davenport, Ia.; Kansas City, Kan.; and Oakland, Cal. Of six cities that lost population five are in the west, Albany being the only eastern city, and the loss there is less than 1 per cent.

Somerset Democrats.

George P. Norton, chairman of the Somerset county Democratic executive committee, has called the county convention for Monday, October 8th, at which time an Assemblyman, County Clerk and Coroner will be nominated. There will be sixty-two delegates in the convention, who will be elected at primaries to be held Saturday afternoon, October 6th, except in North Plainfield, where it will be held the evening before.

Thus far there has been no active work on the part of any Democrats in the county to capture nominations for the offices to be filled, but for Assembly there have been two names mentioned. The first is that of John J. Gaffney, of Somerville. Mr. Gaffney is not seeking the nomination, but a number of friends are urging that he be named. Mr. Gaffney is young, popular and active and if selected as an Assembly candidate he would undoubtly make a hard fight to win. In political affairs he is an indefatigable worker for the Democrats, and if he should be nominated his friends declare that he would prove an exceedingly strong candidate.

Another name mentioned in connection with the Assembly nomination is that of J. Erwin Hillpot, of Bound Brook, where he was formerly engaged in the hotel business. Mr. Hillpot's friends are also energetically advancing his claims for the honor.

The Passaic County Republican convention will make another attempt Wednesday next to nominate a candidate for Sheriff. When the convention adjourned at midnight Wednesday 444 ballots had been taken and the deadlock was unbroken. The vote remained unchanged, being: For John Wright, 58; John Sturr, 48; J. J. Slater, 25. A proposal to allow a committee of prominent Republicans to settle the matter was voted down.

In order to prosecute the Democratic campaign in New Jersey with greater rigor, State Chairman William B. Gourley has designated former Senator William J. Keyes, of Somerset, to act as his assistant during the rest of the campaign. Mr. Keyes is a vetaran campaigner, and has been a State Committeeman for several years. He is one of the Democratic candidates for elector-at-large.

Silas Wilcox and Conrad Fink, employes of a hardware store in New Brunewick, have made a freak bet on the election. If Bryan is elected, Wilcox, who is a Republican, is to secure a horse and ride in every Democratic parade within a radius of fifty miles of New Brunswick. If McKinley is elected Fink is to do the riding in Republican parades.

Yale begins her 200th year with an increase of about ten per cent. in enrollment of students. There are about 600 in the new freshman class, of whom 250 will take the academic and the rest the scientific course.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

John Conroy, night foreman at the car house, has just received as a present from his father in Tipperary, Ireland, a genuine Irish collie. A peculiar thing about the dog and one that attracts considerable attention, is that the animal's hair beginning at the neck points towards the nose. The collie has already become accustomed to its new surroundings and is a great pet of the street car men.

Clogs have been worn for hundreds of years in various styles by many nationalities. The foot gear of the Japanese in rainy weather is a kind of clog with high wooden skates. The Venetians, Italians, Ancient Turks, Persians and other nations wore a kind of clog at one time. The Lancashire clog is worn today in the north of England and south of Scotland by the working people. It is a shoe with wood soles on which a strap of iron is nailed around the edges, cut to the ankle and some cut the regular height, the toes of the clogs being generally square cut. There is a clog made with a pointed toe turned up and ornamental uppers. These are worn by factory operators who are inclined to be sporty. VanArsdale has a pair of these clogs on exhibition in his window and if any one prefers this sort of shoe to "VanArsdale's Shoes" he doubtless would take your order.

Washington, D. C.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yours for health, C. F. MYERS.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Sept. 29—The funeral services of Mrs. William C. Osmun, which were held from her late residence yesterday afternoon were very impressive and were attended by a large number of friends and relatives. They were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, who spoke very feelingly to the bereaved family. The pall bearers were W. H. Cole, H. C. Gaskill, Henry Garretson and Frank VanHise. The floral tributes were both numerous and very pretty. Interment was made in the family plot at Somerville.

The practice of smoking cigarettes is indulged in by a large number of the borough school boys, and has spread to such an extent that Superintendent Meseroll has taken steps to stop it. One young man was detected yesterday smoking on the school property and Mr. Meseroll took occasion to inform the boys that smoking would not be tolerated and a repetition of the act would result in the suspension of the guilty parties.

The telephone company has decided to make W.G. Runyon's new 'phone a pay station, and parties desiring to use it can find the office open day and night. The call number for Mr. Runyon is 18 A. This is a great convenience and will no doubt be appreciated by boroughites who have occasion to communicate with the outside world at any time.

Ralph Bogardus entertained about twenty of his young friends Thursday afternoon in honor of his fifteenth birthday. The time was spent in a very pleasant manner by all present and concluded with the serving of refreshments.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Sept. 29.—The local football eleven are practicing hard every night now as they expect to open the season on Saturday afternoon next with a team from one of the neighboring towns. No regular schedule has been arranged as yet but the boys say they are ready to arrange games for Saturday afternoons during the season with teams averaging 135 pounds. The team has been strengthened by the addition of several players from last year's Dunellen team.

William McDonough, an old and respected resident of the village, lies critically ill at his home in the valley. Mr. McDonough's illness dates back several weeks but it was thought a week ago that he was improving, but he suffered a relapse and grave hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Rev. Mr. Birch, the newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow and will no doubt have a good audience at both services. Mr. Birch is an interesting talker and will no doubt have a most successful pastorate during his stay with his new charge.

Lehigh Valley Using Coal.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Easton, Sept. 29.—Lehigh Valley passenger engines, with the exception of those drawing the Black Diamond express, are buring soft coal, owing to the continuance of the anthracite coal strike.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. The foreman of the machine room in a large factory at Bridgeport, Conn., states: "I have been a victim of nervous dyspepsia for four years. I often woke up in the morning feeling a distress at the pit of my stomach and sore across my bowels as if I had strained myself lifting. The minute I got on my feet the gas commenced to rise, there was a tendency to nausea and I wanted to vomit. At other times I could neither throw off the gas nor vomit either and it was then that I suffered most terribly. After this had gone on a long time my son induced me to try Ripans Tabules and the effect was simply wonderful. They hit the nail right on the head and they have made a new man of me so far as the comfort of living is concerned."

HOLDS THE RECORD.

Chicago Pigeon Made a Trip from Las Vegas, N. M., to Its Loft in Thirteen Days.

Pigeon flying is no longer in its infancy in Chicago. The city now has seven "lofts," the Lake View Flying club being the oldest and strongest in the west. The 1,040-mile race of this club from Las Vegas, N. M., was won by F. W. Ward's No. A 7,982 blue cock, it having made the flight in 13 days and breaking the western record by eight days. The national race secretary holds that this pigeon has beaten the United States record, and the proprietor of the North shore loft, located at 437 Pratt avenue, Rogers Park, is quite proud of the fact. It is a labor of love on the part of Mr. Ward to raise and fly these interesting birds, which have attracted so much attention. He is perhaps the most popular and successful trainer west of Philadelphia, and his one desire is to give a boom to pigeon flying for the pleasure there is in it. Like St. Francis of Assisi, he has a great power over the birds, and they come winged at his bidding.

CHAMPION CARRIER PIGEON.
(Flew from Las Vegas, N. M., to Chicago in 13 Days.)

The North Shore loft, says the Chicago Times-Herald, contains breeders imported direct from the loft of J Plentincks, of Brussels, the king of Belgian fanciers; Gus Offermans, of Antwerp, one of the most noted fanciers in Holland, together with imported English and stock birds from the best loft in America. This little blue cock pigeon, winner of the Lake View Flying club race, has some individuality of his own. Always on the alert for the rights of himself and mate, he is extremely sensitive to touch and will put up a brave fight toward anyone except the owner who dares to lay hands on him even in the most delicately caressing manner. Encircled on his right leg is a narrow silver band with his number, 7,982, engraved upon it. Previous to this long-distance race this little creature had won three others this season. He came out first in a 100-mile race, and later won in 300 and 500 mile contests. His pedigree suggests not alone blue blood, but almost a coat-of-arms, so large a space on paper does it occupy. He is now three years old, wears a saucy, independent air as though the dignity of the whole loft rested entirely on his silver gray shoulders. On July 22 this pigeon was let fly from Las Vegas, N. M., and arrived in Rogers Park August 3 at ten a. m., thus making the trip in 13 days and two hours.

COMING STYLES.

Prospects For the Wardrobe of the Approaching Season.

The large capes of plaid so much worn are to be replaced by tartan jacket capes, loose and half fitting. The material being double faced and different on the two sides, they are unlined. A capuchon is a frequent addition.

Cloth coats are becoming more and more aggressive in respect of revers, which now are beginning to extend beyond the width of the shoulders. Small jackets, however, have narrow revers of silk or velvet like the collar.

The double sleeves which have been revived this summer promise to continue in favor indefinitely. They belong properly to the more fanciful order of gowns and are shown with many variations.

PRINCESS GOWN.

Today's illustration depicts a princess gown of pastel blue voile. It is plaited at the shoulders and sides and is draped across the bust. A sort of chain of blue passementerie outlines the yoke of guipure and follows the edge of the drapery, falling to the foot at the left side. The edge of the skirt is bordered by a fine dark blue embroidery, and the lower skirt of blue silk has a wide band of guipure around the foot. The sleeves of guipure have plaited tops of the blue voile edged with chain passementerie. The straw hat, light blue outside and dark beneath, is trimmed with a jeweled buckle and black plumes.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

TAILOR MADE GOWNS.

They Are as Well Valued as Ever Before.

The tailor made costume, always sure of its place in the wardrobe, is as well esteemed as ever this fall and varies very little from what it has been heretofore. The skirt is perfectly plain or has plaits let in near the foot or is made with a circular flounce. The bodice is a short coat, fitting at the back, or a bolero, the bolero being preferred.

The chief opportunity for variation lies in the vest or chemisette, where individual fancy has full play. Full fronts, corselets and tight fitting vests are all worn, and as these may be changed independently of the rest of the gown it is possible to obtain several different effects with the same costume.

FOULARD GOWN.

The illustration given today shows a costume of deep blue foulard with a white printed design. The skirt is made in overlapping breadths, with plaits let in below the knee. The bodice is close fitting in the back, while in front it is gathered at the waist and closes at the left side with silver buttons. There is a wide triple collar of white silk, and the high collar is of white guipure over white silk. The wide plaited belt is of white silk and forms a point in front. The sleeves of foulard are plain and are completed below the elbow by a full undersleeve of white silk gathered into a band at the wrist.

Lands Without Official Postage.

Many persons are under the impression that the Val D'Andorra, a strip of no man's land between Spain and France, is the only portion of Europe which can boast the absence of an official postage stamp. As a matter of fact, a piece of country known as "Moresnet Calamine," which lies where the Belgian province of Liege meets the Prussian regency of Aix-la-Chapelle, is in a like position. As it has been found impossible to agree as to the frontier delimitation German and Belgian stamps are used indiscriminately. Further, this piece of country has no coinage of its own and uses that of the Latin union.—London Globe.

LIVE UNDERGROUND.

Some Curious Whims Narrated of Eccentric People in England and Scotland.

An instance of the preference of some people for living underground was brought to light a short time ago near Southport, in Lancashire. A large house standing a little way out of the town had always elicited the curiosity of those residing in the neighborhood because it was supposed to be tenanted, and yet the windows remained boarded up and the building fell into premature decay for want of repair. Some people, however, vouched for the fact that an old lady lived there, for she was seen to leave the house occasionally and go into the town to purchase the necessaries for her existence, a statement which the tradesmen confirmed, says London Tit-Bits.

At length, nothing have been seen of this strange tenant for some time, the police took the matter in hand and entered the house by force, but discovered nothing until they reached the cellars, although their suspicions had previously been aroused by finding coal and other things generally kept underground in a large room unstairs. Further search proved the cellars to be most luxuriously furnished, and in one of the antique arm-chairs sat the old lady, dead. She must have lived by herself deep underground for nearly ten years, shunning the light of day except when it was absolutely necessary for her to go out.

Another peculiar case comes from Dorsetshire, and will be well within the recollection of many of the inhabitants of the county. A gentleman of means, wishing to build a house, selected a site he thought would suit his purpose, for it was on the summit of the downs overlooking the sea. His reason for choosing such a strange spot was because he wished to be where he could continually hear the roar of the waves against the cliffs below.

Some architects were instructed to erect the building, but they said that unless it was of extraordinary strength it would, in all probability, come down upon the occupant's head in consequence of the terrific power of the gales that visit that part of the coast during the winter. But the gentleman determined not to be outdone, so he actually furnished one of the old smugglers' caves, numbers of which are to be found in the chalk cliffs near Lyme Regis. In this strange and lonely dwelling place he lived for seven years, and only abandoned it to enter the bonds of matrimony.

Speaking of caves reminds us that Britain numbers among its population some people who live entirely in underground caves. They are the fishermen who inhabit the far north coast of Scotland, and the caves occupied have either been carved out at some prehistoric time by the action of the waves or owe their origin to the smugglers of other days. This life-long existence underground affects the cave dwellers in a rather peculiar manner, for it has been noticed that practically without exception they are of small stature and might very favorably be compared to the inhabitants of Lapland.

But men of note have frequently found a fascination in living beneath the earth. Saurier, whose novels are so popular throughout France, was one of these, and many of his finest works were written underground, or rather under water. He was a very eccentric man and had in his garden a large lake. One day, worried by the noise around him, he conceived the idea of having a study erected under the lake with a roof of plate glass to it. This was done at enormous cost, and in that room Saurier lived throughout the day. When not busy he had only to look through the glass and watch the fish as they passed to and fro.

The late duke of Portland, it will be remembered, passed the later years of his life in the underground cellars of Welbeck abbey, and lived there until his death, entirely cut off from the outer world, where the sun could not reach him. Elizabeth Browning, too, wrote many of her finest poems in the cellars of her house, where she was compelled to live after her sight had given way.

THAT SETTLED IT.

The Preponderance of Medals Satisfied Her on the Question of Superiority.

"Look here, sir," she said, as she entered a sewing machine office the other day, relates Tit-Bits, "your agent has imposed upon me."

"Is it possible, ma'am? In what respect?"

"Yes, sir, he has; and I don't want your machine."

"How has he deceived you?"

"Why, he came into my house and told me that your machine was the best in the world. I have witnesses, and can prove every word of it."

"But that was not deceiving you, ma'am."

"Yes, it was! I hadn't had the machine two days before another agent called and said his was the best; and he had a circular to back it up. He had hardly got out of doors when another called and said his machine had taken ten medals."

"But we have taken 15, ma'am."

"Oh, have you?"

"And we have issued a challenge for a public trial, which no other machine dare accept."

"Is that so? Then your machine is the best, after all?"

"Certainly."

"Then you will please excuse me. I thought I had been imposed upon, and I'm afraid I was a little hasty. The other agents must have been the deceivers."

BENJAMIN B. ODELL.

Nominee of the Republican Party for Governor of New York Is a Clever Politician.

Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., was born in Newburg, on January 14, 1854. He was educated in the public schools and at the Newburg academy, and then went to Bethany college, in West Virginia, where he studied mining engineering for two years. From Bethany college he went to Columbia college, in New York, with the intention of pursuing a four years' course in mining engineering. While in Columbia college he was prominent in athletic sports, and especially in rowing. Newburg was a great rowing center, and his father was backer of the Wards when they had their international race with the Renforth crew on Saratoga lake.

Mr. Odell early became interested in politics, and when yet a young man, in the '80's, was the republican candidate for state senator. He was defeated, but he made a good run in what was then a democratic district. In 1894 his friends suggested that he become a candid te for congress. He had just become chairman of the executive committee of the state republican committee, and did not desire to be a candidate for congress, but he yielded to the wishes of his friends and received 19,397 votes to 13,520 votes cast for Eugene S. Ives, his democratic opponent. In 1896 Mr. Odell was reelected to congress, receiving 22,622 votes to 15,500 cast for David A. Morrison, democrat. In 1898 he could have been renominated, but he declined the nomination.

For many years Mr. Odell has been a member of the republican state committee. In 1897, upon the death of Charles W. Hackett, he was elected chairman of the committee and has since retained that position.

WILLIAM M. JOHNSON.

New Jersey Statesman Succeeds Perry Heath as First Assistant Postmaster General.

William M. Johnson, of Hackensack, N. J., president of the state senate, has been appointed first assistant postmaster general, succeeding Perry S. Heath, resigned.

Mr. Johnson, who was born in Newton, N. J., in 1847, is the son of W. S. Johnson, secretary of state for New Jersey from 1861 to 1865. He was graduated from Princeton in 1867, and was admitted to the Trenton bar in 1870. In 1874 he removed to Hackensack and built up a lucrative law practice. He was a friend of the late

WILLIAM M. JOHNSON.
(First Assistant Postmaster General of the United States.)

William Walter Phelps and is a trustee of the Phelps estate.

For several years Mr. Johnson served on the republican state committee, and in 1888 was a delegate to the national convention. In 1895 he was elected a state senator, being the first republican so honored by Bergen county. He was reelected, was chosen president of the senate and for two months, while Gov. Voorhees was in Europe, was acting governor.

Mr. Johnson's family consists of his wife and two sons. He has presented to Hackensack a public library, which is now being erected and which will cost $50,000. He belongs to several New York clubs.

Low Wages in Germany.

There are now in Germany, according to reports to the state department, 10,900,000 working people, of whom 2,100,000 are females. The cost of living for these toilers has increased, but wages have not been advanced in proportion. Working people in this country may comfort themselves by a comparison with the condition of the same classes in Germany. In the line of household service the wages per month, with board, average $2.14 for kitchen servants, $2.38 for housemaids, $5.95 for housekeepers and first-class cooks, and $9.52 for footmen. The weekly wages in ship building yards are equally low, being per week without board $3.15 for laborers, $5 for carpenters and blacksmiths, and $6 for molders, and these figures are for a week of 66 hours, or six days of 11 hours each.

AN OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

PHILIP P. VAN ARSDALE PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING.

Died at His Home After a Long Illness—His Was an Eventful Career.

Philip P. VanArsdale, one of Plainfield's oldest and best known citizens, died this morning at his home, corner of East Front street and Elm place, after a long illness. Heart trouble was the cause of death, but other complications hastened the end.

Mr. VanArsdale was born near Pluckamin, Somerset county, 84 years ago. He was the oldest of six children, of whom two are now living, Mrs. Jane Hammond, of Pluckamin, and Mrs. J. S. Powlison, of the borough. He learned the trade of mason early in life and followed it for several years. He finally gave up his trade to teach music and tune pianos. He organized singing schools throughout this vicinity.

He eventually moved here. Several years after he moved to Jersey City anp then to Easton, Pa., at each place conducting a music store. Originally he was a member of the Dutch Reformed church, but when he first came to Plainfield he united with Trinity Reformed church, where he held the office of elder for several years. Later he left there to go to the First Presbyterian church, where he held his membership to the last. He was always a devoted and sincere Christian and very active in church work.

Mr. VanArsdale was married twice, first to Miss Kirkpatrick, of this State, and then to Miss Emma Cook, of Sullivan county, N. Y. By his second marriage one son was born, Philip VanArsdale, who is a student at Moody's School at Northfield, Mass. He came home a few days ago and was present when his father died.

The funeral services will be held from the First Presbyterian church next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

—Neuman Brothers will sell 100 baskets of fine table and canning peaches this afternoon and evening for 50, 75 and 85 cents a basket.

Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph.

FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Department Union County C. E. Union.)

A concerted plan to have Union county well represented at the State Christian Endeavor convention in Jersey City next month is on foot. Many Endeavorers from various parts of the county will be in attendance at all the sessions Thursday and Friday, October 11th and 12th; but at the closing sessions Friday night, in both the Bergen Baptist and First Presbyterian churches, the roll will be called and each county will be expected to respond. The usual method of seating by counties will prevail, and all Union county members are urged to sit with the county contingent.

The international convention of Christian Endeavor next year will probably be held in Cincinnati. The trustees' executive committee of the United Society has voted to accept that city's invitation, provided that satisfactory railroad rates and local arrangements can be made.

Spain has had its first Christian Endeavor convention. In the face of organized opposition and with seemingly little to encourage them the representatives of the Spanish Christian Endeavor Union met last month at Zaragoza and held an inspiriting two-day gathering.

The press there, as here, is a mighty factor, and two days before the convention it opened its fusillade. Catholics were warned against the conventiond and were urged to do all in their power to prevent it. The governor of Zaragoza, fearing those in authority, sent for the pastor of the church in which the convention was to be held and forbade the meeting, stating at the same time, however, that he expected his order disobeyed.

The meetings were held, six in number, and at three of them Dr. Clark, who had just come from a convention in the liberty-loving Republic of Switzerland, made addresses. Of the thirty-seven societies in the country, only five or six of the most remote ones were unrepresented, and some of these sent messages.

The convention resulted in deepening the interest of the delegates, and some visitors who had not been in sympathy with the work went home to organize societies in their own churches.

Endeavorers in various parts of the country are much interested in Cape Nome, Alaska. Supplies of reading matter have been forwarded from various points for use in the reading room which will be maintained there by L. E. Wirt. The members of the Congregational societies in Worcester, Mass., are helping in the good work by raising a fun for a piano, to be purchased in Seattle and sent to its cold destination by the last boat this fall.

An illustration of the value of determined effort is show in the work of J. W. Whittemore, Jr., State superintendent of prison work in Virginia. After two years of persistent endeavor, he has succeeded in organizing a Christian Endeavor society in the State penitentiary. It starts with a membership of two hundred and fifty-two.

A "Homing" Party.

A pleasant evening was passed by a large number of young people at the First Baptist church last night by means of a "homing" party. Those present were mostly those who had returned home from their summer vacations, and each one was allowed a few minutes in which to tell of their experiences. Some of them were very interesting. There were also several musical selections given, consisting of violin solos by Robert Barnes and Mr. Speer and piano solos by Clifford Braider.
